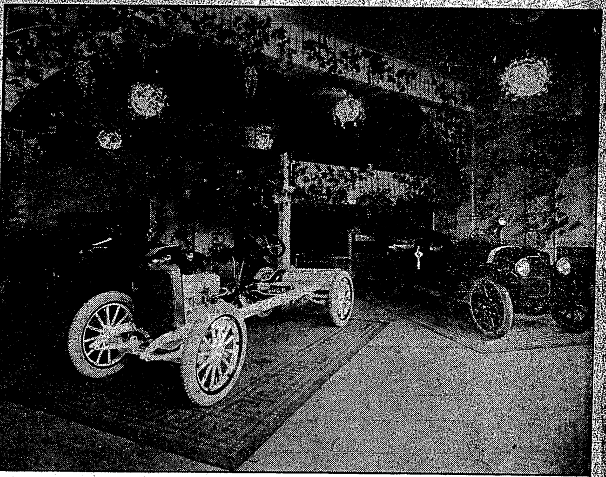
NINETEENTH YEAR—NO. 52 WILLOUGHBY, OHIO, JANUARY 5, 1917. ONE DOLLAR A YEAR IN ADVANCE

THE NEW BEN HUR SHOW ROOM AND THE BEN HUR CAR.



"Man wants but little here below,
A car in which to spin,
But woman wants the auto,
And
The Man Thrown In!"

Or so it has been said. But at the numbers of the feminine persuasion looked over cars, apparently with the intention of running their own car; and appearing to be well versed on the good points of the cars shown. About 45,000 men and women and children had attended the show up until Wednesday night.

The cut above shows the new show room for the Willoughby Ben Hur Cleveland Automobile Show this week car, just across from the Coliseum. It has been crowded with people during the week, inspecting the new Ben Hur car, which made its bow to the public this week. The cars, beautiful as they appear, do not begin, the management report, to come up to the standard of what they expect to produce when fully under way. The room is attractively decorated in pink wistaria and green over lattice work. A Ben Hur chassis, as shown in the picture, painted in white and red and trimmed in nickel, affords the visitor opportunity to inspect the car in all its mechanical details. The Ben Hur car, it is reported, was the only car to make the trip through from Cleveland to Willoughby at a certain time of the snow storm period recently.

RAILWAY CROSSING ACCIDENT

Alfred Snow, first year student at Willoughby high school, driving home from school between three and four p. m. Wednesday, was hit by a L. S. train at the Erie street crossing. He was badly injured, dying after the accident. He was taken to Dr. Chesbro's and it was the intention to take him to the Painesville hospital, but he passed away in Davis's ambulance before reaching Mentor. His home is on the Plains, on the Richland farm.

PROF. OTIS GIVES TALK

Thursday morning Prof. Otis talked to the high school boys in regard to the trouble at Hallowe'en time at Kirtland. It seems that the flag at District school No. 1 was torn down and destroyed. Every effort has been made to determine who did the damage, and Mr. Otis is loath to believe that any member of their school at any time would act in the manner indicated. With such evidence as they have been able to run down, it seems almost positive that no one from W. H. S. was guilty of taking down the flag. Mr. Otis, in his talk, called particular attention to the gravity of such a deed.

No form of destructiveness at Halloween or any time, is to be commended, but the tearing down of the flag was an almost unbelievable act. The W. H. S. deplores the act, and Mr. Otis dwelt at length in his talk to the boys upon the seriousness of the matter, although convinced that the deed was done by other parties.

W. C. T. U. SPEND $300.00 PER DAY FOR PLAY HOUSE

Three hundred dollars per day, or a total cost of $10,000 was the sum expended by the W. C. T. U. in Indiana at the national convention there, as related by Mrs. Hoose of Painesville in her talk at the regular meeting of the W. C. T. U. at the home of Mrs. Grant Hill, Tuesday. Mrs. Hoose gave a most interesting recount of the seven day meeting of the convention. It is anticipated that Indiana will be the next state to go dry. The meeting was held in the most elaborate play house in Indiana and the ladies' work no doubt will have aided materially in the prohibition campaign in that section.

FISH HOUSE TO BE BUILT

The Albert Minkey farm on the Chagrin river, will be the location of a Fish House, which will be built by William Schmidt of Fairport. He will run a launch from Gravel Point, the water being just about deep enough to accomodate boat and heavy nets. About 160 ton was this fisherman's yield at Fairport, it is reported. Mr. Schmidt will build a cottage also, to accommodate himself and wife.

PAINESVILLE HAS NEW FIRE CHIEF

L. J. Elliott has succeeded T. W. Morgan as fire chief. The latter resigned after 18 years of service.

DAN W. FLICKINGER MARRIED

Mr. and Mrs. S. S. Wilson left Wednesday night for Indianapolis to attend the wedding of Dan W. Flickinger and Miss Emma Wellman, of that city, on Saturday, January the 6th.

CHANGE IN LOCAL MANAGER OF THE WILLOUGHBY TELEPHONE COMPANY

Effective January 1, 1917, Don Van Duzen was appointed assistant manager of the Willoughby Telephone Co., taking the place of C. M. Laughrey, resigned.

Mr. Van Duzen has had charge of the line work and the trouble work of the company for some time, and takes over the added responsibilities of assistant manager with the full confidence of the board of directors in his ability to give patrons of the telephone company the best possible service. He is a bright and energetic young man who has many friends among our citizens, all of whom will wish him well in his new position.

Good telephone service is highly prized by all, and Mr. Van Duzen promises to do his very best to give Willoughby patrons the finest service possible.

He says he is always ready to take on a new subscriber and you will not offend him by telling him that you would like to become a member of his already large family.

THE ANDREWS SCHOOL NOTES

HISTORICAL SOCIETY RECEIVES BENEFIT OF THIS KIRTLAND JOKE

An interesting sleigh load of household goods went through town last Saturday which gladdened the hearts of the old citizen who chanced to see it and amused the youth who ran to catch a bob-ride. Elmer Sperry drove over from Kirtland with a broad grin on his face, tickled to think he had a good joke on Sid Wilson, who had asked him to bring over the few Daniels' relics sometime for the Western Reserve Historical Society. It seems through corresponding Mr. Wilson had secured for the society all the household relics and books stored in the attic of the old homestead on Daniels' Mountain, through Mr. Daniels of Virginia. Instead of being a few to carry up some day there is a most interesting plenty! Spinning wheels, flax warming pans, ox yokes, clocks, papers, old histories, Mormon books, cradles, pictures and a hundred and one things over a hundred and one years old.

It is very thoughtful on the part of Mr. Daniels to deposit them in a place where they will be preserved and protected for education and entertainment of future generations. So often families scatter most valuable records and old papers which otherwise would be highly prized by the society.

NEW ARRIVAL ON MAPLE STREET

A young man who arrived at the home of W. S. Jacobs of Maple street, December the 14th, has been christened Walter Silas, the third, and his parents are very proud of him.

FUNERAL OF LOUIS NEVEAU

The body of Louis Neveau, who passed away in the Lake county infirmary New Year's day, was brought to Willoughby and interment was made Wednesday at 3 p. m. Mr. Neveau was 56 years of age. Several Willoughby business men, including James Maloney and Geo. Rockafellow attended the services at the cemetery.

TEA POT CENTURY OLD USED AT KIRTLAND REUNION

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Raser attended the family reunion of her grandmother, Mrs. Sarah Gill, at the Kirtland hotel, on Sunday the 24th. About 17 or 18 relatives met and enjoyed a sumptuous dinner of roast goose and all the "fixings." A huge Christmas tree, well loaded with "fruit" was one of the pleasant features of the occasion, with presents for everyone.

The teapot used on this occasion is over a century old and was brought from England by one of the family.

Mrs. Gill, 75 years of age, was the oldest person there, and little Charley W. Raser the great grandchild, two years old, was the youngest. A very enjoyable day was spent by all. —Waite Hill Correspondent.

Situated in the Township of Berlin, County of Delaware, and State of Ohio, and bounded and described as follows, to-wit:

Commencing on the South line of lands formerly belonging to C. R. Caulkins at a point east on the plat of a subdivision of the lands of said C. R. Caulkins, deceased, made by Frank Kenyon, surveyor, March 28 and 29 and April 4th and 5th, 1895, in Section 4, Twp. 4, R. 18, stone on a post; thence N. 87 1-2° W. 41 rods and 11 1-4 links to point F. on said plat; thence north on a line parallel with the Section line to point M. on said plat; thence S. 87 1-2° 35' E. 41 rods and 11 1-4 links to point N. on said plat; thence South on a line parallel with the Section line to point E. the place of beginning. Containing 15 acres and 70 perches of land more or less. Reserving a road or right of way over said premises (which shall be for the common use of said Grantors and said grantee, their heirs and assigns). Commencing on the east side of said premises at a point of a road or way now used by said parties and extending thence west one rod wide following the north line of the premises formerly owned by D. Manter to the West line of above described premises, the title to which said real estate came to her by descent and is ancestral.

LEGAL NOTICE

George Perkins, Sarah Jane Perkins, Constantine Griffith, Constantin Griffin, and the unknown heirs, devisees and legatees of George Perkins, deceased; the unknown heirs, devisees and legatees of Constantine Griffith, deceased, ——— Griffith, first and real name unknown, the unknown wife or widow of Constantine Griffith; the unknown heirs, devisees and legatees of Constantin Griffin, deceased, and ——— Griffin, first and real name unknown, the unknown wife or widow of Constantin Griffin; all of whose places of residence are unknown, and the names of the unknown heirs, devisees and legatees being unknown, will take notice that William Kleppel and Elizabeth Kleppel, as Plaintiffs, have filed a petition against them, as defendants, in the Court of Common Pleas of Cuyahoga County, Ohio, alleging that they are the owners in fee simple and in the actual possession and occupancy of the following described real estate, to-wit:

Situated in the City of Cleveland, County of Cuyahoga and State of Ohio and known as being the easterly 32 feet and 8 inches of Sublot No. 1 and all of Sublot No. 2 in George Perkins' re-subdivision of Sublots Nos. 25 and 26 in E. F. Collins' Subdivision of part of original 100 acre lot No. 440 in said City.

Said part of said sublot No. 1 and all of Sublot No. 2, together forming a parcel of land having a frontage of 77 feet on the Northerly side of St. Catherine Avenue, S. E., and extends back of equal width about 232.78 feet deep, as per plat of said Re-Subdivision recorded in Volume 3 of Maps, page 49 of Cuyahoga County Records.

The petition further alleges that the defendant, Constantine Griffith, and the unknown heirs, devisees and legatees of Constantine Griffith, deceased, ——— Griffith, first and real name unknown, the unknown wife or widow of Constantine Griffith, claim some interest or estate in said premises adverse and hostile to plaintiffs by reason of a certain deed executed November 20, 1871, and recorded in Volume 193, page 165 of Cuyahoga County Records, in favor of the defendant, Constantine Griffith.

The petition alleges that Cornelius Griffin was the real purchaser and grantee in said deed and immediately upon execution of said deed, went into possession of said premises, and that by inadvertance and mistake, the grantee's name in said deed was spelled Constantine Griffith, when it should have been spelled Cornelius Griffin; and that no conveyance appears of record in Cuyahoga County, Ohio, from the said Constantine Griffith; that the defendants, George Perkins, Sarah Jane Perkins and the unknown heirs, devisees and legatees of George Perkins, deceased, and Constantin Griffin, and the unknown heirs, devisees and legatees of Constantin Griffin, ——— Griffin, first and real name unknown, wife or widow of said Constantin Griffin, claim some interest in said premises hostile and adverse to plaintiff's rights by reason of a certain deed executed on May 23, 1870, and recorded in Volume 175, page 441, of Cuyahoga County Records, by the Defendant, George Perkins, in favor of Defendant Constantin Griffin; but by inadvertance, the Grantor therein failed to acknowledge said deed and no conveyance appears of record from the said Constantin Griffin:

The petition says that Cornelius Griffin was the real purchaser of said premises and that he immediately upon execution of said deed, went into possession of said premises, and that by inadvertance and mistake, the name of the grantee in said deed was erroneously spelled Constantin Griffin, when it should have been spelled Cornelius Griffin.

The petition alleges that Constantine Griffith, Constantin Griffin, and Cornelius Griffin were one and the same person.

The petition further alleges that the plaintiffs and their predecessors in title have been in the open, actual, notorious, continuous and adverse possession of said premises for more than twenty-one years last past, that the claims of said defendants are unfounded but constitute a cloud upon Plaintiffs' title, and that said defendants have no interest whatever in said premises; that any right, title or interest that they ever had has long since been barred by lapse of time and the Statute of Limitations and that none of said defendants, nor any one of them, nor anyone claiming through or under them, has ever sought to enforce or attempted to convey any interest in said premises since the execution of the deeds above mentioned.

The prayer of said petition is that the claims of each and all of said defendants be decreed to be null and void, and that each and all of said defendants be barred from having or claiming to have any right or interest whatsoever in said premises: that plaintiff's title be quieted in said premises against said defendant and for relief.

Said petition is No. 153355, and each and all of the defendants above named are required to answer the same on or before the 3rd day of February, A. D 1917. D14-J18

LEGAL NOTICE

J. E. McDonald, Junior, whose place of residence is unknown, will take notice that George W. Staiger, as Plaintiff, has filed a Statement of [illegible] State of Ohio, praying for the foreclosure of a chattel mortgage executed by the said defendant, J. E. McDonald, Junior, in favor of S. L. Wyman, who thereafter assigned the same to Martha Wohl, who subsequently assigned the same to the Plaintiff, George W. Staiger, upon the goods and chattels described in said mortgage, said mortgage being given to secure a debt on which a balance of Two Hundred and Seventy Five ($275.00) Dollars, with interest from the 7th day of July, 1916, is due.

Said Statement of Claim is No. 65680, and the above named defendant, J. E. McDonald, Junior, is required to file his Statement of Defense on or before the 8th day of February, 1917, or judgment will be taken against him. D21-J25

[illegible] and devisees of Mercy Carter Abell, deceased; the unknown heirs and devisees of Betsey Carter Cathan, deceased, defendants, will take notice that on the 28th day of November A. D. 1916, The Cadillac Investment Company, as plaintiff, filed its petition in the Court of Common Pleas of Cuyahoga County, Ohio, Case No. 153-096 against the above named defendants, in which petition it alleges that it is the absolute owner in fee simple, and that it is in the actual possession of the following described real estate:

Situated in the City of Cleveland, County of Cuyahoga and State of Ohio and being a part of original Ten Acre lot No. 87 in said City.

Beginning in the center line of East 30th St., (formerly Sterling Avenue) 60 feet wide as now established at the point of intersection of said center line with the Northerly line of land conveyed by William Bingham and Elizabeth Bingham, his wife, to Samuel Andrews by deed dated March 26, 1878 and recorded in Vol. 295, on page 75 of Cuyahoga County Records; thence Easterly along the northerly line of land so conveyed to said Samuel Andrews 319 feet to the Easterly line thereof; thence Southerly along the Easterly line of said land so conveyed to said Samuel Andrews 130 ft.; thence westerly along a line parallel with the northerly line of said land so conveyed to said Samuel Andrews 309 965-1000 ft. to said center line of East 30th Street; thence northerly along said center line of East 30th Street 130 ft. to place of beginning, be the same more or less but subject to all legal highways.

The above named defendants claim interests or estates in said property adverse to plaintiff, as follows, to-wit: The unknown heirs and devisees of John Stoddard, deceased; and the unknown heirs and devisees of Asa White, deceased; because neither a certain power of attorney to one Simon Perkins nor any deed from the said John Stoddard and Asa White conveying said premises appears of record in Cuyahoga County, Ohio. The unknown heirs and devisees of Capt. John Welles, deceased; the unknown heirs and devisees of George Bechtel, deceased; the unknown heirs and devisees of Daniel Wright, deceased; the unknown heirs and devisees of Orrin Harmon, deceased, and the unknown heirs and devisees of Moses James, deceased, because no deed conveying said premises from Capt. John Welles, George Bechtel, Daniel Wright, Orrin Harmon and Moses James, appears of record in Cuyahoga County, Ohio; the unknown heirs and devisees of John S. Edwards, deceased, because no transfer of purchase a[illegible] certain [illegible] [illegible] County, Ohio; the unknown heirs and devisees of John Bechtel, deceased, because no final account of his estate has ever been approved; the unknown heirs and devisees of Eliphalet Austin, deceased; the unknown heirs and devisees of Laura Miles, deceased; the unknown heirs and devisees of Polly Carter Bean, deceased; the unknown heirs and devisees of Mercy Carter Abell, deceased; the unknown heirs and devisees of Betsey Carter Cathan, deceased; because of some alleged interest by way of tax titles and tax deeds, which have not been released of record; the unknown heirs and devisees of Orrin Harmon, deceased and the unknown heirs and devisees of Lemuel Punderson, deceased, because no administration of their estates appears of record in Cuyahoga County, Ohio; the unknown heirs and devisees of William J. Coggswell, deceased, and the unknown heirs and devisees of Eleazer Parmly, deceased, because there appears of record in Cuyahoga County no proper releases of mortgages once the property in whole or in part of the said Wm. J. Coggswell and the said Eleazer Parmly. The petition alleges that none of the said defendants nor any one of them has ever sought to enforce or attempted to convey any interest in said property, and that as against each and all of said defendants this plaintiff and its predecessors in title have had, held and been in the actual, open, continuous, notorious and adverse possession of said premises for more than twenty-one years preceding the filing of the petition in this action. Said petitioner prays that each of said defendants be compelled to show his interest, if any, therein; that the same may be adjudged to be null and void and that plaintiff's title thereto may be quieted against the same, and for such other and further relief as it may be entitled to. Said defendants are required to answer on or before the 20th day of January, A. D. 1917, and in default of such answer judgment will be taken against said defendants as authorized by law. N30-J4

IT CAN BE DONE

Somebody scoffed: "Oh, you'll never do that—
At least no one ever has done it;"
But he took off his coat, and he took off his hat—
And the first thing we knew he'd begun it.
With a lift of his chin and a bit of a grin,
Without any doubting or quiddit,
He started to sing as he tackled the thing
That couldn't be done—and he did it.

There are thousands to tell you it cannot be done,
There are thousands to prophesy failure;
There are thousands to point out to you, one by one
The dangers that wait to assail you.
But just buckle in with a bit of a grin;
Then take off your coat and go to it;
Just start in to sing as you tackle the thing
That can not be done—and you'll do it.

A FRIEND'S GREETING

I'd like to be the sort of friends that you have been to me,
I'd like to be the help that you've been always glad to be;
I'd like to mean as much to you each minute of the day,
As you have meant, old friend of mine, to me along the way.

I'd like to do the big things and splendid things for you,
To brush the gray from out your skies and leave them only blue;
I'd like to say the kindly things that I so often have heard,
And feel that I could rouse your soul the way that mine you've stirred.

I'd like to give you back the joy that you have given me,
Yet that were wishing you a need I hope will never be;
I'd like to make you feel as rich as I, who travel on Undaunted in the darkest hours with you to lean upon.

I'm wishing at this Christmas time that I could but repay
A portion of the gladness that you've strewn along my way,
And could I have one wish this year, this only would it be I'd like to be the sort of friend that you have been to me.

"CALM YOURSELF"

You don't fret because you're tired, you're tired because you fret, says Dr. George L. Walton in Calm Yourself, (Houghton, Mifflin Company).

You think you are angry because your worst enemy called you a liar. As a matter of fact you are angry because you can't stand being called such a name. If, says Dr. Walton, you would practice your canstandability instead of your can'tstandability, you'd enjoy being called names just to see how cool you could be. For you are sure during the day to come in contact with people who are ungrateful, arrogant, deceitful, envious. If you prepare to meet their abuse of you with pity for their peculiarities instead of resentment you are doing ready to put down the helm in a no more than a sailor who stands squall.

"Nervous prostration would be rare," says the neurologist, "if we were so constituted that we could leave out needless fear and fret, avoid swearing or even feeling like swearing, if we could argue without acrimony, could stifle our aversions, could resist the temptation to play the martyr.

"For the cure of nervousness (which is often only another name for faulty habit of mind) change of scene is often advised. But one can sit tight wherever he is and materially modify his character, if he be sufficiently broad minded to recognize his own shortcomings as well as those of his neighbor.

"Be fretless," says Dr. Walton; "be fussless; be tired and good-natured instead of tired and cross; remember that anyone can stand what he likes, but only a philosopher can stand what he doesn't like; don't suffer ten deaths a week through fear, when you have to die only once; and above all, get busy."

ON JOTTING DOWN THOUGHTS

When I saw Ambassador Cecil Spring-Rice stop in one of his daily walks and make memoranda in his note-book, I decided if we could all jot down thoughts as they come to us, we would be amazed to see how much real wisdom surges through one's head. One difference between the average man and the philosophers, the diplomats and the statesmen, is that the latter make note mentally, or otherwise, as they pass along, of a thought, an obsession, or an incident that may have value in the future. They are willing to get up in the night and wrestle with an elusive idea until it becomes a permanent thought. —Chapple in National Magazine.

THE OPINION OF A MAN'S WIFE

One of the prominent statesmen in Washington was greeted one day by an admirer: "Do you know, I have always had a most profound admiration for you!"

Immediately the p. s. began to swell up, eager to hear the words that might tell why he had impressed himself so strongly upon this individual.

"I met your wife recently, and I made up my mind that a man who could hold his wife's confidence and keep her enthusiastic interest and belief in himself for thirty years, must surely amount to something. I don't know that I have been especially impressed with anything that you have done, but I infer that you must have really done something else you could not have maintained the unfailing and unreserved admiration for so long a time of one so close to you. The fact is established among your friends that your wife is an able woman."

The p. s. began to analyze himself and stoically muttered, "Well, I guess this is a reflection of the progress of suffrage; ti reveals the true status of woman's influence in public affairs. I see the signs."—National Magazine.

Importance of Studying Worth While Letters, Opening Paragraphs, Printed Matter, Etc.

—Discussed by Joe Mitchell Chapple and Louis K. Liggett, President of The Rexall Stores.

Last Saturday afternoon, a glorious day in old New England, and everybody rushing out-of-doors, I happened to drop in on my friend, Mr. Louis K. Liggett, President of the United Drug Company (Rexall Stores).

I hardly know whether I really expected to find him in, but I certainly did not expect to discover him in what seemed at first one of the most extraordinary tasks imaginable.

He was packing a leather case, and into it he was crowding an accumulation of printed matter. He showed it to me with a quizzical look in his eyes, and when I bent over to see more clearly, I found that there was not a single piece of literature in that bag with a two-cent stamp on it; it was all one-cent circular matter, the kind that usually arrives posthaste in the waste basket. He smiled when I asked him if the waste basket had given up its dead.

"Yes, and yet it's not dead stuff, after all. I find a great many live ideas and splendid suggestions in this supposedly miserable material. Most people throw it away in disdain, but I do not. Every circular and pamphlet in this bag was sent out by somebody who had a purpose and I find it interesting to analyze these purposes. Some of them have mis-carried, some of them are far from the mark, and some seem pitifully ineffective to accomplish any result, and yet, after all, they are very often fruitful of suggestions in some other direction. These overlooked and unconsidered pamphlets, folders, and circulars sometimes prove a regular gold mine to me, and every Saturday afternoon I make it a point to gather up the 'stuff' and look it over."

The remark appealed to me for two reasons: one, the splendid common sense of the idea; the other, because Saturday afternoon happens to be my own time also for cleaning up my desk and looking over the odds and ends that have been put aside during the week until I could find time to go through it, free from the rush. The myriad of appeals that are made on all sorts of subjects to the average business concern are permeated with an earnestness that is impressive and suggestive, even if it does fall short of securing an order. Even in the waste basket may be hidden a ray of thought supreme to give our minds some idea of what other minds are trying to do.

I never know a great man, or even a man near great, who was not a genius for detail; and a genius also for never refusing his attention to humble things. Perhaps it is because of this great quality in keeping with many other qualities of rare power that Louis K. Liggett has been able to build the greatest drug and druggist supply business in the history of the world. Ten years ago nothing—today a great transcontinental phalanx of 8,000 stores, forty million dollars of annual business, and millions of customers.

Speaking of office devices, I keep a special file for copies of worth-while letters, worth while paragraphs of letters, and especially worth-while opening paragraphs.

The unlimited business possibilities of good correspondence taught me long ago the importance of studying letters.

For instance when the first letter went out describing this "Interview Letter Series," it brought but few responses. Examination showed the letter was too long, too much description, opening paragraphs too heavy; I changed the letter, I "snapped up" the opening clauses, brightened them; hitched up the paragraphs, and then painted the picture. I sent out 200 of them, and the result was 50 orders. It just goes to show what a difference there is in letters. Some proposition exactly—one letter a splendid success, the other a total loss.

Interesting and even startling opening phrases in a letter are of incalculable value. First impression is as important as last impression, and any man who has regard for the strategy of business correspondence may do far worse than make a study of Old Horatio Seymour's "Use of Short Words."

A good collection of opening paragraphs happily expressed, timely allusions, apt quotations, quaint sayings and the like, may prove as good as vouchers passed to the credit account.

It may seem ridiculous, perhaps, to suggest a comparative study of the dictionary in connection with a particular line of business, but the cultivation of a business vocabulary concerning your own particular business will prove of immeasurable value. A mastering of the language relating to your line of endeavor can hardly fail to prove useful and make an impression sometime where most essential to success.

MOCK MINCE TURNOVERS

These are not as rich as the regular mince meat turnovers, and yet they can hardly be distinguished from them. Prepare the filling by mixing together one large cupful of stoned and chopped raisins, half a cupful of currants, three tablespoonfuls of melted butter, two heaping tablespoonfuls of sugar, one tablespoonful of molasses, half of a grated nutmeg, half a teaspoonful of ground cinnamon, and the grated yellow rind and juice of one lemon. Roll out a sheet of pastry cut into rounds and lay 2 tablespoonfuls of the mince in centre of each circle. Fold over the crust, crimp the edges of the paste together with the tines of a fork dipped in flour, and make several incisions in the top of each. Lay on greased pie plates, brush over with beaten egg mixed with a little water, and bake in a very hot oven until crisp and brown.

First Woman Elected To Congress is Good Cook

The personnel of the sixty-fifth Congress will furnish an interesting study. There were many surprises in the election, but the one election around which clusters the most unique interest is that of Miss Jeanette Rankin, of Missoula, Montana, the first woman to be elected to Congress in the United States. The National rarely indulges in political predictions, but in looking over the pages, we find that as early as last July the election of Miss Rankin was anticipated.

Unless an extra session is called, Miss Rankin will not take her seat until next December. She is one of Montana's two Congressmen-at-large, and made a sweeping contest in the August primaries. Her platform was national woman suffrage, child welfare, tariff revision, prohibition for state and nation, and greater publicity in Congressional records. She was elected as a Republican, although the other Congressman was a Democrat.

Already it is predicted that the presence of this lone woman in Congress will have much to do in changing the customs of the national legislative body, for it is felt by her enthusiastic supporters that hereafter there will always be at least one woman in the halls of Congress, from one state or another. Miss Rankin lives in Missoula, Montana, and is known as Hon. Jeanette Rankin. She is a graduate of the University of Montana, and of the School of Philanthropy, in New York. It would be impossible to describe her, even as a Congresswoman, without referring to the fact that she is of medium height, slight, with brown hair. She makes her own clothes and hats, and is an excellent cook. She is an effective campaigner, and the keynote of her campaign was "Let the people know what is going on." She insisted that it was not her own personal campaign, but principles, for which she was fighting.

The lady from Montana is pronounced attractive and intelligent, and when she goes into the cloak room it will be "Hats off, gentlemen." The newspapers have already anticipated the romance of the event, and have called her the "Maid of Missoula." She will take her seat with four hundred and thirty-nine men, and when the clerk calls the roll, the lady from Montana will respond instead of the gentleman from Montana.

Miss Rankin is far from fulfilling the usual portrayal of suffragists, for she is not masculine in appearance, but retains the feminine charms still possessed by many of the modern suffragists. If Congressman Mann is elected Speaker, his early speeches on the equal suffrage amendment will not make it embarrassing for him to preside over Congresswomen, whom he pronounced is "our partners and our equals," and declared entitled to "a share in the responsibility of upholding the government."—Joe Mitchell Chapple in the National Magazine.

Modern Store Problems Discussed By Sidney S. Wilson of Willoughby

THE BENEFITS OF ADVERTISING —THE MAIL ORDER HOUSE

A recent article on advertising in that staid old literary journal, The Atlantic Monthly, made a plea for a change in the tedious and uninteresting mannerism of department store advertising and appealed to merchants for more news and less bombastic claims. The article was by a New England housewife and mother, who by her close observation and her logical reasoning, sounded a keynote of warning; she is not alone, but represents a type. The retail business is passing through a remarkable transition and this change is shown as vividly through its advertising as in any other way. The advertising matter furnished by manufacturer is making a wonderful improvement upon the style, tone and general appearance of the country merchants' publicity; in fact the very ideal which the New Englander portrayed in the Atlantic Monthly is now crystalizing in the advertising matter of merchants outside the large cities. By the manufacturers' aid, we have wrought a great improvement in publicity and at a less direct cost to ourselves than the city merchant has done in the past decade. The trouble is that we have been slow in taking advantage of its Retail advertising appropriations are growing every year because we see direct benefit, realize that latent possibilities, and have to do it in self defense.

What $1,000 would accomplish ten years ago it now takes five times that amount, but its momentum and cumulative power are greater because confidence is now assured in a firm's statement; years ago it was shaken.

We must not measure advertising alone by the money expended, we must measure it by the results obtained. The number of our potential customers is far greater today than ever, and it is only by the continued stream of the firm's literature that we can reach our prospects and make them customers.

The welfare of the country merchant has been very much in evidence during the recent organization of the Parcel Post.

The Parcel Post was predicted as the messenger of our death but it is our latest employe, working 24 hours a day without holidays and never asking for a raise. The government has come to our aid and given us the opportunity of keeping the inside track in this great race. The development of the mail order catalog business is not as serious a problem as many have been led to believe. It is natural development of competition in which the very best methods of merchandising are developed, and the outcome depends upon the tendency of us retailers to improve our system of buying and selling, and to treat our customers with the same consideration as does the mail order establishment. Every argument they use can and should be emphatically resisted.

We have the advantage of being on the ground and the only reason for our having lost some business is because we did not understand the weapons. We do now, and lets go at it in an earnest dignified manner, but never resort to abuse or belittlement as they have.

It is because we have neglected the chance to cultivate our natural customers that catalog houses have become familiar.

The bright side of this question reveals new conditions which place us on an equality with any dealer anywhere and allows us to rise above a mere shop keeper, but we must use the means now placed before us and adjust our selling methods to new conditions.

The great mail order houses do not as a rule handle trade marked goods, we do. The national magazines and bill boards are our advertisements and through the zone system of the Parcel Post we can sell cheaper than outside dealers. It is only left for us to let our customers know it or in other words link our names with every nationally advertised article consistent with our kind of store.

Let us no longer tell our trade WHY they should buy at home but rather WHAT they can buy at home. We can no longer advertise in superlatives and generalities, but in exact descriptions and specialties.

Parcel Post has come to stay. The American people wanted it, the American people are pleased with it, and it is up to you and to me as local merchants to immediately take advantage of its wonderful possibilities.

"There is only one best way to do a thing"
the principle behind BEN-HUR Cars and BEN-HUR Service

ABOUT a year ago, an earnest group of men were gathered around a table discussing a new Motor Car they were planning to market.

"Let's call it BEN-HUR," said one, "and build into it the same sincerity, honesty, frankness, constancy, combined with the same good looks, quickness and dexterity which characterized BEN-HUR of romance."

With this ideal, they started to work. Engineers tried to suggest ways of cheapening the car in design and construction in order to produce it to sell at a lower price and increase the profit.

Always the same answer was made by the men behind the car—"There is only one best way to do a thing—that's what we will use in BEN-HUR."

"Why not use the Smith Radiator? It's a good radiator and costs much less than the A-Z," was suggested.

"The A-Z is the best radiator, we will use that," was the firm reply.

"You could save money and no one would know the difference if you left out these extra tonneau lights," again said the tempter.

"I've always wanted tonneau lights in my ideal car. We will not try to save there."

"Why do you insist on the Buda Motor? It is one of the most expensive built. True, it gives greater efficiency and power, but other good cars use less expensive types of motors and 'get by.'"

"The BEN-HUR-Buda is the best way! That's what we will use."

This was the history throughout the designing and production of BEN-HUR Motor Cars.

At every step, a way of cutting costs at the expense of quality was suggested and always the same reply came, "There is only one best way to build a car—we insist upon that way."

When the BEN-HUR car was started, no one knew what the price would be. An ideal had been set—a car which would represent the maximum anyone could desire in motoring.

Then, when this ideal was attained, a price was put on the car, based upon cost and a fair margin of profit.

Just read the specifications below. They speak for themselves. They tell their own story of honesty in materials, equipment that insures stamina, design that gives the utmost in comfort and convenience.

A Service Policy that Says "The Owner is Always Right"

When it came to the question of Service, again BEN-HUR said "There is only one best way to do a thing."

If we told you nothing about BEN-HUR except to outline this Service Policy, you would know that here is a car and an organization in which you can safely place your confidence.

To BEN-HUR, Motor Car Service means only one thing—"Uninterrupted day-in-and-day-out use of your car—regardless of who is to blame for accidents, breakage, etc. That is what we intend to give BEN-HUR owners."

It is impossible here to describe the BEN-HUR Service plan. It is interesting and unique. Write us for full details.

Here are the Brief Specifications of BEN-HUR Motor Cars

These cold specifications cannot do justice to the BEN-HUR car itself. They cannot tell you of the powerful motor, that leaps to do your bidding.

They cannot picture in your mind the ease of driving or riding in this car—the comfortably luxuriously upholstered seats, the freedom from jar and jolt which the long springs and perfect balance afford.

They cannot give you any idea of the beautiful lines, the fine coach finish, the exquisite appointments of BEN-HUR Cars.

You must see the cars themselves, sit in them, drive them to appreciate these things.

The specifications are given merely to show you that the car has the right essentials in it.

THE NATURAL GAS SITUATION IN CLEVELAND

After much agitation in the newspapers of Cleveland relative to the so-called shortage of natural gas during the recent cold weather, a member of the Public Utilities Commission of Ohio arrived in the city at the request of Mayor Harry L. Davis to "probe" the East Ohio Gas Company for an alleged shortage of its fuel and illuminant.

The state official, Mr. George L. McKibben, is an expert when dealing with gas.

After a most rigid and thorough examination and investigation into gas conditions as they apply to Cleveland, Expert McKibben, with the co-operation of the Cleveland Chamber of Commerce and the Chamber of Industry, concluded that not all the trouble was attributable to the East Ohio. Mr. McKibben's findings were to the effect that the gas company did all in its power to give the people every cubic foot of gas that was possible to be pumped through its pipe lines during zero weather. His report was based on an unprejudiced examination of the local plants of the company and as to its capacity.

Time was in Cleveland when consumers of gas paid $1.00 per thousand feet for it and then their "constannt kicking" was unknown.

At 30 cents a thousand, the price today, with infinitely better service, it has become a fad to "belabor" the East Ohio Gas Company, which has honestly endeavored to give the people of Cleveland the highest class service at a minimum price.

It is some task to deliver 150,000,000 feet of gas every 24 hours to Cleveland people in the coldest of weather, yet that is precisely what the East Ohio does without any blare of trumpets.

With the completion of the auxiliary line now under construction by the East Ohio the situation in Cleveland and its suburbs will be greatly improved.

In a letter to the East Ohio Expert McKibben has this for his concluding paragraph:

"I have received the hearty co-operation of yourself and other city officials, the Cleveland Chamber of Commerce, the Chamber of Industry, and other civic organizations, together with the East Ohio Gas Company, in my work, and I am confident that a continuation of this co-operation will assure your city of the best supply of gas possible."

Expert Says Demand for Gas is Abnormal

Came to Cleveland a few days ago Mr. George L. McKibben, gas expert for the State of Ohio.

He started at once to investigate a reported general gas shortage.

About three per cent of the East Ohio Gas Co. customers had been inconvenienced at some time during several days, by lower than ordinary gas pressure.

Mr. McKibben came here to do you the justice of making a complete, uncolored investigation of Cleveland Gas Service.

Free from local influences, and unhindered by personal likes or dislikes, he and his assistants made a complete investigation, aided by the Chamber of Commerce, Chamber of Industry and City of Cleveland. His report to the city is printed below:

Cleveland, O., Dec. 27, 1916.

Hon. Harry L. Davis,
Mayor of Cleveland.

Dear Sir: I find upon investigation of the gas shortage reported in your city, as follows:

That the East Ohio Gas Company is now delivering in excess of 150,000,000 feet of gas each twenty-four hours during the cold weather. This is their full capacity.

That the demand for gas upon account of the shortage of coal is abnormal.

That the special rate for industrial use of gas has been entirely eliminated. Fifty million feet of gas has been conserved for domestic use. Further conservation of gas will be necessary, and the following will help to relieve the situation during cold weather:

Many of the large users of gas have agreed to shut off part of their gas during cold weather.

Ask all consumers to examine their gas appliances and fixtures. Many gas pipes are too small. The gas pipe to furnace should at least be one and one-fourth inches in diameter.

Where possible, gas consumers should be prepared to burn coal in time of gas shortage.

The co-operation assured me and the economical use of gas will go far toward preventing a recurrence of the recent complaints.

Upon completion of the auxiliary line now being constructed by the East Ohio Gas Company, the situation will be materially improved. Further investigation is being made and the result will be given to you when the same is completed.

I have received the hearty co-operation of yourself and other city officials, the Cleveland Chamber of Commerce, the Chamber of Industry, and other civic organizations, together with the East Ohio Gas Company, in my work, and I am confident that a continuation of this co-operation will assure your city of the best supply of gas possible. I will suggest that you furnish the Chamber of Commerce, the Chamber of Industry and the East Ohio Gas Company with a copy of this communication.

Yours respectfully,
George L. McKibben,
Gas Expert for the Public Utilities Commission of Ohio.

TIPS FOR PLAY-GOERS

B. F. KEITH'S HIPPODROME.

Ruth St. Denis and Emma Carus are on next week's bill at the B. F. Keith Hippodrome. St. Denis will appear with Ted Shawn and the Denishawn Dancers. Emma Carus, the comic opera star, will appear with Larry Comer. Other features will be: Stanley and Norton, Charles E. Evans and company, Lewis, Belmont and Lewis, Lew Wilson, Gradna and Derrick, and the Alexander Brothers.

OPERA HOUSE

The box office sale for the engagement of Montgomery and Stone in "Chin-Chin" at the Euclid Avenue Opera House next week opened this morning. "Chin-Chin" will never be seen in this city after next week, as Montgomery and Stone are already at work on a new production. Charles Dillingham recently signed an agreement to pay them $1,500,000 during the life of the contract.

COLONIAL THEATRE

"Flora Bella" comes to the Colonial theatre next week with Lina Abarbanell singing the prima donna role. In the cast are Charles Purcell, Robert O'Connor, Adolph Link, Irving Brooks, Roydon Keith, Gilbert Clayton, Muriel Hudson, Juliette Lippe, Fanny Grant and Ted Wing. There will be a matinee Thursday and Saturday.

PROSPECT THEATER

"Little Peggy O'Moore," by Oscar O'Shea and Edward Clarke Lilley, and produced by Halton Powell, will be the attraction at the Prospect theatre for one week starting Monday, January 8th, with the usual Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday matinees. This joyous play of youth is in four acts, dealing with modern American politics and finance, there are three love stories in the play and the plot is so complicated that the interest is held tensely throughout. The producer has provided handsome stage settings and the costumes are in the best of taste. The players who are all well known, are picked to play the various types, include Oscar O'Shea, Edward Clark Lilley, Daniel Reed, Al Jackson, J. Ward Kett, Edward Brennan, Lew Manson, Harry Thomas, Esther Evans, Ethel Barr and Pauline MacLean, who appears in the title role. A wonderful electrical rain storm and a marvelous transformation scene of the river Shannon are only two of the many startling features in "Little Peggy O'Moore."

MILES THEATER

The Miles theatre next week will offer a program featuring John P. Wade in "The Coral Cameo,' and Henrietta DeSerris and company as joint headliners. Others are Eva Shirley, Thalero's circus, Tom Kelley, Madame Olga and her 12 trained leopards and two other acts. In addition there will be three big motion picture features.

ALHAMBRA AND MALL

A little art model resorted to gambling to get the fine clothes which she was wearing at her work. She got into the power of an unscrupulous police official, who used her to extort a murder confession from a man who loved her.

That's the beginning of the absorbing story of "Vanity," which comes to the Alhambra and New Mall Sunday, for a four-day engagement. The picture features Emmy Wehlen.

This picture will be shown together with the second chapter of the Metro serial "The Great Secret," which features Francis X. Bushman and Beverly Bayne.

Patrons who are following the serial are cautioned that the succeeding chapters of the serial will be shown at these theatres only four days, starting each Sunday, so they should try and arrange to come early.

STAR THEATER

The Spiegel Revue will be the attraction at the Star theatre next week. The cast includes Billy Mosley, Midgie Miller, Ben Holmes, Callahan Brothers, Marian Marshall and Josephine Younge. Tuesday and Friday nights a perfect figure contest will take place in conjunction with the performance. All models in Cleveland are eligible.

EMPIRE THEATER

One of the fastest and merriest shows presented in burlesque appears at the Empire theatre next week, featuring Ben Small. "The Gay Modiste" and "In Alaska," written by Small and George Wagner, a Cleveland boy, are billed. In the company are Al Dupont, John D. Bohlman, Marion Chase, Mabel Lynest, Niblo and Spencer and Helen Spencer.

LIBERTY THEATER

A miniature reproduction of one of the most famous American dramas is the feature on a bill of seven very good acts at the Liberty theatre for the week of January 8. Frank Barton and company of four talented artists present a one act version of the great drama "Paid in Full." It has the plot of the four act play, but is condensed into an act which takes about 20 minutes to enact. Dixie Harris and the All-Star Four come next on the bill. The Marco Twins present a grotesque comedy turn that is immense. Carroll Keating and Fay do a variety of entertaining. Pearl Davenport is a prima donna of no mean talent. George Witchman is a skillful modeler of clay.

STANDARD THEATER

George Walsh in "The Island of Desire."

There has been more time spent on the new photoplay in which Geo. Walsh is featured than on any other play within a year and it has proved to be a genuinely superb feature.

In it we have the most beautiful photography of a volcanic eruption, and the result is a photoplay which displays the best of cinema art.

Margaret Gibson plays the leading role with Walsh in which he is one of the members of a curious expedition to a pearl lagoon off the South Sea Islands. Members of the party being a newspaper reporter, George Walsh, a degenerate Australian, Herschel Mayall, and a Chinese, William Burress, who supplies the money to fit out this expedition.

When they arrive at the island they find only a girl, Leila, Margaret Gibson; who had been shipwrecked with her father long ago. Leila is so glad to see the white men that she eagerly shows her pearls to them. These prove so tempting to the Australian and Chinaman that they form a combination against Leila and the reporter. The dramatic finish of this picture is one which is a fitting climax to this interesting photoplay.

NANCY WINSTON AND GREGORY KELLY IN A SCENE FROM STUART WALKER'S PLAY, "SIX WHO PASS WHILE THE LENTILS BOIL," PORTMANTEAU THEATRE COMPANY.

DUCHESS THEATRE

Vaughan Glaser has taken over entire control of the Duchess theatre and with its opening on Monday night, January 8, a new atmosphere will prevail in this attractive little playhouse.

The capacity audiences that marked Mr. Glaser's occupancy of the Duchess for four months, when he played there three years ago, will doubtless be duplicated this season, for plays, players and productions will all be under Mr. Glaser's direct supervision. "Rich Man, Poor Man," will be the opening production.

The theme of "Rich Man, Poor Man" is based on the old but ever new story of "Cinderilla." "Rich Man, Poor Man," is a drama of absorbing interest, rarely interesting, and most certainly has the elements that appeal to all classes of theatre-goers. This story of Broadhurst is possessed of a big human note and heart interest is its greatest element.

Popular price matinees Thursday and Saturday.

PORTMANTEAU

McKay Morris, who had his early training and first came into prominence in the companies of David Belasco, winning especial distinction in "The Governor's Lady," is one of the important members of Stuart Walker's Portmanteau theatre company, to be seen at Hotel Statler ballroom on Monday, January 8, Tuesday, January 9, afternoon and evening; Wednesday, January 10, afternoon and evening.

Subsequently Mr. Morris created the role of Blueblood in "Experience" and during the season of 1915 he played with William Courtenay in "Under Fire," directed by the well-known firm of Selwyn and Co. Prior to joining Stuart Walker's company he gained further important training with Madame Yorska, the distinguished French artiste and protege of Sarah Bernhardt. Mr. Morris is the son of Colonel Louis Thompson Morris, Seventh Cavalry, United States Army, who fought in the Civil War and was made a brevet major for gallant service at the battle of Chattanooga and Nashville.

CORONA THEATRE

Saturday, January 6, the Blue Bird photo plays present "The Price of Silence," featuring beautiful Dorothy Phillips, at the Corona theatre, 745 Prospect. The Blue Bird photoplays have become popular on the theory that "the play is the thing." In this picture you have a star in addition to the play. A well known Parisian cafe is produced for the screen in the second episode of the "Purple Mask." There is a regular Ford-Cunard finish, leaving Pat and Kelley in the most exciting situation they have been seen so far. The sets in this episode are magnificent. Popular demand has induced the Corona theatre, 745 Prospect, to run this Universal serial two days, every Sunday and Monday. You will miss a rare treat if you don't see "The Purple Mask."

FARMERS' AND GARDENERS' CORNER

The cities may have their little mobs and riots, but the farmers will plow and sow and reap and feed their stock and go forth to their labors until the evening. The farmers have ever and always been the hope of the world.

THREE BOYS WHO RECEIVED FREE TRIP

WHY THE FARMER BOY SUCCEEDS

Much has been said and written of the triumphs of the farmer boy. By manuel labor he wrests from the clods of the field the food for the world. Not only this, but he invades the city, enters the professions, takes rank with the captains of commerce, finance and industry, produces timber for courts and cabinets, officers the army and speaks with persuasive power in the pulpit and the legislative halls. Why has he succeeded? Not because of his meagre educational advantages, but in spite of them. He has succeeded largely because he has learned to work and apply his energies to practical ends. He has been close to the realties of life that can not be dreamed or played away. His investment in manual labor has its concrete and tangible reward in the tributes of the orchard and the grain field. And neither in his experience not his contemplation of the result has he lowered his ideals or forgotten the things of the spirit. I would not disparage mental discipline or metaphysical gymnastics for their own dear sake, but if we can get the culture of the faculties by directing intellectual energy to useful ends, God bless the educator who will find the way.—From address of Governor Frank B. Willis before Pennsylvania State Teachers' Association, December 29, 1915.

Crane-ing—A Little Magazine Published over in Wickliffe, Issues a Newspaper Edition.

Fitting Men for the Job.

In a good many communities, decent, truthful and serious papers are successful. Their success is not due to chance, but to the ability of their managers and editors. To make a paper of this kind pay requires a higher ability than to make a yellow sheet pay.

Fix in your memory this fact: The editor of a scandalous newspaper has not yet acquired the professional and technical skill and the clean mind to edit a decent sheet.

The abler men in the newspaper business are trying to reform that business by the example they set in publishing splendid newspapers and by their speeches and actions in organizations of newspaper men.

Colleges are helping along the good cause by founding journalistic courses of study and by training men and women for clean, skillful newspaper work.

Why should a newspaper turn you loose, at 22 years of age, untrained in investigation and in methods of thinking and literary technique, to write of important affairs from your boyish viewpoint?

The great writers have sought deeply for knowledge of the human race, and for sympathy with it. They have labored drudgingly to acquire technical skill. They have polished their minds by contact with the great minds of the world.

They find no necessity for dressing truth in the clothes of untruth and sensation to make it appear interesting. They can take the simple truth and tell it in a way to hold the reader's most intense interest and to charm him by the art of the telling.

The public does not expect a newspaper writer to be a Shakespeare, an Emerson, a Poe, a Longfellow, but it is coming more and more to expect him to be a clean-minded and a trained thinker and writer, who will lay aside personal prejudice and write with keen, impartial, analytical sense, and whose heart will carry a deep love and sympathy for his fellow men, regardless of their station in life.

YOUR LOCAL PAPER

Contributed by George T. Rockafellow

Do you realize the value of your local paper when sharply criticising it, and in a scornful way pronounce it worthless and only a useless thing to be maintained? Would it not be well, my brother, to halt a moment and consider whether it is not a medium of more value and good than yourself? Why, bless you, your local paper tells you when to go to county, circuit and probate court, and nearly everywhere else you may have to go on this mundane sphere. It tells who is dead, and eulogizes their lives according to order; who is married, hurt, sick and a thousand other things you want to hear. It calls your attention to good schools, law and order in your town and county. It rejoices with you in prosperity and sympathizes with you in adversity. It records the marriage of your daughter, and is an index of innumerable souvenirs; it booms your town and builds up business. Whether you patronize it or not. Now ladies and gentlemen, can you not have a fair realization of how much you owe to your town paper?—From the Stuart Times.

NEIGHBOR MOURNS THE LOSS OF OLD RESIDENT

At ninety, after years of association, one feels the loss of a neighbor and a long time friend, and so Mrs. Cherilla Haver, of Vine street, feels keenly, with the husband and family, the passing of Mrs. C. P. Lilley. Mrs. Lilley died on Christmas eve, after an illness covering a duration of about four years, the latter two of which she had been quite helpless. Her husband was her faithful attendant, and he is now alone in the home where they had lived together for nearly 53 years. The 8th of next July the couple would have been married 61 years. They were born and lived for years on the Plains, Mrs. Lilley having been Miss Amelia Ames. Eleven children were born of the union. One daughter, Mrs. Margaret Roper, has lived next door for many years. Mrs. Blanche Hungerford, another daughter, is a resident of Painesville, while Mrs. Maybelle Baldwin lives in Cleveland. Four sons are also living, the eldest being in Texas, and one each in California, Painesville and Cleveland.

Long residence on Vine street had endeared Mrs. Lilley to many friends. Mr. Lilley will be 83 years old the2nd day of June, but his vigor and appearance, cause him to appear at least 10 years younger.

Mrs. Margaret Roper, the neighboring daughter, is the oldest resident upon Vine street, so far as length of time living in the neighborhood is concerned. Mrs. Roper has lived upon the street for 53 years. Mrs. Haver, who is about 90 years old, has lived on Vine street for about 52 years. She was a neighbor of Mr. and Mrs. Lilley upon the Plains and their life and associations have been closely allied. Vine street was a lane and heavy woods around it when these old residents first settled there. The locomotives were fired by wood, and piles of cord wood in four foot lengths could be seen piled beside the tracks in the territory covered by the distance between Mentor and Wickliffe. Now the Ben Hur plant and the automobile fills in the latest advance on this street, where the old settlers have seen so many changes.

BIRTHDAY PARTY

Miss Gladys Yaxley celebrated her 14th birthday last Wednesday at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. N. O. Yaxley. Mrs. C. R. Pau and Miss Hazel Yarnell, seventh grade teacher, acted as assistant hostesses. The guests included Marie Pace, Lillian Speares, Grace Randall, Mary Wilder, Winifred Jackman, Cora Buchner, Mary Gillette, Fredericka Jackman, Katie Lang, Milo Daniels, Harold Sietz, Glen Clark, Norman Myers, Willie Wier, James Marble, William Jackman and others. Games, supper and a general good time was enjoyed.

Thompson, Dean Alfred Vivian, Director Clark S. Wheeler and many other faculty members of the Ohio State University.

DOES IT TAKE YOU IN?

Those who go out of the city to do their trading.

Those who oppose improvements.

Those who prefer a quiet, listless town to one of push and improvement.

Those who imagine they run the town.

Those who think business can be done without advertising.

Those who kick at public spirited men.

Those who oppose every movement that does not originate with themselves.

Those who put on a long face when a stranger talks of locating in the city.

Those who oppose every public enterprise which does not appear of personal benefit to them.

Those who seek to injure the credit of individuals.—From the Stuart Times, (Contributed.)

Poem delivered by Mrs. Minnie E. Carrel at the Methodist Church Christmas observances.

THE PRINCE OF PEACE

The sun sank low in the western sky
O'er Judea's hills that night,
And the little town of Bethlehem
Lay bathed in its mellow light.

There were many guests in the little inn,
And the streets were ablaze with light
When Joseph and Mary stopped at the gate,
And begged for a room that night.

There is no room for you in the inn
The Keeper then carelessly said,
Perhaps in the stable there may be space
The manger might serve as a bed.

So Mary laid down on her manger bed
She was weary and filled with pain.
Could she only be soothed by her mother's hand,
But the longing was all in vain.

Night wore on till the midnight hour,
Then she welcomed a little stranger,
The Prince of Peace, God's gift of love
Lay cradled in Bethlehem's manger.

Not with soft white garments daintily made,
Did she cover the little Christ child,
But with swaddling clothes she wrapped him
And kissed him and tenderly smiled.

As she pressed her babe to her bosom
She knew that a Savious was born,
And the stable was turned to a palace
'Ere the coming of that new morn.

And the sky was aglow with a splendor
Such as no eye had ere seen before,
And earth caught the glory of heaven,
As the angels threw open the door.

And they sung this wonderful chorus,
As the earth lay solemn and still,
Today in the city of David is born
A Prince of Peace and Good Will.

O, join with the angels your vesper hymns.
Sing, sing of the Prince of Peace,
Till it reaches the hearts of the nations
And causes their warfare to cease.

Till it reaches the heart of the mourner,
As she bends o'er a form so still.
O, carry to her the Father's love,
Tell her of peace and good will.

O, we all will behold the vision.
If we lift our eyes from the plain,
And bend our ears towards the music,
We will catch the glad refrain.

Then we all will join in the chorus,
Till it echoes from sea to sea,
And makes ours the beautiful Christmas
God planned for you and me.

Beautiful Bust and Shoulders are possible if you will wear a scientifically constructed Bien Jolie Brassiere.

The dragging weight of an unconfined bust so stretches the supporting muscles that the contour of the figure is spoiled.

BIEN JOLIE (BE-AN JO-LEE) BRASSIERES put the bust back where it belongs, prevent the full bust from having the appearance of flabbiness, eliminate the danger of dragging muscles and confine the flesh of the shoulder giving a graceful line to the entire upper body.

They are the daintiest and most serviceable garments imaginable—come in all materials and styles: Cross Back, Hook Front, Surplice, Bandeau, etc. Boned with "Walohn," the rustless boning—permitting washing without removal.

Have your dealer show you Bien Jolie Brassieres, if not stocked, we will gladly send him, prepaid, samples to show you.

[illegible] Clerk of the Village of Willoughby, Lake County, Ohio, at his office in the Village Hall in said Village, or at his place of business in said Village, until twelve o'clock noon, central standard time, on Monday, the 29th day of January, 1917, for the purchase of bonds, with interest coupons attached, of the Village of Willoughby, Lake County, Ohio, in the aggregate amount of Four Thousand Dollars ($4,000.00), described and made payable as follows:

"Series L." Numbers One (1) to Eight (8) both inclusive, and due and payable on the first day of September, 1926.

Said last described bonds, together with interest coupons, are issued for the purpose of extending, enlarging, improving, repairing and equipping the Water Works Plant and System of said Village, under authority of the General Laws of the State of Ohio, particularly of Section 3939 of the General Code of Ohio, and in accordance with Ordinance No. 420, duly passed by the Council of said Village on the 21st day of December, 1916, entitled "An Ordinance to provide for the issuance of bonds of the Village of Willoughby, Lake County, Ohio, in the sum of Four Thousand Dollars ($4,000.00) for the purpose of extending, enlarging, improving, repairing and equipping the Water Works Plant and System of said Village."

Each of said bonds heretofore described is in the sum of Five Hundred Dollars ($500.00), is dated September 1, 1916, bears interest at the rate of Five Per Cent (5%) per annum, payable semi-annually on the first day of September and of March of each year, on and after March 1, 1917. Said bonds and interest thereon shall be payable at the office of the Treasurer of the Village of Willoughby, Lake County, Ohio.

Said bonds will be sold to the highest bidder for not less than par value and accrued interest and shall be delivered and paid for at the office of The Cleveland Trust Company, Willoughby Branch, in the Village of Willoughby, Lake County, Ohio.

All bids must state the number of bonds bid for and the gross amount of the bid and accrued interest to date of delivery. All bids shall be accompanied with a certified check on any bank situated in Lake County, payable to the Treasurer of said Village in the sum of Two Hundred Dollars ($200.00), upon the condition that if the bid is accepted the bidder will receive and pay for such bonds within ten (10) days from and after the time of award, said check to be retained by the Village as liquidated damages if such condition is not fulfilled.

Said bids will be opened and publicly read and sale of said bonds will be made at the regular meeting of the Council of said Village held on the 29th day of January, A. D. 1917, at seven o'clock p. m., central standard time, at the Village Hall in said Village.

The Council reserves the right to reject any and all bids.

Bids shall be sealed and endorsed: "Willoughby Village Water Works Bonds, Series L."

By order of the Council of the Village of Willoughby, Lake County, Ohio.

D29-J5-12-19 C. C. JENKINS, Clerk.

About a dozen Masons from Willoughby were planning to attend the annual dinner of the Royal Arch lodge at Painesville, Wednesday evening.

NEWS FROM WAITE HILL

Mr. George Stokes is ill and Dr. Moore is in attendance.

Miss Elizabeth Kitts recently received a letter from Mrs. Chas. Whitney of Dakota, saying she was in very poor health. The Whitneys were former neighbors of the Kitts family.

Mr. Cross, manager of the Sherwin farms, and family gave a party on Xmas eve to the employes of the John Sherwin farms. Refreshments were served and a nice time in general enjoyed.

Mrs. Lilly Yaxley has lost another horse, which makes two in less than two weeks apart. She seems to be rather unfortunate, but she's a plucky little woman and will come out all right if anyone could.

The free show given by S. S. Wilson to the children was well patronized and much appreciated.

We note by the paper that Melvin Yaxley has purchased another place in Willoughby.

Mr. S. S. Wilson's talk on modern store problems was very interesting.

Miss Mary Wells was a guest relatives in Mentor over Friday night.

Mrs. Wallace Thompson, nee Alice Harris, of Cleveland, has a new son, born December 26. It came near being an Xmas present. Now they have a trio of boys. Mrs. Thompson was a former Kirtland girl.

Mrs. S. K. Waite received over 40 post cards coming from friends from 11 different cities and towns during her postal shower, which helps wonderfully to shorten the long, weary hours in the sick room.

D. M. Sanborn is ill with bronchitis. Dr. Moore is attending him.

The Wells family were the recipients of a Victrola for Xmas from their granddaughter, Margaret Abell, of N. J.

Luther Givins came home from his trip to Virginia Sunday the 24th. It was a welcome surprise as he was not expected until after Xmas.

The daughter of Ed. Cox of Chardon have been spending the holiday vacation at their uncle's, L. D. Cox.

Mrs. Hanson of Chagrin Falls and Mr. and Mrs. George Brichford were entertained on Xmas at John Smith's.

The several Cox families ate their Christmas dinner with their sister, Mrs. Arthur Martin and family in East Kirtland. About 30 were there to enjoy the bountiful dinner and share the "fruits" from a large Xmas tree, and an enjoyable day was spent.

The daughters of Ed. Cox of Charman Fenner were the recipients of a fine new piano for an Xmas present.

Miss Alma Stoker received for Xmas a lovely box of California fruits from Miss Rudd of Pasadena, Cal., formerly of Cleveland. Also Mrs. George Stoker received a box from her son George, who lives in the Golden State.

Miss Ernest Jennison entertained relatives on Xmas day.

Henry Yaxley has purchased a place of Horace Frees in Willoughby.

Mrs. Lilley Yaxley and family spent Xmas with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Roberts, of Willoughby.

We were saddened to hear on the death on Xmas of Mrs. Laura Upham of Mentor. She was for many years a resident of Kirtland, where she has a host of friends who will greatly miss her.

F. Brichford and wife and George B. and wife were Sunday guests a week ago of J. Dymack and family of Willoughby.

The writer received a number of beautiful Xmas booklets and cards from various parts of the globe which she very highly appreciates, and especially those from some of our dear elderly friends, namely Mrs. G. W. Smith, Miss Elizabeth Kitts and Mrs. Selena K. Waite. The latter being ill and not able to sign her name to the booklet, her daughter doing it for her. For several years we've exchanged Xmas greetings this way. These little Christmas mementoes with the artistic designs and appropriate verses help to drive away the "blues." Did I hear you ask why I have the "blues?" Why, just because we can't sail away over the hills and valleys for miles and miles in that little "Henry" car as we did "in the good old summer time."

Misses Sylvia Lilley and Katie Hill of the Andrews school were home over the holiday vacation.

H. O. Wells and family and Ed. Wells and family dined on Xmas with Mrs. Eliza G. Waite.

JAMES R. GARFIELD TALKS OF REPORTED ROBBERY AT MENTOR

A rather sensational report appeared in the evening papers this week in regard to a reported burglary at the James R. Garfield residence at Mentor. Talking with Mr. Garfield at his office in the Garfield Building Thursday morning, Mr. Garfield said that no burglary occurred. The house was closed for the season, and no one he said, was more surprised than he to read the reports as given. It seems that Mr. Garfield's hunting outfit had been opened and a revolver purloined and one or two trinkets of no intrinsic value taken from the house, presumably by some attendant who had had access to the premises. The value would not have exceeded $25. Mr. Garfield had reported the matter for the purpose of having the trinkets identified at a pawn brokers, if offered, and in this way the reports presumably reached circulation.

LETTER FROM DR. BELL OF WILLOUGHBY, NOW SERVING IN THE TRENCHES

October 16, 1916.

Our long trip is over and in a few hours we will be in somewhat permanent quarters. We marched about one hundred kilometers and I rode my faithful horse all the way except when ascending steep hills, when I walked at her side.

Our sleeping places varied from quite palatial chateaux to the dirtiest, most ill-smelling hovels ever occupied by creatures of the species we claim as our own. It was all in the game however, and I should gladly go through it again if in that way I might have like experiences.

I am betraying no military secrets and perhaps giving you only news possessed by you already when I tell you I was in the big push on the Somme where the artillery fire is said by experts who were at both places to have surpassed in its intense fury even Verdun.

The boys in their letters home describe the Somme area as "hell on earth," "a veritable hell" and "hell for sure," and like complimentary terminology, but none have to my knowledge attempted to describe this climate of rain and cloud and piercing cold, a land of mud and filth and depression.

We had a band of kilted pipers and you cannot know how wonderfully the men march to the skirl of the pipes. They shorten the long road and where men and horses are weary their wild, weird music brings new life and energy.

November 5, 1916.

One of the pathetic, yet at times most amusing things met here is the satisfaction with which men receive wounds. One that is severe enough to get its recipient back to England for a few weeks or months is called "a nice blight" and is always a subject for congratulation on the part of orderlies and associates. I have seen poor fellows that were so damaged that their life's span was measured by minutes eagerly inquire if I thought they had drawn a "blighty" this time and I would tell them in the best way I could that they would by heavenly grace see a better country and a city whose builder is God.

I met a boy from Rochester, another from Boston and a third from Niagara Falls today. All through the army I am known as the "Man from Missouri" or the "American Doctor."

RELATIVES OF COL. CODY IN THIS VICINITY

The death of Col. Cody, loved and known world-wide as "Buffalo Bill" comes close to many relatives in this section. Lindus Cody and Frank L. Cody are respectively first and second cousins. Miss Mary Cody, traveler and missionary, will be recalled in her connection with Miss Takamori.

An article in the Plain Dealer says: Among those who were in the colonel's party at the Scranton road show grounds the last time the wild west show was here were Rev. and Mrs. Sam Higginbottom of Allahabed, India, and their three children.

Mrs. Higginbottom is the sister of H. B., Arthur and Frank L. Cody and Rev. Mr. Higginbottom is teaching in Christian college at Allahabed.

MEETING IN WICKLIFFE

The annual Missionary meeting will be held in the Wickliffe school building Thursday next. Mrs. Honeywell and Mrs. Sherman will act as hostesses and will serve lunch.

LAKE COUNTY TEACHERS MEET

January 20th is the date scheduled for two meetings at the Willoughby high school, one for the county and city teachers, the other for members of the board of education. Inspection of the building, well known speakers, report of the recent school survey and many other interesting features are upon the program.

Exhibits of school work and demonstration and class work under Miss Keeler of the Andrews school and James McMahon are also scheduled.

NEWS FROM WAITE HILL

It's Governor Cox now.

Well, the holidays have come and gone, and the only wonder is that people have enough "dough" left to pay their taxes, which are ridiculously high this year. Ours are over onefourth higher than they were last year and if they keep in increasing at this rate we farmers can't begin to make enough to pay them and live, so what are we "poor mortals" going to do. I think if they would stop paving the country roads and draw a few loads of gravel now and then to put here and there and fill up the ruts and bad places and use those King drags after and at the right time we might have fairly good roads and leave the paving until "better

DEATH OF ALFRED SNOW

The afternoon of January 3 brought sorrow to our community when the terrible news of the tragic death of one of our best boys came to us.

Although Alfred Snow had lived among us less than a year he had proven himself more than an ordinary boy, both morally and mentally. Just at break of day Wednesday we saw him starting for W. H. S. doubtless looking forward to a happy new year. Before night this work here was completed and life eternal had begun.

The grief-stricken family have the sympathy of the community in their great sorrow.

Alfred Snow, the fourth child of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Snow, was born in Cleveland, January 27, 1902. He attended the city public schools till the removal of the family to Warrensville when he was 10 years of age. Here his school work was continued as it was later when we find the family living at the Center of Willoughby. In the spring of 1916 the Snows became residents of the Plains, and here Alfred completed the eighth grade work with a most excellent record besides showing the attributes of a manly boy. He entered W. H. S. last fall and was doing excellent work when on the first day of school in 1917 his earthly life was ended.

Saturday afternoon a large number of sorrowing relatives and friends gathered at the M. E. church when Rev. Phillips, the pastor, conducted the sad but beautiful funeral service. In his remarks Mr. Phillips said he could not remember a Sunday since he had been pastor of the church when Alfred had not been present at Sunday school and church. Music was furnished by the Misses Ethelbelle and Marie Campbell, who sweetly sang three selections.

The casket was covered with a wealth of beautiful blossoms contributed by the Grange, M. E. church, Missionary Society of the Christian church, W. H. S. schoolmates, teacher and former schoolmates in Dist. No. 1, and other friends.

Those who bore the remains to their last resting place were Edward Walker, Waite Talbot, Edward Broderick, Louis Dietrich, Edwin Tinckner and Vincent Heusenbach.

INTERESTING NEWS FROM THE PLAINS

Two places in our neighborhood changed hands the past week. The new owners are both Cleveland men. Mr. J. L. Kelley, a life-long resident of the Plains, sold his farm to a Mr. Brown, and Mr. Frank Crowl sold to a Mr. Arnold.

Mr. R. H. Robbins has been in the city several days on business.

Mr. Selwyn Snow of Warren and Mr. Harlan Snow of Cleveland were called home Thursday by the death of their brother.

The Misses Catherine and Mary Herbert have been spending several days with Cleveland friends and attended the auto show.

FATHERS WILL SERVE SUPPER AT MOTHER AND SON BANQUET

The fathers will don aprons and serve the supper when the mothers are entertained by the sons at the coming mother and son banquet, January 23rd. Local men interested in the work will assume this task. The week of January 22nd is scheduled as father and son banquet week throughout the county, in all the different groups, and the boys anticipating this, decided to make theirs a mother and son banquet. Tickets will be in the hands of all the Y. M. C. A. workers. Good singing, a good speaker and the supper to be served by the men will undoubtedly draw a large gathering.

BOYS ENTERTAINED

The Western Reserve basket ball team were entertained at dinner by Mrs. Bright upon the occasion of their playing the W. H. S. team here this week.

RESOLUTIONS FROM THE METHODIST SUNDAY SCHOOL—MENTOR PLAINS.

Whereas, it has pleased our Heavenly Father to take from his home and our Sunday school, our beloved brother, Alfred Snow,

While we deeply mourn his loss from our Sunday school and shall miss his pleasant face and ever ready help,

We resolve to extend our heartfelt sympathy to the bereaved parents, brothers and sisters in their sorrow and commit them to the all wise and eternal Father who doeth all things well.

J. H. R. PRODUCTS READY FOR INSTALLATION OF MACHINERY

The J. H. R. Products Co. are ready for the installation of machinery, but delays in shipment on material of this kind are very frequent at this time. Shipments however, are now anticipated any day. Drawings are under way for the larger plant which is anticipated, and it is hoped that work may progress smoothly in this first building. Water and drainage are problems that confront the management. It is said that the larger plant, if built, would involve an outlay of a quarter of a million.

PROPERTIES CHANGING HANDS

The Muhlhauser farm of 190 acres at Rush road was sold during the past week and it is reported that it was sold for $700 an acre. This farm is better known as the Sam Taylor farm. It is being surveyed by John Ward of Painesville.

J. Reeve, son of the late Alvin Reeve, has sold his farm at Stop 31 for $30,000.

Clyde Grover has rented his place to Mr. Hoyes, who has been employed by Mr. Monroe at Stop 29 1-2 for the past six years.

Y. M. C. A. MEETING AND PLANS

The first after Christmas meeting of the Y. M. C. A. was held Monday evening. An attendance of about 35 was reported. A short talk was given by Rev. Bright on "Community Service." County secretary R. L. Donnan spoke on the coming mother and son banquet which is scheduled for January 23rd. The board of control was in session during the evening. President Rev. Randall and Secretary Ralph Thompson and members J. Edw. Weitt, F. M. Shankland, L. B. Stockwell and E. M. Otis, discussed the provision to be made for dividing into groups of junior and senior. The junior group will meet hereafter on Monday evenings at 6:30 to 8, followed by the senior groups. After a swift game of indoor baseball between sides chosen by Messrs. Birkholz and Bright, refreshments were served by the entertainment committee. Several other games, superintended by Mr. Donnan, were participated in, the gathering closing at 10 p. m.

MERCHANTS' CONVENTION AT YOUNGSTOWN TO HEAR WILLOUGHBY SPEAKER

A merchants' convention will be held in Youngstown January 23rd. An interesting program is being arranged. "Better Merchants" is the object and reservations from many portions of the state are being made. Luncheon will be served at 12:15, and dinner at 6:45. Reservations of eight or more in a body from one town, may secure reservation at a private table to themselves.

James Stanley Baley of the staff of the "System" magazine, will describe the simplicity of a system of accounting devised for the general store keeper; E. W. Elmo Lewis of Detroit will discuss the subject of "Cutting Guess Work out of Retailing." S. S. Wilson of Willoughby will talk on "Store Management," at four p. m. and will address the assembly again at 6:45 p. m. as after dinner speaker. Several other interesting speakers and events are upon the program. Requests for reservations should be made now to P. L. Fralley, convention secretary, 509 Stambaugh building, Youngstown, Ohio.

MEETING OF THE STOCKHOLDERS OF THE STANDARD TIRE & RUBBER CO.

The stockholders of the Standard Tire & Rubber Co. held a most interesting meeting at the town hall, Willoughby, Tuesday afternoon. About 200 men and women, representing about 85% of the outstanding stock, were present. Some Cleveland folks included D. O. Summers, B. S. Haskins, Jr., J. F. Schulte, E. L. Thompson, M. J. Gillen, Pres., Julius C. Stegel, Louis J. Troster, John B. Carlin, Chas. J. Castle, W. J. Clark and Geo. M. Daniels of the Sterling & Welch Co. Mr. Daniels represented Mr. Sterling of the Sterling & Welch Co. Mr. Sterling is 84, and although very active, was indisposed, and could not attend the meeting. Ashland and Lorain sent representatives also.

A comparison of sales in the two seasons past was interesting. A splendid increase in the business of each month was shown. The company made their first tire in September, 1915. Their showing for 1915 was $1881.65. The showing for 1916 was $60,691.00. A report from the sales department showed contracts closed to date for the year of 1917 for $915,000.00. This covers contracts closed with dealers. Contracts closed on commercial accounts, amount to $277,000.00. Contracts pending, but not closed, but with prospect of landing fairly large percentage, amount to two million dollars. With the contracts closed and under way the company feel that they have every reason to believe that the business for 1917 will average close to two million dollars.

Talking with Mr. Shaw at his office in the Hippodrome Building, on Thursday, he remarked that some skepticism had been shown as to the success of the venture at the start and he felt that it would be a source of satisfaction to those who had cooperated to feel assured that the company is in Willoughby to stay; also that it will only be a question of time until the present plant will have to be replaced by larger, newer and more up-to-date buildings.

The board of directors selected include D. O. Summers of the D. O. Summers Cleaning & Laundry Co., Robert S. Wensley of The Harshaw, Fuller & Goodwin Co., J. F. Schulte, P. F. Narten, M. J. Gillen, Ben S. Haskins, of the Puritan Lunch Companies; E. W. Silver of the Silver Mfg. Co. Salem; E. L. Thompson of Cleveland and C. B. Shaw of Willoughby.

The new board will meet next Tuesday for the election of officers.

An inspection of the plant was made after the business meeting when lunch was served by the Puritan Lunch Co.

ORDINANCE NO 1706

By Mr. Ellenberger.

To issue bonds for the purpose of constructing sewers in the Village of Cleveland Heights, Ohio.

Be it ordained by the Council of the Village of Cleveland Heights, State of Ohio, two-thirds of all members elected thereto concurring:

Section 1. That it is deemed necessary by the Council of the Village of Cleveland Heights, Ohio, to issue and sell bonds with interest coupons attached of said Village for the purpose of constructing sewers in the Village of Cleveland Heights, Ohio, in the aggregate amount of $12,620.00 numbered, described and made payable as follows:

No. 1 for $620.00, payable October 1, 1918.
No. 2 for $1,000.00, payable October 1, 1919.
No. 3 for $1,000.00, payable October 1, 1920.
No. 4 for $1,000.00, payable October 1, 1921.
No. 5 for $1,000.00, payable October 1, 1922.
No. 6 for $1,000.00, payable October 1, 1923.
No. 7 for $1,000.00, payable October 1, 1924.
No. 8 for $1,000.00, payable October 1, 1925.
Nos. 9, 10 for $1,000.00 each, payable October 1, 1926.
Nos. 11, 12, 13 for $1,000.00 each, payable October 1, 1927.

All of said bonds are to draw interest from their date at the rate of 5% per annum, payable semi-annually on the first days of April and October of each year on and after the 1st day of April, 1917.

Section 2. That both principal and interest shall be payable at the office of the Treasurer of the Village on the presentation and surrender of said bonds and the coupons thereto attached as they respectively mature.

Section 3. That said bonds shall be dated the day of sale, and, together with interest coupons, shall be issued and signed according to law. That said interest coupons shall have the signature of the Clerk lithographed thereon.

Section 4. That the faith and revenue of all the real and personal property in said Village are hereby pledged to the payment of said bonds and coupons according to the terms thereof.

Section 5. That the proceeds of the sale of said bonds shall be placed in the treasury of said Village to be used for the purpose above stated and for no other purpose whatsoever.

Section 6. That for the purpose of providing funds in an amount sufficient to pay the interest on said bonds and to provide a sinking fund for the final redemption of said bonds at maturity, there shall be and is hereby levied upon the personal property in the Village of Cleveland Heights, Ohio, a direct annual tax sufficient for said purposes; the amount thereof shall be ascertained, levied and certified by the proper taxing authorities of said Village annually and shall be collected as other taxes are collected.

Section 7. This Ordinance shall take effect and be in force from and after the date of its passage and legal publication.

LEGAL NOTICE

George Perkins, Sarah Jane Perkins, Constantine Griffith, Constantin Griffin, and the unknown heirs, devisees and legatees of George Perkins, deceased; the unknown heirs, devisees, and legatees of Constantine Griffith, deceased, ——— Griffith, first and real name unknown, the unknown wife or widow of Constantine Griffith; the unknown heirs, devisees and legatees of Constantin Griffin, deceased, and ——— Griffin, first and real name unknown, the unknown wife or widow of Constantin Griffin; all of whose places of residence are unknown, and the names of the unknown heirs, devisees and legatees being unknown, will take notice that William Kleppel and Elizabeth Kleppel, as Plaintiffs, have filed a petition against them, as defendants, in the Court of Common Pleas of Cuyahoga County, Ohio, alleging that they are the owners in fee simple and in the actual possession and occupancy of the following described real estate, to-wit:

Situated in the City of Cleveland, County of Cuyahoga and State of Ohio and known as being the easterly 32 feet and 8 inches of Sublot No. 1 and all of Sublot No. 2 in George Perkins' re-subdivision of Sublots Nos. 25 and 26 in E. F. Collins' Subdivision of part of original 100 acre lot No. 440 in said City.

Said part of said sublot No. 1 and all of Sublot No. 2, together forming a parcel of land having a frontage of 77 feet on the Northerly side of St. Catherine Avenue, S. E., and extends back of equal width about 232.78 feet deep, as per plat of said Re-Subdivision recorded in Volume 3 of Maps, page 49 of Cuyahoga County Records.

The petition further alleges that the defendant, Constantine Griffith, and the unknown heirs, devisees and legatees of Constantine Griffith, deceased, ——— Griffith, first and real name unknown, the unknown wife or widow of Constantine Griffith, claim some interest or estate in said premises adverse and hostile to plaintiffs by reason of a certain deed executed November 20, 1871, and recorded in Volume 193, page 165 of Cuyahoga County Records, in favor of the defendant, Constantine Griffith.

The petition alleges that Cornelius Griffin was the real purchaser and grantee in said deed and immediately upon execution of said deed, went into possession of said premises, and that by inadvertance and mistake, the grantee's name in said deed was spelled Constantine Griffith, when it should have been spelled Cornelius Griffin; and that no conveyance appears of record in Cuyahoga County, Ohio, from the said Constantine Griffith; that the defendants, George Perkins, Sarah Jane Perkins and the unknown heirs, devisees and legatees of George Perkins, deceased, and Constantin Griffin, and the unknown heirs, devisees and legatees of Constantin Griffin, ——— Griffin, first and real name unknown, wife or widow of said Constantin Griffin, claim some interest in said premises hostile and adverse to plaintiff's rights by reason of a certain deed executed on May 23, 1870, and recorded in Volume 175, page 441, of Cuyahoga County Records, by the Defendant, George Perkins, in favor of Defendant Constantin Griffin; but by inadvertance, the Grantor therein failed to acknowledge said deed and no conveyance appears of record from the said Constantin Griffin.

The petition says that Cornelius Griffin was the real purchaser of said premises and that he immediately upon execution of said deed, went into possession of said premises, and that by inadvertance and mistake, the name of the grantee in said deed was erroneously spelled Constantin Griffin, when it should have been spelled Cornelius Griffin.

The petition alleges that Constantine Griffith, Constantin Griffin and Cornelius Griffin were one and the same person.

The petition further alleges that the plaintiffs and their predecessors in title have been in the open, actual, notorious, continuous and adverse possession of said premises for more than twenty one years last past; that the claims of said defendants are unfounded but constitute a cloud upon Plaintiffs' title, and that said defendants have no interest whatever in said premises; that any right, title or interest that they ever had has long since been barred by lapse of time and the Statute of Limitations and that none of said defendants, nor any one of them, nor anyone claiming through or under them, has ever sought to enforce or attempted to convey any interest in said premises since the execution of the deeds above mentioned.

The prayer of said petition is that the claims of each and all of said defendants be decreed to be null and void, and that each and all of said defendants be barred from having or claiming to have any right or interest whatsoever in said premises; that plaintiff's title be quieted in said premises against said defendant and for relief.

Said petition is No. 153355, and each and all of the defendants above named are required to answer the same on or before the 3rd day of February, A. D 1917. D14-J18

THE SATURDAY CORNER

Conducted by E. D. Bryant

ON PLAYING THE GAME

Columbus wasn't yachting when he landed on our side,
He had a plan and stuck to it, although all Europe tried.
By all the rules laid down by fools to drive it from his mind.
They told him that there wasn't anything for him to find,
And jeered at him and sneered at him, but still he would insist
That since the earth was round, not flat, a new world must exist;
And so he got his chance and proved himself right after all;
He held a bunch of aces and was not afraid to call.
If you possess the winning cards, sit tight, don't drop your hand;
It may take time, but finally we'll
Kauffman in Detroit Free-Press

GET 'EM NOW.

The man who will not pause to smile
This morning while he may
May wonder in the after-while
Why smiles don't come his way.

THE FELLER CALLED ME

Better get mad with the feller called
Me
Than with anyone else on earth.
He's so blind sometimes that he cannot see
The gifts that were his at his birth.
He stumbles and trifles and goes astray
Instead of just going right on
Up the straight and narrow and truest way
To the golden gardens of dawn.

Better get wise to this feller called
Me
The first thing that you do;
It will help so much in the day to be
To put what you want to through.
Study him over and take his size,
And probe him clear down to the deeps
And learn by his ears and his nose and eyes
What bad in his nature sleeps.

Better pick quarrels with the feller called Me,
Than with anyone else you know;
Ponder him over from A to Z,
And watch him wherever you go.
For every weakness you find and cure
Will be something to set you ahead
In the path that is straight and fine and sure
That your soul is destined to tread.

Sun.

LITTLE FOLKS CORNER

MOTHER GOOSE

Her maiden name was Elizabeth Foster and she was born in 1665. In 1693 she married Isaac Goose and a few years later became a member of the South church, Boston. She died in 1757 at the age of 92.

The songs she composed were sung to her grandchildren and were first published in 1716 by her son-in-law, Thomas Fleet, of Boston.

Mary, who had a little lamb, was Mary Elizabeth Sawyer. She found the lamb, neglected by its mother, and she took it home and cared for it. The lamb grew so fond of her that one day, just as the verse tells, it followed her to school. Mary tried to hide it under her desk and covered it with her shawl, but when the spelling lesson came, the lamb trotted out after her and set the children laughing.

A young student, named Rawlston, was a visitor at the school on the day this occurred and several days after he handed Mary the first verse of what you find in your "Mother Goose." He died soon after and never knew the popularity his verses were destined to have with children the world over.

DOLLS OF LONG AGO

In some of the museums where old treasures are kept you would find dollies which were made for little girls 3,000 years ago. These toys of ancient Thebes had well-shaped heads and what do you think they had for hair? Beads made of the Nile mud strung on threads and hanging in long strings from dolly's head.

In early Egypt the dolls had lifelike heads and little arms but the rest of the body resembled a wooden paddle except that some of them were beautifully carved and almost all of them had pictures of the gods, in the guise of animals, painted on them.

The dolls of Greece had their hair done up in true Grecian style, and the bodies were made with great care, the arms and legs made separately and joined to the body with wire pins. They looked a good deal like the cheaper dolls sold now. There were a few dolls of ivory and among the earliest Esquimaux dolls were some made of the walrus tusks.

The recipes that appear upon this page are generally contributed by our good cook friends, and many of our readers are saving them all, reporting them excellent.

COCOANUT CHEESE CAKES

Peel and grate one cocoanut, boil one pound of sugar for five minutes in two-thirds of a cupful of water; then stir in the grated cocoanut and simmer for ten minutes longer. Remove from the fire and while warm stir in one tablespoonful of butter, the yolks of two eggs well beaten, the grated yellow rind of one lemon, the strained juice of half a lemon and one cupful of seeded raisins. Bake for about twelve minutes in patty or tart pans that have been lined with pastry. Garnish each with a tablespoonful of meringue and return to a moderate oven until delicately browned.

DOUBLE FUDGE

2 cupfuls sugar, 2 squares chocolate, 2-3 cupful milk, 1 tablespoon of butter, 1-2 teaspoonful vanilla. Melt the chocolate by putting it into a saucepan over a pan of hot water, then add the milk and cook directly over the fire until thick, add the sugar and cook slowly to 234 degrees Fahrenheit (a soft ball when tested in cold water). Remove from the fire, add the butter without stirring and let stand until cool; then add vanilla and beat until creamy. Pour quickly into a buttered pan (5 by 9 inches) and cool while cooking the panoche.

2 cupfuls brown sugar, 1-2 cupful milk, 1 tablespoonful butter, 1 cupful walnut meats, 1 teaspoonful vanilla. Boil the sugar and milk to 236 degrees Fahrenheit (a soft ball when tested in cold water), add the butter and nuts and beat until creamy. Pour on top of the fudge in the pan. When cold remove the entire sheet of candy and cut into squares with a sharp knife. This method breaks the candy much less than marking in the pan and removing the separate pieces. If the candy sticks to the pan heat the pan slightly by placing it over a low flame for a few seconds.

Yield of recipe, 2 pounds, cost per pound 23 cents.

CHAPPLE AND THE AMERICAN TELEPHONE CO.

On "The Public Intelligence Department,"—Why Billy Sunday, Elbert Hubbard and Others Secure Publicity.

I believe that even casual investigation will discover a tremendous new business movement: the "Public Intelligence Department."

The Standard Oil Company now maintains a department of this character. Various great public utility corporations have departed from the traditional policy of secretiveness and established what practically amounts to press bureaus—information bureaus.

Manufacturers also are coming to designate some member of the staff to look after the announcing or writing up of unusual, curious items of information interesting to the public at large and appealing to the news sense of magazines, newspapers, trade journals, etc.

I believe this should be the subject of a special letter.

Last week I had occasion to call at the executive offices of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company. One of the departments there (one of many under the very able administration of that very capable gentleman, Mr. N. C. Kingsbury, vice president) is the Information Department—the department of public intelligence. The immediate head of this bureau is Mr. J. H. Ellsworth. In talking with these various gentlemen, I made some notes which I am sure will prove of interest to subscribers to the "Interview Letters."

I quote them substantially as follows:

"The real purpose of an Information Bureau is not to influence public opinion but to explain what the company is striving to accomplish in the way of service—what new works are undertaken to reach that end. Items of this nature are NEWS. The purpose is not to CREATE news but to DO things which, in their results, ARE news. If the guests at a ban- conversation between New York and listen to a transcontinental telephone quet are provided with facilities to San Francisco, the primary object is not to secure publication of the fact in the press, but to prove the feasibility and practicability of long distance equipment. The news feature follows but it is not the original stimulus which brought it about."

"No business that does not do NEW things can hope to win popular favor or attract the attention of the press."

"It does not make much difference what a fellow does so long as he makes a productive effort to start something. Billy Sunday gets more more first-page publicity than any other man living, not excepting the president of the United States, and Billy Sunday's news is taken from the bible. Billy makes the bible NEWS—he turns on the calcium light and reveals new meanings in such a way that everybody is interested and the press is willing and glad to publish the matter."

"The submarine 'Deutschland' has been accorded millions of dollars worth of free advertising. The Deutschland belongs to a corporation organized to conduct the business of merchant marine by means of submersibles. It has no advertising appropriation whatsoever, but the smiling face of little Capt. Koenig as he stands on the sea-washed deck, reflects the PUBLICITY RESULT of a genuine achievement.

"The Democratic national committee realized only half as much in contributions as the Republican national committee—but its contributions came from twice as many contributors. There's a peculiar point in this: political contributors are practically investors, and it is an old saying that 'where treasure is, there will the heart be also'—AND THE VOTE. Bob Wooley, chairman of the Democratic press committee was a sight to behold in the closing days of the campaign. He worked in his undershirt, stripped for action so to speak, and he looked for all the world like a night editor at the city desk of a metropolitan daily whipping a big scoop into the hopper for a special extra. Also, like a city editor, he had his reporters all around him night and day. He turned his press bureau into a selling organization. He had his men on the road, east, west, north and south. His job was to sell Wilson to the people—'AND HE GOT THE ORDER.'"

"Then there is that Hollander of ours, Mr. Toxen Worm, with the Schuberts—the greatest theatrical press agent in the world. This gentleman believes in names; he believes in the press value of his own name and he has secured possibly as much personal publicity as any man in the craft. He sets his trap and he baits it. He does not ask a newspaper to please print something—he goes at it just as they 'drag' the ground for a fox hunt. For instance, when he wanted a lot of press talk for an arriving actress he had her put to bed and quietly tan barked the streets all around her residence. Something must be the matter! What was it? What had happened? Who was sick? Must be somebody important, who is it? Newspapers wanted to know what it was all about—then somebody leaked and the name of the great actress was emblazoned in scareheads. Big news!—AND FREE!"

"Elbert Hubbard got more free publicity than any other man in two generations. He wore his hair long and he built queer buildings at East Aurora, N. Y. He believed in trademarking his individuality as well as the products of his institution. This was 'strange.' It constituted news. And constituting news it got into the newspapers. Elbert Hubbard did another new thing: He translated the old boys'—Plato and Socrates—he turned the 'old stuff' into the new vernacular—disinfected it and galvanized it, and it 'went.' He always used yellow paper for his manuscript; not because yellow paper was any better than white paper, but because it was yellow, and being yellow; somebody would notice it and say something about it. And they did. This was press agency. He knew how to do things which, when done, made news."

"The most successful business press agent perhaps, acting for a private corporation, is Mr. Brownell of the Ford Automobile Company. Brownell was who encouraged the mania for 'Ford Stories' and there have been seven million of them, more or less, at the least calculation since he started that stunt. Every one of these stories is a free advertisement of the Ford. Thousands of columns of newspaper space have been given them, and if all the time devoted by individuals to their telling and retelling were calculated on a calendar basis—a thousand years would not suffice."

Seriously, however, every house should have its press bureau.

Yours faithfully,
JOE MITCHELL CHAPPLE.

Sawing Diamonds a Trade Secret.

The operation of sawing diamonds, though it would seem to be simple, involves a great deal of technical knowledge and is really a trade secret that is carefully guarded to such an extent that it is followed as a separate trade, and some of the large establishments that conduct all of the other operations do not attempt to saw their stones, but send them out to shops that make a specialty of this branch of work.

SEA FOAM PUDDING

1 cup flour, 1 teaspoon baking powder, 2 teaspoons oleomargerine, or butter, 4 teaspoons sugar, 4 teaspeons salt, 1-2 cup milk, 4 halves canned peaches. Sift flour, baking powder and salt into bowl, add butter and rub in very lightly; add milk to make a soft drop dough. Brush 4 custard cups with a little melted butter; put a scant tablespoon of dough in bottom, then half of peach and teaspoon of sugar on the peach and cover with another tablespoon of dough. Place in moderate oven 20 to 25 minutes; turn out into saucedish and serve, while warm, with peach syrup or milk and sugar. If there are no peaches, take tablespoon of any jam or fruit butter that is at hand.

PINWHEELS

2 cups flour, 2 teaspoons baking powder, 1 teaspoon salt, 1 tablespoon shortening, 1 tablespoon melted butter, 1-3 cup milk, 1-2 cup brown sugar. Sift the flour, baking powder and salt into bowl, add the shortening, and rub in very lightly; add the cold milk slowly, just enough to hold together. Place on floured board, roll out 1-3 inch thick, brush with the melted butter and sprinkle brown sugar over; roll the same as jelly roll and cut into 1-inch pieces. Place on bakepan which has been well brushed with butter and bake 20 to 25 minutes in moderate oven.

Removing Warts.

Take a potato, scrape it and make a poultice; tie it on the wart at bedtime. Do this twice a week for three or four weeks and the wart, it is said, will disappear and leave no scar.

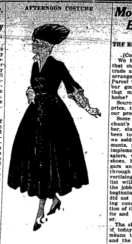
AFTERNOON COSTUME



Velvet, velvet everywhere is the cry of fashion's followers. Certainly there is nothing more effective than black velvet for the afternoon costume, and this exquisite frock is made with a fitted back and skirt that is trimmed with wide bands of braid. Soft white linen edged with cream valenciennes edging forms the collar and the undercuffs are of the same material. The costume requires in medium size 7 yards 40-inch velvet with 6 yards braid and 1 yard 36-inch linen.

Pictorial Review waist No. 6914. Sizes 34 to 42 inches bust. Price 20c. Skirt No. 6185, sizes 22 to 34 inches waist. Price 15c.

ROMANCE IN STRANGE RUSSIAN NAMES

Few Americans know there is romance in the strange-sounding Russian names brought to our notice by the war.

It is interesting, in the first place, to note how largely names signifying "hope," "victory," "fame" and "joy" figure in Russian, Polish and Slavonic nomenclature, while "glory" is capable of forming an entire class by itself.

All of which, in the belief of the Chicago Herald, evidences the spirit of fiery patriotism which burns in every Slav breast, and has caused this conflict to be regarded as a "holy war."

The czar's name, Nicholas, (which appears in his own country as Nikolaj, or Nikalo), bears the auspicious meaning of "victory of the people," being derived from the old Greek word nikon (victory.)

Another beautiful Russian name is Anikta, which means, literally, "without victory," hence "unconquered."

Few would recognize our familiar John under the poetic Ivan, with its feminines Ivanna and Ivancica, all of which means "grace of the Lord."

Our Elizabeth appears as Elisavetta (oath of God), and Kate is transformed into Katerina or the musical Katinka (pure.)

Jefronissa (mirth), Jelica (light) and Jevva (life) are surely a happy trio from which to christen a baby girl.

Here are just a few of the countless "glory" names: Stanislav (camp glory), Mitrofan (fire glory), Mistislav (avenging glory), Lavoslav (lion glory), Vatroslav (fiery glory), Wenceslaus or Venceslav, as the true spelling is (crown glory), Slavomil (glorious friend), Slavomir (glorious peace), and Slavoje (glorious love), or the three beautiful feminines, Eudoxia (happy glory), Micoslav (peace glory), and Valeska (ruling glory).

In all of these (except Eudoxia, which is used in its Greek form) we shall see that "Slav" signifies 'Glory,' hence the pride of the Slavonic race in their title.

"Fame" belongs to Vlademar (powerful fame), Vlndimir (ruling the world), Rurik (famed rule), and Ulrika (noble rule).

One of the prettiest groups of Russian names is that which corresponds to our "Dorothy" set, and comprises Fedor, Feodor, Feodora and Feodosia, all meaning "God's gift;" while Pheodora and Pheodosia denote "Divine gift." "Joy" is the meaning of the following: Radak, Radan, Radko and Radman, and form ideal names for little Russian boys. Radmil (joyful love) and Radivoj (joyful war) supply two others, while the pretty Radinka (joyful peace) will surely be used greatly when that glad day comes.

Paul, meaning "little," has a whole host of variations, of which the best known are Pavia, Pavola and Pavlina.

"Petr" denotes "a stone" or "rock" and supplies the basis of the name Petrograd (stone city, or more nearly rock fortress), which the czar has substituted for the former St. Petersburg, a title that was really incorrect, inasmuch as Russia's capital has no connection with St. Peter, but was named after Peter the Great, the Russian Emperor.

Modern Store Problems Discussed By Sidney S. Wilson of Willoughby

We have spoken of the influences that store service has upon keeping trade at home; clerks, fixtures, stock arrangement, advertising and the Parcel Post, but where shall we buy our goods and what difference will that make about keeping trade at home?

Source of supply controls style and price, the two remaining factors of our proposition.

Some 35 years ago the retail merchant's source of supply was the jobber, since then the tendency has been to buy from the maker. Now we seldom see ready-to-wear garments, paints, furniture, vehicles or implements in the store of wholesalers, while only about half of the shoes, hosiery, hats, underwear, cigars and wall paper sold passes through their hands. National advertising brought the change and the list will grow and grow so long as the jobber fails to see it. Up to the beginning of the last decade jobbers did not seem to recognize the changing conditions or realize the evolution of the ruralite into the suburbanite and his demands upon the retailer.

The shrewdest national advertisers of today are working on effective means to reach the country people and the inhabitants of towns and small cities, as the most profitable dependable and lasting customers. Country retailers represent the distributors among that class of people, true Americans are the backbone of American life and civilization. These gentlemen, our hosts, are the producers, and if I could offer a word of suggestion to the manufacturers of such merchandise it would be for them to continue the good work of educating us how best to sell, teaching us to realize more keenly that without advertising nobody knows what we sell. We have gone too long under the erroneous idea that our whole territory knows that we have in stock and that when they want article they'll come in and ask for

In no field of activity is the reward of earnest work and doing things right more responsive than in retailing.

We have long been barometers commercial weather forecasts but we have used wry faces and sour looks to get prices down long enough. The national advertising going into every home, the attractive literature of every commodity made, the wonderful advancement in transportation facilities that places us in immediate touch with every part of the United States, has created and brought to our counters demands which we must promptly fill or the manufacturers will look other outlets and find them too.

Let us keep our position as the prime factor in our particular community, supplying it with its wants.

Our policies and actions are directed by our thoughts, our thoughts by our observations.

It is said that only 5% of all retailers are successful. What a stigma.

If there is any business under the canopy of heaven that needs scientific management, it is ours. We are looked upon by students of the human race as a bunch of detail men working without plans, policy or method, simply intent upon supplying customers by methods offering the least resistance and dealing in articles whose means of distribution have been s for years.

The finger of doubt and criticism this era of economic unrest is up every trade not only for price but utility and for service.

Let us no longer be path followe but path makers; and when we have blazed the new way of merchandising it will soon be well trodden by the public, whose civic pride, personal convenience, assurance of right price and ready service prompts their preference to trade at home.

(THE END)

A FINISH FOR SILK UNDERWEAR

Has it ever occurred to the woman who delights in making dainty silk undergarments for themselves or for gifts that lace is not a necessary finish, or that even the popular hemstitching and picoting may be dispensed with? The answer to the question "What shall we substitute?" is a crocheted edge.

Very lovely effects in soft silk crochet can be accomplished with the crochet hook. Any simple edge will answer the purpose, but do not make the mistake of making the edge too wide. It is intended merely as a finish and not as a trimming. Use a rather fine silk and hook and work your edge right into the silk. If you find that the crochet hook tears the silk or spreads the threads, buttonhole finely all around the edges of the garment and use this as a foundation for your crochet. A pink edge on blue or a blue on pink or blue and pink on white each makes an attractive finish which costs far less than lace and is more durable.

HAPPINESS AND PINK LAMPS

It is pleasant to be told that unhappiness is not respectable, that it is futile, that it isn't even decent. These are terms that Frances Hodgson Burnett, noted writer, applies to the disagreeable affliction, and she adds that you must forget your troubles and keep your pink lamps lighted.

Keeping your pink lamps lighted is a catch phrase among the Burnett disciples. It means that you should look at life in the most favorable light obtainable. A pink lamp makes everything appear lovely, the eminent authoress explains. And loveliness is akin to happiness, and happiness is the chief good.

This seems like a nice sort of cult and one that deserves a trial. While it is true that we can't all be highly successful authors with big incomes and charming surroundings, and a wealth of pink illumination, we may keep at least one modest lamp burning and treat the unhappiness bugaboo to the same vigorous epithets. That your troubles will scurry away like the wolves that circle the campfire when a blazing brand is thrown at them, may be doubted. Nevertheless, a thorough contempt for unhappiness is excusable, and even commendable. So let's trim our pink lamps and be reasonably happy.

CRANBERRY AND RAISIN PIE

1 1-2 cups cranberries, 1-2 cup of seeded raisins, 3-4 cup sugar. Wash the raisins, put in saucepan with 1-2 cupful of water; place over slow fire and bring to a boiling point. Remove from fire; when cold add the cranberries, which have been cut in half; add sugar, mix well. Line pie plate with the regular pie crust; pour in the mixture, cover with top crust; brush top crust with milk and bake slowly 40 to 45 minutes. This is sometimes called mock cherry pie.

Mrs. Selena Waite was well remembered by friends with post cards during the Thanksgiving, Xmas and New Year's showers as they count up to over 100, which she greatly enjoys and appreciates.

Wm. Grover and family and W. Wheeler and family attended the funeral of their cousin, Alfred Snow, who came to his death in such a terrible manner. The funeral was held at the church on the Plains on Saturday p. m., and was largely attended by sympathizing friends and neighbors, the whole community are in sympathy with the bereaved parents. Burial was in Willoughby cemetery.

An oyster supper was held at the town hall Friday evening, given by the losing side of the hunt club.

The Kitts Waite family had their annual Xmas dinner and Xmas tree as is their custom and has been for many years.

Mrs. Aurelia Greer and son Fred of Mentor were entertained on Xmas at their cousins, Volney Stevens, and wife of Rrury Lane.

Mrs. Grover Leigh has returned from Charity hospital where she went for an operation for appendicitis. She was there three weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Webster and son Cecil from near Akron were recent guests of their daughter, Mrs. W. Wheeler and family. They came in their auto.

Arthur Hoose and family motored up from the Plains Sunday and were guests at his fathers, W. Hoose.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Freshley were guests on Thursday of Mr. and Mrs. J. Lilley.

The W. C. T. U. meets this Tuesday with Mrs. Chenowith. A picnic dinner will be served. Mrs. W. P. Sherman of Willoughby, the county president, is expected to be with them and address the meeting.

Melvin Yaxley is tearing down the house on his lot recently purchased and will erect a new one on the river bank, which is in a very sightly location.

John Dymock and family and Fred Presley of Willoughby were guests at John Brichford's Sunday.

Mrs. Walter Baldwin and Mrs. Raymond Francis attended quarterly meeting of the Friends' church in Cleveland the latter part of last week.

Miss Ida Reid of the Andrews school spent the holiday vacation with her friend, Miss Sylvia Lilley.

Miss Florence Cross was ill last week with throat trouble. Dr. Tanner was called. She is now better.

Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Lilley spent Wednesday at their cousin's, G. Palmer, in South Euclid.

We were sorry to hear of the accident which befel Mrs. Mahlan Sweet at their winter home in Florida, as she was walking in the garden she fell and broke her hip, which will confine her to her bed for several weeks.

Miss Edna Mills entertained a few friends Saturday evening in a pleasant manner.

Mr. Newton Heath has been taken to Charity hospital to have an operation performed for an absess on the lungs. He is improving.

A Christmas entertainment was held at the Center church Tuesday evening and would have been much enjoyed had it not been for the furnace smoking so badly, which caused tears instead of laughter. But soon the new furnace will be installed and then everything will go off all right.

Miss Hattie Martindale has been ill caused from taking a severe cold, but she's better now.

There have been more autos used around here this winter than ever before. It's probably due to the high cost of horse feed and no doubt many people have laid their old "Dobbins" to rest, especially those that were "of age."

We were happily surprised Sunday as on going to the barn we discovered one of our numerous hens had "laid an egg" after being out on a strike for over two mont hs. Now if we can induce her to keep on laying for a week or two we won't need to get that eggless cake recipe.

News from Kirtland

The Ladies Aid Society met at the home of Mrs. Julia Fritz on Thursday, January 4. Two quilts were tied off. Plans were discussed as to the play, which the laides expect to have in a short time, called the "old maids' convention." Time and place will very likely be given out next week in this paper. A delicious dinner was served at noon.

Mrs. George Yaxley lost recently two horses, the older one could not get up and had to be killed, while the younger one three days after simply laid down and died. It had not been sick and as Mrs. Yaxley said, very likely death was caused from grief, as it had always been driven by the older horses' side.

Mrs. J. B. Barton has returned from Cleveland and is able to ride out.

Newton Heath is doing nicely in the hospital and it is thought he will return home soon.

The Sanborn blacksmith and repair shop has been closed for several days as Fred, while lighting a fire on the morning of January 2 was burned severely. Thinking the fire was out he turned coal oil on the fire and as he turned to reach for a match the gas which had formed on the coals exploded, burning the back of his thighs and the calves of the legs so that the outer skin dropped off, leaving very sore, raw places. For two days he continued to labor in the shop, but has for some time not been able to be out. He is in hopes of having the shop open the latter part of this week if possible.

Mrs. Annie Hill has had a very bad throat, having quinsy, and was not able to partake of any nourishment for five days.

Timothy Newell of Munson is visiting relatives in town.

Lewis Schupp is recovering from pneumonia in Texas. His sister, Clara, as soon as she received word of his illness, left her home and has been with him every day. As soon as he is able he will go to her home with her.

Mrs. John Schupp spent Monday and Tuesday in the city.

Dan Sanborn has been very ill for three weeks, but is gaining slowly.

Mr. and Mrs. L. B. Sanborn will leave soon for the sunny south, (Florida.)

LEGAL NOTICE

Casper M. Zangerle, residing at 97 Alfred St., Detroit, Michigan; William A. Kreitz, whose last known address was Los Angeles, California, but whose present address is unknown; and Kittie Liebert, whose last known residence was 688 Blair ave., Akron, Ohio, but whose present residence is unknown, will take notice that on the 29th day of November, 1916, John S. Zengerle, executor of the estate of Susanna Franziska Kreitz, otherwise known as Susan F. Kreitz, deceased, filed his petition in the probate court of Cuyahoga County, Ohio, in case No. 84989, against the above named parties and others alleging that the personal estate of said decedent is insufficient to pay her debts, costs of administration of her estate, and legacies provided for in her last will and testament; that she died seized in fee simple of the following described real estate:

Situated in the City of Cleveland, County of Cuyahoga and State of Ohio, and known as being Sublot No. 77 in Elwell and Marvin's Subdivision of part of original Brooklyn Township Lot No. 33, now in said City.

Said Sublot No. 77 has a frontage of 35 feet on the Northerly side of Lawn avenue N. W., and extends back between parallel lines 115 feet 5 inches deep, as per Plat of said Subdivision recorded in Volume 3 of Maps, Page 34 of Cuyahoga County Records, and praying for authority to sell the same to pay said debts, costs and legacies.

In said petition plaintiff avers that said Casper M. Zengerle is one of the next of kin of said decedent and a beneficiary under her will; that the said William A. Kreitz and Kittie Libert claim some interest in said real estate by reason of a defectively executed deed by which Robert Kreitz, son of decedent, conveyed to her the above described premises; that said William A. Kreitz and Kittie Liebert have no interest in said real estate; and that said decedent had been in continuous, actual, open, notorious, exclusive and adverse possession of the same for more than twenty-one years before her death.

The prayer of the petition is that the claims of said defendants to an interest in said real estate be declared null and void and that plaintiff's title therein be quieted as against said claims, and that plaintiff be authorized to sell said real estate, and for all other proper orders and relief.

Said defendants are required to answer said petition on or before the 3rd day of March, 1917.

JOHN S. ZENGERLE, Executor as Aforesaid.

BUY GAS SERVICE AT LESS THAN COST

61,862 Cleveland families bought their Gas Service in November at less than cost.

Reports for the first winter month, just received, show that The East Ohio Gas Company served thousands of customers at a loss.

Here is the explanation:—

It costs the East Ohio Gas Company 65 cents each month to carry its service to each customer before he has used one foot of gas. This is called "overhead." It includes meter reading, bookkeeping, postage, stationery, collections, labor, materials, rents, taxes, etc.

It does not include interest on investment or the price we must pay for gas at the Ohio River.

Each month that you do not use in excess of 4,000 feet of gas, costing you $1.20, you are handing to the Gas Company less than it has paid out for your service.

Gas bills for November, the first winter month, tell an interesting story Here they are:—

Bills of 30 cents or less 16,051
(Approximate loss on each 30-cent customer is 80 cents.)
Bills of 60 cents 13,788
(Approximate loss on each 60-cent customer is 35 cents.)
Bills of 90 cents 13,720
(Approximate loss on each 90-cent customer is 15 cents.)
Bills of $1.20 18,303
(Approximate loss on each $1.20 customer is 5 cents.)

Even in the coldest months of the winter there are thousands of persons who have Gas Service at the turn of a valve and the touch of a match, who do not use enough gas to pay the cost of serving them. Despite the amount of gas you use we are always anxious to help you get the most value out of the use you make of your gas service.

TIPS FOR PLAY-GOERS

B. F. KEITH'S HIPPODROME.

Eva Tanguay is coming to B. F. Keith's Hippodrome next week. This announcement has been sufficient to start the largest advance sale of the season at the Hippodrome. Julian Rose, who was one of the stars in "Potash and Perlmutter," will offer his latest group of original stories. Allan Brooks & Co. in a spectacular novelty in four scenes entitled "Dollars and Sense," Rae Elinore Ball will offer her latest program of carefully selected numbers. Among the other acts will be Dugan and Raymond in a comedy hit, "They Auto Know Better;" Kelly and Galvin, "The Italian and the Actor." The Three Alex, novelty equilibrists, and other features.

OPERA HOUSE

Sir Herbert Beerbohm Tree, the greatest English-speaking actor-manager, will make his first appearance in Cleveland at the Opera House next week, when he will present his magnificent production of Shakespeare's pageant play "Henry VIII," with a company of 150 players. Tree will be seen as Cardinal Wolsey, Miss Edith Wynne Matthison as Queen Katherine, Mr. Lyn Harding as King Henry and Miss Elsie Mackay as Anne Boleyn. The revival shows 11 scenes and is the most elaborate classical production the modern stage has seen.

A souvenir book on "Henry VIII and His Court," by Tree, will be given to those reserving seats for Monday night, January 15.

"We are going to present the scene of Anne Boleyn's coronation in Westminster Abbey, and as the records of the ceremony have been preserved we shall be able to show it with absolute accuracy. As for the music, you no doubt know that Henry himself composed many songs, and we include one of these, 'Pastime and Good Company.' Edward German, the distinguished English composer, has arranged and composed the other music in the play," says Mr. Tree.

COLONIAL THEATRE

The Colonial theatre announces "Oh, Boy," the fourth New York Princess theatre musical production. In the cast will be found such well-known players as Anna Wheaton, Jack Gardner, Creighton Hale, Marie Carrol, Frank McGinn, Stephen Maley, Carl Lyle, Caroline Lee, Laura Haviland, Marion Davies, Justine Johnstone, Helen O'Day, Jeannette Cooke, Katherine Hurst and many others.

PROSPECT THEATER

The attraction at the Prospect theatre week of January 15th will be Gracie Emmett in "Mrs. Murphy's Second Husband." Those who want to begin the new year in a laughing humor will find in this attraction a most effective aid, for it is a screamingly funny conceit, rich in humor and ridiculously amusing situations. During the progress of the play over a dozen bright, snappy musical gems are interpolated, but in no way do they interfere with the story.

Miss Emmett is a character comedienne of international reputation. "Mrs. Murphy's Second Husband" was written by Ullie Akerstrom who has contributed numerous successes to the stage, and in this her latest effort she has quite eclipsed her previous successes. The story is a consistent one and complications accumulate in such a manner as to create a contagion of laughter throughout the performance. Miss Emmett is surrounded by a company of capable players and the comedy is presented with an ornate scenic production.

MILES THEATER

The Miles theatre has endeavored, in the most substantial way, to prove to Cleveland theatre-goers that its policy is one of which it feels proud. A diversified program of vaudeville numbers, every one of which could be considered a feature, makes up each week's performance at the Miles.

Each act secured for every bill is thoroughly censored and carefully analyzed before it is offered Miles patrons. Mediocre quality in entertainment is neither wanted or tolerated.

Next week's program is typical of what the Miles offers its audiences.

Zeta Lyons, the Venus of the show world, Dooley and Nelson, funny folks with a new line of comedy; Ward & Raymond in a sketch, "Just in Fun;" Mlle. Asoria & Co. in a new French playlet, which gives an opportunity of displaying chic gowns; Murray Bennett, jovial jester, and the big girl act, "A Bit of Scandal." This, together with two other acts and the very latest and best in motion pictures, makes the program one of the season's best bills.

ALHAMBRA AND MALL

Mabel Taliaferro has been climbing the ladder of popularity in the movies the last year or so. Her late successes have been "The Sunbeam" and "Dawn of Love."

Now she comes back to us in a brand new play, of a slightly different type, but true to her talents and with that ever lingering sweetness.

It is called "A Wife by Proxy" and will be shown four days at the Alhambra and Mall, starting next Sunday, January 14. On the same program will be the third chapter of "The Great Secret," featuring Francis X. Bushman. The cast of "A Wife by Proxy" includes two other photoplay favorites—Sally Crute and Yale Benner.

Another treat will be Little Mary Sunshine in her newest picture "Joy and the Dragon." The story is a modern one of a little orphan who falls in with a band of crooks. It will be shown three days, starting on Thursday, January 18.

DUCHESS THEATRE

"Nearly Married" is one of the brightest of comedies, written by Edgar Selwyn, and will be the offering next week at the Duchess theatre by Vaughan Glaser, Miss Fay Courtenay and the supporting cast of the Vaughan Glaser stock company.

There was a time when "a laugh a minute" was considered the last word in defining comedy, but this Selwyn piece has this old standby relegated to the background. "Nearly Married" has so many laughs a minute that they can't be counted.

The comedy revolves around the experiences of a young couple who, after a year of married life, filled with quarrelings and bickerings, decide that the only cure for their case is the divorce court. A professional co-respondent is obtained and with her aid lawyers start the wheels of the divorce mill grinding.

While every effort is being made to separate the unhappy young couple they come to the conclusion that after all their troubles are mostly imaginary. But the court's wheels have been set in action and can't be stopped. A divorce is granted but the young couple don't know it and still in ignorance of the fact that they are no longer man and wife, start on what they call their second honeymoon.

The real fun begins when lawyers, with the decree, try to find the young couple. They fail. The co-respondent, fearful she will lose her fee, also becomes anxious. So do a number of friends of the disappeared divorcees. They all start in search of the young people and when they finally find them in a country inn there is a wealth of comedy situations and dialogue that always has turned "Nearly Married" audiences into a hysteria of laughter.

Supporting Mr. Glaser and Miss Courteney are Bernard McOwen, Don Burrows, Wm. D. Corbett, Wm. Powell, Emelie Lessing, Jane Stuart and other members of the cast, said to be the best Mr. Glaser ever has presented to Cleveland audiences.

STAR THEATER

"Sliding" Billy Watson and Ed Lee Wrothe will appear at the Star theatre next week under the banner of "Watson and Wrothe's AllNewShow." The principal bid for popularity of this attraction is that it is a quality and quantity show of the current season, and will present a lengthy program of new offerings. In the company are such well known stars as Owen Martin, burlesque's best straight man; Babe Morgan, prima donna; Estelle Corbet, soubrette; Fred de Silva, Gus Roeber and Herman Gibson, also Hazel Josslyn.

EMPIRE THEATER

"The Lady Buccaneers," at the Empire commencing next Monday, will offer a new farce called "Spending a Million." The farce will be interpreted by a company including Fossie McCloud, Gertrude Ralston, Flo Owens, Frederick Hacket, Jules Black, Dich Hahn, and William Harris. A special feature will be added in "Mermaida," the diving Venus, who will give a swimming and diving exhibition. On Tuesday and Friday nights diving contests will be staged, open to all Cleveland lovers of the aquatic sport. Silver cups will be awarded the winners.

LIBERTY THEATER

William Shilling and company of four talented players is the feature attraction on a vaudeville bill of six feature acts at the Liberty theatre for the week of January 15. It is a very interesting little playlet with a complete plot and it is enacted in excellent manner. The name of the playlet is entitled "The Lash" and it comes in one act and three scenes of special scenery.

Sunday's program will include a vaudeville concert with the following artists: Joe McAnallan, a very celebrated Irish tenor; Arthur Barret in song and monolog; Dixie Harris and the All-Star Four; Farrell and Toot, harmonists, and others.

STANDARD THEATER

"The Price of Silence" is a powerful story of love woven into a theme of public interest—"child labor.

William Farnum, who takes the part of Senator Frank Deering, has fought a hard battle to aid children in their battle of child labor. To see Farnum in this stirring production is to witness all that is thrilling on the stage today.

ALMA GLUCK AT GRAYS

Alma Gluck comes to Clevelannd next week to give her first public recital. The concert will take place at Grays' Armory on Tuesday evening at 8:15 p. m. and is under the direction of Adella Prentiss Hughes. Mme. Gluck's previous appearances in Cleveland have been at symphony concerts and Friday musicales. Through the enormous vogue of her records there are thousands of people who are eager to hear this young American who has attained so lofty a position in her art. Madam Gluck is fast approaching Schumann-Heink as a popular favorite. The records of her concerts this reason invariably speak of sold-out houses and chairs on the stage, greeting the prima donna wherever she sings. The generous program she is offering contains both chassic and modern songs in German, French and English.

Seats may be obtained for this concert at Dreher's tomorrow.

CHIROPRACTORS ELECT FOLLOWING OFFICERS

At the annual banquet and business meeting of the Cuyahoga County Chiropractic Association held at the Colonial hotel last Saturday and Sunday, January 6 and 7, the following officers were elected: Dr. Wm. V. Backus, president; Dr. W. A. Collinson, vice president; Dr. Fred E. Gerber, secretary; Dr. Agnes Miller, financial secretary; and Dr. Lulu M. Raine, treasurer. The new officers announced their intention of making this the most progressive year in local chiropractic circles and in pursuance of this policy plans are already on foot to bring Dr. Leonard Carver, head of the Carver Chiropractic College, Oklahoma City, to Cleveland for a series of lectures and clinics in the early summer.

Upton W. Hough, whose residence is unknown, will take notice that Minnie R. Hough filed a petition against him in the Court of Insolvency of Cuyahoga County, Ohio, praying for divorce, custody of child and relief on the ground of gross neglect of duty. Said petition is No. 6673 and will be or hearing on and after February 23, 1917. J11-F15

PACKING ICE

When packing ice, it is a good practice to lay it on edge without any packing material between the cakes. Care should be taken to chip off fairly smooth the upper surface of each layer so that the cakes will be held as close together as possible. From 12 to 14 inches of sawdust should be well tamped between the ice and the walls of the house. The floor may consist of poles or rails laid about eight inches apart and covered with sawdust. The top of the ice should be covered with 14 to 18 inches of sawdust or clover chaff, preferably sawdust. Good drainage should be provided.

LAYING HENS REQUIRE WELL-BALANCED RATION

Feeders of horses, cattle, sheep and hogs have claimed for years that these animals must be fed a balanced ration. Special attention has been given to balanced rations for dairy cows. By this is meant that one food constituent should not be fed in excess, while another is lacking for the upkeep of the animal's body. The protein must be in a certain proportion to the sugars, starches and fat in the food. Now the hen comes in for her share in this scientific feeding.

Ten times as many eggs were produced by hens fed a well-balanced ration as by those given only corn, wheat and oats in an experiment conducted by the Ohio Experiment Station. The balanced ration consisted of three parts by the weight of corn and one part of wheat fed twice daily in the litter, and a mash mixture of two parts meat scrap added to two parts ground corn and one part bran fed in self-feeding hoppers.

The 31 Barred Plymouth Rock pullets in each lot received the same house space and treatment except for the difference in feed. The test period lasted for 140 days.

The hens given the balanced ration ate more feed, which cost about 50 per cent more than the ration of corn, wheat and oats. However, they gained more in weight and produced ten times as many eggs, making a net profit, while the other lot was kept at a loss.

MEAT SCRAP GOOD FEED FOR THE LAYING HENS

"Hens require some protein of animal origin if best results in egg production are to be secured," said W. J. Buss, poultryman at the Ohio Experiment Station." In our work meat scrap has produced increased egg yields and more than paid for itself but soybeans generally are not a satisfactory high-protein feed." In a recent feeding test at the station hens fed soybeans laid only a few more eggs than those given no feed high in protein. Skimmilk and tankage are also suitable for use in rations for laying hens.

FERTILIZING ELEMENTS IN FOOD OF ANIMALS

Part of the fertilizing elements in feeds is retained and utilized in the bodies of animals, but a large portion of the fertility value is returned to the soil in manure. Growing animals utilize more of the food constituents to build up their bodies than is needed by mature animals. Milk and egg production in volves even heavier drafts upon the ferility value of the feed.

Dr. E. B. Forbes of the Ohio Experiment Station found in one feeding test with growing hogs that 74 per cent of the nitrogen, 87 per cent of the phosphorus and 86 per cent of the potassium in the food was recovered in the manure. The excreta from milch cows contained only 67 per cent of the nitrogen, 72 per cent of the phosphorus and 74 per cent of the potassium.

WHEAT YIELDS LESS FOLLOWING CORN CROP

Yields of wheat at the Ohio Experiment Station this year were 10 bushels more to the acre where this crop followed soybeans, potatoes or oats than where it was seeded on land growing corn last year. In all these rotation tests the treatment of the soil as regards lime, manure and other fertilizers is the same. The wheat was all seeded at about the same date. The yield of wheat after corn was 28 bushels per acre, while the yields when wheat followed the other three crops was about 38 bushels.

Monday noon in the lattice room at the Statler hotel Stuart Walker entertained a capacity audience and a capacity audience who were unable to get into the room as well, telling about the way the Portmanteau theatre started and continued. Luncheon was served at 12:30, the affair being under the joint auspices of the Woman's City Club, the Mens' City Club and the Drama League.

A case of the measles, at the age of six or seven, was the real beginning of the Pormanteau treatre, Mr. Walker said. Confined to the house, his father brought him a small theatre, green baize curtain and all—"made in Germany." The only play the lad had ever seen at that time, Mr. Walker related, was "The Bohemian Girl," so his father wrote a play for him and called it the "Bohemian Girl." After three relapses the boy was well enough to issue invitations, and public performances were given by him to the admiring neighborhood children. He continued the performances at frequent intervals until the audience finally rebelled. They desired to see no more productions of the "Bohemian Girl." "Puss in Boots" was then decided upon by the youthful producer, and a capacity audience appeared when he advertised a "$10,000.00 gold crown" as one of the features. A dollar and a half was the actual cost, Mr. Walker confided to the audience.

"Thus grew the impressions (that have now grown into the Portmanteau theatre.) "Not enough," Mr. Walker said, passing over to his grown-up experiences, "is left to the imagination of the audience. "Plays," he continued, "that will interest a boy or girl of 12 or 14, will hold any audience." Mr. Walker does not believe in "playing down" to an audience. Describing a Portmanteau theatre play given at the Community Tree festivities in Madison Square, N. Y., under the star of hope, he related how they had used only the best music, only the highest class of play—and never in the history of New York, he said, had there been such an immense audience so splendidly behaved, or so spontaneous in their heartfelt enjoyment. Get your audience to play, feel and imagine with you is his theme; and he told it delightfully, refreshingly, and simply. Monday the universal regret was that the talk could not have been longer.

FORTY EXTENSION SCHOOLS —WOMEN TAKE PART

Forty communities will hold one-week extension schools in agriculture and home economics during the coming season. The first school will begin December 4, this season closes March 9.

Separate sections will be held for men and women. Instruction in soil fertility and soil crops will be given at all sessions for men. In addition a series of lectures and demonstrations will be given on dairying, horticulture or animal husbandry. A specialist will also provide two hours' instruction in either agricultural engineering or poultry husbandry.

The section for women will be devoted to lectures and demonstrations on various phases of home economics.

With the exception of local expenses the cost of these schools is paid from funds of the Ohio State University College of Agriculture, provided by the Smith-Lever act.

Edelin, who resides in Tientsin, China, with the Fifteenth United States Infantry, will take notice that Catherine Schmiedl, as Plaintiff, has filed a petition against him and others, as Defendants, in the Court of Common Pleas of Cuyahoga County, Ohio, alleging that the plaintiff, Catherine Schmiedl, and the defendants, Joseph A. Edelin, Anna Mary Schilofsky and Evelyn Edelin, are each owners in fee simple of an undivided one-fourth (1-4) interest in and to the following described real estate, to-wit:

Situated in the City of Cleveland, County of Cuyahoga, State of Ohio, and known as Twenty (20) feet of the North part of lot No. 24 in Sargent and Dixon's subdivision of lots 313 to 324 inclusive, in Barber and Lord's Allotment of that part of the City of Cleveland formerly in the City of Ohio, being 20 feet front on Willet Street and 105 feet deep to an alley, and being the same property deeded by Sargent and Dixon to Henry Sommermeier by deed of June 6, 1864, recorded in Vol. 127, page 564 Cuyahoga County Records.

The prayer of said petition is that partition of said premises be made, and if the same cannot be done without manifest injury, that said premises be sold and the proceeds distributed as is provided by law.

Said petition is No. 153196 and the defendant, Joseph A. Edelin, is required to answer the same on or before the 27th day of January, 1917.

NOTICE

David B. Dunham, John B. Lumarn, Sullivan K. Sawyer, George T. Ruggles, S. B. Sheldon, Mendall Jewett, Henry G. Weavier and Burton L. Conard, whose places of residence are unknown, and the unknown heirs, executors, administrators, devisees and assigns of David B. Dunham, John B. Lumarn, Sullivan K. Sawyer, George T. Ruggles, S. B. Sheldon, Mendall Jewett and Henry G. Weavier, whose names and places of residence are unknown, are hereby notified that on the 28th day of December, 1916, William O. Gleeson filed his petition in the Common Pleas Court of Cuyahoga County, Ohio, being Case No. 153611, alleging that he is the owner in fee simple and in actual possession, and that he and his immediate grantors have been in actual, open, notorious, continuous, exclusive, adverse and uninterrupted possession of the premises hereinafter described for more than 21 years last past: that on the 9th day of February, 1838, the defendant Sullivan K. Sawyer executed to defendant David B. Dunham a certain mortgage deed on part of the premises described in the petition, which mortgage deed is recorded in Volume 24, page 314, of Cuyahoga County Records of Mortgages, and that on October 6th, 1849, said defendant S. B. Sheldon and others executed and delivered to Mendall Jewett a certain mortgage deed on the premises described in the petition, that said mortgage was duly recorded in Volume 46, page 49, Cuyahoga County Record of Mortgages, that part of said mortgage was duly assigned to the defendant Henry G. Weavier, that both of the aforesaid mortgages have been duly paid, and are barred by the statute of limitations but have not been cancelled of record; that on April 11, 1850, defendant S. B. Sheldon by deed recorded in Volume 92, page 269, deeded the hereinafter described premises to S. U. Tarbell, and that at the time of the execution of the said deed the said S. B. Sheldon was an unmarried man, and that said S. B. Sheldon and Sheldon grantee in deed recorded in Volume 93, page 268 Cuyahoga County Records of Deeds, are one and the same person. That on the 24th day of February, 1916, the defendant, Burton L. Conard, in the State of California, obtained a divorce from Addie Gray Marble Conard, one of the Grantors of the plaintiff, and that by the terms of the [illegible] ter, described during coverture. That said premises are described as follows:

Situated in the Village of Bedford, County of Cuyahoga and State of Ohio, and known as being all of Village Lots Nos. 62 and 63, and part of Village Lots Nos. 64, 67, 68 and 69, and bounded and described as follows:

Beginning at the southeasterly corner of Lot No. 62, thence northwesterly along the easterly line of Lots 62, 63 and 64, and along the westerly line of Main Street, about 63 feet to the southeasterly corner of the parcel of land conveyed by Lucy A. Tarbell to Carl P. Tinker by deed dated April 23, 1909, and recorded in Volume 1201, page 64, Cuyahoga County Records; thence Westerly along the southerly line of the parcel of land conveyed to Carl P. Tinker, as aforesaid, to the easterly line of the right of way conveyed by Lucy A. Tarbell to The Connotton Valley Railroad Company, by deed dated March 19, 1881, and recorded in Volume 356, page 461, Cuyahoga County Records; thence southerly along said easterly line of said right of way to the point of intersection of the right of way with the southerly line of Lot No. 67, thence easterly along the southerly line of Lots Nos. 67 and 62 to the westerly line of Main Street, and the place of beginning, be the same more or less, but subject to all legal highways.

That the said persons above named also claim some interest in said premises adverse to the plaintiff's title

The prayer of the petition is that the aforesaid mortgages be ordered cancelled of record, that the said S. B. Sheldon be found to be an unmarried person at the time of the execution of the deed aforesaid; and that he be found to be identical and the same person with Sheldon grantee in deed aforesaid; that the said defendant Burton L. Conard did obtain a divorce as hereinbefore set forth, and that he is barred of dower in said property thereby and that said Addie Gray Marble Conard was not seized of said property during coverture and that each of the parties first above named be compelled to show their interest in the above described premises, that the same may be adjudged null and void and plaintiff's title quieted against them.

The above named parties are further notified that they have been made party defendants, and that they are required to answer on or before the 17th day of February, 1917, or a judgment as prayed for in said petition will be taken against them.

The Thing That Counts IN CLOTHES-BUYING

PUBLIC CLOTHES STORES

is NOT how a garment LOOKS WHEN YOU BUY IT—but HOW IT KEEPS ITS LOOKS AFTER YOU'VE BOUGHT IT!

You'd be surprised at the "wonders" clothes-makers can perform in putting a thin veneer of "quality" over the shoddiest possible clothing.

And they come to us and to other retailers and brag about it, thinking that they can SELL us simply because they've produced something "cheap" that won't betray its cheapness until after someone has bought it and worn it a few times! And SOME retailers buy that kind of stuff!

WE DON'T! We make Public Clothes in Our Own Factories

(Cleveland and New York) and the materials, style and workmanship are under our constant supervision from start to finish—for well we realize that only by giving perfect clothes can we expect to enjoy the confidence and patronage of Cleveland's discriminating men.

Public Clothes ALWAYS $10 AND $15

Suits, O'coats, Evening Clothes

Row after row—every correct pattern, in every size. Regardless of your build or size you [illegible] fitted with Public Clothes.

We're not looking for a BIG profit and ONE sale. We want you to come back again, and [illegible] the conviction that the oftener you come the more YOU profit.

All Styles of Homes are putting in ELECTRIC LIGHT

Electric Light is universally accepted as necessary for real comfort. ANY home in Cleveland can have it whether built with or without it. More than 20,000 homes have already put in Illuminating Service.

SO EASY TO GET

You have ten months to pay for both the wiring and electric fixtures. Besides, if you are using some other form of light and our distributing lines pass your house, and if you have the wiring done according to our standard specifications, approved in advance by us, we will credit you to the extent of 15 per cent of the schedule wiring cost, not to exceed $15, and you will get this in FREE LIGHT. This means several months' light without charge.

Telephone or write us NOW.

SAVINGS & LOAN CO. INCORPORATED

Willoughby is to have another bank incorporation of the new company, to be known as the Willoughby Savings & Loan Co. was made January 10th. Wheeler Glenn, attorney for the Garfield Savings Bank, and John Kalina, attorney, will assume temporary management of the new company. Mr. Glenn has been a resident of Willoughby for a number of years. Mr. Kalina is an attorney and has had wide experience in the management of building and loan companies. The new bank will have all the powers as usually given by law, to receive deposits, make loans, etc, etc. The company will be entirely financed by Willoughby capital. The company will work under the supervision of the Department of Building and Loans of the state of Ohio, with examination twice each year by the examiners. All loans will be approved by the board of directors, which will be composed of successful Willoughby business men. The company will pay interest on time deposits of 5%, the usual rate paid by savings and loan companies. The loan idea has been spreading rapidly in the banking business, in the last few years, and a company of this nature here should prove more than successful. A meeting of the temporary board of directors will be held in the next few days.

ALL THE STARS IN THIS PLAY

Have you heard of the "doin's" that is coming off here on Saturday evening, February 3. The ladies of the Aid Society of the Congregational church will give the play called "The Old Maids Convention." Those who have seen this want to see it again and those who have not are eagerly awaiting for the 3rd of February to appear. Not only those very funny costumes will you enjoy, but every part of the play will make the tears spin down your cheek with laughter. Those "Maids" actually spent $25 to give a reception for Bacheldors and Widowers, besides the Love Powders, Breath Tablets, etc., they bought at Frost's Pharmacy.

Now there's Amy Little, Anxiety Doherty, Sarah Ann Barnes and several others, the very youngest old maids you ever saw. No matter how hideous they look or how many years have passed over their heads there is fun, fun and more fun if you attend this convention, as no such has ever been in Kirtland before. As one gazes upon this beautiful scene on the stage in the town hall you can only say of every maid as David Har-

W. E. WENNER TO SPEAK AT MOTHER AND SON BANQUET

Large Crowd Anticipated—All Mothers and Sons of Willoughby Invited

Tuesday evening, January 23, the mothers and sons of Willoughby will have an opportunity of spending an evening together at the same time hearing one of the best speakers in this part of the state, W. E. Wenner, of Ashtabula. During the past 15 months Mr. Wenner has given lectures in seven different states. He is a rapid-fire talker and has a happy faculty of being able to measure the needs of his hearers and the rare ability to meet those needs. He understands boys as very few men do. He speaks the truth in a winning and helpful manner. Every mother in Willoughby should attend this banquet.

The affair will be held at the M. E. church and the ladies of the church will serve the supper.

SAILOR WED

O. H. Sharpe, who has sailed the lakes for a number of years, brought his bride with him when he returned to Willoughby recently. During the summer he served as second mate on the Howard L. Shaw. Miss Rose Cores of Cleveland is the bride. The couple are residing in the Sharpe home on Center street.

ELECTION OF OFFICERS AT THE STANDARD TIRE & RUBBER CO.

At a meeting of the board of directors of The Standard Tire & Rubber Co. Tuesday, January 16, the following officers were elected:

M. J. Gillan—President.
D. O. Summers—Vice President.
C. B. Shaw—Secretary.
P. F. Narten, Treasurer.

In our last week's issue, in the comparison of the year's business, the impression was given that the statement carried comparison of the business for the year. The article should have said that the business of the company in December, 1915, was $1881.65, while the sales for the month of December, 1916, amounted to $60,691.00, giving the comparison of increase for the single month.

An interesting telegram was received by the company the day after the stockholders' meeting from the Rubber Club of America. The telegram was one of congratulation to the Standard Tire & Rubber Co. upon the wonderful progress made in so short a time. The Rubber Club of America is composed of all the successful rubber companies and allied interests. The Standard people were also advised of their election to membership in this club. This is a tribute to The Standard Tire & Rubber Co. and an unmistakable compliment to their standing.

JAMES McMAHON TAKES PARTNER

A partner has been taken by James McMahon in connection with the Hiawatha theatre. Cecil Todd, well and favorably known in Willoughby, has been selected. Mr. Todd has been engaged in work at Toledo, but has recently returned to Willoughby and is acting as draftsman at the Ben Hur plant.

NEW COMPANY FOR WILLOUGHBY

Among the recent incorporations in Columbus there appeared the above company with offices in Willoughby, to engage in business of Landscape, Civil Engineering and General Construction.

The heads of this concern are thoroughly experienced in all lines of engineering and general construction. Mr. Rudolph A. Basesta, the president of the company, has had over 20 years experience in landscape and general construction, especially in laying out and building up large estates. For the past 10 years he has been in business for himself with offices in Gates Mill, O., and in that vicinity has done some very large work, such as the Chagrin Valley Hunt Club, polo grounds, and also large concrete construction for the Cleveland & Eastern Traction Co., and for the past few years has been

WESTERN RESERVE AND LAKE ERIE COLLEGE EXCHANGE GREETINGS

Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Wilson, Mr. Fred Wood and Mr. and Mrs. S. D. Shankland and Jordan Cavan were included in the Willoughby delegation to the Western Reserve Carnival held at the Hotel Statler, Cleveland, Monday evening, January 15. The carnival is a new event in the year's program at Western Reserve.

All estimates regarding the attendance were broken. More than 1500 people crowded the ballroom, lattice room and lobbies of the Statler. Alumni and students of all departments were well represented.

The entertainment included a vaudeville show with moving pictures, a reception promenade and a dancing party.

The Alumni Association's moving pictures of the Hudson relay and the Thanksgiving day game with Case school were shown. Those of the relay were shown for the first time. Meanwhile moving pictures were taken of the carnival itself. All of these moving pictures will be used at Alumni Association gatherings in distant cities.

Mrs. J. Herbert Hood of Cleveland sang a group of songs.

Julius King II, '14, gave readings.

President Charles F. Thwing and Judge T. H. Bushnell, president of the Adelbert College Alumni Association, gave brief addresses.

Monroe Curtis, '11, originator of the Hudson relay, made a brief address introducing the Hudson relay film.

The Adelbert College glee club, the College for Women glee club and Adelbert College mandolin club supplemented the professional orchestra.

A feature of the evening was a tribute paid by the Alumni Association to University Coach Walter D. Powell. E. J. Tyler, familiarly known as "Tip" Tyler, on behalf of the Alumni Association of Adelbert College, presented to Mr. Powell a gold watch and chain.

Charles W. Stage, '92, of Cleveland, who entered college from Painesville and whose college sprinting records remain unbroken, William Laub, '00, Mayor of Akron, M. C. Portmann, '10, of Cleveland, one of the celebrated three Portmann Brothers, and familiarly known as "Muff" Portmann, were among the old time Reserve friends presented in a feature act.

Coach Powell and the "Old Boys" were given an ovation by the alumni and undergraduates. Two hundred students organized as a special cheering contingent led the cheers and songs. The cheering section was directed by University Cheer Leaders Harold R. Heninger, '17, and Theodore L. Strimple, '18. The cheer leaders were dressed in red and white, university colors.

An exchange of intercollegiate courtesies occurred when Mr. Raymond E. Hyre, chairman of the committee in charge of the Western Reserve Carnival, being held at the Hotel Statler, sent to Miss Harriet Pope, president of the Cleveland Alumnae Association of Lake Erie College, at the time holding an Alumnae Ball at the Hotel Hollenden, some American Beauty roses. The roses were tied with green and white, colors of Lake Erie college, and bore a card inscribed: "The sons and daughters of Old Reserve in Carnival assembled, send greetings to the daughters and sons-in-law of Lake Erie."

The Lake Erie Alumnae responded with a note of greeting.

DR. BELL TELLS OF THE LETTERS THE SOLDIERS WRITE—OTHER EXPERIENCES IN THE TRENCHES

(Editor's Note:—These are extracts from the personal letters of Dr. Bell to his wife, and we are indebted to Mrs. Bell for the privilege of presentation to our readers of these graphic experiences written upon the battle field, and by an actual participant.

November 17

I move in a few hours to take up work in a large general hospital and as is usual when I change locations, I leave with regret and whether I should be ashamed of it or no I cannot tell but I shall miss the sound of the cannon as I write, miss the trenches and the dugouts, and most of all the dear boys whose lives and dangers I have shared. So it's good bye steel helmet and gas mask, good bye horse and saddle, good bye laddies who have done my every bidding cheerfully and promptly.

Nov. 19th, 1916.—All letters written by the boys must be censored and this rather tedious task is distributed among the officers after their evening meal. There is a sameness about their expressions; they are "in the pink," "have been in hell," assure their friends that "Fritz is on the run," "the war will be over soon," refer to their wives and sweethearts as "love," "dearest," "darling," "delicious," and etc. I have run across not a few descriptions of myself and learn that I am a "pleasant breeze," a "burst of sunshine," a "shrewd American, who has traveled all over the world," "one who has a yarn or a kind word for everybody," or a "cheering yarn for a sick soldier," a "ripping fellow who gets what he goes after and goes after everything the boys should have." Oh, yes, I am a "very eminent and skillful surgeon," and "have large political influence at Washington" and am "possessed of great wealth." Would you ever have believed it? Bless their kind hearts, how illy informed they are, yet I doubt not they write in much sincerity.

Dec. 7th, 1916. The associations here are quite good. We have at times some discomfort from the cold and shortage of fuel but nothing serious at any time. Of food we have an abundance. The one outstanding department of efficiency in the army has been the commissary. Never a day, not even in the thick of fighting, have I seen anyone compelled to go hungry.

I go often to the sea wall or in a quiet place and look towards the West, my thoughts to be imagined, not expressed.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Brooks of Cleveland spent Sunday with his brother, Mr. Howard Hehr.

LEGAL NOTICE

Casper M. Zengerle, residing at 97 Alfred St., Detroit, Michigan; William A. Kreitz, whose last known address was Los Angeles, California, but whose present address is unknown; and Kittie Libert, whose last known residence was 688 Blair ave., Akron, Ohio, but whose present residence is unknown, will take notice that on the 29th day of November, 1916, John S. Zengerle, executor of the estate of Susanna Franziska Kreitz, otherwise known as Susan F. Kreitz, deceased, filed his petition in the probate court of Cuyahoga County, Ohio, in case No. 34989, against the above named parties and others alleging that the personal estate of said decedent is insufficient to pay her debts, costs of administration of her estate, and legacies provided for in her last will and testament; that she died seized in fee simple of the following described real estate:

Situated in the City of Cleveland, County of Cuyahoga and State of Ohio, and known as being Sublot No. 77 in Elwell and Marvin's Subdivision of part of original Brooklyn Township Lot No. 33, now in said City.

Said Sublot No. 77 has a frontage of 35 feet on the Northerly side of Lawn avenue N. W., and extends back between parallel lines 115 feet 5 inches deep, as per Plat of said Subdivision recorded in Volume 3 of Maps, Page 34 of Cuyahoga County Records, and praying for authority to sell the same to pay said debts, costs and legacies.

In said petition plaintiff avers that said Casper M. Zengerle is one of the next of kin of said decedent and a beneficiary under her will; that the said William A. Kreitz and Kittie Libert claim some interest in said real estate by reason of a defectively executed deed by which Robert Kreitz, son of decedent, conveyed to her the above described premises; that said William A. Kreitz and Kittie Libert have no interest in said real estate; and that said decedent had been in continuous, actual, open, notorious, exclusive and adverse possession of the same for more than twenty-one years before her death.

The prayer of the petition is that the claims of said defendants to an interest in said real estate be declared null and void and that plaintiff's title therein be quieted as against said claims, and that plaintiff be authorized to sell said real estate, and for all other proper orders and relief.

Said defendants are required to answer said petition on or before the 3rd day of March, 1917.

JOHN S. ZENGERLE, Executor as Aforesaid.

THE SATURDAY CORNER

Conducted by E. D. Bryant

WHAT DOES IT MATTER?

By S. E. Kiser.

What does it matter if winds blow chill, and the breath of winter bedims the pane, if the blossom hiues in the brown bud, and the bare boughs droop still 'neath the pelting rain! You trust in me, and to me you cling, and in my heart, dear, it is Spring. Though the fields are brown, and the sky is gray, and the flowers sleep under last year's leaves; though the sparrows sit through the sunless day, all ruffled up on the wind-swept eaves You laugh my little one, and you sing, and in my heart, love, it is spring.

—From "The Whole Glad Year" Calendar, issued by P. F. Volland & Co.

WOMAN'S INTUITION

Woman's well known intuition
Is a swiftly moving thing,
She can pick up erudition
Faster than a bee can sting.

As she speeds her way through college
Or the later schools of life.
She absorbs a fund of knowledge
Good for maiden or for wife.
But one lesson doesn't reach her,
It's a truth she fails to learn,
It's impossible to teach her
Money's sometimes hard to earn.

She is swift in calculation,
She can omens read and signs,
And the problems of the nation
Logically she defines.
She knows all the arts and graces,
Active is her mind and keen,
Rapidly her thought embraces,
Truths that men have passed unseen.
Yet, though she be wife or daughter,
There's one fact she never sees,
Up to date no man has taught her
Money doesn't grow on trees.

CHILDREN SAVING THE BIRDS

Things are going well with the birds, is the message that comes from T. Gilbert Pearson in his annual report as secretary of the National Association of Audobon Societies.

The main reason Mr. Pearson ascribes for the happy condition of the feathered songsters in that a working combination has at last been formed between the birds and the children.

"If this association had never engaged in any line of conservation effort other than its work with children," says Mr. Pearson, "its influence for good would still have been monumental. Beginning with the school year of 1910-11, when we enrolled 10,595 children in the bird study classes in southern states, this organized effort has spread with astonishing rapidity to every state in the Union. Each year has seen a marked increase over the previous year, both in numbers of clubs formed and the numbers of children enrolled. Last year 9,901 such junior groups were formed, with a total paid membership of 205,196. This is an increase of more than 53,000 over the number enrolled the year before. Since the inception of this phase of our work, six years ago, a total of 28,522 Junior Audobon Bird Clubs have been formed and 572,081 children as regular junior members have been instructed in the principles of the Audobon society.

"These bird clubs," says Mr. Pearson, "have held public bird exhibitions, biven various entertainments, established bird sanctuaries, fed birds in winter, built and erected multitudes of bird boxes, posted notices of bird and game laws, arranged lecture courses, circulated libraries of bird books, conducted bird walks, worked for state and national legislation, organized scores of junior Audobon clubs and carried forward many other Audobon activities."

Mr. Pearson reports that during the year more than three million of the two-cent illustrated pamphlets giving life histories of the different American birds have been issued.

HOME MADE RUSKS

The rusks are made with ordinary bread dough. Take a piece of dough the size of an egg, shape with the hands, place in shallow bakepan that has been greased, let rise to double their size; brush top with melted butter, put in moderate oven, bake 30 to 35 minutes. When taken from oven brush top with molasses and milk, using equal quantities.

BAKED APPLES WITH RAISINS

4 large apples, 4 tablespoons sugar, 1 teaspoon salt, 2 tablespoons seeded raisins. Wash and pare and core the apples, fill the cores with raisins, place the apples in shallow bakedish, cover with sugar and half cupful of water. Put cover on, place in hot oven 20 minutes, uncover and brown quickly.

The recipes that appear upon this page are generally contributed by our good cook friends, and many of our readers are saving them all, reporting them excellent.

"MY TABLECLOTHS"

The Unique Title of a Book of Reminiscences.

Some people keep guest books and autograph albums, the latter having happily "gone out of style." But Mrs. Alec-Tweedie, who has been everywhere and known everybody, utilized her table linen for signatures and has a most interesting collection of cloths sprinkled as to border with the autographs of the distinguished men and women of all professions, who have "put their feet under her mahogany." The number comes close to legion, for not to have dined with Mrs. Tweedie seems to argue one's self unknown in London society.

Mrs. Tweedie confesses that she loves her tablecloths. Well she may; they record acquaintance with the best in England. "They didn't originate, they just evolved," she says. They were begun when she was a bride. After the autographs were written they were done over with the needle, thus preserving them. The task of preserving the character of the handwriting was by no means small. Sometimes a significant little sketch of a head or something indicative of the writer's tastes or work was added, when the needlewoman's task became even more difficult. About 400 names of "the Society of Brains"—the same number that constitute "the Society of Wealth" in New York—figure upon these linen slips, which are not really tablecloths in the housekeeper's ordinary sense of the word. Now it is difficult to find a space sufficient for another name.

So much for these famous cloths, but how can justice be done to the many delightful anecdotes and reminiscences of people whom we have all agreed to honor? Mrs. Tweedie's impressions of Lloyd-George, whose meteoric rise to the English premiership has put his name upon the lips of the civilized world, are worth passing on at this time. It seems that once, when he was chancellor of the exchequer, she refused to drink his health at a dinner, and when he laughingly noted the omission, told him that when his term as chancellor expired she would drink the health of Lloyd-George as a man, though as chancellor of the exchequer she regarded him as a menace and should refuse. Here is what she says of the new premier, who, a year after the dinner, occupied a new seat in the cabinet, "was the darling of the people and the man of the hour:

"Few people realize that he is quite a small man, square and thick-set in stature. He gives the impression of breadth. His face is broad, his shoulders and chest are broad, and his eyes are generally smiling as they broaden into a series of little crow's-feet, which always assume a particularly upward turn. His gray hair is perceptibly whitening, though he is only 53 years of age (born in 1863). He always seems out of place dressed in a gorgeous uniform or even a frock coat, and much more at home in a serge suit and simple tie.

"There is no doubt he has little super-knowledge. He appears to take everything so lightly, to skim on the surface of things, and yet the greatest of all gifts is his—the capacity of absorbing facts from others. He is never above asking a question, and like the little busy bee sucks honey from every passing flower. He is neither profoundly read nor highly educated; his books have been the world, his education mankind, but that wonderful gift of assimilation, that capacity for inquiry, gave him a sort of knowledge of endless diversified subjects. There is one thing he does understand from A to Z, to-wit, a large working-class audience, with all its facts, feelings and prejudices. His magnetic presence, his cheery, pleasant, chatty style of oratory, his direct delivery in the simplest language, catches and holds his audience and appeals to the multitude where a more scholarly style would fail. And so it was that the pro-Boer, pro-German became a British patriot and a fiery little upholder of king and country, and with the power to make that country listen.

"Why? Magnetism. Fearlessness. A touch of Welsh poetry. Full belief in self. A pleasing manner and telling speech."

Mrs. Tweedie has discovered a similarity between Lloyd George and Roosevelt. "They are both dynamic; they both shake hands in much the same way; they are both impetuous, full of fire and enthusiasm, ambitious and at the same time have a certain fearlessness in advancing their opinions, and, if necessary, climbing down later."

This volume is a treasure-book of stories and anecdotes about the great and near great, full of lively interest, quip and jest, and having a generous assortment of appropos illustrations from Mrs. Tweedie's own collection of souvenirs. (New York: George H. Doran Co.)

THE SUFFRAGE HOME

Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt, president of the National Woman's Suffrage Association, has started out to spend a portion of the million left by Mrs. Frank Leslie for suffrage purposes. Mrs. Catt has leased the former home in Washington of Larz Anderson, also the home of former Embassador to Japan, and was afterward occupied by Ex-Senator Elihu Root, and then by Senator du Pont of Delaware, and by Henry Phipps, the millionaire. The recital of these names and the social distinction of the bearers will give some magnificence to the house the suffragists have taken possession of. It will be a gathering place and headquarters for the local suffrage workers affiliated with the National Association. In future it will virtually be a club for the women workers. The house is magnificently furnished, and is to be the home of the national president, Mrs. Catt, whenever she comes to Washington. There are large numbers of rooms and baths and prominent suffragists will live there while pushing their campaign in Washington.

HAMLET TO THE PLAYERS.

Look the part, I pray you, as I pronounce it to you; frowningly to denote anger; honeyedly to register love. If sad, way thy head four times; no more. Thus, 'tis always done. Wouldst think? Pause; hand on thy chin; eyes down the while I count six. Now hoist thy dome; smile; that meaneth an idea. Dost get me?

And you that play the clown: I wouldst have the outchaplin Charles. Bear this in mind: A kick upon thy fellow's stomach ever gets a laugh. Art on?

Now for the action.

Hark, ye villain! Before thou pourest poison into the king's ear, stop, eye the vial and look you in a sinister manner. To look sinister this is the rule: Smile craftily and from the corner of thine eye lamp thy sleeping victim. E'en the smallest boy in the back row will know thy foul intent. Then put the vial to thine own ear and thus wise up the fans for thy wicked act.

Thou bone-pate asleep there on the bench! When the poison's in thine ear see that thou puttest class into the dying. Suit the action to the deed. Zounds, man! This is a deadly juice, not laudanum and sweet oil. Croak you, then, with a punch. Ha! 'Tis well!

(To the camera man.) I prithee, shoot.

MRS. NELLIE McCLUNG ON SUFFRAGE

From Our Boston Contributor

Mrs. Nellie L. McClung of Edmonton, Alberta, spoke to Boston suffragists in Ford hall recently. We knew of her ability as a writer, and of her splendid work for suffrage in Western Canada, where women in the provinces of Manitoba, Alberta, Saskatchewan and British Columbia have obtained the franchise within the past two years, and now we are convinced of her power as a speaker, for she moved her audience to tears or laughter almost at will. She is very witty, and her speech was interspersed with pithy sayings that drove home her points. She told us that no Canadian woman had ever taken the platform and spoken against suffrage—would that our Massachusetts antis were of like mind and would stay "in the home."

Refuting the threadbare argument that "women do not want the vote," she mentioned some things women had not wanted but nevertheless got. They never wanted less pay for the same work as men, but they got it! They never wanted the liquor traffic, but they got it! They have never wanted war, but they got it; and the women of the whole world are the sufferers from this war. No longer can we trust male statecraft; men have done the very best they can, but men alone can never rid the world of the curse of war. Men make the wounds and women bind them up. Woman knows the value of human life better than man. When the Canadian soldiers leave for the front, the bands play and the men cheer, but the women, who have given their sons and husbands, smile—they don't cheer. There was a lump in many a throat and suspicious sniffs through the hall when she told of her own 19 year old soldier son, that she smiled when he left, but when she went back to her desk a feeling of desolation was with her, and the spirit of youth was gone.

Mrs. McClung told us, too, that we in the U. S. are too comfortable. She said she had found out since the war that patriotism is not enough, that the patriotism that teaches you to love your own country and hate every other is a curse, and what we need to cultivate is a spirit of internationalism. That spirit will come with woman suffrage.

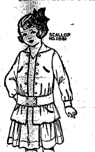
An Attractive Dress for School Wear



Lending itself to development in challis or gingham, this junior frock is quite attractive. The inset vest may be stitched to position or buttoned.

In order that it may elude both the tub and the chilling winds of Autumn this little frock may be carried out in dark blue challis. No lining is required and the blouse has an inset vest which may be stitched to position or buttoned. The edges of the blouse, collar and cuffs are finished with buttonhole embroidery done in red silk. A straight belt with both edges buttonholed, confines the fulness of the blouse and the skirt is a two-piece model with box-plaits at the center-back and center-front. It is gathered at the sides and closes at the right of the center-front under a plait.

In medium size the dress requires 4 yards 36-inch material. In the cutting guide the standing collar, cuff and stay are omitted, but as these are exceedingly simple the home dressmaker will have no trouble in placing them on the material. First fold the challis in half; then along the lengthwise fold place the front and back gores of the skirt and back gore of the blouse. If the collar and vest are made of contrasting material, lay them on a lengthwise fold just as shown here.

The waistband, belt and piecing for the back gore are so placed on the material that they rest directly on the selvage edge. To the right of the belt is the front of the blouse. All of the sections are now provided for except the sleeves, pockets and piecing for front gore, and these are laid on the challis as illustrated, each resting on a lengthwise thread.

If the dress is desired with V-shape neck, cut out the neck of the vest along indicating small "o" perforations.

Fashioned in gingham, trimmed with white embroidery this little frock is quite fascinating.

Pictorial Review Dress No. 6928. Sizes, 6 to 14 years. Price, 15 cents. Scallop No. 11661. Transfer pattern 6 yards ¾ inch wide and 4 corners, price, 15 cents.

LITTLE FOLKS CORNER

PLAYING MAKE-BELIEVE

Did you ever try to act out a story that you have read? It is lots of fun and will pass many an hour.

First of all, get your costumes together. You need not make anything. An Indian's costume may be made of a blanket, with a few feathers stuck in the hair; a fairy may have paper wings pinned to her dress; an old lady is represented by wearing handkerchief for a cap and a table cover for a shawl.

Lots of stories can be acted, but perhaps the fairy stories are the most fun. "Red Ridinghood," "Hansel and Gretel," "Jack and the Beanstalk" and almost any other can be acted out. You do not need any scenery, and the words you can make up for yourselves as you go along.

And here's a little secret: If several of you are in the same school grade, you will enjoy your history lessons so much the more if you act them out together. For instance, when you learn how Columbus discovered America, get together some night and act the scene on the [illegible] when the sailors insisted on turning around and going home, and Columbus pleaded with them for just a little longer trial.

GAME TO PLAY WITH RECORDS

A game that will be enjoyed both children and grown-ups is "Music." Anyone who owns a victrola phonograph or pianola can entertain her friends with this new guessing contest. Make a list of ten or twelve records, choosing ones that are fairly well known and not too long.

Give your guests cards numbered to correspond with your list. After playing each record give them a minute or two to put down their answers. When all the records have been played read the correct list of the titles and tell them to cross off those that are wrong.

If you wish to give a prize for the most perfect list a candy-filled toy phonograph, a ten cent record (or a good one), or a new piece of music would be appropriate.

"GET OUT IN THE COLD

The advice of Senator Knute Nelson, of Minnesota, now approaching his 74th birthday, is:

"Get out in the cold once in a while! That is what keeps a man young. Hot climates sap the vital energies. You know it is a well established fact that the southern races mature before the northern people.

"Good freezing polar weather with lots of snow and briskness everywhere leave one no opportunity to let his blood grow sluggish. A man is only as young as his arteries, and if he lets his blood grow slow then he himself will begin to slow down.

"When I was a boy in Norway we never thought of old men. It was the good, cold climate. No man can become sluggish if he once gets stirred up by a snowstorm. I advise the average man to go north at least two weeks in the fall or winter of each year."

General Miles gives his horseback ride credit for his wondrous preservation.

BAKED HAMBURG STEAK

1 pound round steak, 1 tablespoon salt, dash pepper, 1 tablespoon onion juice, 1 teaspoon chopped parsley. Put meat through chopper, add the salt, pepper, onion juice and parsley; mix well together and form into small flat cakes. Brush the bakepan with a little drippings, put in the meat cakes, and place in a very hot oven 5 to 10 minutes. After removing the steaks from the pan, add 1 tablespoon flour; mix well; add 1 cup cold water, tablespoon caramel and seasoning to taste; stir until smooth and creamy.

LEGAL NOTICE

Casper M. Zengerle, residing at 97 Alfred St., Detroit, Michigan; William A. Kreitz, whose last known address was Los Angeles, California, but whose present address is unknown; and Kittie Libert, whose last known residence was 688 Blair ave, Akron, Ohio, but whose present residence is unknown, will take notice that on the 29th day of November, 1916, John S. Zengerle, executor of the estate of Susanna Franziska Kreitz, otherwise known as Susan F. Kreitz, deceased, filed his petition in the probate court of Cuyahoga County, Ohio, in case No. 84989, against the above named parties and others alleging that the personal estate of said decedent is insufficient to pay her debts, costs of administration of her estate, and legacies provided for in her last will and testament; that she died seized in fee simple of the following described real estate:

Situated in the City of Cleveland, County of Cuyahoga and State of Ohio, and known as being Sublot No. 77 in Elwell and Marvin's Subdivision of part of original Brooklyn Township Lot No. 33, now in said City.

Said Sublot No. 77 has a frontage of 35 feet on the Northerly side of Lawn avenue N. W., and extends back between parallel lines 115 feet 5 inches deep, as per Plat of said Subdivision recorded in Volume 3 of Maps, Page 34 of Cuyahoga County Records, and praying for authority to sell the same to pay said debts, costs and legacies.

In said petition plaintiff avers that said Casper M. Zengerle is one of the next of kin of said decedent and a beneficiary under her will; that the said William A. Kreitz and Kittie Libert claim some interest in said real estate by reason of a defectively executed deed by which Robert Kreitz, son of decedent, conveyed to her the above described premises; that said William A. Kreitz and Kittie Libert have no interest in said real estate; and that said decedent had been in continuous, actual, open, notorious, exclusive and adverse possession of the same for more than twenty-one years before her death.

The prayer of the petition is that the claims of said defendants to an interest in said real estate be declared null and void and that plaintiff's title therein be quieted as against said claims, and that plaintiff be authorized to sell said real estate, and for all other proper orders and relief.

Said defendants are required to answer said petition on or before the 3rd day of March, 1917.

JOHN S. ZENGERLE, Executor as Aforesaid.

"WHAT DOES IT MATTER?

By S. E. Kiser.

What does it matter if winds blow chill, and the breath of winter bedims the pane, if the blossom hues in the brown bud, and the bare boughs droop still 'neath the pelting rain! You trust in me, and to me you cling, and in my heart, dear, it is Spring. Though the fields are brown, and the sky is gray, and the flowers sleep under last year's leaves; though the sparrows sit through the sunless day, all ruffled up on the wind-swept eaves, You laugh my little one, and you sing, and in my heart, love, it is spring.

—From "The Whole Glad Year" Calendar, issued by P. F. Volland & Co.

WOMAN'S INTUITION

Woman's well known intuition
Is a swiftly moving thing,
She can pick up erudition
Faster than a bee can sting.
As she speeds her way through college
Or the later schools of life,
She absorbs a fund of knowledge
Good for maiden or for wife.
But one lesson doesn't reach her,
It's a truth she fails to learn,
It's impossible to teach her
Money's sometimes hard to earn.

She is swift in calculation,
She can omens read and signs,
And the problems of the nation
Logically she defines,
She knows all the arts and graces,
Active is her mind and keen,
Rapidly her thought embraces,
Truths that men have passed unseen.
Yet, though she be wife or daughter,
There's one fact she never sees,
Up to date no man has taught her
Money doesn't grow on trees.

CHILDREN SAVING THE BIRDS

Things are going well with the birds, is the message that comes from T. Gilbert Pearson in his annual report as secretary of the National Association of Audobon Societies.

The main reason Mr. Pearson ascribes for the happy condition of the feathered songsters in that a working combination has at last been formed between the birds and the children.

"If this association had never engaged in any line of conservation effort other than its work with children," says Mr. Pearson, "its influence for good would still have been monumental. Beginning with the school year of 1910-11, when we enrolled 10,595 children in the bird study classes in southern states, this organized effort has spread with astonishing rapidity to every state in the Union. Each year has seen a marked increase over the previous year, both in numbers of clubs formed and the numbers of children enrolled. Last year 9,901 such junior groups were formed, with a total paid membership of 205,196. This is an increase of more than 53,000 over the number enrolled the year before. Since the inception of this phase of our work, six years ago, a total of 28,522 Junior Audobon Bird Clubs have been formed and 572,081 children as regular junior members have been instructed in the principles of the Audobon society.

"These bird clubs," says Mr. Pearson, "have held public bird exhibitions, biven various entertainments, established bird sanctuaries, fed birds in winter, built and erected multitudes of bird boxes, posted notices of bird and game laws, arranged lecture courses, circulated libraries of bird books, conducted bird walks, worked for state and national legislation, organized scores of junior Audobon clubs and carried forward many other Audobon activities."

Mr. Pearson reports that during the year more than three million of the two-cent illustrated pamphlets giving life histories of the different American birds have been issued.

HOME MADE RUSKS

The rusks are made with ordinary bread dough. Take a piece of dough the size of an egg, shape with the hands, place in shallow bakepan that has been greased, let rise to double their size; brush top with melted butter, put in moderate oven, bake 30 to 35 minutes. When taken from oven brush top with molasses and milk, using equal quantities.

BAKED APPLES WITH RAISINS

4 large apples, 4 tablespoons sugar, 1 teaspoon salt, 2 tablespoons seeded raisins. Wash and pare and core the apples, fill the cores with raisins, place the apples in shallow bakedish, cover with sugar and half cupful of water. Put cover on, place in hot oven 20 minutes, uncover and brown quickly.

The recipes that appear upon this page are generally contributed by our good cook friends, and many of our readers are saving them all, reporting them excellent.

"MY TABLECLOTHS"

The Unique Title of a Book of Reminiscences.

Some people keep guest books and autograph albums, the latter having happily "gone out of style." But Mrs. Alec-Tweedie, who has been everywhere and known everybody, utilized her table linen for signatures and has a most interesting collection of cloths sprinkled as to border with the autographs of the distinguished men and women of all professions, who have "put their feet under her mahogany." The number comes close to legion, for not to have dined with Mrs. Tweedie seems to argue one's self unknown in London society.

Mrs. Tweedie confesses that she loves her tablecloths. Well she may; they record acquaintance with the best in England. "They didn't originate, they just evolved," she says. They were begun when she was a bride. After the autographs were written they were done over with the needle, thus preserving them. The task of preserving the character of the handwriting was by no means small. Sometimes a significant little sketch of a head or something indicative of the writer's tastes or work was added, when the needlewoman's task became even more difficult. About 400 names of "the Society of Brains"—the same number that constitute "the Society of Wealth" in New York—figure upon these linen slips, which are not really tablecloths in the housekeeper's ordinary sense of the word. Now it is difficult to find a space sufficient for another name.

So much for these famous cloths, but how can justice be done to the many delightful anecdotes and reminiscences of people whom we have all agreed to honor? Mrs. Tweedie's impressions of Lloyd-George, whose meteoric rise to the English premiership has put his name upon the lips of the civilized world, are worth passing on at this time. It seems that once, when he was chancellor of the exchequer, she refused to drink his health at a dinner, and when he laughingly noted the omission, told him that when his term as chancellor expired she would drink the health of Lloyd-George as a man, though as chancellor of the exchequer she regarded him as a menace and should refuse. Here is what she says of the new premier, who, a year after the dinner, occupied a new seat in the cabinet, "was the darling of the people and the man of the hour:

"Few people realize that he is quite a small man, square and thick-set in stature. He gives the impression of breadth. His face is broad, his shoulders and chest are broad, and his eyes are generally smiling as they broaden into a series of little crow's-feet, which always assume a particularly upward turn. His gray hair is perceptibly whitening, though he is only 53 years of age (born in 1863). He always seems out of place dressed in a gorgeous uniform or even a frock coat, and much more at home in a serge suit and simple tie.

There is no doubt he has little super-knowledge. He appears to take everything so lightly, to skim on the surface of things, and yet the greatest of all gifts is his—the capacity of absorbing facts from others. He is never above asking a question, and like the little busy bee sucks honey from every passing flower. He is neither profoundly read nor highly educated; his books have been the world, his education mankind, but that wonderful gift of assimilation, that capacity for inquiry, gave him a sort of knowledge of endless diversified subjects. There is one thing he does understand from A to Z, to-wit, a large working-class audience, with all its facts, feelings and prejudices. His magnetic presence, his cheery, pleasant, chatty style of oratory, his direct delivery in the simplest language, catches and holds his audience and appeals to the multitude where a more scholarly style would fall. And so it was that the pro-Boer, pro-German became a British patriot and a fiery little upholder of king and country, and with the power to make that country listen.

"Why? Magnetism. Fearlessness. A touch of Welsh poetry. Full belief in self. A pleasing manner and telling speech."

Mrs. Tweedie has discovered a similarity between Lloyd George and Roosevelt. "They are both dynamic; they both shake hands in much the same way; they are both impetuous, full of fire and enthusiasm, ambitious and at the same time have a certain fearlessness in advancing their opinions, and, if necessary, climbing down later."

This volume is a treasure-book of stories and anecdotes about the great and near great, full of lively interest, quip and jest, and having a generous assortment of appropos illustrations from Mrs. Tweedie's own collection of souvenirs. (New York: George H. Doran Co.)

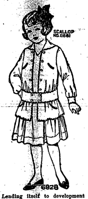
An Attractive Dress for School Wear



Lending itself to development in challis or gingham, this junior frock is quite attractive. The inset vest may be stitched to position or buttoned.

In order that it may elude both the tub and the chilling winds of Autumn this little frock may be carried out in dark blue challis. No lining is required and the blouse has an inset vest which may be stitched to position or buttoned. The edges of the blouse, collar and cuffs are finished with buttonhole embroidery done in red silk. A straight belt with both edges buttonholed, confines the fulness of the blouse and the skirt is a two-piece model with box-plaits at the center-back and center-front. It is gathered at the sides and closes at the right of the center-front under a plait.

In medium size the dress requires 4 yards 36-inch material. In the cutting guide the standing collar, cuff and stay are omitted, but as these are exceedingly simple the home dressmaker will have no trouble in placing them on the material. First fold the challis in half; then along the lengthwise fold place the front and back gores of the skirt and back gore of the blouse. If the collar and vest are made of contrasting material, lay them on a lengthwise fold just as shown here.

The waistband, belt and piecing for the back gore are so placed on the material that they rest directly on the salvage edge. To the right of the belt is the front of the blouse. All of the sections are now provided for except the sleeves, pockets and piecing for front gore, and these are laid on the challis as illustrated, each resting on a lengthwise thread.

If the dress is desired with V-shape neck, cut out the neck of the vest along indicating small "o" perforations.

Fashioned in gingham, trimmed with white embroidery this little frock is quite fascinating.

Pictorial Review Dress No. 6928. Sizes, 6 to 14 years. Price, 15 cents. Scallop No. 11661. Transfer pattern 6 yards ¾ inch wide and 4 corners, price, 15 cents.

THE SUFFRAGE HOME

Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt, president of the National Woman's Suffrage Association, has started out to spent a portion of the million left by Mrs. Frank Leslie for suffrage purposes. Mrs. Catt has leased the former home in Washington of Larz Anderson, also the home of former Embassador to Japan, and was afterward occupied by Ex-Senator Elihu Root, and then by Senator du Pont of Delaware, and by Henry Phipps, the millionaire. The recital of these names and the social distinction of the bearers will give some magnificence to the house the suffragists have taken possession of. It will be a gathering place and headquarters for the local suffrage workers affiliated with the National Association. In future it will virtually be a club for the women workers. The house is magnificently furnished, and is to be the home of the national president, Mrs. Catt, whenever she comes to Washington. There are large numbers of rooms and baths and prominent suffragists will live there while pushing their campaign in Washington.

HAMLET TO THE PLAYERS.

Look the part, I pray you, as I pronounce it to you; frowningly to denote anger; honeyedly to register love. If sad, way thy head four times; no more. Thus, 'tis always done. Wouldst think? Pause; hand on thy chin; eyes down the while I count six. Now hoist thy dome; smile; that meaneth an idea. Dost get me?

And you that play the clown: I wouldst have the outchaplin Charles. Bear this in mind: A kick upon thy fellow's stomach ever gets a laugh. Art on?

Now for the action.

Hark, ye villain! Before thou pourest poison into the king's ear, stop, eye the vial and look you in a sinister manner. To look sinister this is the rule: Smile craftily and from the corner of thine eye lamp thy sleeping victim. E'en the smallest boy in the back row will know thy foul intent. Then put the vial to thine own ear and thus wise up the fans for thy wicked act.

Thou bone-pate esleep there on the bench! When the poison's in thine ear see that thou puttest class into the dying. Suit the action to the deed. Zounds, man! This is a deadly juice, not laudanum and sweet oil. Croak you, then, with a punch. Ha! 'Tis well!

(To the camera man.) I prithee, shoot.

MRS. NELLIE McCLUNG ON SUFFRAGE

From Our Boston Contributor

Mrs. Nellie L. McClung of Edmonton, Alberta, spoke to Boston suffragists in Ford hall recently. We knew of her ability as a writer, and of her splendid work for suffrage in Western Canada, where women in the provinces of Manitoba, Alberta, Saskatchewan and British Columbia have obtained the franchise within the past two years, and now we are convinced of her power as a speaker, for she moved her audience to tears or laughter almost at will. She is very witty, and her speech was interspersed with pithy sayings that drove home her points. She told us that no Canadian woman had ever taken the platform and spoken against suffrage—would that our Massachusetts antis were of like mind and would stay "in the home."

Refuting the threadbare argument that "women do not want the vote," she mentioned some things women had not wanted but nevertheless got. They never wanted less pay for the same work as men, but they got it! They never wanted the liquor traffic, but they got it! They have never wanted war, but they got it; and the women of the whole world are the sufferers from this war. No longer can we trust male statecraft; men have done the very best they can, but men alone can never rid the world of the curse of war. Men make the wounds and women bind them up. Woman knows the value of human life better than man. When the Canadian soldiers leave for the front, the bands play and the men cheer, but the women, who have given their sons and husbands, smile—they don't cheer. There was a lump in many a throat and suspicious sniffs through the hall when she told of her own 19 year old soldier son, that she smiled when he left, but when she went back to her desk a feeling of desolation was with her, and the spirit of youth was gone.

Mrs. McClung told us, too, that we in the U. S. are too comfortable. She said she had found out since the war that patriotism is not enough, that the patriotism that teaches you to love your own country and hate every other is a curse, and what we need to cultivate is a spirit of internationalism. That spirit will come with woman suffrage.

LITTLE FOLKS CORNER

PLAYING MAKE-BELIEVE

Did you ever try to act out a story that you have read? It is lots of fun and will pass many an hour.

First of all, get your costumes together. You need not make anything. An Indian's costume may be made of a blanket, with a few feathers stuck in the hair; a fairy may have paper wings pinned to her dress; an old lady is represented by wearing a handkerchief for a cap and a table cover for a shawl.

Lots of stories can be acted, but perhaps the fairy stories are the most fun. "Red Ridinghood," "Hansel and Gretel," "Jack and the Beanstalk" and almost any other can be acted out. You do not need any scenery, and the words you can make up for yourselves as you go along.

And here's a little secret: If several of you are in the same school grade, you will enjoy your history lessons so much the more if you act them out together. For instance, when you learn how Columbus discovered America, get together some night and act the scene on the [illegible] when the sailors insisted on turning around and going home, and Columbus pleaded with them for just a little longer trial.

GAME TO PLAY WITH RECORDS

A game that will be enjoyed by both children and grown-ups is "Music." Anyone who owns a victrola phonograph or pianola can entertain her friends with this new guessing contest: Make a list of ten or twelve records, choosing ones that are fairly well known and not too long.

Give your guests cards numbered to correspond with your list. After playing each record give them a minute or two to put down their answers. When all the records have been played read the correct list of the titles and tell them to cross off those that are wrong.

If you wish to give a prize for the most perfect list a candy-filled toy phonograph, a ten cent record (or a good one) or a new piece of music would be appropriate.

"GET OUT IN THE COLD"

The advice of Senator Knute Nelson, of Minnesota, now approaching his 74th birthday, is:

"Get out in the cold once in a while! That is what keeps a man young. Hot climates sap the vital energies. You know it is a well established fact that the southern races mature before the northern people.

"Good freezing polar weather with lots of snow and briskness everywhere leave one no opportunity to let his blood grow sluggish. A man is only as young as his arteries, and if he lets his blood grow slow then he himself will begin to slow down.

"When I was a boy in Norway we never thought of old men. It was the good, cold climate. No man can become sluggish if he once gets stirred up by a snowstorm. I advise the average man to go north at least two weeks in the fall or winter of each year."

General Miles gives his horseback ride credit for his wondrous preservation.

BAKED HAMBURG STEAK

1 pound round steak, 1 tablespoon salt, dash pepper, 1 tablespoon onion juice, 1 teaspoon chopped parsley. Put meat through chopper, add the salt, pepper, onion juice and parsley; mix well together and form into small, flat cakes. Brush the bakepan with a little drippings, put in the meat cakes, and place in a very hot oven 5 to 10 minutes. After removing the steaks from the pan, add 1 tablespoon flour; mix well; add 1 cup cold water, tablespoon caramel and seasoning to taste; stir until smooth and creamy.

[illegible] Gas Pipe Would End Many Inconveniences!

"Ask all consumers to examine their gas appliances and fixtures. Many gas pipes are too small. The gas pipe to furnace should be at least one and one-fourth inches in diameter."
GEORGE L. McKIBBEN,
Gas Expert for The Public Utilities Commission of Ohio.

It is freezing weather.

Your home is comfortably heated with Gas Service.

The temperature suddenly drops to zero.

Is the gas pipe to your furnace large enough to carry the amount of gas needed? Are your furnace burners clean or clogged with dirt? Are the air mixers properly adjusted? Are your heating appliances efficient?

You cannot heat your home on a zero day, if the gas pipe to your furnace is too small, if your burners are clogged with dirt, or if the appliances are not properly adjusted.

We earnestly request you to follow Expert McKibben's advice and install a gas pipe to your furnace of at least one and one-quarter inches in diameter, and to inspect your appliances and place them in good condition.

Gas Situation as Seen Here by State's Expert

Here is a summary of the gas situation in Cleveland as found by George L. McKibben, gas expert for the state utilities commission:

I find upon investigation of the gas shortage reported in your city as follows:

That the East Ohio Gas Company is now delivering in excess of 150,000,000 feet of gas each twenty-four hours during the cold weather. This is their full capacity.

That the demand for gas on account of the shortage of coal is abnormal.

That the special rate for industrial use of gas has been entirely eliminated. Fifty million feet of gas has been conserved for domestic use.

Further conservation of gas will be necessary and the following will help to relieve the situation during the cold weather:

Ask all consumers to examine their gas appliances and fixtures. Many gas pipes are too small. The gas pipe to furnish should be at least one and one-fourth inches in diameter.

Where possible gas consumers should be prepared to burn coal in time of gas shortage.

The co-operation assured me and the economical use of gas will go far toward preventing a recurrence of the present complaints.

Upon completion of the auxiliary line now being constructed by the East Ohio Gas Company, the situation will be materially improved. Further investigation is being made and the result will be given to you when the same is completed.

I have received the hearty cooperation of yourself and other city officials, the Cleveland Chamber of Commerce, the Chamber of Industry and other civic organizations, together with the East Ohio Gas Company, in my work and I am confident that a continuation of this co-operation will assure your city of the best supply of gas possible.

FARMERS' AND GARDENERS' CORNER

The cities may have their little mobs and riots, but the farmers will plow and sow and reap and feed their stock and go forth to their labors until the evening. The farmers have ever and always been the hope of the world.

CO-OPERATION IN SELLING WOODLOT PRODUCTS

Co-operative associations of woodlot owners holding sufficient timber land to make a working forest are in a position to demand higher market prices than they can expect as individuals. The services of a reliable, experienced timberman can also be secured to aid in selling the products.

Marketing woodlot products has become a problem of importance, because forests are now in small areas and timber is commanding an unusually high price. Owners now realize that marketing the timber is just as important as its production. Generally the owner is not in a position to harvest and market his timber himself. He does not have the expensive machinery required, efficient methods of operation and knowledge of markets. He usually loses heavily by selling to a local buyer.

Often he must cut up choice kinds of woods into inferior products because no other means of disposal are at hand. The small sawmills today cannot turn out a uniform, standardized product. Sawing may be done in such a way as to make grading and sorting for market impossible.

These facts have brought to the minds of woodlot owners the question of selling through organization. Several farmers could make up carload lots for market, and then sell at greatly increased profits over sales they would make when working alone. Markets could be investigated to find where the highest prices are obtainable.

Moreover, such an association could increase profits by securing a trained forester. This man could outline plans for woodlot management and act as advisor in lumbering and marketing. In the woods he could estimate the market value of the standing timber, so that the owner would know how to sell most profitably. He could obtain higher prices because of his experience and knowledge of markets.

The subject of selling lumber is discussed in Bulletin 302 just issued by the Ohio Experiment Station at Wooster. The author shows how farmers may estimate the value of their standing timber and what the principal uses of the important woods are.

FARMERS MARKET THEIR OWN TIMBER

By selling their timber in local markets, woodlot owners often realize much greater profit than they can get from dealers, and at the same time they make good wages for themselves and teams during the winter. In one instance a farmer made nearly twice as much by lumbering himself.

This owner was offered $4 a thousand feet for his standing timber. He sold the lumber later in a nearby city, cutting and hauling it himself, and made $7 a thousand feet, or $1,200 more than the dealer offered him. In another case, the owner realized $10 a thousand feet by his own lumbering.

SUGAR BEETS FOR DAIRY COWS

Sugar beets and mangels tend to increase milk production when fed to dairy cows, but experiments conducted at the Ohio Experiment Station show that corn silage is far more economical to feed. Because of this fact these dairy experts do not advise the feeding of beets except for high records where cost is a minor consideration, or where the number of cows is too small to permit the use of a silo.

Cows fed beets had keen appetites and ate more food because of the stimulating effects of this root crop. After 10 years' work the Ohio Station has found that two pounds of dry matter can be produced in the form of silage at less cost than one pound in the form of beets. Convenience in feeding is in favor of silage.

HORSES HAVE TASTES IN CHOOSING THEIR HAY

That horses have their peculiar tastes in selecting the most palatable feeds is shown by recent investigations at the Ohio Experiment Station, in which some hays were eaten with great relish while others were only partly consumed. Mixed clover and timothy seemed to satisfy their appetites best, and brome grass was also to their liking. Timothy hay stood third. None of the horses were fond of tall oat grass, while bluegrass and redtop were also near the bottom of the list of palatable grasses.

"She's a full team, with a big dog under the wagon," and then no matter how anyone looks or at what age they have lived to be, in comes Prof. Pinkerton with his new invention, "The Transform-Her," and right before your very eyes you see ladies changed from what they are to young and charming maidens, singing, speaking and playing upon musical instruments. Three or four of our Bachelor boys are walking round with a watermelon smile already.

They are Wm. Criswell, Charles Parks and Frank Johnson. They vowed they would either have that new machine of the Prof.'s or one of those changed maids. But both will be carefully guarded that evening.

WILL CONFER ON TIME BILL

Samuel H. Halle and another member of the Cleveland Chamber of Commerce committee on eastern time will attend a meeting in New York January 30 and 31 to consider the Boyjan bill to be introduced in Congress. It provides that clocks be turned ahead one hour during the summer and back to standard time in the winter.

THE FEAR THOUGHTS

(From the Dayton, Ohio, Journal, of January 3.)

We are continually assailed through the press and from the pulpit and platform by thoughts that make for fear. Neither nation nor individual can remain healthy in the face of this continuous heraldry of fear. The reformers and the doctors are the worst offenders; and the average legislator falls over himself in assisting in securing legislation which we are assured will preserve our health. It is time we had a rest. Let the reformers go to work at any vocation which will enable them to contribute something tangible to the general good, and let the doctors get down to sane practice and horse sense advice. Pertinent to this view we quote from Christian Science Sentinel:

"Cleanliness and all proper precautions against insanitary conditions of public and private property are highly desirable; but these may be secured without promoting an epidemic of fear such as is being engendered today in the public schools, in the daily press, and wherever men and women are gathered who are willing to listen to a 'scientific' discussion of the horrors of disease. If the medical education now being attempted is not checked, we are in danger of imitating the Egyptians, whose chief aim during life seemed to be to prepare to be properly buried. The modern tendency to discuss the human body and its frailties, and to pass laws to regulate and control it, puts far too much emphasis on the material side of existence in the opinion of many besides Christian Scientists. It inculcates habits of thought that are fatal to health, and quite remote from the simple, sanitary advice of Jesus, who said, "Take no thought for . . . your body.'"

That's mighty good doctrine. We want to live to some purpose, and we wish to live happily in health. The iteration of fear thoughts is a menace to peace, health and happiness. In the graphic language of the slangist, they should be treated as the doctor treats the offending appendix, they should be cut out. Give us happy thoughts, thoughts of hope and courage, bright, cheerful, pleasant thoughts.—Contributed.

very active on some of the largest estates in Mentor, Kirtland and Little Mountain.

He is ably assisted by Mr. Frederick E. Batemna, civil engineer, who has been co-worker of one of the leading engineering firms in Cleveland. Mr. Bateman has very large experience in laying out first class allotments and municipal engineering and construction.

The other officers are Mr. Horace S. Nichols, vice president; Mr. Ben J. Rutenik, secretary and treasurer.

There is a strong and growing demand in Willoughby and vicinity among the real estate men, also manufacturing companies that are constantly locating here for the services of a concern of this nature and they can feel gratified to have the services of such an engineering company at their immediate command. Not only will the new company furnish plans and specifications for all classes of construction work, but they will provide materials for such work and the necessary labor for the complete erection or construction of the same.

Willoughby can feel proud of having the new company locate here and anyone anticipating doing work along their line of business should give them a chance to figure on the same.

SOMETHING ABOUT OSTEOPATHY

Many readers are interested in the subject of osteopathy. The services of one who is well informed has been secured by one of the publishing houses to dispense information. This writer is Dr. Still, of whom the publishers write as below:

Believing that the time is auspicious for publishing an appreciation of Dr. Still's work and a study of the place he occupies, and will continue to occupy for all time, in the history of medicine, the publishers looked around some time ago to select an author in all ways capable of writing such a study and appreciation, and we were fortunate enough to secure the willing service of a man whose own life work has eminently fitted him for the task—a man who came into osteopathy several years ago with an already established international reputation for his own original researches in pure biological science, and who is today devoting his life to original research in osteopathy and the scientific teaching of the osteopaths of the future. We refer to M. A. Lane, professor of pathology in the American School of Osteopathy at Kirksville, and director of the post-graduate laboratory there for clinical diagnosis. Professor Lane's name and discoveries are familiar to the students of medicine in all the great university schools of medicine in this country and Europe. They were discussed with high praise by Professor Ernest LaGuesse of the University of Lille, France, at the International Medical Congress at Buda-Pesth in 1908; they are recorded in the new text-book of Professor Biedl, professor of internal secretions at the University of Vienna; in the new text-book of applied anatomy of the late Baron Treves, the foremost of British surgeons, and late surgeon to the King; in the new text-book of Starling, the foremost of English physiologists; in the new text-book of Professor Stewart, the foremost of British-American physiologists; in the new text book of pathology of Professor Mallory of Harvard University Medical School, the foremost American pathologist; in the new text-book of histology of Professor Ferguson; in the review of the world's research work by Dr. Albert Oppel, of the University of Halle, a foremost authority in Germany, and in numerous other and more technical literature of Europe and America. Professor Lane has written the following paper on Doctor Andrew Taylor Still and his place in medicine with the pen of a man whose touches are sure and true, whose insight comes from practical and precise knowledge, and whose acquaintance with the historical development of medical science is inferior to that of no American writer on these subjects. In this paper we see the "Old Doctor" rising to the full measure of his scientific stature; we see for the first time the complete articulation of osteopathy with the scientific progress of the age, and we see, again for the first time, portrayed the fundamental rock upon which Andrew Taylor Still laid down his science and art when he gave osteopathy to the world."

The series of articles by Dr. Lane will follow on this page from week to week. Anyone desiring a copy of the preceding article, entitled "A. T. Still, Scientist and Reformer," can secure it by dropping a post card to Dr. Mable V. Barker, Willoughby, Ohio.

EASTERN PROPERTY OF ANDREWS SCHOOL IS SCENE OF EXPLOSIO

The report of the terrible explosion and subsequent loss of life in the ammunition factory of the Canadian Car & Foundry Co. Lyndhurst, N. J., calls attention to the fact that the disaster accurred upon property belonging to the Andrews school. It appears that 80 acres of this land has been under option to be sold to the Canadian Car & Foundry Co. It was expected that the land would be tually purchased February 1st. entire property of 712 acres was p chased years ago by Mr. Andrews the purpose of pumping dissolved c from the coal mines of Pennsylvan and drying it upon these so-cal New Jersey meadow lands. The p ject was under way at the time Mr. Andrews' death, and subsequen was abandoned.

UNFAIR REPORTS CIRCULATED IN REGARD TO EX-GOVERNOR PATTERSO

Ex-Governor Patterson of Tennessee who recently lectured in Willoughby upon the temperance question, has been the object of some rather unfair reports, as circulated at this time, to the effect that Gov. Patterson is an anti-Prohibitionist. While this was at one time true, the circulation of the reports now are entirely in error. His change of attitude is expressed and sustained in the following statement:

Until about three years ago the ablest champion of the liquor traffic in America was Hon. Malcolm R. Patterson, of Tennessee, the popular and gifted son of a father equally popular and gifted. As one of the young leaders of the Democratic party in his state, he had taken his father's seat in congress and, later, was twice elected governor of Tennessee. Until about three years ago his splendid ability and ingenuity were devoted to the defense of the liquor traffic, against the rising tide of Prohibition sentiment in his state and the nation. When, as governor of Tennessee, the Prohibition law passed the legislature and came to him for his signature, HE VETOED IT, and accompanied his veto with a message in which he characterized the act as "destructive and undemocratic." Although the bill was passed over his veto, Governor Patterson's veto message a speeches, made in defense of his a tion, were circulated nation-wide the liquor interests in defense their traffic.

Then, in the very height of h career as a statesman, Governor Pa terson was overthrown by the traff which he had upheld. The da hours through which he passed we the providential means by which was led to become a Christian. H conversion has been likened to th of Saul of Tarsus. From that day this he has been one of the STRONG EST AND ABLEST ADVOCATES national constitutional prohibitio At the National Anti-Saloon Leagu Convention, Columbus, Ohio, Novem ber, 1913, he delivered an address marvelous eloquence on the theme "WHY I CHANGED FRONT ON TH LIQUOR QUESTION." Immediatel the demand for Governor Patterso to speak on this question came fro every quarter of the land. Since the he has spoken almost continuousl from ocean to ocean, and seldom ha an auditorium been found, even i the largest cities, large enough to ac commodate the crowds that hav thronged to hear him.

Governor Patterson declares, "I a neither ashamed nor abashed to ac knowledge the wrong I did when once advocated policies which mad legal a trade which I have come t look upon as having no rightful plac in the economy of Christian civiliza tion. I favor Prohibition in any for that will either reduce or destro the liquor traffic. I favor it person wide, town-wide, state-wide, nation wide, world-wide."

NOTICE OF SALE OF BONDS

Sealed proposals will be received by C. C. Jenkins, Clerk of the Village of Willoughby, Lake County, Ohio, at his office in the Village Hall in said Village, or at his place of business in said Village, until twelve o'clock noon, central standard time, on Monday, the 29th day of January, 1917, for the purchase of bonds, with interest coupons attached of the Village of Willoughby, Lake County, Ohio, in the aggregate amount of Four Thousand Dollars ($4,000.00), described and made payable as follows:

"Series L," Numbers One (1) to Eight (8) both inclusive, and due and payable on the first day of September, 1926.

Said last described bonds, together with interest coupons, are issued for the purpose of extending, enlarging, improving, repairing and equipping the Water Works Plant and System of said Village, under authority of the General Laws of the State of Ohio, particularly of Section 3039 of the General Code of Ohio, and in accordance with Ordinance No. 420, duly passed by the Council of said Village on the 21st day of December, 1916, entitled "An Ordinance to provide for the issuance of bonds of the Village of Willoughby, Lake County, Ohio, in the sum of Four Thousand Dollars ($4,000.00) for the purpose of extending, enlarging, improving, repairing and equipping the Water Works Plant and System of said Village."

Each of said bonds heretofore described is in the sum of Five Hundred Dollars ($500.00), is dated September 1, 1916, bears interest at the rate of Five Per Cent (5%) per annum, payable semi-annually on the first day of September and of March of each year, on and after March 1, 1917. Said bonds and interest thereon shall be payable at the office of the Treasurer of the Village of Willoughby, Lake County, Ohio.

Said bonds will be sold to the highest bidder for not less than par value and accrued interest and shall be delivered and paid for at the office of The Cleveland Trust Company, Willoughby Branch, in the Village of Willoughby, Lake County, Ohio.

All bids must state the number of bonds bid for and the gross amount of the bid and accrued interest to date of delivery. All bids shall be accompanied with a certified check on any bank situated in Lake County, payable to the Treasurer of said Village in the sum of Two Hundred Dollars ($200.00), upon the condition that if the bid is accepted the bidder will receive and pay for such bonds within ten (10) days from and after the time of award, said check to be retained by the Village as liquidated damage if such condition is not fulfilled.

Said bids will be opened and publicly read and sale of said bonds will be made at the regular meeting of the Council of said Village held on the 29th day of January, A. D. 1917, at seven o'clock p. m., central standard time, at the Village Hall in said Village.

The Council reserves the right to reject any and all bids.

Bids shall be sealed and endorsed "Willoughby Village Water Works Bonds, Series L."

By order of the Council of the Village of Willoughby, Lake County, Ohio.

NOTICE

David B. Dunham, John B. Lumarn, Sullivan K. Sawyer, George T. Ruggles, S. B. Sheldon, Mendall Jewett, Henry G. Weavier and Burton L. Conard, whose places of residence are unknown, and the unknown heirs, executors, administrators, devisees and assigns of David B. Dunham, John B. Lumarn, Sullivan K. Sawyer, George T. Ruggles, S. B. Sheldon, Mendall Jewett and Henry G. Weavier, whose names and places of residence are unknown, are hereby notified that on the 28th day of December, 1916, William O. Gleeson filed his petition in the Common Pleas Court of Cuyahoga County, Ohio, being Case No. 153611, alleging that he is the owner in fee simple and in actual possession, and that he and his immediate grantors have been in actual, open, notorious, continuous, exclusive, adverse and uninterrupted possession of the premises hereinafter described for more than 21 years last past; that on the 9th day of February, 1838, the defendant Sullivan K. Sawyer executed to defendant David B. Dunham a certain mortgage deed on part of the premises described in the petition, which mortgage deed is recorded in Volume 24, page 314, of Cuyahoga County Records of Mortgages, and that on October 6th, 1849, said defendant S. B. Sheldon and others executed and delivered to Mendall Jewett a certain mortgage deed on the premises described in the petition, that said mortgage was duly recorded in Volume 46, page 49, Cuyahoga County Record of Mortgages; that part of said mortgage was duly assigned to the defendant Henry G. Weavier, that both of the aforesaid mortgages have been duly paid, and are barred by the statute of limitations but have not been cancelled of record; that on April 11, 1850, defendant S. B. Sheldon by deed recorded in Volume 92, page 269, deeded the hereinafter described premises to S. U. Tarbell, and that at the time of the execution of the said deed the said S. B. Sheldon was an unmarried man, and that said S. B. Sheldon and Sheldon grantee in deed recorded in Volume 93, page 268 Cuyahoga County Records of Deeds, are one and the same person. That on the 24th day of February, 1916, the defendant Burton L. Conard, in the State of California, obtained a divorce from Addie Gray Marble Conard one of the Grantors of the plaintiff and that by the terms of the decree he was barred of dower in all real estate of which she was seized during her coverture, and [illegible] ter, described during coverture. That said premises are described as follows:

Situated in the Village of Bedford, County of Cuyahoga and State of Ohio, and known as being all of Village Lots Nos. 62 and 63, and part of Village Lots Nos. 64, 67, 68 and 69, and bounded and described as follows:

Beginning at the southeasterly corner of Lot No. 62, thence northwesterly along the easterly line of Lots 62, 63 and 64, and along the westerly line of Main Street, about 63 feet to the southeasterly corner of the parcel of land conveyed by Lucy A. Tarbell to Carl P. Tinker by deed dated April 23, 1909, and recorded in Volume 1201, page 64, Cuyahoga County Records; thence Westerly along the southerly line of the parcel of land conveyed to Carl P. Tinker, as aforesaid, to the easterly line of the right of way conveyed by Lucy A. Tarbell to The Connotton Valley Railroad Company, by deed dated March 19, 1881, and recorded in Volume 356, page 461, Cuyahoga County Records; thence southerly along said easterly line of said right of way to the point of intersection of the right of way with the southerly line of Lot No. 67; thence easterly along the southerly line of Lots Nos. 67 and 62 to the westerly line of Main Street, and the place of beginning, be the same more or less, but subject to all legal highways.

That the said persons above named also claim some interest in said premises adverse to the plaintiff's title.

The prayer of the petition is that the aforesaid mortgages be ordered cancelled of record, that the said S. B. Sheldon be found to be an unmarried person at the time of the execution of the deed aforesaid, and that he be found to be identical and the same person with Sheldon grantee in deed aforesaid; that the said defendant Burton L. Conard did obtain a divorce as hereinbefore set forth, and that he is barred of dower in said property thereby and that said Addie Gray Marble Conard was not seized of said property during coverture and that each of the parties first above named be compelled to show their interest in the above described premises, that the same may be adjudged null and void and plaintiff's title quieted against them.

The above named parties are further notified that they have been made party defendants, and that they are required to answer on or before the 17th day of February, 1917, or a judgment as prayed for in said petition will be taken against them.

T. S. DUNLAP, Atty. for Plaintiff.

THE SALE OF
UNITED STATES CIRCUS CORPORATION STOCK

Marks a new era in the Stock Market

Circus stock has never before been offered to the general public. United States Circus Corporation will operate the first motor truck circus in existence—nothing will be transported by railroad.

Incorporpated under the laws of Delaware, with an authorized capital of $1,000,000—all of which is common stock, fully paid and non-assessable.

The following telegram came from New York headquarters this morning:

"United States Circus Corporation purchased today one hundred three and one-half ton motor trucks, Kelly-Springfield Motor Truck Co. Contract closed tonight here with James Geddes, President Kelly-Springfield Motor Truck Company, by President Frank P. Spellman for United States Circus Corporation. Largest motor truck contract ever given in United States. Total contract three hundred and seventy-nine thousand dollars. Contract calls for immediate delivery."

The United States Circus Corporation is all ready for operation. It has purchased the famous Bostock Menagerie, and its truck bodies have just been completed by the Bode Wagon Co., of Cincinnati.

We, as fiscal agents, are now offering this stock for a limited time at a par value of $10.00 per share.

TWENTIETH YEAR—NO. 2. WILLOUGHBY, OHIO, JANUARY 25, 1917. ONE DOLLAR A YEAR IN ADVANCE

ASSING OF VIRGIL P. KLINE COMES CLOSE TO WILLOUGHBY

In the death of Virgil P. Kline las. eek Wiloughby has reason to per- onally mourn the loss of one of its iends. Mr. Kline was selected by ayor Collister and his council many ears ago to investigate the possibilities of the Andrews Institute for Girls eing established in this village. The any years of litigation against the eirs of that estate and the Smithonian Institute proved the wisdom f Mayor Collister's selection.

Mr. Kline successfully brought the any legal contests to a successful lose for Willoughby. Since then he as been its legal advisor on many urbulent and vital matters and has ver remained a faithful friend to the nterests of the Institute. He had any times expressed himself as anting to live to assist in the laying f the cornerstone of the first building, but his untimely demise has recluded that possibility. While of ate years his general counsel has een followed, the active legal work has been done by his younger associates.

Mr. Kline had a strong personality and magnetic influence for good. He was an intense fighter and advisor of the highest degree and a man of unusual ability both in his chosen profession, political activities and general civic duties.

He had accumulated and maintained one of the largest private libraries in Cleveland, personally selected every book and usually had read them together and aloud with his wife. He had a remarkable command of language and in the expression of the most common things he used the finest of diction and rhetorical expressions.

Of late years he had traveled much, spending his summers at Blue Hill, Maine, and his winters in California. He was looked upon by natural selection and admiration of the other members of the profession as the dean of the Cleveland bar, a well merited title.

He was a Democrat in politics, faithful to the old principles of the party and in his every day life truly democratic to other people, strangers, friends and associates.

HONOR FOR LOCAL MAN AT DEWEY FUNERAL

The friends of Paul Talbot will be nterested in knowing that the midshipmen from the U. S. Naval Academy, at Annapolis, constituted the sole escort for the remains of Admiral Dewey from his late residence to the capitol, and they were the only part of the procession to accompany the body within Arlington cemetery. It was at Annapolis that Dewey started upon the career that made him at his death the ranking naval officer of the world.

INSTRUCTIVE EXHIBIT AT ANDREWS

An interesting exhibit is shown the students of The Andrews Institute for Girls this week of 100 enamel signs of shield shape about 4x4 inches. Each sign bears the name of a native tree and there are from one to five of each kind of sign.

It is planned to permanently fasten one of these signs upon certain trees scattered throughout the hundred acre woodlot of the new site.

The survey of the Forestry Department of the state showed 33 varieties of native trees, although the department has added many other varieties in its new planting and extension of the forest and nut grove.

On the next inspection trip one of the representatives of the Forestry Department, these little signs will be put up. It will not only be very instructive for the students, but for the public in general.

INTERESTING DEMONSTRATION

During the week of January 29th an interesting demonstration will take place at the store of E. M. Crowther. A representative of the Luther Grinder Co. of Milwaukee, Wis., will be at the store at that time, and demonstrate the uses of the Luther Grinder.

Everyone knows the pleasure to be had from using a knife that is really sharp, and everyone knows how often knives are left to become dull, account of having no one to sharpen them, or no tool handy to do the work. This is all eliminated, it is said, by the use of the Luther Grinder, a household stand-by; and for this reason, all of next week, Mr. Crowther has arranged to have a demonstration of the tool. Everyone is invited to bring in a bread knife or a cake knife, or a pair of shears, and the demonstrator will take pleasure in sharpening it free.

Farmers and other workers are invited to bring in a tool that they especially desire to nave sharpened. Sharpening week at the Crowther store should prove to be a very popular period.

PRESLEY-ARMSTRONG WEDDING

A pretty little home wedding took place Wednesday afternoon, January 17, 1917, at 3:30 o'clock at the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Armstrong on Center street, when their daughter, Hazel Lillian, was united in marriage to J. Donald Presley by Rev. Mr. McCulloch, the pastor of the First Presbyterian church. After the wedding supper the bridal couple left for a short trip, amid a plenteous shower of rice and old shoes. Mr. and Mrs. Presley will occupy a home of their own on Center street.

The many friends of the young people extend congratulations.

WILLOUGHBY MAN IN NEW MEXICO

Jacob Karr, former pitcher on the Willoughby base ball team, who left for New Mexico about ten days ago, reports that he is much pleased with his new location. A letter received by a friend in town states that he is much improved in health. The town, Roswell, he writes, is very attractive and exceptionally well paved.

PROGRESS OF THE NEW BANKING COMPANY

About 30 Willoughby citizens met in the Willoughby town hall, Tuesday night and went over the proposition of the new bank, the Willoughby Savings & Loan Co. A. T. Falconer, state examiner from Columbus, was present and talked of the advantages of a savings and loan bank.

Messrs. Carmichael, Collister, Rockafellow, Dickey and C. F. Bryant were among those noted at the meeting. A committee of 15 was appointed and Tuesday evening next, the Chamber of Commerce will hold a meeting at the town hall to go over the proposition.

Tentative location on Erie street for the bank is now being considered. The promoters of the company are greatly pleased at the enthusiasm and interest already evinced by Willoughby men in the new firm. It is planned to have at least 96% of the directors of the company Willoughby residents. It is anticipated that the project will be well under way, and negotiations for opening of business completed by February 15.

FIRST CLASS ALLOTMENT ANTICIPATED

It is reported on goodauthority that a first class allotment will soon be opened up in the upper part of town. No houses under cost of five thousand dollars each, it is said, will be erected. This venture, it is said, will be put under way the coming spring.

EUCLID BUS LINE RESUMES OPERATIONS

The Euclid Bus line has resumed operations, running between Euclid and East Cleveland.

LITERARY CONTEST

A literary contest between the Thesians and Solonians was held on Tuesday afternoon at the high school. The judges were Rev. Randall, Rev. McCulloch and Mrs. Sherman. The Thesians won by 12 to 9.

MASQUERADE PARTY PROVES POPULAR

About 200 couple attended the masquerade party and dance given by the W. B. C. in Bond hall Saturday last. The affair was one of unusual pleasure. Prize for the best dressed lady was won by Mrs. Fred Fusner. The prize offered for the worst dressed lady was taken by Miss Jennie Wortman. The men's prizes were carried off by Leon Palmer and Harvey Sigsbey, the former being considered the best dressed man and the latter worthy of the prize for the worst dressed, as per program of prizes.

BAND TO GIVE ANNUAL PARTY

February 20th the Willoughby Band will give its annual old-time dance and concert. The affair will take place in Bond Hall and something of interest and pleasure to everyone will be planned. The Old Fiddlers' orchestra of Painesville will participate as well as a modern orchestra.

BAND LEADER ABSENT

Peter Fox, the new leader of the Willoughby band, was absent from the regular Tuesday night meeting, account of the serious illness of his brother in Wickliffe. Lant Carrol led the band in his place.

GIRL ATTEMPTS SUICIDE

Carrie Mastrangelo, 18 years old, attempted suicide Sunday noon at her home on Vine street. It is believed that the shooting resulted from a love affair.

Reports Thursday afternoon from Charity hospital state that her condition remained unchanged at that time.

"PLAIN COUNTRY WOMAN" TALKS TO ANDREWS GIRLS

All readers of the Ladies' Home Journal are familiar with the practical and helpful ideas advanced by the "Plain Country Woman" for so many years, in that periodical. Wednesday afternoon the girls at the Andrews school had the privilege of hearing the writer in person. Many persons, doubtless, have wondered if there really is a "Plain Country Woman". She is a real personage. Mrs. Juliet Strauss, of Rockville, Ind., and Wednesday addressed the Cleveland Advertising Club in Cleveland. Several invitations were extended to her to address Cleveland Clubs, but the Andrews school received her preference and she accompanied Mr. Wilson out, visiting the school and addressing the girls and teachers. Simplicity, optimism and plain common sense form the basis of her talks, as of her writings.

INTERESTING NEWS FROM THE PLAINS

Mrs. Frank Cole spent Thursday in Painesville at the home of her sister, Mrs. Gertrude Bohn.

STRAWBERRIES FIVE CENTS PER BOX IN CALIFORNIA, TRAVELER REPORTS

Lew. Reuter, Supt. of construction at the C. P. & E., who went west for his health last fall, writes very favorably of the California climate.

Writing to a friend, he states further that strawberries are but five cents per box, oranges five cents per dozen and vegetables equally low. Other than that the H. C. of L. is about the same as here. He expects to return early in the spring.

NEW LOCAL MANAGER FOR WESTERN UNION TELEGRAPH OFFICE

A new local manager has been appointed for the Western Union telegraph office here. He entered upon his duties January 17th. Clare Campbell of Bowling Green, O., is the new appointee. R. C. Talley, former manager, has accepted a position in his home town, Owensboro, Ky. A good many improvements are in sight for the service. A new and more convenient location is one of the first considerations. One or two on Erie street are now having the attention of the management at Cincinnati.

MEN CARRY OFF HONORS IN SERVING BANQUET

About 125 people sat down to the "Mother and Son" banquet at the Methodist church Tuesday night. Local speakers included Rev. Floyd Randall, president of the board of control, and Charles Waite, president of the group. Reed Fairley spoke for the boys and E. F. Birkholz for the leaders. Ralph Donnan of Mentor also spoke. The speaker of the evening was R. R. Jenkins of Chicago Junction. Mr. Jenkins is the R. R. Secretary of the B. & O. Railroad. He was formerly an engineer and trainman, and his subject was "The Run of Life." He made a practical application of his life in his talk on this subject, and it was greatly liked by the listeners. The male quartet rendered music. The hit of the evening, however, was the supper, or more directly speaking, the waiters.

The office of head waiter was filled by J. Edw. Weitt. One of the most efficient waiters, it was reported, was Mayor Carmichael, while E. F. Birkholz, Charles Richards, J. G. Barber, L. R. Adams, E. S. Fairley, Clifford Rockafellow, Ralph Thompson, F. N. Shankland, L. B. Stockwell and E. M. Otis divided honors at various tables.

The Ladies' Aid Society prepared the supper and the entire occasion was one of great enjoyment.

MAYOR CARMICHAEL ROLLS THE FIRST BALL AT OPENING

The Elm bowling alley on Erie St. had its opening Wednesday night. Mayor Carmichael rolled the first ball and gave the new bowling alley its opening start off. The new alley bids fair to be extremely popular. Friday night of this week an all star team from Cleveland is scheduled to play The Standard Tire & Rubber team. The latter is composed of Messrs. Dickey, Mayor, Miller, Mackey, Moriarity and Chinnery. J. Ray Dickey, office manager of the Standard Tire, is known as the star of Willoughby, the pride, in fact, it is claimed by his admiring friends. He is open, it is said, to make bowling matches with anyone. Many bowling matches have been engaged in by Mr. Dickey, in Cleveland, at which he has always been the winner, it is reported.

T. J. Mayer, the manager of the new alley, is hoping to organize a two-men league. All teams wishing to enter should hand their names to Mr. Mayer.

A game with Painesville is scheduled for next week.

Considerable interest is being evinced by lady players in bowling and it is expected that a couple of ladies' teams will be organized here very soon.

BEN HUR MAKES REAL HIT IN GOTHAM

Ben Hur made its bow in the New York Automobile show and received such instant acclaim that Gotham feels as though Ben-Hur was a part of its scenery instead of an industry built up by western people in the vicinity of Cleveland, and Willoughby was placed on the map in the effete east with the same applause that made Ben-Hur known. Ben-Hur is a Willoughby institution.

It may be said without fear of challenge and without the slightest exaggeration that Ben-Hur was the hit of the show. The booth was so crowded from opening to closing that it was a task for the attendants to even pass out pamphlets fast enough to satisfy those who called to see the new challenger for honors in the automobile world. A supply of printed matter was sent to the show that was considered ample. In fact, twice the original amount of booklets was hurried to the Grand Central Palace. Two days elapsed when it became evident that interest in Ben-Hur was fast depleting what had at first

ORDINANCE NO. 1007.

By Mr. Bishop.

An ordinance authorizing the Director of Public Service to employ expert engineering service and fixing the compensation thereof.

Be it ordained by the Council of the City of East Cleveland, State of Ohio, three-fourths of all the members elected thereto concurring.

Section 1. That the Director of Public Service be and he is hereby authorized and empowered to enter into contract for expert engineering service, either through contract with an individual or a corporation, for the purpose of securing to the City of East Cleveland the expert services of a civil engineer to perform such duties under contract, as may be required by the Director of Public Service.

Section 2. That the services to be performed and services to be rendered under said contract by said engineering expert shall be of the same character as set forth in Section 2 (excepting Paragraphs 14 and 15 thereof) of Ordinance No. 821, passed April 20, 1914.

Section 3. That said engineering expert shall receive for said services under said contract, compensation not to exceed two and one-half (2 1-2%) per cent upon the actual cost of all assessment improvements when such services so rendered on such improvements have been approved by the Director of Public Service; that for all other services for which no compensation is provided in said contract, the Director of Public Service is hereby authorized to pay said engineering expert such compensation as may be fair, and to be based upon standard engineering charges for similar work, and that said contract shall be made for a period ending June 2, 1918.

Section 4. This ordinance shall take effect and be in force from and after the earliest period allowed by law.

Passed January 15 1917. J18-25

Attest: E. L. HICKEY, Clerk of the Council.

HENRY W. STONE, President of the Council

Approved Jan. 15, 1917. J18-25

W. E. MINSHALL, MAYOR

NOTICE TO CONTRACTORS TO BID.

Sealded bids will be received at the office of the Director of Public Service of the city of East Cleveland at his office in the City Hall in the city of East Cleveland until 1:00 o'clock p. m., Eastern Standard Time, Monday February 5th, 1917, for the furnishing of the following:

Five hundred (500) ⅝-inch water meters to be delivered to 30 Marloes Street, East Cleveland, Ohio, in accordance with specifications to be furnished by the City Engineer of East Cleveland, Ohio:

Each bid must contain the full name of each person or company interested in the same and be accompanied by a bond in a sum equal to ten per cent (10%) of the amount of the bid, and to the satisfaction of said Director, or by an unconditional certified check on a solvent bank in Cuyahoga county, in like amount, made payable to the Treasurer of the City of East Cleveland, as a guaranty that if the bid be accepted the contract will be entered into and its performance properly secured.

Should any bid be rejected, its accompanying check so filed will be returned to the bidder and should any bid be accepted such check will be returned upon the proper execution and securing of the contract to the satisfaction of the Director of Public Service. Otherwise, the check of the successful bidder will be retained by and forfeited to said City as liquidated damages.

Bidders are required to use the form which will be furnished by the Engineer of the City of East Cleveland upon application.

All bids must be sealed and so endorsed as to show what is bid upon.

The City of East Cleveland, through its Director of Public Service, reserves the right to reject any and all bids.

By order of Adam H. Graham, Director of Public Service of the City of East Cleveland. J18-F8

OPENING OF THE FIVE POINTS ALLOTMENT

One of the most interesting and important allotments ever opened in Cleveland is the Five Points Allotment, now being developed on St. Clair avenue, just east of the business section known as Five Points, where St. Clair avenue, E. 152nd St., and Ivanhoe road meet. This section has developed so rapidly in the last 18 months that a person familiar with the district 18 months or two years ago would hardly recognize it now as being the same place. Where a short time ago were vacant lots now stands substantial brick store buildings with all kinds of stores, a branch of the State Banking & Trust Co., a modern hotel, etc. On the southeasterly corner of St. Clair avenue and Ivanhoe road stands the magnificent South High school with its spacious lawns. Immediately east of the school building is the beautiful Methodist church and a little west of Five Points a large plot of ground has been secured and a new Catholic church is to be erected. Numerous other churches and schools are near at hand and the district is growing at a rate unequalled in any part of the city.

Persons competent to judge have estimated that 60 per cent of the homes to be built in Cleveland in the next two years will be built in this district and their judgment has been backed by the investment of over one hundred thousand dollars in property and buildings that will derive profit for them through this growth.

Industrial development in this section, which in reality is the cause of home development, has more than maintained its proportion of increase in the last 12 months. In an article published on page 20 of the Plain Dealer on Tuesday, September 5, it was shown that the industrial structures erected in Cleveland in the last 12 months and listed by the Chamber of Commerce amounted to nearly two million square feet of floor space. An analysis of this tabulation shows that five hundred and eighty-one thousand, one hundred and forty-three square feet of this growth was within the one and one-half mile radius circle taking the Five Points Allotment as its center, which amount is twenty-eight and one-third per cent of the total industrial growth of the entire city of Cleveland.

This is the reason for the very remarkable development of home building in this section and why the owners of this alloment purchased this land for this purpose.

The allotment consists of 30 acres of land which is being subdivided and improved with twentieth century streets and restrictions especially for moderate priced homes to be sold to persons with modest incomes. It is preeminently a home spot where any of the thousands of men employed in the 60 industries near at hand with a good average daily wage can have a house costing $2250 or more upon a street good enough for houses costing $5,000 or more. The restrictions on the streets of this allotment are such as to provide everything necessary for the fullest enjoyment of the persons building houses on them and to enhance and maintain the value of the homes built there and to prevent conditions that would detract from a good home neighborhood. The streets are forty and fifty feet in width. Approved shade trees will be planted in a line ten feet inside of the sidewalk. The porch line is 25 feet and the house line at least 33 feet inside of the inside line of the sidewalk. Paving is being provided so that all residences will be easily accessible for vehicles at any time of the year and dust and mud will not make miserable the life of the house-wife who is so fortunate as to have her home on these streets.

All and complete improvements are being paid for by the allotment owners so that when a man buys a home site in Five Points Allotment he gets every modern improvement at the start and has nothing to pay later in order to secure these conveniences.

The man who wants a moderate priced home will not have to go to the outskirts of the city away from all ordinary comforts to find a place where he can build. In this allotment he gets the same kind of improvements as the man does who builds a house costing five or six thousand dollars.

The owners of this allotment are in a position to sell these desirable lots on easy terms and will provide money with which to build to persons who have not sufficient money to buy a lot and build a house upon it. This enables the man who has partly enough money for a complete home to have one of his own and to stop paying the rent to pay for some other person's house.

The Euclid-Collinwood three cent cars run past this property and the St. Clair-Collinwood cars run to Five Points, just a little west of it, giving two three cent lines with transfers making transportation easy to any part of the city.

This allotment is being developed and sold by The R. & R. Realty Company, composed of W. C. Ransom and W. Louis Rose, with offices at 506-7 Park Building (Public Square.)

These gentlemen have had long experience in the real estate business in Cleveland and selected this property for this kind of development after a thorough survey of properties in all parts of the city and suburbs.

CIRCUS BUYS ONE HUNDRED AUTO TRUCKS—ENDS TRAVEL ON RAILROADS

T. J. Artress & Co., brokers, Leader-News building, Cleveland, have just been advised that Frank P. Spellman of the United States Circus Corporation has just placed an order that not only breaks records for the motor truck business of the country but brings a new era into the world of the circus.

Mr. Spellman placed an order with the Kelly-Springfield Motor Truck Company of Springfield, Ohio, for a hundred three and a half ton motor trucks, costing $400,000. The trucks are to be delivered immediately.

The hundred trucks will form the nucleus for the United States Circus Corporation's unique motor train circus, which will travel from city to city exclusively by motor trucks and automobiles, doing away with the immense labor, the uncertainties, delays and inconvenience of the railroads.

It is the first motor train circus ever conceived and the project is being watched by the automobile and outdoor amusement world in general. The problem of housing and transporting what is hoped to be the largest, most costly, most complete circus in the world has been a tremendous one, but President Spellman says that it has been thoroughly and satisfactorily solved.

The idea of a motor equipped circus was predicted half a decade ago by no less important personages in the circus world than Buffalo Bill, W. W. Cole, John Robinson and Toby Hamilton, who said that in ten years time the modern, up-to-date circus would speed over the modern bithulithic highway. Their prediction is coming true.

President J. L. Geddes of the Kelly-Springfield Company said that he knew of no order from any individual or group of individuals that equalled this order. The United States Government have placed orders for 25 or 39 trucks, and the big express companies and the Standard Oil Company have purchased trucks in quantities, but outside of a foreign government now at war this is the largest single order for trucks in the history of the automobile industry, he says.

Others on the bill are Hugh Herbert and company, Truly Shattuck, Will Oakland and company, Danny O'Gill, Aveling and Lloyd, Knapp and Cornalla, and the Australian Creightios.

OPERA HOUSE

Otis Skinner comes to the Opera House next week, presenting "Mister Antonio," written expressly for him by Booth Tarkington. Mr. Skinner enacts an Italian organ grinder, a gentle optimist with the soul of a poet and the heart of a knight errant. The Charles Frohman management supplies a splendid production and a thoroughly satisfactory cast.

COLONIAL THEATRE

"The Passing Show of 1916" will be the attraction at the Colonial theatre next week, with matinees. "The Passing Show," chameleon-like in character, is characteristic of the New York Winter Garden. It is in a prologue, two acts and 16 scenes. A big company of comedians, singers and dancers is headed by Ed. Wynn.

MILES THEATER

In next week's program at the Miles theatre, "The Texas Roundup" will occupy the top notch position. Others who will appear are the Antonios, Estrelita, Spanish dancer; A. Ward and Michael Faye; Roach and McCurdy, and Paul Decker and company. At each performance the secand episode of "Patria" will be given. Sunday there will be a continuous performance.

PROSPECT THEATER

The attractiveness of the story of "Peg O' My Heart", which Robert Campbell will offer at the Prospect theatre for the week beginning Monday evening, with the usual bargain matinees, makes the Manners comedy one of the strongest drawing attractions that has been offered our playgoers for many seasons. Mr. Manners has succeeded in creating an interesting theory and an amusing story for his plot, which carries with it many laughable incidents. It shows Peg, the daughter of an impoverished but lovable Irishman, and an aristocratic Englishwoman on whom her relatives turned their backs when she set out for America with the husband of her choice. By the will of one of Peg's uncles, who wishes to make reparation for his treatment of his improvident sister, the little Irish-American girl is sent to England to be properly reared at the expense of his estates.

Rarely has comedy offered a sweeter but more difficult role than J. Hartley Manners has written in 'Peg,' which has been entrusted to Miss Carewe-Carval, and handled with skill by her.

ALHAMBRA AND MALL

That little favorite of the films, Viola Dana, will be welcomed back to the Alhambra and New Mall theatres Sunday, for a four day engagement in "Threads of Fate." It's a story of the coal fields of Ohio and Pennsylvania and unusually interesting because the plot concerns the attempt to make a girl marry a foreign count against her wishes.

The last three days of next week both theatres will show "Kick In." This picture was made from the famous play by Willard Mack, which was seen here several times on the legitimate stage, and is presented by the well-known theatrical magnate, A. H. Woods.

DUCHESS THEATRE

The never old "Rebecca of Sunnybrook Farm," one of those quaint New England plays of the "Old Homestead" and "Way Down East" type, will be the Vaughan Glaser stock company's offering at the Duchess theatre next week. Miss Fay Courteney as Rebecca will spread the gospel of happiness for all throughout the piece, although her own young life is anything but the round of sunshine and joy little girls think is their very own. Rebecca finds herself an unwelcome guest—just a sort of a necessary evil—at the home of her aunt in a small New England town. The aunt, Miss Constance Kenyon, is mighty "sot" in her ways and hasn't much time for the bubbling enthusiasm and pranks of her niece. Hence Rebecca is unhappy.

But in Adam Ladd, Mr. Glaser's role, and Jeremiah Cobb, one of those bluff, quaint, good hearted Yankees, portrayed by William Powell, Rebecca finds true friends and, in Adam, more than a friend.

When Mrs. Kate Douglas Wiggin gave the reading world "Rebecca of Sunnybrook Farm," it was considered one of the sweetest stories of child life ever written. And, in adapting the book for the stage, none of the homey atmosphere has been lost.

An enlarged cast and special scenery are required for the production of "Rebecca." In choosing both Mr. Glaser has lived up to the standard set by his stock ideals.

Miss Stuart, Mr. Robert Hilton, Don Burroughs, William Corbett and other members of the company all have roles that help make "Rebecca" one of the best staged and best acted plays of the Glaser season.

STAR THEATER

"Bowery Burlesquers" will be the attraction at the Star theatre next week. In "At Lobster Beach," they have a splendid vehicle: Edna Green, comedienne; Grace Anderson, prima donna, and Libby Hart and Pauline Pauli lead the feminine contingent, and Marty Seamon, Eddie Aiken and Charles Jansen aid Foster and Harcourt in tthe principal male roles.

EMPIRE THEATER

Will H. Ward is due at the Empire theatre next week, with the band of funmakers, vaudeville headliners and burlesquers, known as the Military Maids. "Broadway At Night" introduces such well-known stars as Mr. Ward, Miss Martha Pryor, Ed. Rogers, Nellie Greenwood, Miss Myrtle Franks, Jack Harrigan, James Hilbert, Morris Lloyd and others.

STANDARD THEATER

"The Darling of Paris" is an adaptation of "The Hunchback of Notre Dame," Victor Hugo's internationally famous novel. The scenes are located in Paris. A gypsy girl with her foster-mother arrive at the French capital, where her beauty attracts the attention of the Apaches, people of the underworld, and she becomes a member of their band. Her beauty also attracts Fralle (Walter Law) a scientist of note. She repulses him as she has already fallen in love with Captain Phoebus, (Herbert Hayes.)

Duing a visit to the apartment of the handsome captain, Fralle, kills the captain and makes his escape. Upon the arrival of the gendarmes, Esmerelda is placed under arrest and charged with murder.

Esmerelda is subjected to torture to make her confess, but knowing she is innocent she defies them. The bell-ringer of the cathedral, Quasimodo, (Glen White,) secretly worships Esmerelda and becomes her protector. When Fralle visits the prisoner, Quasimodo interferes and there is a struggle and Fralle is hurled from the parapet and killed.

Again the girl appears before the tribunal and put on the rack, this time she admits the murder of the captain, and as Esmerelda is to be guillotoned, Quasimodo gives the true version of the murder and Esmerelda is liberated.

ONLY FAULT DRINK HABIT

Many men are good husbands, fathers and sons in every way except the habit of drinking. They mean to do right even in this respect, but have become so badly poisoned with alcohol that they cannot stop drinking, and the result is always unhappiness and poverty for the wife and family. Do not condemn your drinking husband and son, but encourage them to take the Neal Drink Habit Treatment and become sober and useful. The Neal Treatment will remove the craving and necessity for drink in three days, without dangerous hypodermic injections. Let us give you proof that it will not fail to give you satisfactory results. Write, telephone or call for full particulars. The Neal Institute, 2020 Euclid Avenue, Cleveland, Ohio. Telephone Rosedale 2190. Open day and night. Other Neal Institutes under the management of Dr. A. J. McNamara, formerly Asst. Supt. of the Cleveland State Hospital are in Columbus, Cincinnati and Pittsburgh.

Anton Miloshefski, whose residence is unknown, will take notice that Annie Miloshefski filed a petition against him in the Court of Common Pleas of Cuyahoga County, Ohio, praying for divorce, alimony, custody of child and relief on the ground of gross neglect of duty and willful absence for more than three years last past. Said petition is No. 157668 and will be for hearing on and after March 2, 1917. J18-F22

ARTRESS WELCOMES "BLUE SKY" MEASURE

That a rigid enforcement of the State "Blue Sky Law", recently held constitutional by the United States Supreme court, will have a splendid effect on conditions surrounding the brokerage business in this state is the opinion of officials of T. H. Artress and Company, industrial securities specialists, Leader-News building.

"We are glad the nation's highest judicial tribunal upheld the 'blue sky' legislation of Ohio," said an official of the company. "We are confident much good will result from the exercise of the proper state authority.

"Our clientele has been secured by the hardest sort of application and representing as we do an exceedingly large number of purchasers of stock in leading industrial and amusement corporations, we are naturally anxious to see every safeguard adopted which will protect the people and give added standing to legitimate investment corporations. This company enjoys the confidence of thousands of Ohioans and having made their interest paramount to every other consideration, we cannot do more than say we are pleased with the legislation which has been passed for their protection."

BOSTON GRAND OPERA AT HIPP

The Boston National Grand Opera Co. will arrive in Cleveland Sunday, preparatory to its final three-day season at B. F. Keith's Hippodrome. To put on productions as elaborate as "Tosca," "Boheme" and "Aida," a small army is required. The company regularly carries 175 people and a hundred more will be added for the processions in "Tosca" aond "Aida" in Cleveland. The settings for "Tosca" are particularly handsome. In the second act gold furniture with brocade coverings, such as one would find in a Fifth Avenue drawing room, will be seen in the setting for the interior of the Farnese palace.

Luisa Villani, who sings the title roles on Monday and Wednesday evenings in "Tosca" and "Aida," has been receiving paeons of praise from high places. She has a magnificent voice and is at the same time an actress of power and charm. Opposite her plays Caruso's only rival, the great Zenatello, whose clarion notes and impassioned delivery make him the ideal interpreter of these dramatic roles. To complete the trio, is the fine Russian baritone, George Baklanoff, whose commanding figure, rich voice and histronic talents make him as remarkable a Scarpia as Amonasro. No less attractive is the cast for Tuesday night; bewitching Maggie Teyte has been voted by New York itself the best Mimi ever heard in "Boheme." Gaudenzi, Lazzari and Chalmers are "Bohemians" to the life. On Wednesday afternoon, unique little Tamaki Miuri, with the famous American tenor, Riccardo Martin, will sing the leading roles in perhaps the most popular of all operas offered—"Madama Butterfly." For "Aida" Wednesday night, the addition of two wonderful Spanish artists, Jose Mardones, basso, and Maria Gay, contralto, to the great trio of Monday night, Villani, Zenatello and Baklanoff, will make a superb cast and the performance will be a fitting close to Cleveland grand opera for the season.

There are good seats at all prices. Every music-lover in northern Ohio should make the effort to avail himself of this great opportunity.

HIAWATHA THEATRE

Mrs. Vernon Castle, famous throughout the world, will appear for fifteen weeks at the Hiawatha theatre. That is the promise of the management, which is now making arrangements with Pathe for a booking on "Patria," the big serial produced for International, in which the society favorite is starred.

"Patria" is the first society serial of romance and preparedness. Many scenes were taken in Newport, America's greatest millionaire resort, and at private showings in the Grand Ball room of the Ritz-Carlton Hotel, New York, and in such places in other large cities, "Patria" has been enthusiastically greeted by the big figures of society whose lead everyone else is anxious to follow.

"Patria" is by Louis Joseph Vance, the famous author of a score of best-sellers, including "The Brass Bowl," "The Bronze Bell," etc. The story tells of Patria Channing, a beautiful moung society girl, left sole heir to America's largest munitions works, and her splendid struggle against Baron Huroki, a wily foreigner who is endeavoring to gain control of Channings and the $100,000,000 trust fund left to Patria by her father. She is aided by Capt. Donald Parr of the U. S. Secret Service, with whom she is in love.

RING ON RIGHT HAND DOESN'T KEEP SECRET

Miss Dorothy Stillings

A ring on the right hand, especially a diamond, arouses some speculation sometimes. This is especially true of college girls, and some of the other girls at the College for Women have been doing considerable guessing lately, 'tis said. One who has caused some queries is Miss Dorothy Stillings, of Willoughby. Now along comes a young man, a local and well known photographer, and says that when "The Confession Breakfast" occurs in June at the College for Women, there will be a real secret revealed. Quien Sabe?

Obituary Notices

DEATH OF ROSS DUER, MENTOR

Mr. Ross Duer, who had been in poor health for several months passed away Sunday evening. Mr. Duer was 69 years of age and was born at Canfield, O. He was one of 13 children and only three—two sisters and one brother, remain. One brother passed away of the same disease three months ago. Mr. Duer lived most of his life in Iowa. He moved back to Ohio and Mentor 16 years ago, when he bought Sunny Slope Farm, at S. Mentor, where he resided with his sister until 11 weeks ago, when they moved down to Mentor to Maple St. Mr. Duer was only able to be up one week and enjoy his new home, as he had been confined to his bed for 10 weeks. Funeral services were held Wednesday afternoon at 1:30 and were conducted by Rev. Sever of Cuyahoga Falls, a former pastor of the Church of Christ, assisted by Rev. Biddle.

J. P. GLASIER.

The death of J. P. Glasier of Mentor avenue occurred Sunday evening after a brief illness. He was 64 years of age. Mr. and Mrs. Glasier and daughter had attended the auto show in Cleveland, Mr. Glaser returning on Saturday evening. His wife and daughter followed on Monday and found him ill. The following Sunday he passed away. Mr. Glasier was a son of Capt. Glasier of Cleveland, who sailed on the lake and sea. A purchase of a tract of Salvation Army land here brought Capt. Glasier's sons to this vicinity, which resulted in the meeting and subsequent marriage of Mr. Glasier and Ida A. Farnsworth, the latter having lived all her life in their present location. Two children, Louis and Mildred, were born of this union, the former residing in Cleveland, and the latter at the home of her parents. Mr. Glasier has been in ill health for some time.

He will be greatly missed in the community. He was especially noted for his thoughtful consideration for his family and others, at all times. The funeral was held Wednesday at 2 p. m., the pastor of the Disciple church at Mentor officiating.

MRS. MARY AMANDA TREDWAY

Mrs. Mary Amanda Tredway died at Wilson's Mills January 12, at the age of 64. Mrs. Tredway had lived for a considerable time on Wood street in this village. Ill health had prevented her getting out much and as her condition grew worse she was taken, about three months ago, back to the old homestead to live with relatives. Here she died in the same house in which she was born. The deceased had joined the church in early years and had been most fervent in her faith throughout her life.

Funeral services were held at Wilson's Mills January 15, with burial at that place.

HENRY S. TAYLOR

Henry S. Taylor whose home was at Stop 36, Euclid avenue, died at the state hospital at 11 a. m. Saturday, the 13th. He suffered a stroke of apoplexy, passing away immediately. Services were held at the Presbyterian church Tuesday at 2:30 p. m., the Rev. McCulloch officiating. The body was placed in the vault for later interment in the Willoughby cemetery. Mr. Taylor was born on the Rush road, and would have been 55 years old the 25th of next June. He lived in the Rush road vicinity for 40 years and was a school teacher at South Euclid. He married Isabel Hammill of Virginia, who was residing in Cleveland at the time of the marriage. They came to Willoughby and built the house at Euclid avenue and Maple street which they have since occupied. One son was born of the union, Edward Taylor, now associated with the Cleveland Crane & Car Co. A sister, Miss Julia Taylor, of Cleveland, and the widow, also survive him. Mr. Taylor had been confined in the state hospital for the insane for the past 12 years. He was of a most kindly disposition, never violent, and made occasional trips to his home in Willoughby. Three or four days in August and a day or so at the Thanksgiving period were especially happy occasions when he visited his home recently. Mr. Taylor had been much interested in literary work, and at the time of the re-dedication of the Presbyterian church here wrote the dedication poem, which was read at the time and is still retained by Willoughby friends. Neighbors recall Mr. Taylor as the kindliest of men and he had a host of friends who extend their sympathy to the widow and son.

OLD ITALIAN RESIDENT DIES

Twenty-four years is a long time to reside in a neighborhood and speak a language known only to one's immediate family. This, however, was the case of Mrs. Mary Pette, who died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Jennie Menn, of Vine street, Sunday, January 14th. Mrs. Pette was 75 years of age and had been ill for some time. The family came to Willoughby from Italy 24 years ago, and for the last 15 years have resided on Vine street. The daughter and seven grandchildren survive. The funeral took place Wednesday morning at 10 o'clock.

BODY OF MAN FOUND

The body of William Stevens, 55 Willoughby blacksmith, was found by two boys yesterday morning in the woods near Stop 125 Shore line. The body, frozen stiff, lay in a snowdrift. It was removed to the undertaking rooms of Hogan & Co., 14705 Saranac Road, N. E., Cleveland. It is reported that Mr. Stevens had been boarding on Wood street.

LIGHTING EXPERIMENTS AT ANDREWS SCHOOL

Different styles of lighting fixtures are being tried out at the Andrews Institute at the present time, with a view to obtaining the most desirable method of lighting for the new school. Three of the rooms of the present building where the natural light is poorest, have been selected for tests.

been thought to be more than ample. A telegram brought an additional supply and four times as many people demanded printed information on the Ben-Hur as the officials had looked for.

A pure white chassis, trimmed in burnished copper, similar to the one shown in Cleveland, supplied the leading feature of the exhibit. A beautiful sedan and a seven-passenger completed the picture. The sedan attracted more attention than any one car shown with the possible exception of a much-advertised special show car exhibited on the first floor. Ben-Hur did not enter New York amid a blare of trumphets, but slipped in quietly, unostentatiously, prepared to receive those who were interested, and like wildfire, the interest spread from one end of Manhattan to the other, flowed over into Jersey, above the Bronx and away up in New England.

"We must see Ben-Hur," was heard on every hand.

"So this is Ben-Hru, splendid!" was the repeated comment.

"How can you give so much car for such a price?" was a popular inquiry.

Salesmen, engineers, mechanics, presidents, sales-managers, directors and officials of practically every car shown in New York visited the show and looked over Ben-Hur. The verdict of one and all was the same. It met with the approval of the most critical. Passing the close inspection and grilling examination of these experts in the industry, getting their approval was an accomplishment worth while. The public, however, is the real judge. The public sentiment is what every maker wants to know, and public sentiment was plainly with Ben-Hur. The public represented by individuals, families and parties surged to the booth and insisted upon a close examination of every detail of the car. Ben-Hur went to New York, quietly and in a dignified manner, fully satisfied as to innate qualities. The public greeted Ben-Hur with loud acclaim and Ben-Hur has arrived.

All of this sort of thing is all right and helpful to be sure, but what counts is orders in any manufacturing business. Orders came. Crowds prevented more orders being taken, but the officials of the Ben-Hur company feel pretty well satisfied that their trip to New York paid expenses for they have a little over $900,000 worth of orders on their books that they did not have before the show, and this is not all. Visitors from every quarter of the globe called and many sought contracts for territory, but the policy of the company is to supply the U. S. A. first and Europe afterwards caused not a few foreign visitors to return to their hotels disappointed.

So intense was the interest in the car that many of the attendant were able to get but one meal a day. Breakfast in the morning, and then nothing all day long until midnight. Interest never ceased. There was not an hour in any day when the booth was not filled with people, interested anxious and enthusiastic, and Willoughby may feel proud of the reception that a Willoughby product received in the largest city in the world under the eye of the most critical people on earth.

BEST TIME TO BUY LIME OR LIMESTONE

Farmer and Shipper Must Contend With Car Shortage.

Car shortage is still the great important situation that the farmer and shipper have to contend with.

Buy now, if you expect to secure agricultural lime or ground limestone for spring use.

The railroad embargo is a very serious condition on nearly all Ohio railroads and electric lines. The volume of business of the railroads is greater than their capacity to handle.

Farmers must foresee their opportunity and endeavor to buy the goods, including lime, limestone, fertilizers, seeds and other supplies which they will need, and have same shipped at once.

Producers are unable to guarantee shipments of these materials after March 1, 1917, for the reason that thousands of carloads of grain and other materials are waiting to be delivered and unloaded between here and the seaboard. Just as soon as some of these cars are unloaded others are put in.

Some cars have remained undelivered and unloaded from 60 to 90 days after special shipping arrangements had been made.

It is hard for us to realize what a vast amount of money it takes to do business under such conditions. The coming year will be the year of all years for the farmer to produce. He will need many supplies, including lime or limestone, possibly some new equipment, such as farm machinery.

The warning to farmers is to buy early, not later than Feb. 15, 1917, at the latest, rather than to be disappointed by not being able to secure the goods, which he will NEED and MUST HAVE if he is going to produce a crop.

The amount of tonnage to be handled by the farmer who is about to apply lime or ground limestone to a given acreage is comparatively large—the haul is often quite long and sometimes over roads which are almost impassable during the early Spring months. This is true over too large a portion of this State.

The most economical time to haul lime or limestone is during the Winter months when the time of teams and labor is not quite so valuable.

Agricultural lime and ground limestone is usually purchased in carload lots. Nearly 90 per cent of the business is shipped in cars which hold 18 tons of hydrated lime or 25 tons of ground limestone. Very few shipments are made in small quantities of less than carlots.

Therefore, it means considerable to the community that is about to treat land for soil acidity to have these materials upon the farm and ready to apply.

The use of lime and limestone, over three-fourths of the State, has long passed the experimental stage; in other words it is a business proposition, and one which no farmer can afford to overlook if he wishes to farm with profit.

Furthermore, he cannot afford to wait if he knows that his soils needs lime or limestone. Putting off from one year to the next—from one season to the next season—simply means less returns, lower profits, dissatisfied help, and lack of faith in a business which requires all of the thought and the energy that any other business requires.

LEGAL NOTICE

——— Ruegg, first name unknown, wife or widow of Henry Ruegg, otherwise known as Jane Doe, real name unknown, the wife or widow of Henry Ruegg, whose place of residence is unknown, will take notice that Salomon Perelman and Sofoae Perelman, as Plaintiffs, have filed their petition against her in the Court of Common Pleas of Cuyahoga County, Ohio, alleging that they are owners in fee simple, and in actual possession of the following described real estate, to-wit:

Situated in the City of Cleveland, County of Cuyahoga and State of Ohio, and known as being the Southerly 100 feet of the Westerly 42 feet from front to rear of Sub-lot No. 24 in Silas Strange's Subdivision of a part of Original One Hundred Acre Lot No. 336 in said City.

Said part of said Sub lot No. 24 has a frontage of 42 feet on the Northerly side of Quincy Avenue, S. E., and extends back of equal width 100 feet deep, as per plat of said Subdivision recorded in Volume 4 of Maps, page 28 of Cuyahoga County Records.

The petition alleges that the Defendant claims an estate or interest in said premises adverse to Plaintiffs' rights, by reason of the fact that in a deed from Henry Ruegg to Rudolph Eichenberger, dated March 6, 1872 and recorded in Volume 198, page 442, of Cuyahoga County Records, no wife joins with the said grantor, nor is any statement made therein that the Grantor is unmarried.

The petition further alleges that the Plaintiffs' believe and therefore, allege the fact to be that the said Henry Ruegg at the time of the execution of said deed, was unmarried, and that the said defendant has no [illegible] whatever in said premises, and any interest she may have had has long since been barred by lapse of time and the Statute of Limitations; that the said Defendant has never sought to convey or attempted to enforce or assert any interest in and to said premises, and that as against said Defendant these Plaintiffs and their predecessors in title have held and been in [illegible] open, notorious, continuous and adverse possession of said premises for more than 21 years last past.

The prayer of said petition is that the said defendant may be compelled to show her said interest in said premises; that the same may be adjudged to be null and void, Plaintiffs' title quieted against the same and for relief.

Said petition is No. [illegible], and the above named defendant is required to answer the same on or before the 10th day of March, 1917. J18-F22

NOTICE

David B. Dunham, John B. Lumarn, Sullivan K. Sawyer, George T. Ruggles, S. B. Sheldon, Mendall Jewett, Henry G. Weavier and Burton L. Conard, whose places of residence are unknown, and the unknown heirs, executors, administrators, devisees and assigns of David B. Dunham, John B. Lumarn, Sullivan K. Sawyer, George T. Ruggles, S. B. Sheldon, Mendall Jewett and Henry G. Weavier, whose names and places of residence are unknown, are hereby notified that on the 28th day of December, 1916, William O. Gleeson filed his petition in the Common Pleas Court of Cuyahoga County, Ohio, being Case No. 153611, alleging that he is the owner in fee simple and in actual possession, and that he and his immediate grantors have been in actual, open, notorious, continuous, exclusive, adverse and uninterrupted possession of the premises hereinafter described for more than 21 years last past: that on the 9th day of February, 1838, the defendant Sullivan K. Sawyer executed to defendant David B. Dunham a certain mortgage deed on part of the premises described in the petition, which mortgage deed is recorded in Volume 24, page 314, of Cuyahoga County Records of Mortgages, and that on October 6th, 1849, said defendant S. B. Sheldon and others executed and delivered to Mendall Jewett a certain mortgage deed on the premises described in the petition, that said mortgage was duly recorded in Volume 46, page 49, Cuyahoga County Record of Mortgages, that part of said mortgage was duly assigned to the defendant Henry G. Weavier, that both of the aforesaid mortgages have been duly paid, and are barred by the statute of limitations but have not been cancelled of record; that on April 11, 1850, defendant S. B. Sheldon by deed recorded in Volume 92, page 269, deeded the hereinafter described premises to S. U. Tarbell, and that at the time of the execution of the said deed the said S. B. Sheldon was an unmarried man, and that said S. B. Sheldon and Sheldon grantee in deed recorded in Volume 93, page 268 Cuyahoga County Records of Deeds, are one and the same person. That on the 24th day of February, 1916, the defendent, Burton L. Conard, in the State of California, obtained a divorce from Addie Gray Marble Conard, one of the Grantors of the plaintiff, and that by the terms of the decree he was barred of dower in all real estate of which she was seized during her coverture, and that the said Addie Gray Marble Conard never was seized of the premises hereinafter, described during coverture. That said premises are described as follows:

Situated in the Village of Bedford, County of Cuyahoga and State of Ohio, and known as being all of Village Lots Nos. 62 and 63, and part of Village Lots Nos. 64, 67, 68 and 69, and bounded and described as follows:

Beginning at the southeasterly corner of Lot No. 62, thence northwesterly along the easterly line of Lots 62, 63 and 64, and along the westerly line of Main Street, about 63 feet to the southeasterly corner of the parcel of land conveyed by Lucy A. Tarbell to Carl P. Tinker by deed dated April 23, 1909, and recorded in Volume 1201, page 64, Cuyahoga County Records; thence Westerly along the southerly line of the parcel of land conveyed to Carl P. Tinker, as aforesaid, to the easterly line of the right of way conveyed by Lucy A. Tarbell to The Connotton Valley Railroad Company, by deed dated March 19, 1881, and recorded in Volume 356, page 461, Cuyahoga County Records; thence southerly along said easterly line of said right of way to the point of intersection of the right of way with the southerly line of Lot No. 67; thence easterly along the southerly line of Lots Nos. 67 and 62 to the westerly line of Main Street, and the place of beginning, be the same more or less, but subject to all legal highways

That the said persons above named also claim some interest in said premises adverse to the plaintiff's title

The prayer of the petition is that the aforesaid mortgages be ordered cancelled of record, that the said S. B. Sheldon be found to be an unmarried person at the time of the execution of the deed aforesaid, and that he be found to be identical and the same person with Sheldon grantee in deed aforesaid; that the said defendant Burton L. Conard did obtain a divorce as hereinbefore set forth, and that he is barred of dower in said property thereby and that said Addie Gray Marble Conard was not seized of said property during coverture and that each of the parties first above named be compelled to show their interest in the above described premises, that the same may be adjudged null and void and plaintiff's title quieted against them.

The above named parties are further notified that they have been made party defendants, and that they are required to answer on or before the 17th day of February, 1917, or a judgment as prayed for in said petition will be taken against them.

YOUNG MAN WRITES A FRIEND HOW HE OVERCAME APPETITE FOR DRINK

Dear Bill:

I received your welcome letter after a long period of silence on your part during which I have often wondered what had become of you. To say I was delighted to hear from you would be a glaring example of the incompetence of language to express feeling. But just as I cannot tell you how glad I was to hear from you, neither can I begin to express my sympathy for you in your troubles, which as I read between the lines of your letter, have all come upon you as a direct result of drink—the greatest enemy of mankind. However, "every cloud has a silver lining," and it is just here that I am able to help you to see the silver lining of the particular cloud that hangs over your head at this time. I can do this because of my own experience and the consequent knowledge I have of the very path you are following.

To enable you to better understand the situation I found myself in I shall have to repeat some of the facts you probably know about me in order to show you their relation to other things you do not know.

You will readily remember the crowd of care-free young folks I ran around with during my school years in Cleveland and no doubt you will remember that I was usually a ring leader of the gang whenever there was an especially interesting exploit to pull off. Well it was the same in college, only more so. No congenial young fellow who loves life and good-fellowship ever lived with less intention of losing his grip on his appetite than I had in those days. The fact is though that before I had finished in college I was doing a great deal more drinking than even you ever knew. After leaving college with the task of making good before me I evidently made the wrong start in my eagerness for success for my life then as I view it now was just one drink after another. I thought it was necessary and that I could stop when I was well established with the concern and could be more independent. I thought I had to be a better mixer than my rivals in order to win. Then came the two years in the Chicago position where the business was really given to the man who could put up the best time. Even then I never suspected what a hold drink was getting on me until I tried to break it and failed. Following this position I was promoted to a much better one in the east and as I had been advised by physicians that I must stop drinking, and this position enabled me to dictate to others instead of seeking their favors, I determined the time for the change had come. What a mess I made of it! No one who has not fought that craving knows what it is like. Each time I quit I resisted it as long as I could, and then went back to it, intending to taper off gradually, only to find that I was increasing the quantity instead of decreasing it. Finally I became so desperately annoyed by the constant nagging of that irresistable craving for drink that I determined that I should once more gratify it to the limit and then quit for keeps. How I would perform the quitting operation I did not know, nor did I give that point much thought. I had about decided that it did not matter greatly what became of me anyway, as I had failed to make good in my new position, lost the greater part of my wife's inheritance, and felt that I was a discredit to my family and friends. Did you ever notice how often providence seems to open the way and provide the mens required by a thoroughly determined man to accomplish a seemingly impossible thing? Well that is just what happened in my case.

You may remember that my brother-in-law Frank was employed at the city hospital in Cleveland when Dr. Cooley was director of charities. Frank was very much impressed by the wonderful results obtained in some cases of drink and drug habit at the city hospital by the use of the Swaine remedies, so when he found me in a down town cafe in such a condition that he could not take me home, he at once determined that I should receive this treatment. Upon a pretense of having to see a man about some business he got me to leave the cafe with him and together we walked several blocks around the business section. The fresh air and keen bracing winds cleared my brain rapidly so that when Frank approached the matter he had in mind he did not encounter the opposition he had evidently expected and prepared for. I had just sense enough at the time so that after he had got me to admit that I had tried at least half a dozen times to stop drinking and had always gone back to it again, and he had called my attention to the advice of my physician and to my physical condition—I was really badly run down—and to how I was neglecting my family and the probabiliy of my son following his father's example I think I realized as clearly as he did that I needed help and when he asked me how much money I had left from the fifty dollars I had drawn the day before, and upon strict search I found myself destitute except for seventeen cents and a car-check, I felt as helpless as a babe in the woods. "Well," said Frank, "I'll stake you if you're ready to go," and my reply was that I would go before he changed his mind.

By this time we were again entering the square and as we did so a Euclid car turned into the square from Euclid avenue. We entered the car, and left it at Seventy-ninth street, old Madison Square, and walked about three hundred feet along the west side of Seventy-ninth street, going north, to the second building on that side of the street, which is number 1956, a fine old brick mansion with large, high rooms and roomy porch, the former residence of Dr. Ambler. We were at once shown into a warm, nicely furnished, efficient-looking office, and were greeted pleasantly by a tall, middle aged, kindly faced man, whose appearance and manner at once stamped him a capable, seasoned physician. We had not talked with Dr. Loope many minutes before I was convinced of his sincerity and knew that this man had the confidence in his ability to cure that is born of successful experience; that he understood my condition perfectly and knew his remedies well; and that with a full appreciation of his responsibilities and a complete realization of the possibilities in his work, this man was honest and truthful, and entertained not the slightest doubt of his ability to cure me of my weakness and restore me to all that nature intended me to be—in fact all that I had ever been.

It was arranged for me to stay and I was promptly shown to a large, comfortable, well-furnished room on the second floor, with a communicating clothes closet and lavatory. After I had washed and retired, the doctor made a thorough physical examination and pronounced me a number one risk. He then prescribed for me and the nurse brought me some pills and a brown fluid of slightly bitter taste in a small glass such as I had often used before but never expect to use again. My bed was the most comfortable that I ever slept in, and never can I remember having had such a refreshing night's sleep as I had that night. I awoke about eight o'clock the next morning feeling much better, but rather "shaky," and promptly at my request was given a drink of whiskey. This sort of pulled me together and I ate a very good breakfast, everything considered. Then came my brown medicine again and it kept coming frequently all day. The drink I had taken before breakfast was the last I ever took or wanted. I was not sick a minute of the time, put in about twelve hours out of each twenty-four sleeping the best sleep I ever had, and did not miss a single meal. In fact every meal tasted better than the one before it had and I was soon eating in a way that was truly astonishing. I gained in flesh and strength rapidly. The treatment proved to be both a cleanser and a builder. I never wanted but the one drink after my treatment was started, and at the end of my third day I thought I ought to return to business. I am confident that I was absolutely cured at that time, but Dr. Loope pointed out that my physical condition could be improved and I took his advice and stayed ten days, which not only cured my weakness for drink but gave me the opportunity to rest up and get back into good form. And say, when I returned to business I was in such perfect condition that my friends hardly recognized me, but the best part of it all was I felt even better than I looked.

I cannot give too much credit to Dr. Loope's skillful work with the Swaine remedies which I learned were the formulae of physicians who began their investigation in the autopsy room in a thoroughly scientific manner, and were later tested in jails, hospitals and asylums, and have been further improved by the original work of Dr. Loope, who has been doing this sort of work for years, having tried out and studied every system of repute in this country. I did not receive any hypodermic injections, was not sickened at all, did not miss a meal or an hour's sleep, and had the finest kind of a room all to myself where all my meals were served. There was not one unpleasant feature about the treatment and I really enjoyed my little "vacation" spent there. I never was and never want to be treated more kindly than I was treated there.

The result is perfect. I have never wanted another drink and I don't expect to ever take another. The sight and smell of it are disagreeable to me and I cannot understand how I ever put the stuff inside of me.

Then see what drink did to me. At the time I went to the Swaine Santarium I had failed in a good position, been reduced to a lower one, and was about to lose that. I had lost much of my wife's money, was in a bad way physically and generally discouraged—in fact almost despondent. My friends were as discouraged as I and did not know what to do with me. Since throwing off this handicap I have made good and am again in the position from which I had been removed, and am promised further advancement soon, so pleased is the concern with my work. I guess that's coming back some, isn't it, Bill?

Now I have written you this letter to show you how such obstacles as you are up against can be and have been overcome, and how I overcame mine and how I feel about it at this time. The more time passes, the more pleased I am with the change and the more anxious I am for my friends to receive the same benefit that I received. It is the only thing for you to do. Not only that but it is a wonderful opportunity. It is a real cure, a scientific success, a proven fact. I saw several drug takers cured in the short time I was there, and read statements from many others. A nurse told me he had seen many cures but never saw a failure, and that public competitive tests made in charitable institutions under newspaper auspices, watched by physicians, nurses, ministers, reporters, etc, had always proven it the most successful method of treatment known. It is endorsed by the most eminent scientists and physicians and cannot be other than absolutely right. I want you to get the benefit of this great opportunity and will do anything I can to help you. If it is a question of ready money, call on me, or if there is any other way I can help you into this institution, which is the same as saying help you out of your present unfortunate condition, I want to do it. I know you and you are right. I want to see you your complete self again and I hope to have a hand in your restoration. Don't let anything interfere with your promptly taking advantage of this opportunity. It is a duty you owe to yourself, your family, your business and your friends. Write me soon and tell me that you have decided to do it, and if I can help you tell me how.

A NEW TESTIMONIAL

Mr. W. H. Ziehm, the undertaker of 818 E. 105th street, says: "Our child, myself and my wife were stricken down with a bad cold, cough and grip a few days ago; in fact my wife had to go to bed. We sent over to the drug store for a 50c bottle of Toedtmann's 'Honeypepper.' Three doses helped my wife so much that she got up, and soon completely recovered. Our child and myself were also immediately helped, but we had taken it before and knew the merits of 'Honeypepper.' We are very grateful to this wonderful remedy, Toedtmann's 'Honeypepper.' In the hope that it may help others, I give this testimony unsolicited. W. H. Ziehm."—For sale at all leading druggists. Advt.

TWENTIETH YEAR—NO. 3. WILLOUGHBY, OHIO, FEBRUARY 2,1917. ONE DOLLAR A YEAR IN ADVANCE

RESOLUTION PRESENTED BY THE COUNCIL AND REPLY BY J. EDW. WEIT

J. Edw. Weit, president of the Chamber of Commerce, recently conceived the idea along the line of the surveys that have recently been made in the cities, of a survey of the income and expenses of the year of 1916 of the village of Willoughby, the information to be placed in circular form and distributed to the residents. Learning of the desire, the council adopted and had read at the Chamber of Commerce meeting at the Inn on Tuesday night, the following resolution:

RESOLUTION

"Whereas: Mr. A. H. Van Gorder and others have been the prime movers in having a financial survey of the income from taxation and other sources of the village of Willoughby and the expenses paid and unpaid covering the year of January 1, 1916 to January 1, 1917, made at

WILLOUGHBY TO HEAR SOME REAL "DOWN SOUTH" MELODY

A musical company of colored people will appear in the high school auditorium on the evening of February 6, at 8 o'clock, when the Virginians will sing for Willoughby folks. These people are real musicians and will give to Willoughby people a taste of melody that will make everyone that hears it feel young again.

Their plantation songs, jubilee choruses and descriptive songs will please all. Then the banjo and mandolin music, with piano and cornet, will give all an evening of music that everyone likes.

DR. BELL RETURNING HOME

Dr. Bell of West Spalding street, who has been abroad for some time, and some of whose experiences have been published in the Republican in extracts from his letters to Mrs. Bell, is now on the way home. Word was received that he had sailed some days ago. He will spend some time in Willoughby, being on a furlough of a few weeks' duration.

MRS. JAMES DURBAN OBSERVES 91ST BIRTHDAY

Mrs Charles Richards entertained a few friends on Tuesday afternoon in honor of Mrs. Jane Durban's 91st birthday. She was born in York state and came to Ohio when she was 12 years old. She has lived on the Plains and in Willoughby ever since. She received several nice gifts. Refreshments were served and a very pleasant afternoon spent. Guests were present from Painesville and Mentor.

HARD TIMES SOCIAL

A Hard Times social was given on Tuesday night at the K. of P. hall under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid Society of the Church of Christ. White collars were tabooed. Jewelry of any kind caused a fine of one cent up according to the amount or style worn. Two wires stretched across the room carried grab bags of candy, etc. It was permissable to grab for these, but if caught, a waiting policeman conveyed the culprit to a judge, who promptly imposed a fine. Ashley Lyon made a most efficient judge.

The box lunches brought by the ladies were auctioned off at prices ranging from 35c to $1.00 Corresponding numbers on the boxes enabled the gentlemen buyers to share the lunch with the lady who had brought it. About 75 were in attendance and $21.00 was raised.

K. OF P. CONVENTION

Two special cars from Willoughby conveyed about 100 persons from this section to the K. of P. Convention at Painesville Monday night, January 29th. All of the lodges in Lake county were represented. Six speakers, a five-piece orchestra and a quartette were special features. Mrs. Osterhoudt of Willoughby played the piano, while Messrs. Roneymus, Barber, Osterhoudt, Bernhardt and Lyons were among the singers. Refreshments were served at 10:30.

KIRTLAND HAS OYSTER SUPPER

The annual men's oyster supper was held at the Congregational church in Kirtland last Thursday evening. The men cooked the oyster soup and served it, proving themselves very capable in this work. Music was furnished by the Kirtland orchestra and a very good graphophone. The proceeds of the supper, amounting to $17, goes to pay for the new furnace just installed.

DAUGHTERS' CIRCLE ELECTS OFFICERS

At their annual meeting recently the Daughters' Circle elected Mrs. Arthur Crowther, president; Mrs. Leonard Parks, vice president, Mrs. Horace Parks, treasurer, and Mrs. H. F. Kennedy, secretary. These new officers will assume their duties in June.

LUNCHEON GIVEN

Mrs. Belle Nichols of Center street gave a luncheon Tuesday for her cousin, Mrs. Will Wightman, of Chicago, Mrs. Sharp, Miss May Griffin and Mrs. Nellie Hill of Cleveland.

PERSONAL MENTION

Mrs. Howard Pelton left Wednesday for Florida, where she will spend several weeks with her brother and family.

Miss Doris Hearn is quite ill at her home on Center street.

Mr. and Mrs. Warren Williams of Euclid were down Sunday to see their cousin, A. L. Williams, who has been seriously ill for several days.

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE HOLDS MEETING

A Chamber of Commerce meeting was held at the Willoughby Inn Tuesday night. About 65 guests sat down to dinner, which was served at 6:30. The first matter taken up after the dinner was the electing of a nominating committee to nominate a president and directors for the Chamber of Commerce.

The nominating committee included Rev. McCulloch, F. M. [illegible] and Sam Low. Report is to be made at the next meeting.

A professor from the Western Reserve University spoke on the city manager plan. The resolution from the Grange in regard to the subway was then presented and this was referred to the committee on roads and highways.

The resolution from the council, published in another column, was then presented.

Mr. Geo. Rockafellow presented the matter of securing the farmers' institute for Willoughby for next winter. This would be combined with Maple Grove, Kirtland and the Plains, and would bring several hundred people to Willoughby for the occasion. Mr. William Little of Maple Grove had previously considered the possibility of holding the institute here.

The matter of the new Savings & Loan Co. was gone over and addresses from the promoters listened to. The matter was referred to a committee consisting of Dr. Nelson and Mr. Mosley, to talk with the promoters and report on the advisability of the Chamber approving of the movement as a body.

GRANGE PRESENTS PETITION FOR SUBWAY

The death of Alfred Snow brought prominently to many minds the desirability of a subway under the tracks that such occurrances as brought death to this lad at the opening of his career might be in a measure eliminated. Deplorable accidents may be met with much less regret if all precautions have been taken. At the last meeting of the Grange the members unanimously approved of a petition to the Willoughby Chamber of Commerce urging them to take up the matter with the village of Willoughby and the New York Central Railway, towards the construction of a subway under the tracks at the Erie street crossing. In view of the dangerous character of this crossing the Grange considers this a much needed improvement which should be made before the hill is paved.

LEGAL NOTICE

Daniel Kellog, and the unknown heirs, devisees and personal representatives of Daniel Kellog, deceased; Isaac L. Hewitt, and the unknown heirs, devisees and personal representatives of Isaac L. Hewitt, deceased; H. Zauner, first name unknown, and the unknown heirs, devisees and personal representatives of H. Zauner, first name unknown, deceased; German Insurance Company, a Corporation, and ——— Haas, first name unknown, wife or widow of Richard Haas, otherwise known as Jane Doe, real name unknown, wife or widow of Richard Haas, all of whose places of residence are unknown, and the names of the unknown heirs, devisees and personal representatives being unknown, will take notice that The Cleveland Trust Company, a corporation, as Plaintiff, has filed its petition against them and others in the Court of Common Pleas of Cuyahoga County, Ohio, alleging that it is a corporation, and that it is the owner in fee simple and in actual possession of the following described real estate, to-wit:

Situated in the City of Cleveland, County of Cuyahoga and State of Ohio, and known as being Sub-Lots Nos. 1, 2, 3, 4, 14, 15 and 16 in Spencer Stafford's Subdivision of a part of Original Two Acre Lots Nos. 31 and 32, as shown by the recorded plat of said Subdivision in Volume "Z" of Deeds, Page 721 of Cuyahoga County Records, and bounded and described as follows:

Beginning at the intersection of the Southerly line of Lakeside avenue, N. W. with the Westerly line of West 3rd Street (formerly Seneca Street); thence Westerly along the Southerly line of Lakeside Avenue, N. W., 199 feet 2 inches to its intersection with the Easterly line of West 4th Street (formerly Academy Street); thence Southerly along the Easterly line of West 4th Street, 126 feet 10 1-2 inches to the Northerly line of said Sub Lot No. 5 in said subdivision; thence easterly along the northerly line of said Sublot No. 5, 199 feet 2 inches to the Westerly line of West 3rd Street; thence northerly along the westerly line of West 3rd St., 126 ft. 10 1-2 inches to the place of beginning, as appears by said plat.

The petition alleges that the Defendants, Daniel Kellog, and the unknown heirs, devisees and personal representatives of Daniel Kellog, deceased, claim an estate or interest in said premises adverse to Plaintiff's rights, by virtue of a certain improperly cancelled mortgage, executed by James R. Stafford, then the owner of said premises, in favor of Daniel Kellog, which mortgage is dated November 11, 1839, and is recorded in Volume 27, Page 473 of Cuyahoga County Records; but that Plaintiff believes and alleges that said mortgage has been fully paid and satisfied;

That the defendants, Isaac L. Hewitt, and the unknown heirs, devisees and personal representatives of Isaac L. Hewitt, deceased, claim an estate or interest in said premises adverse to Plaintiff's rights, by virtue of a certain improperly cancelled mortgage executed by Frederick A. Keppler, then the owner of said premises, in favor of Isaac L. Hewitt, which mortgage is dated April 24, 1851, and is recorded in Volume 52, Page 16, of Cuyahoga County Records: but that Plaintiff believes and alleges that said mortgage has been fully paid and satisfied, and also by virtue of an improperly cancelled mortgage, executed by Frederick A. Keppler, then the owner of said premises, in favor of Isaac L. Hewitt, which mortgage is dated June 3, 1851, and is recorded in Volume 52, Page 508 of Cuyahoga County Records: but that plaintiff believes and alleges that said mortgage has been fully paid and satisfied;

That the defendant, German Insurance Company claims an estate or interest in said premises adverse to Plaintiff's rights, by reason of an improperly cancelled mortgage executed by Adam Snider to the said German Insurance Company, which mortgage is dated May 25, 1870, and is recorded in Volume 180, page 40, of Cuyahoga County Records, but that Plaintiff believes and alleges that said mortgage has been fully paid and satisfied.

That the defendants, H. Zauner, first name unknown, and the unknown heirs, devisees and personal representatives of H. Zauner, first name unknown, deceased, claim some estate or interest in said premises adverse to plaintiff's rights by virtue of a certain mortgage executed by Barbara Schneider, then the owner of said premises, in favor of said H. Zauner, dated July 24, 1893, and recorded in Volume 562, page 631 of Cuyahoga County Records, which mortgage was improperly assigned by the said H. Zauner to John Lendy, on July 24, 1893, and which assignment is recorded in Release Volume 11, Page 191, of Cuyahoga County Records, but that Plaintiff believes and alleges that the said mortgage has been fully paid and satisfied;

That the defendant, ——— Haas, first name unknown, wife or widow of Richard Haas, otherwise known as Jane Doe, real name unknown, wife or widow of Richard Haas, claims an estate or interest adverse to Plaintiff's rights, by reason of a certain deed from Richard Haas, then the owner of said premises, to Adam Haas, dated May 16, 1848, and recorded in Volume 44, Page 651 of Cuyahoga County Records, in which deed no wife joins with the Grantor nor is any statement made that the said Grantor was single: but the Plaintiff believes and therefore alleges that the said Richard Haas, at the time of the execution of said deed was unmarried.

The petition further says that none of said defendants has any interest whatever in said premises, and that any interest they or any or all of them may have had has long since been barred by lapse of time and the Statutes of Limitations; that none of said defendants has ever sought to convey or attempted to enforce or assert any interest in and to the said premises, and that as against the said defendants and each and all of them, Plaintiff and its predecessors [illegible] open, notorious, continuous and adverse possession of said premises for more than twenty-one years last preceding the filing of said petition.

The prayer of said petition is that said defendants and each and all of them may be compelled to show their said interest in said premises, if any; that the same may be adjudged to be null and void; that Plaintiff's title be quieted against said defendants, and for relief.

Said petition is No. 154137, and each and all of the above named defendants are required to answer the same on or before the 17th day of March, A. D. 1917, or judgment will be taken in accordance with the prayer of the petition. J25 M1

GETTING UP IN THE WORLD

By Edgar A. Guest, in Detroit Free-Press.

Getting up in the world is a task for the strong,
It's a battle with pleasure and sometimes with wrong,
It's a job that needs courage and patience and grit
And cheerful good nature and huomr and wit.
And joy in the toil you are called on to do
And always it calls for the best that's in you.

Getting up in the world is a jouse with despair
A struggle with fate and a wrestle with care
It isn't a matter of fortune or luck,
But a product of brains and hard labor and pluck,
It's the answer to doing the best that you can,
And the joyful reward of just being a man.

"LETTERS OF RICHARD WATSON GILDER"—EDITED BY HIS DAUGHTER, ROSAMOND GILDER

It was as editor, first of Scribner's Magazine, as successor to Dr. J. G. Halland, then as the editor of the Century, a position he occupied until his death in 1909, and through which he became, probably, most widely known. In virtue of his editorial position, and through his travels in Europe he came in touch with a large circle of men and women of affairs, particularly those associated with art and literature. To his modest home on East Fifteenth street, all having an intellectual passport found their way. In addition to his literary work—for a number of years he contributed an annual volume of verse, in addition to his labor as editor—he rendered important service in securing the international copyright law and in the matter of civil service reform, and was largely instrumental in founding the Society of American Artists of which he was the first secretary.

Mr. Gilder's home life was rich with happiness; his wife was an artist of ability and shared his artistic and intellectual appreciations. His articles on Lincoln and Cleveland pleased him in their generous acceptance by the public and in the discovery that he could express himself in prose as well as in verse.

Miss Gilder has made liberal use of his letters and other papers, connecting them with the necessary commentary that ensures continuity. We have thus a vision of a lovable character, and a man deeply interested in and appreciative of America's literary and intellectual progress. The volume, liberally illustrated, is a worth while contribution to biographical records. ((Boston: Houghton Mifflin Co.)

POLICE WISDOM

The call of the police commissioner to the men of his department for "snappy paragraphs" suggesting methods for avoiding street accidents should be hugely suggestive productive, says the New York Sun. Every person, the magazine editors aver, has one story. If a story, why not also an epigram, an aphorism, or, more practical, an apothegm? There are 10,000 policemen, so why not 10,000 zippy maxims for the people to read and remember?

A short street is soon crossed; don't walk diagonally.

Quit looking at the stars until you get on the sidewalk.

Keeping to the right drives the doctor away.

Don't stare at the pavement unless the city pays you for it.

Every cobblestone is not an aisle of safety.

Fools rush in where traffic cops fear to tread.

Knowing that the driver was to blame will not dry a widow's tears.

The field of sage advice for the motorist is even broader.

Make yourself believe that you are the president of humanity.

One foot on clutch and one on brake keep the people from woe and wake.

An inch saves a pinch. Don't dream; drive.

One hand on the wheel is necessary for appearances.

CHILI CON CARNE

1 lb. ground meat, 5 onions, chopped fine, butter size of an egg, 1-4 cup water, simmer 15 minutes. Add 1 can kidney beans, 1 pint tomatoes, a little sugar to sweeten tomatoes. Season well with cayenne pepper and salt to taste.

RESPONSIBILITY

"Responsibility" always sounds like rather a drab and dreary word, but first appearances are often deceptive. Gaining a sense of responsibility of a certain type is the grammar grade of the art of living. Life for the most surrounded and immersed of us can be full of color, of zest, of things happening, of situations of exciting crises if only we develop and get into proper harness our sense of responsibility. The whole world lies just outside our door, waiting for us to grow up to it and needing and wanting us just as much as we are needing and wanting its breathing spaces.

Perhaps you have thought that you belonged only to your family and your home and to your neighborhood circle, and that your husband belonged to his home and his business and his club or his lodge; and your mayor belonged to all these and in addition to his town, and so on up to President Wilson, who belonged to all these and more, and finally to the nation. Well it isn't so!

You belong to all the things that President Wilson does and in just as full measure as he, only you have different duties. And, in full accord with this, Life, brimming over with things that count, is just around the corner waiting for you to mount your sense of responsibility and ride around there after it. You have around you a community, a town, a county, a state, a nation, and any number of individual humans, hungry for all the graces of life; and it is only a question of realizing your responsibility for helping to vitalize them by giving your last atom of wisdom, or sanity, or time, or laughter, when Life will be in your arms and the vistas, all the rich vistas that are familiar to the kings of the earth, will be opened up to you.—McCalls.

The recipes that appear upon this page are generally contributed by our good cook friends, and many of our readers are saving them all, reporting them excellent.

A Two-Piece Skirt Easy To Make

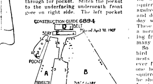
Suitable to development in gabardine, serge, velvet or broadcloth is this two-piece skirt trimmed with buttons of self material. It is gathered at the back and closes at the left side.

One need not have the slightest doubt about this skirt, for it is exceedingly easy to make. It is one of the newest two-piece models and has inserted pockets. The skirt is gathered at the top in back and closes at the left side seam. Buttons of self-material may be used to trim it, though one is allowed wide limit in this matter. In medium size the skirt requires [illegible] material. It looks well in gabardine, serge, velvet or cloth.

One can never [illegible] times the [illegible] the [illegible] construction guide before attempting to make a design. With the directions clearly in mind, start first to arrange the pocket on the back gore, notches even. Stitch to position along the notched edge and underface the expansion on the front gore about 3½ inches deep. Contrasting material may be used for the purpose if desired.

Next join the gores as notched from extensions to lower edge. Finish the edges above the extension on left side for closing, then lap the front gore on the back to small "o" perforations above seam. Sew pocket to front gore on right side, notches even. Stitch to position leaving back edge of extension free to slip the hand through for pocket. Stitch the pocket to the underfacing underneath front gore on right side. The left pocket may be omitted.



Gather upper edge of back gore between double "TT" perforations and 2 inches below. Adjust stay to position underneath upper edge of skirt; stitch upper edges together, regulating gathers, and close at left side opening.

Adjust the belt to position on skirt, center-backs, and upper edges even; tack front end to position. Small "o" perforation indicates upper edge of belt.

The skirt falls to the ankles in accordance with the new modes which add about three inches to the previous length of skirts.

[illegible] Sizes, 22 to 36 inches waist. Price, 15 cents.

FANCIES OF LITERARY MEN

The Philadelphia Inquirer has made the interesting discovery that:

Dickens was fond of wearing jewelry.

Keats liked red pepper on his toast.

Joaquin Miller nailed all his chairs to the wall.

Edgar Allen Poe slept with his cat and was inordinately proud of his feet.

Longfellow enjoyed walking only at sunrise or sunset, as he said his sublimest moods came upon him at these times.

Daudet wore his glasses when asleep.

Alexander Dumas, the younger, bought a new painting every time he had a new book published.

Robert Louis Stevenson's favorite recreation was playing the flute, in order, as he said, to tune up his ideas.

Hawthorne always washed his hands before reading a letter from his wife. He delighted in poring over old advertisements in the newspaper files.

Oliver Wendell Holmes used to carry a horse chestnut in one pocket and a potato in another to ward off rheumatism.

CARAMELS

2 cupfuls sugar, 3-4 cupful glucose (corn syrup) 1-3 cupful butter, 2 cupfuls cream, 1 teaspoonful vanilla.

Put the sugar, glucose, butter and cream into a saucepan and heat slowly, stirring constantly, until the mass boils. Put the sugar thermometer in; let the mixture boil, stirring often, until the thermometer registers 252 degrees Farenheit (a firm ball when tested in cold water). Remove from the fire, stir in the vanilla; turn into a well-buttered pan, (5x9 inches) or two pans each 4x6 inches or on a well oiled marble between steel bars, to make a sheet three-fourths of an inch thick. When cold cut into cubes. Wrap in waxed paper and keep in a cool place. In summer the caramels will hold their shape better if boiled from two to four degrees higher. Yield of recipe, two pounds; cost per pound 27 cents.

DARE TO LIVE UP TO YOUR BELIEFS

Don't be a Parrot or a Cipher; Insist on Being True to Principle. By Madison C. Peters, D. D.

Add to your faith virtue (individuality, grit, manliness). I Peter 5:7.

Don't be a phonograph, speaking out just as is spoken in.

Don't be a carbon copy of others, but a bold print original of yourself.

Don't be a parrot—be a prophet.

Don't be a human brick, baked into comfortable conformity with every coward in your community.

Dare to vote with the minority. Don't run with the crowd.

Don't be a clam; better be a mud turtle and have some snap to you.

Dare to be yourself—to think your own thoughts and speak out the thing that is in you.

Better advance, though at the risk of making a mistake, than remain always where and what you are.

The world's great need today is more individuality. Few make the most of themselves and live for the purpose for which they were created. Of the hundreds of thousands of noble men and women who come out of our schools and colleges every year, few make their lives worth while.

Refuse to be a cipher. Resolve to give your life a meaning. John Stuart Mills' complaint made about England a generation or so ago, holds true in America today. No period of our history has been so little marked by individuality or originality and force as our own.

The statesman is suffering in the straight jacket of partisan conventionality; the preacher is wearing the uniform of medieval opinion; the man in the crowd is keeping step with the line and marching comfortably along the paved path of popular prejudice.

Live out your honest convictions. Dare to be out of fashion with the political and social opinions of your set.

God means something by you. Yours may not be the highest, but there is some high niche you may fill.

You shall die as an individual, you shall be judged as an individual, therefore determine to live as an individual, so shall you take your place with the illustrious of all times who have lived to bless the world.—Detroit Free-Press.

If you have ever been a postcard collector you will have plenty of material for this game. Pick out 20 famous buildings, monuments or copies of paintings, cut off the name which is generally to be found at the bottom of the card, and hang up the pictures in a row after you have numbered them.

The guests are asked to write the names of the buildings beside the one guessing most may be given a finely engraved card, framed.

"The Optimist"

in the North American, Talks on Worry

Yes, we've heard much on the subject of worry—its uselessness and general worthlessness and we've joined the "Don't Worry" club and read chapter after chapter on the subject and kept on worrying, and now, after all these years, comes a voice from Washington dealing with the subject and when we investigate we find it's Uncle Sam's.

The lean, lank old fellow with the striped trousers and fuzzy [illegible] is talking. Thru the department he has created to look after the health of his 100,000,000 children he is dwelling on this subject of WORRY with which so many minor voices have been concerned these many years.

The words are impressive and the seal of authority which attends their utterance makes them more so. But perhaps you'd like to form your own estimate. So, I will quote, in part, from a recent bulletin issued by the United States Public Health Service which says:

> The birds build nests for the protection of their young against the weather, the foxes dig holes for security against foes; the squirrels lay by stores of nuts against the coming of winter, and dogs bury bones against the day when bones will be scarce. These are the manifestations of a normal protective instinct arising from an experience of many, many generations.
> So far as is known, tho, no bird ever tried to build more nests than his neighbor; no fox ever fretted because he only had one hole in which to hide; no squirrel ever died of anxiety lest he should not lay by enough nuts for two winters instead of one, and no dog ever lost any sleep over the fact that he didn't have enough bones laid aside to provide for his declining years.

The normal protective instinct is stimulated by a normal fear of those events which are reasonably sure to happen in the future unless means are adopted against them. The moment that this fear becomes abnormal or exaggerated it overstimulates this protective instinct, and to no good purpose because it results in worry. This worry continues long after the necessity for the normal stimulus of fear has passed, with the result that there is an impairment in mental power and a dissipation of the nervous forces. In other words the mental engine has been "running idle," and at the same time delivering no propulsive power. In fact, worry is an abnormal state.

Not all worry is preventable, but for the most part it can be avoided. Most of our fears are never realized, and, as a rule, if we meet our troubles day by day as they come without worrying about them before they arrive or fretting over them after they have passed, we will find that we have the strength to rise above them. Worry undermines the health to a certain extent. It really weakens the mental forces by tiring them out by doing nothing. Usually the relief from worry rests with the victim of this unhappy habit himself.

All this has been said before, and quite as well. But just as Uncle Sam's signature to a bond makes the promise to pay bring a higher price than the signature of anyone else, however able to make good, so to many persons, his sponsorship of such a statement carries unparalleled weight.

And what a blessed day it would be for this nation and all nations and the whole future of the race if this presentation of the case—this millionth unmasking of worry as a foe we can overcome—might result in a general lessening of the destructive and costly habit.

This is a matter which begins at home. We may say all we choose about the elimination of worry, but until YOU and I begin to eliminate some of our own, our talk will be about as effective as was Brother Ford's peace party!

Take Uncle Sam's advice to heart, and GET BUSY NOW!

Hurry worry off! From The Philadelphia North American by Leigh Mitchell Hodges.

WHEN CLOTHES MADE THE MAN

The postman rang and left two letters for Donald's father and one for himself. He tore open the envelope, only to discover an advertisement.

Every day Donald had looked for an invitation to attend the Girls' High School masquerade dance, but in vain. Just why he should expect an invitation, Donald did not himself [illegible] found on their cards. The [illegible] know, for he was a new arrival in Ambrose and, as he termed it, "not in the swim."

It was now the night of the dance, and Donald gloomily refused to go out with the family.

"I'll arrange those books instead," he said, and after everybody was gone he wandered into the cellar and pried off the top of a big packing box. The first thing he brought to light was the Pierrot suit he had worn at the last masquerade dance in his home town. How lonesome it made him feel!

Then Donald had an inspiration. With him, to think was to act. Several minutes later a masked figure stole out the back gate, and through an alley to another street. Then it hurried along the straight road to the high school.

"They won't know where I came from, anyway," it said to itself.

At the top of the stairs leading down to the gymnasium where the dance was held, Donald paused, and as it was late, and everybody seemed to be gathered below, he removed his mask, the better to view the scene. He had a moment of indecision, then said to himself. "I might as well."

When he descended the stairs, Donald found himself in a welcoming crowd. "Here's Ted Lawson," cried one.

"What kept you, Ted?" shouted another. "We've been holding up the party for you."

"Why don't you get a new suit? We've seen that one at every party," spoke up a little girl.

It flashed across Donald's mind that they thought he was the football hero and favorite of the town. Ted Lawson was always the life of the party, and Donald resolved to play his part until he arrived, when he, the poor imitation, might slip out. Donald dared not trust his voice, so he began to talk in deaf and dumb language. The shouts of laughter greeting his first remark told him that the boys and girls considered this a new joke of Ted's and that they understood what he was saying.

"Keep it up, Ted," shouted one. "We've all had practice at that in school."

The dance went merrily on until, just before the intermission, a shrill scream rang out. A girl had knocked over one of the candles on the mantel, and her sheer frock was a sheet of flame.

It seemed only a second later than the scream that Donald was at her side, beating the fire with his hands. In the confusion which followed and everybody's general desire to be assured that the girl was scarcely burned, Donald slipped away. It was not for several minutes that he was missed.

"Where's Ted?" everybody then demanded.

"That wasn't Ted," said Molly, Ted's sister. "Ted is at home, sick."

"Well, who was that in his suit?" asked one of the mystified group.

"That was the new boy you would not let me invite to the dance, and that suit must be his own suit. When he came in he took off his mask at the top of the stairs, and I saw who he was, but I thought if he had nerve enough to come without an invitation I would not give him away."

"You're right, Molly," said a boy. "He has more spunk than we have. He was the first to come to the rescue tonight. I move that we all go to his home and give him a rousing cheer."

The motion was seconded and an unanimous party walked up the garden path of Donald's home and paused at the porch steps just as the hero's head touched the pillow. He sprang up and thrust his head out of the window to thank the merry party for their welcome praise, and to assure them that his hands were only slightly burned.

It was never again necessary for Donald to attend a dance without an invitation. Often he thanked Ted for his absence that eventful night, Molly for her championship and, above all, his Pierrot suit for its happy disguise.—Detroit Free-Press.

WHAT A SMILE CAN DO

By Mary E. Walter

There was nothing at all striking about the appearance of the $9-a-week stenographer as she left her home that morning. Her costume was plain and neat. A passerby wouldn't have "given her a second look." At the corner of the street the stenographer met Mrs. Peyton whom she knew casually. Mrs. Peyton has wrinkles of worry on her brow because she had just had a misunderstanding with a friend. The stenographer greeted Mrs. Peyton with a bow, a smile, "Good morning," and went on.

So did Mrs. Peyton go on, but as she went the worry wrinkles began to smooth out of her forehead and a smile to play about her mouth, because in the bow and smile and "Good morning," of the stenographer she had caught something that expressed just the simplest kind of good feeling, a feeling that all people were brothers and sisters and to be treated as humans, as persons, not as erring mortals to be condemned and criticised. It is the feeling that is sometimes called Love and spelt with a capital. It was the feeling that dwelt unaffectedly in the heart of the simply-dressed $9-a-week stenographer. As Mrs. Peyton went on, reflecting in her face what she had caught from the greeting of the girl she thought, "Why have misunderstandings when the world is so kind?" She went straight back to the friend with whom she had quarreled and made peace.

The stenographer entered the elevator of her office building. "Bill," the elevator man, was "grouchy" because the superintendent had been "grouchy" and threatened to "fire" him. The stenographer smiled at Bill and said "Good morning" in a tone that meant to Bill, "You are a human and not just a grouchy convenience to life me to my work." Bill began to hum. He was humming and cheerful next time he saw the superintendent, and somehow the superintendent dropped his grouch, too, and said no more about firing.

In the office where the stenographer worked the "boss" was on a "rampage." Smith had seemed to blunder. "Smith goes!" exclaimed the boss, grabbing the 'phone and calling for Smith. The stenographer entered his office at that moment in answer to his previous ring. She smiled and bowed and said "Good morning" to the big, important man, and her smile, unaffected and ingenious, said the same to him it had said to Mrs. Peyton and Bill it said, "You are a person, a human, to be respected and treated as such, not as the exacting, tyrannical head of an organization." Smith came in trembling. But strangely the manner of the "boss" had softened, he calmly asked Smith for an explanation and gave the poor fellow a chance to vindicate an action he had considered for the best.

Not knowing just why he felt happier for the message he had read in the stenographer's frank smile, the "boss" carried home that evening a box of candy to his wife and gave it with a kind little speech that brought gladness to her face where sometimes was a droop of unhappiness at being taken as a matter of course.

So in one day Mrs. Peyton and her friend, Bill and the superintendent, Smith, the "boss" and his wife meet what made the day happier and brighter because a plainly dressed, $9-a-week stenographer had done her Christian duty not in great deeds or wonderful charities, but in a smile and word from a heart full of genuine loving kindness that recognized the good and refused to recognize the bad in every human being.—Boston Globe.

NEWS FROM WAITE HILL

Mr. E. W. Moore has been purchasing more real estate recently we note by the Willoughby Republican: namely two farms in Kirtland, one in Mentor and one in Willoughby. We might be able to tell where another one could be purchased; but only a fancy price will get it. Said farm is the very best of land and is in a very sightly location, with an abundance of the very best of water, as there are several never-failing springs on the place, plenty of shade, some fruit and timber, just the place for a pretty villa. All that would be needed would be plenty of "dough."

Mrs. Emma Dean is in quite poor health and is under the doctor's care.

Miss Sylvia Lilley was home from the Andrews school two days the past week.

The Hobart family have all been having a siege of grip.

Luther Givens went to Hudson on Monday, a week ago, with a carload of cattle from Mentor and was away three days.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Lilley were guests on Thursday of last week of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Freshley, where they spent the day.

* * *

Mrs. D. M. Sanborn has been on the sick list for several days past, but is now on the gain.

* * *

J. Lilley took a load of people from Francis Corners to Mayfield Tuesday evening and were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Miner. A party from Wilson Mills were there also.

Miss Katie Hill of the Andrews school was at home from Friday p. m. until Sunday.

Saturday a week ago the nurse at the Treadway place came down from the city and brought a party of youngsters with her to the farm and remained until Sunday evening, and it being sleighing while they were here they had several bob rides which they enjoyed to the fullest extent.

Arthur Hoose and family were the guests of his father, W. L. Hoose, on Sunday.

The Parkhurst family from the city were out to their farm Sunday. Also Mr. John Sherwin was out to his place. It being such nice motoring most everybody was making good use of their cars.

The old John Storm place, near the Chester line, has been sold to a family from the Plains by the name of Berge, who have already taken possession.

The Kirtland-Chester spelling contest resulted in a tie and lots had to be drawn, Chester drawing first and Kirtland second.

The next W. C. T. U. will be held with Mrs. Walter Baldwin in February and a picnic dinner will be served and an interesting meeting is expected.

Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Crary left last week for Florida, where they intend to spend the remainder of the winter.

Miss Cummings is back to her school again after being out for a week from sickness.

* * *

Mr. E. T. Sanborn has a new phonograph which gives them some fine music, which they all enjoy.

* * *

Mrs. Luther Givens and little son Leman were guests of her mother and sister, Mrs. Emma and Miss Hattie Dean, of Willoughby, three days the past week.

Dr. Kingsley was making professional calls on Waite Hill last week.

Floyd Lilley came home Sunday, bringing Mrs. D. Waite and two children home with him to spend the day.

* * *

Mrs. Zimmerman (nee Vera Webster,) has returned to her home in Philadelphia after spending a few weeks with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Webster.

RESOLUTION PRESENTED BY THE COUNCIL

the expense of the Chamber of Commerce and private citizens:

Therefore, be it resolved that the Village Clerk be instructed to ask the State Auditor to make a complete examination or audit of the books of the village of Willoughby and furnish the information wanted without further expense to the taxpayers and that a copy of his report be mailed to the president of the Chamber of Commerce of the village."

To this resolution the Republican is in receipt of the following reply from Mr. Weit:

January 30, 1917.

Editor Republican:

The village council adopted a resolution as printed in another column that does Mr. Van Gorder an injustice and reflects on the writer as being a tool of a faction. I wish to take this opportunity of denying that Mr. Van Gorder had any influence with the writer or the directors of the Chamber of Commerce in reference to the action taken.

The survey is an idea of mine alone, endorsed by the Chamber, and is not a suggestion of any other person or faction.

We have nothing to criticize, believing in the administration and its results, but such a survey will put in better shape for the citizens, a statement of its assets and liabilities complete, not merely receipts and expenditures, which is the usual statement audited by the state department.

Very sincerely,

father's home. One daughter, Cora E., was born of the union. They later purchased another 100 acre farm on the Chardon road, where the family resided for some years. Mr. Clark was the first agent of the Nickel Plate Railroad in Mentor. In 1901 the family moved to Willoughby, where they have since resided.

Mrs. Clark died in 1905. Mr. Clark's father and mother were born on the Isle of Man. A peculiar coincidence in connection with the family is that the children have all died between the ages of 75 and 77, and in the rotation of their birth, and Mr. Clark's father also died at the age of 76. Adam Clark had lived the longest of his brothers and sisters.

Since the death of Mrs. Clark the father and daughter have lived together in devoted companionship. Numbers of close friends mourn with the daughter, her loss. Many friends from Cleveland were in the habit of dropping in to see Mr. Clark, if only just to exchange greetings and goodbye. Now all may only feel that "There is no death; it is but a turn in the road which hides our further course from view."

Half a Dozen Reasons Why

Your house should be wired for Electric Light:

It is convenient. It is safe. It is healthful.
It is labor saving. It is clean. It is economical.

ELECTRIC LIGHT IS SO EASY TO GET

You have ten months to pay for both the wiring and electric fixtures. Besides, if you are using some other form of light, and our distributing lines pass your house, and if you have the wiring done according to our standard specifications, approved in advance by us, we will credit you to the extent of 15 per cent of the schedule wiring cost, not to exceed $15, and you will get this in FREE LIGHT. This means several months' light without charge.

Banish the Smoke Evil

Smoke is one of the worst of Cleveland's evils. Everybody shares the damage it causes, for smoke is injurious to all that it touches—human beings, trees, gardens, store stocks, buildings, everything. The chief sufferers in a money way, of course, are building owners and renters and merchants. Building owners and renters must pay for sand-blasts and scrubbing that would not be necessary if there were no smoke. Merchants not only pay toll in this respect, but suffer great losses through damage to their stocks by soot and smoke.—Editorial in Cleveland Press.

And yet think how much smoke has been already eliminated from Cleveland.

Its unhealthy, devastating dirt has been enormously reduced—safely, quickly and economically.

Gas Service has done it.

Last year Gas Service displaced approximately 2,500,000 tons of coal.

Tons and tons of black, health-destroying smoke were eliminated.

Cleveland was saved the handling about 250,000 tons of ashes.

It is estimated that it costs 60 cents to dispose of one ton of ashes—and that does not include the wear and tear on pavements, street cleaning, smoke inspection and property depreciation.

Just an instance of the all-around economy of gas.

TIPS FOR PLAY-GOERS

B. F. KEITH'S HIPPODROME.

Next week's patrons will be entertained with an acquatic innovation that will turn the big stage into a good-sized lake. "Maidens of the Deep" will be the offering along with Julius Tannen, Marion Weeks and many others.

OPERA HOUSE

An attraction which has been looked forward to with the keenest interest is "The House of Glass," which Cohan and Harris will present at the Opera House next week. The play comes with the same cast to the last members which appeared in New York throughout all of last season, and is headed by Mary Ryan, whose work in the play has won for her new laurels to add to the wreaths she wore because of the artistry she has previously displayed.

The company which Cohan and Harris present in support of Miss Ryan includes Ada Gilman, Thomas Findlay, Frank M. Thomas, Frederick Burt, Harry C. Browne, William Walcott, Florence Walcott, Mary Gildea, Frank Young, John Fenton, E. J. McGuire and Sahay Asakura.

The engagement includes a special priced matinee on Wednesday, in addition to the regular Saturday one.

COLONIAL THEATRE

"The Passing Show of 1916," which has been crowding the Colonial to the doors the past week, remains over for another week at that playhouse, beginning Monday evening. From beginning to end there is not one dragging moment in the big Winter Garden production, which has scored one of the biggest hits accredited to any musical comedy that has appeared in Cleveland in years. The chorus is the best looking that has visited Cleveland this season. The costumes are marvels of human ingenuity, in producing effects bordering on the costumeless.

MILES THEATER

The Miles will offer Sophie Tucker as one of the headline acts. The Al. Golem Troupe, which was a feature of the Miles a month ago, will again be the headline attraction. The remainder of the bill will include June and Irene Melba, Marion Munson, Chester Gruber with his trained pigs, Wilmer Walters and company, Campbell and Meeker, aerial artists, and two other acts. The bill will be started with the serial picture, "Patria," and will be concluded with the same serial, the second episode of which is now being shown.

PROSPECT THEATER

Commencing Monday and continuing throughout the week with the usual matinees Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday, at the Prospect, the 1917 edition of the merry musical comedy, "Busy Izzy" will be presented with George Sidney and an exceptionally large cast including the charming comedienne, Miss Carrie Webber.

"Busy Izzy" has undoubtedly taken a firm hold upon the affections of the amusement seeker, for the reason of its many side claims of superiority of construction. With a well developed plot to guide the action of its manifold merriment, it is reputed to possess such novelty of scenes and incidents as would naturally enhance the value of its character as an entertainment novel in the extreme. Evidently those who have the financial interests of "Busy Izzy" at heart have not overlooked the necessity for providing such a pretty girl contingent of players and singers as may be relied upon for all manner of entertainment ideas, and especially that class of girls who add to their personal charms by being able to gown themselves with startling distinction.

ALHAMBRA AND MALL

Olga Petrova, one of the most versatile of all the movie stars, will be seen in her newest picture "Bridges Burned," at the Alhambra and New Mall theatres for a four day engagement starting Sunday. This production, made by Metro, combines the rarest character acting with straight roles. Many scenes are laid in Ireland. The sixth chapter of "The Great Secret" is also on this program. The last three days of next week the Alhambra management announces a return engagement of Ethel Barrymore in "The White Raven," the picture which was shown a few weeks ago to capacity audiences. So many telephone calls and letters have been received from persons who did not get the opportunity to see "The White Raven," that a return booking was made for the Alhambra only.

The attraction at the Mall theatre for the last three days of next week will be "Trilby," starring Clara Kimball Young. "Trilby" was acclaimed by those who saw it when originally presented in Cleveland to be Miss Kimball's greatest triumph. The cast contains two other famous actors, Wilton Lackaye and Chester Barnett.

DUCHESS THEATRE

Laredo, Texas, for months the home of thousands of Cleveland National Guardsmen, will be transplanted to the Duchess Theatre next week when Vaughan Glaser, Miss Fay Courteney and the supporting cast present "On the Rio Grande," a military love play written by Augustus Thomas and which will be seen for the first time in Cleveland on the Duchess stage.

As the curtain goes up on the first act the audience will find a Mexican swimming the Rio Grande from the Mexican to the United States' side. He is accosted by an American officer, who orders the Mexican to "stay on his own side." In a row which follows the American officer is stabbed by the Mexican and, as his life is ebbing away, he obtains from his daughter a promise to marry his chum a man much older than the girl. To please her dying father she consents, although she is deeply in love with a younger officer.

It is the love for this young officer that furnishes the intrigue and leads to the suicide of the officer.

In the leading roles Mr. Glaser and Miss Courteney are particularly strong.

STAR THEATER

At the Star "The Sporting Widows" will make their first appearance in this city this season. The entire program is new and the music original and catchy. Harry Cooper, Leo Hayes, Ruth Lockwood, the Morette Sisters, who do a dainty specialty; Abe Leavitt, William Grieves and Andy Ferguson are in the cast of principals.

EMPIRE THEATER

At the Empire is one of the old favorites with a new production, and an all-star cast of comedy entertainers. The title of the show, the "Gaiety Girls," ever popular with the local theatre goers, features Pat White, the whirlwind Irish comedian, supported by Anna Grant, Purdig and Wilder, Elliott and West, Daisy Mayhar, Gene Tray and others.

STANDARD THEATER

Gladys Brockwell, known as the girl of a thousand expressions, takes the part of Mary Livingston in "One Touch of Sin." Mary is a woman with a problem. Starting life as an innocent eastern girl, she is betrayed by the man she loves and is left alone with her child to fight out the question of life by herself.

LEGAL NOTICE

Catherine Burkenstock, John Doe, real name unknown, the unknown husband or widower of Catherine Burkenstock; the unknown heirs, and devisees of Catherine Burkenstock, deceased; Hannah Englehart, the unknown heirs and devisees of Hannah Englehart, deceased; Joel Englehart, husband or widower of Hannah Englehart; ——— Burkenstock, first and real name unknown, the unknown wife or widow of Jacob Burkenstock, her heirs and devisees, all of whose places of residence are unknown, and the names of the unknown heirs and devisees of Catherine Burkenstock, deceased, and Hannah Englehart, deceased, being unknown, the real name of the unknown husband of Catherine Burkenstock being unknown and the first and real name of the unknown wife or widow of Jacob Burkenstock being unknown, will each take notice that Edward Esper, as plaintiff, has filed a petition against them in the Court of Common Pleas of Cuyahoga County, Ohio, claiming that he is the owner in fee simple and is in actual possession of the following described real estate, to-wit:

"Situated in the Town[illegible] of [illegible] County of Cuyahoga and State of Ohio, and known as being a part of original lot numbers 11 and 12 in the Ely Tract, and bounded as follows: On the North by the land conveyed to [illegible] Roda, by deed dated October 11, 1891, and recorded in Volume 469, page [illegible] of Cuyahoga County Records, and to George [illegible] by deed dated October 13, 1886, and recorded in Volume 452, page 570 of Cuyahoga County Records; on the East by the Easterly line of said original lot number 12 in said Ely tract; on the South by the lands conveyed to Edward Esper, by deed dated November 3, 1899, and recorded in volume 735, page 343 of Cuyahoga County Records, and on the West by the center line of the State Road in said original lot number eleven in said Ely tract, and containing 20 acres of land in said original lot number 12, and 4 84-100 acres of land in said original lot number 11, be the same more or less, but subject to all legal highways."

The petition alleges that the defendants, Catherine Burkenstock; the unknown heirs and devisees of Catherine Burkenstock, deceased; John Doe, real name unknown, the unknown husband or widower of Catherine Burkenstock; Hannah Englehart, the unknown heirs and devisees of Hannah Englehart, deceased; and Joel Englehart, husband or widower of Hannah Englehart, have or claim to have some interest or estate in said premises, hostile and adverse to plaintiff's right, for the reason that in the year of 1852 the said Catherine Burkenstock was one of the heirs of Johannes Burkenstock, in life, the owner of said premises, and the Records of Cuyahoga County, O., do not disclose any conveyance from her of her said interest. But the petition alleges that on or about the sixth day of September, 1852, a certain Catherine Backenstock conveyed by warranty deed, recorded in Volume 58, page 241 of Cuyahoga County Records, an undivided one-fifth interest in said premises to the said Hannah Englehart, and that the records of Cuyahoga County, Ohio, do not disclose any conveyance from the said Hannah Englehart.

The petition alleges that the defendant, ——— Burkenstock, first and real name unknown, the unknown wife or widow of Jacob Burkenstock, claims some estate or interest in said premises, hostile and adverse to plaintiff's rights, for the reason that in a deed from Jacob Burkenstock to Henry Burkenstock, dated June twenty-third, 1866, and recorded in volume 113, page 69 of Cuyahoga County Records, no wife joins, nor is any statement made that the grantor is single. But plaintiff believes and therefore alleges the fact to be that the said Jacob Burkenstock was at the time of the execution of said deed, a single man.

The petition alleges that none of said defendants nor any one of them, have any interest whatsoever in said premises, as any claim they make or may make, has long since been barred by lapse of time and the statute of limitations, though the alleged claims they make constitute clouds on plaintiff's title.

The petition further alleges that none of said defendants nor any one of them has ever sought to enforce or attempted to recover any estate or interest in said premises since the date of the above mentioned deeds; and that as against each and all of said defendants this plaintiff and his predecessors in title have had and held actual, open, notorious, continuous and adverse possession of said premises for more than twenty-one (21) years last past.

The petition alleges that the plaintiff acquired his title to said premises through one Philip Henninger, administrator of the estate of Henry Burkenstock, deceased, by deed recorded in Cuyahoga County Records, Volume 1254, page 256. That on June twenty-third, 1866, the said Henry Burkenstock, a son of John Burkenstock, whose estate was administered by the aforesaid Philip Henninger, acquired the interest of his brother, Jacob Burkenstock, by deed recorded in Volume 143, page 69, of Cuyahoga County Records, and that of his sister, Mary Claus, (nee Susan Ann Burkenstock) by deed recorded in Volume 1313, page 83, of Cuyahoga County Records.

The prayer of said petition is that each and all of said defendants may be compelled to answer, setting up what, if any, interest they have or claim to have in said premises or be forever barred from asserting the same and that the plaintiff may be decreed to be the owner in fee of the above described premises; that the claims of the defendants be declared null and void, that plaintiff's title in said premises be quieted against all of said defendants and each one of them and for relief.

Said petition is No. 151197, and each and all of said defendants are required to answer said petition on or before the 24th day of March, A. D. 1917, or judgment will be taken as prayed for in said petition.

THE DRIVER'S PILLORY

To the Editor:

It is a common sight to us all to see horses standing for a long time, unblanketed, in the cold.

When a horse stands only a few minutes, for delivery, collecting, loading or unloading, it is of course, all right not to blanket.

But when a horse stands over one-half hour it seems to me it should be blanketed, especially if it is sweaty when it is stopped.

When you call up the owners of teams, they will tell you: "Yes, you are right, but what can we do? If we tell the men to blanket their horses, they will tell us to go to the dickens."

For such drivers we would have the following law: The driver to be tied to the post where the team was, with his coat off, the length of time the team stood there, so the public could have an opportunity to look at him.

YOU CANT AFFORD IT

It's not the money you pass over the bar or into the hands of the waiter that you can't afford—altho that money might be much better spent in other ways. It's the fact that you can't afford to let drink weaken your physical ability, to slow up your brain, fog your reasoning power or make you irresolute in deciding things. You need every bit of your natural ability in these days of keen competition. You can't afford to let drink rob you as it robs every man who drinks.

The Neal Treatment eliminates the poison of alcohol, the cause of the "craving" for drink, in three short days. It gives a man a real chance to make good. You'll be surprised to find how easily the Neal Treatment will make you loathe the very sight or odor of alcohol. Come in and talk it over with us. Open day and night. LEGAL NOTICE

To whom it may concern, and especially Nellie Brock and A. H. and M. J. Lane:

Notice is hereby given that there was adopted by the Council of the City of Lakewood, on the 4th day of December, 1916, a certain Resolution No. 1570, declaring it necessary to improve Northwood Avenue between Granger Street and its Westerly terminus, by paving same within said limits within said street.

Said resolution provided that the cost and expense of said improvement would be assessed according to the benefits upon all the property abutting said improvement, as shown by the assessment report No. 401, duly filed with the Council and is payable in ten equal annual installments with interest on deferred payments at the rate of 5 per centum per annum; providing you may at your option pay such assessment in cash within thirty days (30) from and after the passage of the assessing ordinance.

You are further notified that the Board of Revision of Assessments will be at the City Hall on the 29th day of January, and on the 5th day of February, 1917, at 8 p. m., to hear all complaints or claims as to the necessity of the above improvement and the assessments therefor.

This notice by order of the Council of the City of Lakewood, Ohio.

TODAY AND TOMORROW

Today may be as black as night
And desolate of cheer,
It may be hopeless now to fight
But evening shall appear
And this I know about today
Despite its care and sorrow,
It has no power on earth to stay
To cripple my tomorrow.

Today I may a failure be,
A helpless thing and weak,
Through tears I may but dimly see
The distant mountain peak.
But all this storm may pass away
My sun may start to shine,
And when the past has claimed today
Tomorrow may be fine.

My task is but to face today
With faith and courage, too,
To take what blows may come my way
And live this battle through.
And all this tangled wreck of now
Shall swiftly disappear.
Tomorrow I may find somehow
My skies once more are clear.

GATHERING PINE SEEDS IMPORTANT

Gathering seed of various species of pine trees is an industry carried on in the great national forests of the west by the United States forest service. The seed is used for reforestation on the government reservations and is also sold to private persons for the same purpose.

When gathered the cones are closed and hard and contain much sap says the Popular Science Monthly. They are placed in bins under cover and allowed to dry out for a period of two months or more. The opening process is hastened by subjecting the cones to a heat of about 100 degrees Fahrenheit for a period of from one to three days.

The cones are placed in wire-bottomed trays, about two feet wide and three feet long, and the trays are stacked on racks in a room where the drying process is carried on. The drying causes the bracts or petal-like parts of the cone to spread out, thereby releasing the seed.

In order to shake the seed from the cone a churn-like device is utilized. It consists of a box with ends of boards and sides of woven-wire screen. Through this passes a wooden axle supported by uprights. By means of a handle at one end of the axle the churn is revolved rapidly; the seeds are shaken from the cones and fall through the wire screen to a sheet underneath.

FARMERS' AND GARDENERS' CORNER

The cities may have their little mobs and riots, but the farmers will plow and sow and reap and feed their stock and go forth to their labors until the evening. The farmers have ever and always been the hope of the world.

CURING MEATS ON THE FARM

In curing pork on the farm, be sure that the hog has been properly slaughtered and then chilled without freezing for at least 24 hours. Ham shoulders and sides make the best smoked meat and should be trimmed of all three-cornered pieces and ragged edges. These small scraps make good sausage but poor ham. Rub the meat well with salt and leave over night. Pack in a clean hardwood barrel with the heavier hams on the bottom, the shoulders next and the bacon on top. Good brine can be made from 10 pounds of salt, 2 pounds of sugar or molasses and 1 gallons of water to 100 pounds of meat. It is a good precaution to boil and skim the mixture. Saltpeter may be added to preserve the natural color of the meat but is harmful to the health, even if used in small quantities. Brine does not easily freeze but meat cures more rapidly if it does not become too cold. The bacon will cure in from 22 to 30 days while the heavier hams need from 40 to 60 days. Freshen cured meat in lukewarm water for six hours. Dry and smoke with hardwood or corncobs for four to seven days. It is safer to let the fire go out at night. Well-smoked meat keeps best in a cool, dark, dry, well-ventilated place.

KEEPING 300 FOWLS

At the average market price, the value of poultry and eggs annually produced in Ohio amounts to $35,000,000. Poultry specialists say that this is a conservative estimate. The industry might be made more profitable, however, by adhering to more efficient practices. For instance, one of the most important things to consider in the poultry business from the viewpoint of profit is that of keeping the proper number of birds in the farm flock. Under ordinary conditions, it is held that 300 fowls represent the best number. It should be large enough to make the producer independent of the local market and yet not so large as to interfere with more profitable enterprizes. Three hundred fowls take little more time and equipment than 150.

INSTITUTES AS POPULAR AS EVER

Increased attendance at farmers' institutes over last year is indicated in the early reports, in spite of the bad weather that prevailed at many places. Most of the institutes held during November and during the early part of December are at points situated in the southeastern and northwestern sections of the state.

Good interest is manifested in the rural community life work, one of the new features of this year's activities. Fifteen speakers are devoting their efforts to it.

Several committees report stock judging contests, spelling bees and exhibits of sewing and baked products as features of their meetings.

As usual, institutes will progress across the state during the season in the general direction of southeast to northwest.

OSTEOPATHIC HEALTH

By M. A. Lane

Osteopathy is a science which teaches that the human body is capable of producing within itself all substances necessary for the building and repairing of human tissues, provided there is no mechanical interference with the circulatory or nervous systems. Correction of such mechanical interference permits a free flow of forces and nourishment between the parts, which restores normal tissues and re-establishes the harmony of conditions and action known as health.

DR. STILL AS A THERAPEUTIST

In the first part of this, our study of Dr. A. T. Still, we looked at him in his capacity as one of the great original thinkers and reformers in the sciences called medical. We showed how he was the first to state outright, in unequivocal and clear terms, the great theory of immunity, or rather how A. T. Still was the first to perceive the fact that immunity applied not only to the diseases which, up to his time, were regarded as immunizing diseases, but urged in clear terms the universality of this great modern biological principle in diseases of every kind. We showed that to him belongs the credit of having brought all diseases under one great law that of body resistance; how, theoretically, the blood and the tissues themselves contained the cure for diseases of virtually every kind. We called attention to his wonderful perception of the fact that by certain mechanical manipulations of the body structures, especially those of the spine, this natural resistance to disease could be released from certain obscure interferences, or increased in quantity in certain other circumstances, obscure enough in themselves. Thus rose in his perception the osteopathic lesion, which, he claimed, was probably at the source of most, if not all, disturbances of the body called pathological. And we further called attention to his logical abandonment of virtually all the older methods of medication which, in his day, consisted chiefly of drugs, foreign to the substances of which the body consists, all of which he regarded as poisons or hurts to the natural mechanism of the body itself. We have now to study Dr. Still in the practical application of these principles, or, in other words, to study the master at work with the theoretical tools he invented to realize his theories in fact. And in this study we shall find that Dr. Still was an absolute osteopath, consistent in all ways with his main theoretical findings.

Since our last letter the school house caught fire on the roof from sparks from the chimney, which had been burned out. Much credit is due Mrs. Garnett, who saw the fire at the start, and summoned help, who soon had the fire under control.

Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Grover and Mrs. A. Garnett attended the funeral service of Mrs. George Brain of Willoughby last Sunday.

Our neighbor correspondent at Wickliffe tells of a paper in the possession of Frank Hardaker which bears the date of 1865. We can do better as Mrs. Elizabeth Leuty has an Ohio Farmer with the date of 1859. The subscription price was $2 at that time, which is 58 years ago. We are wondering if the "Wickliffe Boaster" will ever reach such a good old age.

THE VOYAGE OF LIFE

By H. E. Bright

'Twas yesterday I sailed away where laughing waters ran
With music, charm and beauty rare and life for every man;
They sang of youth and sunshine bright, of love and joy for aye, Methought that song had surely come the flight of years to stay.

My bark has since moved forward on the bosom of life's stream;
The stream is wider, deeper, and its currents swifter seem.
Sometimes the stream is swollen, as upon the wave I glide.
They tell me, "Tears have fallen where the other half abide."

Sometimes the nights seem longer than they did in days gone by;
The stillness seems oppressive, I would have the darkness fly.
But hark! my soul! why fear? for the night will soon be o'er,
And our bark will reach the harbor of day forevermore.

Sometimes my friends forsake me and my heart grows lonely here,
And I long for love of friends who have finished life's career.
But why should I grow lonely when the Master is to me,
A friend that sticketh closer than a mere fraternity.

Then come, ye years of toil and pain,
with fortitude I stand,
And sight afar my heavenly home,
that fair and happy land.
My mast still high, my rudder sure,
with gladd'ning hope I sail,
And lighthouse gleam announces, "I at last have stemmed the gale."

Then voyage o'er I stand upon that bright teernal strand,
And meet my Saviour Lord, and clasp again the vanished hand.
No more to fear, no more to mourn,
no more to wait, at last
I stand secure, the storm, the cloud, the tempest now are past.

Willoughby, Ohio.

NEWS FROM KIRTLAND

(Received Too Late for Last Week)

The men of the Congregational church gave their annual oyster supper in the church on Thursday evening, January 25. No females were allowed in the cook room or dining room. Gentlemen only cooked and served a very nice oyster supper. Nobody missed it, as it was looked forward to, especially by the ladies, as the most enjoyable evening of the whole year. Strange how a kitchen apron tied over the place where an apron ought to be, will limber up the "jints" of our "rumatticky" men on this night.

Obituary Notices

PASSING OF MRS. GEORGE BRAIN

The death of Mrs. George Brain, of Maple street, occurred January 25th. Hemorrhage of the brain and subsequent paralysis was the cause of death. Funeral services were held at the home January 28th, the Rev. H. E. Bright conducting the services. George Roneymus and Gertrude McMahon rendered solos. The body was placed in the vault for later interment in the Willoughby cemetery.

Mrs. Brain was a Willoughby girl, and at the time of her death was 32 years, 3 months and 14 days old.

She was born October 11th, 1884, Geneleve Gilson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Warner Gilson of Willoughby. Most of her school days were spent in Willoughby township schools, graduating in 1900, and passing into the Willoughby high school in 1905. She then prepared herself for teaching, teaching for two years in Leroy township and two years in Willoughby township. In 1909 her marriage to George Brain took place. The first year of their married life was spent in Willoughby. In 1910 the couple moved to Wickliffe, where they resided until November, 1916, at which time they moved to their present residence on Maple street. Three children were born of the union, Wallace Warner, aged 5 1-2 years; George Sherwood, four years old, and Charles Edgar, who was just 10 days old the day of his mother's death. The little fellow is extremely well and is spending the time with his little brothers at the home of the grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Brain. The young wife was a member of the Methodist church for a number of years. She was friendly in the extreme and held the affection and esteem of her neighbors and friends. When the young couple moved to their present home on Maple street they found lifelong friends of the wife in the persons of the Saxton family, who reside next door.

Every sympathy is extended the young husband in this most pathetic loss.

DEATH OF MRS. LESLIE ROOT

Word has been received of the death of Mrs. Leslie Root, at her home in Covina, California, on Thursday afternoon, January 25th. Nettie Daniels Root previous to her marriage lived on the D. Z. Norton farm in Mentor. She visited in Ohio four years ago, coming to attend the wedding of her niece, Mrs. Wm. Hagenberger of Mentor.

She is survived by her husband and two daughters, Miss Cornelia Root and Mrs. Homer Hostettler. Mark Sanborn of Painesville is a nephew, and Ed. Barber a cousin. Two aunts, Mrs. Payson Carroll and Miss Emily Haskell reside in Mentor.

The funeral services were held in Pasadena Saturday morning.

WESTERN RESERVE ANNOUNCES SCHOLARSHIPS

Eight state scholarships of the annual value of $500 or $125 a year each were announced Monday by Dr. W. G. Leutner, Dean of Adelbert College of Western Reserve University.

These scholarships are offered to boys graduating from Ohio high schools. They will be awarded on the basis of competitive examinations but the results of the examinations will be interpreted in the light of all information obtainable regarding candidates, especially from principals and teachers, as to ability, character and promise of leadership.

The examinations will be held in June at Adelbert College for candidates from Cuyahoga, Lorain, Medina, Summit, Lake, Geauga and Portage counties. Examinations also will be held at Toledo, Youngstown, Mansfield, Cincinnati and Columbus.

The purpose of these awards is to emphasize among high school and college students the value of scholarship, and to make it possible for ambitious young men of ability and sound training to use their power and the knowledge acquired in their preparatory training to gain substantial material assistance toward obtaining further education.

CAR COLLISION

A collision of cars took place on the C. P. & E. at the Daniels Siding Saturday last at 9:30. Two cars coming from Painesville to Willoughby suffered a rear-end collision. The motorman on the first car stopped to fix the trolley, and the car following crashed into it. Windows were broken and occupants badly frightened, but none seriously injured. Davis' ambulance was called to the scene. Mrs. O'Neil of Mentor suffered the most serious injury, bruising her eye, but was able to go to her home. Traffic was delayed for two or three hours on account of the wreck.

SUPERINTENDENTS FOR ROAD WORK WANTED

Because of the large amount of road repair work to be done during the coming year, the state highway department wants more superintendents and inspectors for every county in the state, and the State Civil Service Commission in the current issue of its official bulletin calls examinations for inspectors on January 29, 31 and February 2, and for Superintendents on January 30, February 1 and 3, so that an eligible list may be secured and names certified for appointment. Guards for penal institutions are also wanted by the state. The list of examinations for February includes besides these positions, those of bookkeeper, engineers, inspectors for various departments, and many other splendid state jobs. The official bulletins may be secured free by addressing the State Civil Service Commission, Columbus, Ohio.

Community Spirit and Practical Methods
Recommended at Business Men's Meet

Some excellent suggestions were given out by the speakers at the recent convention of business men at Youngstown, according to the Youngstown papers. E. St. Elmo Lewis, of the Burroughs Adding Machine Co., said in part:

"If you are satisfied to do $50,000 worth of business in a $150,0000 town you are just 33 1-3% efficient. The time's past when people make a beaten path to your door; you have got to go after them. In Detroit they ask people who would locate plants there, to go elsewhere; they can't take care of them. This came about because of a community spirit between business men and industrial heads. Awaken your town. Remember you are host. Extend the glad hand. Make your town a good place to buy. Get rid of people who say it can't be done. Look at your own clerks and see if you would deal with them yourself if you didn't have Make them efficient, courteous affable. Find out what the pe are buying and what they want buy. Then advertise your lines tell them you have what they wa

(Written for The News)

If your heart is sad today
And you cannot see the way—
Just smile!
If you cannot say a prayer
From a heart that's full of care,
Just smile!

And the clouds will roll away.

If you cannot see the light
Shining on the mountain height—
Just smile!
Just say, "Thank you, Lord, for li

Then smile,
And, looking towards the skies of bl
Count what God has done for you.

If you've nursed the flowers fair
Blooming on life's thoroughfare,
Just smile.
You might have gathered, if you

LEGAL NOTICE

——— Ruegg, first name unknown, wife or widow of Henry Ruegg, otherwise known as Jane Doe, real name unknown, the wife or widow of Henry Ruegg, whose place of residence is unknown, will take notice that Salomon Perelman and Sofoae Perelman, as Plaintiffs, have filed their petition against her in the Court of Common Pleas of Cuyahoga County, Ohio, alleging that they are owners in fee simple, and in actual possession of the following described real estate, to-wit:

Situated in the City of Cleveland, County of Cuyahoga and State of Ohio, and known as being the Southerly 100 feet of the Westerly 42 feet from front to rear of Sub-lot No. 24 in Silas Strange's Subdivision of a part of Original One Hundred Acre Lot No. 336 in said City.

Said part of said Sub lot No. 24 has a frontage of 42 feet on the Northerly side of Quincy Avenue, S. E., and extends back of equal width 100 feet deep, as per plat of said Subdivision recorded in Volume 4 of Maps, page 28 of Cuyahoga County Records.

The petition alleges that the Defendant claims an estate or interest in said premises adverse to Plaintiffs' rights, by reason of the fact that in a deed from Henry Ruegg to Rudolph Eichenberger, dated March 6, 1872 and recorded in Volume 198, page 442, of Cuyahoga County Records, no wife joins with the said grantor, nor is any statement made therein that the Grantor is unmarried.

The petition further alleges that the Plaintiffs' believe and therefore, allege the fact to be that the said Henry Ruegg at the time of the execution of said deed, was unmarried, and that the said defendant has no interest whatever in said premises, and any interest she may have had has long since been barred by lapse of time and the Statute of Limitations; that the said Defendant has never sought to convey or attempted to enforce or assert any interest in and to said premises, and that as against said Defendant, these Plaintiffs and their predecessors in title have held and been in the actual, open, notorious, continuous and adverse possession of said premises for more than 21 years last past.

The prayer of said petition is that the said defendant may be compelled to show her said interest in said premises: that the same may be adjudged to be null and void, Plaintiffs' title quieted against the same, and for relief.

Said petition is No. 153943, and the above named defendant is required to answer the same on or before the 10th day of March, 1917. J18-F22

NOTICE

David B. Dunham, John B. Lunarn, Sullivan K. Sawyer, George T. Ruggles, S. B. Sheldon, Mendall Jewett, Henry G. Weavier and Burton L. Conard, whose places of residence are unknown, and the unknown heirs, executors, administrators, devisees and assigns of David B. Dunham, John B. Lunarn, Sullivan K. Sawyer, George T. Ruggles, S. B. Sheldon, Mendall Jewett and Henry G. Weavier, whose names and places of residence are unknown, are hereby notified that on the 28th day of December, 1916, William O. Gleeson filed his petition in the Common Pleas Court of Cuyahoga County, Ohio, being Case No. 153611, alleging that he is the owner in fee simple and in actual possession, and that he and his immediate grantors have been in actual, open, notorious, continuous, exclusive, adverse and uninterrupted possession of the premises hereinafter described for more than 21 years last past: that on the 9th day of February, 1838, the defendant Sullivan K. Sawyer executed to defendant David B. Dunham a certain mortgage deed on part of the premises described in the petition, which mortgage deed is recorded in Volume 24, page 314, of Cuyahoga County Records of Mortgages, and that on October 6th, 1849, said defendant S. B. Sheldon and others executed and delivered to Mendall Jewett a certain mortgage deed on the premises described in the petition, that said mortgage was duly recorded in Volume 46, page 49, Cuyahoga County Record of Mortgages, that part of said mortgage was duly assigned to the defendant Henry G. Weavier, that both of the aforesaid mortgages have been duly paid, and are barred by the statute of limitations but have not been cancelled of record; that on April 11, 1850, defendant S. B. Sheldon by deed recorded in Volume 92, page 269, deeded the hereinafter described premises to S. U. Tarbell, and that at the time of the execution of the said deed the said S. B. Sheldon was an unmarried man, and that said S. B. Sheldon and Sheldon grantee in deed recorded in Volume 93, page 268 Cuyahoga County Records of Deeds, are one and the same person. That on the 24th day of February, 1916, the defendent, Burton L. Conard, in the State of California, obtained a divorce from Addie Gray Marble Conard, one of the Grantors of the plaintiff, and that by the terms of the decree he was barred of dower in all real estate of which she was seized during her coverture, and that the said Addie Gray Marble Conard never was seized of the premises hereinafter described during coverture. That said premises are described as follows:

Situated in the Village of Bedford, County of Cuyahoga and State of Ohio, and known as being all of Village Lots Nos. 62 and 63, and part of Village Lots Nos. 64, 67, 68 and 69, and bounded and described as follows:

Beginning at the southeasterly corner of Lot No. 62, thence northwesterly along the easterly line of Lots 62, 63 and 64, and along the westerly line of Main Street, about 63 feet to the southeasterly corner of the parcel of land conveyed by Lucy A. Tarbell to Carl P. Tinker by deed dated April 23, 1909, and recorded in Volume 1201, page 64, Cuyahoga County Records; thence Westerly along the southerly line of the parcel of land conveyed to Carl P. Tinker, as aforesaid, to the easterly line of the right of way conveyed by Lucy A. Tarbell to The Connotton Valley Railroad Company, by deed dated March 19, 1881, and recorded in Volume 356, page 461, Cuyahoga County Records; thence southerly along said easterly line of said right of way to the point of intersection of the right of way with the southerly line of Lot No. 67; thence easterly along the southerly line of Lots Nos. 67 and 62 to the westerly line of Main Street, and the place of beginning, be the same more or less, but subject to all legal highways

That the said persons above named also claim some interest in said premises adverse to the plaintiff's title

The prayer of the petition is that the aforesaid mortgages be ordered cancelled of record, that the said S. B. Sheldon be found to be an unmarried person at the time of the execution of the deed aforesaid, and that he be found to be identical and the same person with Sheldon grantee in deed aforesaid; that the said defendant Burton L. Conard did obtain a divorce as hereinbefore set forth, and that he is barred of dower in said property thereby and that said Addie Gray Marble Conard was not seized of said property during coverture and that each of the parties first above named be compelled to show their interest in the above described premises, that the same may be adjudged null and void and plaintiff's title quieted against them.

The above named parties are further notified that they have been made party defendants, and that they are required to answer on or before the 17th day of February, 1917, or a judgment as prayed for in said petition will be taken against them.

SOME JANITORS GROW WEALTHY

Charlton [illegible] says in Leslie's Weekly: "While denouncing big food distributors, manipulators and middlemen for the high cost of living, an astonishing disclosure is made in New York city of the part of the janitor in boosting prices. One Brooklyn concren pays $30,000 to janitors for the privilege of doing business. The milk and ice rights of new apartments are sold before the buildings are completed at prices from $10 to $50. The Wicks legislative committee has discovered a janitor to be one who receives his rent, ice, milk, bread, rolls and newspapers free, besides getting a cash bonus from dealers in various products for his influence in gaining trade. One milk solicitor testified that physicians got 10 per cent. on their milk for recommending raw instead of pasteurized milk. A large real estate agency was found which for 13 years had been furnishing lists of prospective occupants of its properties for which it received about $100 a month from a big milk concern. Petty graft amounting in the aggregate to tens of thousands of dollars is one of many things that is forcing up the cost of living in every city. Does any one hear about any prosecutions of these grafters by the trust busters?

We're Doing The Biggest Business In Our History In Women's And Men's Shoes At

$2.50 $3.00 and $3.50

Contracts placed long ago not only enable us to offer the same sterling values in shoes at these prices as in the past but to make it possible for us to promise their continuance for some time to come. While novelty shoes cannot be merchandised in this manner because of the frequent style changes, the staples can and have been, the standing proof of this statement being in the values alluded to above.

Our Basement Store Is Given Over Entirely To These Displays

Our popular price business has grown to such an extent that it requires our great basement store in which to house it. Here every possible economy is and must be enforced but not at the sacrifice of service, always of a satisfying nature in all departments. Remember, in the midst of all you hear about high leather costs, that you can come to Ohio's largest shoe store and get a thoroughly good pair of shoes at any price from $2.50 up.

Our experts will give free advice and prescribe for your foot troubles.

TWENTIETH YEAR—NO. 4. WILLOUGHBY, OHIO, FEBRUARY 9, 1917. ONE DOLLAR A YEAR IN ADVANCE

CITY MAIL DELIVERY IN SIGHT IN WILLOUGHBY

At a recent meeting of the Chamber of Commerce the possibility of free delivery of mail for Willoughby was gone over, the details of the matter appearing in one or two issues of the Republican.

Mayor Carmichael has since been giving the matter his attention and the prospects are now in tangible form. It is necessary that the receipts of a postoffice reach $10,000 per fiscal year before city delivery of mail can be established. If the receipts of the Willoughby postoffice had not reached that amount the mayor had hoped to have what is known as village delivery of mail established. As will be noted by letters from Mayor Carmichael and one to H. I. Emerson upon page six, the postoffice receipts are so rapidly approaching the $10,000 mark that in June of this year it is altogether probable that the residents may look forward to having at no distant date thereafter the delivery of their mail to their door, by a regular postman.

WILLOUGHBY TO HAVE HOUSE NUMBERING CAMPAIGN

In order to have a complete and correct numbering of all houses within the village, a complete examination and numbering campaign has been suggested by the mayor previous to the inspection by the postoffice inspectors, as set forth in the following communication to the council, as given below. Strangers in the town will also find this of much assistance as in some cases, at present, no numbers appear on the houses at all.

Willoughby, Ohio, Feb. 3, 1917

To the Honorable Council of the Village of Willoughby.

Gentlemen:

Preparatory to an inspection of conditions of the villaeg by Postoffice Inspectors, relative to the granting of free city mail delivery, I beg to call to your attention Ordinance No. 258, passed by the village council March 26, 1901, the title of same being "Ordinance for Numbering Houses and Other Buildings."

Considerable additions have been made to the village, and in order to fully comply with the village ordinance, and the requirements of the postoffice department, I trust you will take immediate action to cause an examination of present conditions, and arrange for a complete and correct numbering of all houses and buildings within the village.

Very truly yours,
W. J. CARMICHAEL, Mayor.

In order to facilitate any inspection of the village by postoffice inspectors, Mayor W. J. Carmichael presented the letter herewith noted to the attention of the Council, and requests the hearty co-operation of all citizens in the early execution of the work in hand.

ANDREWS GRADUATES ARE ENTERTAINED

The graduating class of the Andrews school was entertained at an afternoon party and tea Wednesday afternoon. Miss Clara Pfluge, graduate in Junior Art, was hostess. The affair was given at the home of Mrs. S. S. Wilson.

STREET NUMBERS IN TELEPHONE BOOKS

Apropos of the street numbering campaign mentioned in another column it would appear that it would be of considerable convenience to strangers in the city at least, and doubtless to others, as well, if the house numbers were shown in the telephone book. Reference to this book is frequently made to look for the number and street of a resident, but without gaining any information at present.

POPULAR STUDENT DIES SUDDENLY

Funeral services for Edward William Moore Jr., were held Tuesday at 3 P. M. from the winter home of the family, Euclid Ave., Cleveland. Rev. McCart of Canton, conducted the services. The young man was 17 years of age, and a son of E. W. Moore. His death was entirely unexpected, he being in perfect health up until the day before. He had been a student at University School for six years, and was a member of the graduating class.

He was a member of the Cadman Debating Society and had participated in one of its recent debates. He was interested in all sports, belonging to the football and swimming teams. He was a corporal in the University Military school.

Quiet, unselfish and unassuming, he had won a host of friends at the school and elsewhere. His untimely death is mourned by all.

ACTIVITIES OF THE CLUBS

Meeting of the Willoughby Musical Club.

Mrs. Crowther entertained the Musical Club Monday, the 5th. "A day with Grieg" was the program. Selections upon the victrola, from Grieg was a new feature of the meetings. An interesting contest was entered into, a list of old composers having been given the members to determine the nationality of each. This required a good deal of research work. Pronunciation and spelling of the names will follow at later meetings. Miss Wasson, Mrs. Nelson and Mrs. Reichard sang a trio. Mrs. Downing played the "March of the Dwarfs." Mrs. Penfield and Mrs. McMahon rendered "Anitra's Dance." Mrs. Rockafellow played "The Butter-

LIVE STOCK LOST IN FIRE ON WAITE HILL

The barn of H. O. Wells was completely destroyed by fire at 6:30 Monday morning. When discovered the fire was too far advanced to make any effort to save the barn or the contents. Two horses, two head of cattle, a good stock of grain, chickens, etc., were all lost. Only the fact that the wind was blowing in the opposite direction, made possible the saving of the home. Partial insurance, but not enough to cover the loss, was carried. According to our Waite Hill correspondent this week, this barn is about 100 years old, and is the second old landmark to be lost to view in that section recently.

MORE ABOUT THE SUBWAY

Mayor Carmichael, under date of the 6th, reports that by resolution of council, the village solicitor was instructed to communicate with the officials of the N. Y. Central R. R. Co., asking them to make up plans and profiles, and a schedule of the cost of construction at grade of the N. Y. Central R. R. at Erie street, in the village.

This work is to be done without any obligation on the part of the village, as per understanding with the Railway company.

ANDREWS SCHOOL GRADUATES

Graduates from the Andrews school Saturday will include in the dressmaking department, Margaret Rolf, Bessie Granger, Mary Miller, Jennie Wortman and Ina Maxwell. From the laundry, Anna Scholz; childrens' wear Gladys Lynn; home making, Jessie Lane, Violet Myer; millinery, Ruth Ziska, and in junior art, Clara Pfluge.

DR. BELL ARRIVES HOME

Dr. Bell arrived home Saturday last and Tuesday a. m. addressed the high school pupils upon some of his experiences in the trenches. He will leave for Colorado this week and upon his return to Willoughby will deliver another address under the auspices of a union meeting of the churches, according to present anticipations.

BIRTHDAY PARTY FOR FRED VIALL

Friday of this week marked a birthday anniversary of Fred Viall. It also greeted the birthday of Mrs. Phoebe Jones of Wickliffe, who is many years young, and most fondly regarded, it is reported by hosts of friends. Mrs. Ralph Waite, a granddaughter of Mrs. Jones, took advantage of the opportunity to give a birthday dinner at her home in Cleveland, combining the two birthdays into a happy occasion.

GENERAL MANAGER OF THE BEN HUR ATTENDS COUNCIL MEETING

F. R. Moat, general manager of the Ben Hur Auto Co., attended the session of the council Monday night. He reported that the company was much pleased with the treatment that has been accorded them by Willoughby.

The matter of paving Ben Hur avenue was taken up and it was decided to pave the thoroughfare the entire width, 25 feet, running the whole length of the street. In addition to the streets mentioned last week it was also planned to pave Third street and East Spaulding.

WIFE OF TIRE MAN VISITS WILLOUGHBY

Mrs. Frank Sieberling, wife of the "Goodyear Tire Man," visited Willoughby during the week. She is on her way to Honolulu, and stopped off at Willoughby to pay a visit to Mrs. Eliza Fuller, who is very ill, at the home of Mrs. Frank Henchbauch, on Wilson avenue. Mrs. Fuller is an old resident of possibly 90 years, but exceedingly bright and clear mentally. She has a son in Mexico whose wife is one of Capt. Ellen's daughters. Mrs. Fuller is an aunt of Mrs. Sieberling's and the latter will be remembered as Miss Edith Penfield, who at one time resided in the old family residence now the home of Dr. Moore.

An article by Joe Mitchell Chapple, upon Frank Sieberling, the "Akron Tire Man," appears, as a coincidence, upon page three of this issue.

NEW HOMES PLANNED

New residences to be erected soon include a home for Capt. Hamilton Culp, who will build at the intersection of Wilson and Center. Also one for Frost, the druggist, who will build on Center street, next to the Adams home.

COMMENDABLE STAND TAKEN BY NEW YORK CENTRAL AND COUNTY AND VILLAGE OFFICIALS ON GRADE CROSSING

Officials of the New York Central R. R., Lake county and the village of Willoughby look with favor upon the elimination of the grade crossing at the tracks of the N. Y. Central on Erie street.

Many comments by the traveling or driving public have been made upon the dangerous character of this crossing, and in the event of accidents the lack of due precaution that might have been taken is far more strongly felt.

Mayor Carmichael reports that the officials of Lake county, the New York Central Railway Company and the village have for some time past had under consideration the elimination of the grade crossing of the New York Central Railway Company's tracks at Erie street in the village.

General Manager Moon of the R. R. Co. has expressed himself as strongly in favor of the improvement, owing to the heavy traffic on the highway, and from the fact that the highway is adjacent to a curve.

Under conditions now existing he would feel like recommending to the executives of the company that final authority be granted to enter into a contract with the county boards and village for grade separation at this point.

He suggests that the amount involved in eliminating this crossing can

WILLOUGHBY'S "PASSING SHOW"

Without preparation or instruction Willoughby talent appeared upon the screen at the Hiawatha theatre this week and made a creditable presentation that drew interested audiences despite the cold weather. A St. Louis photographer arrived in town and snapped interesting folks here and there, including High and Andrews school girls, etc.

The young colored man who lost his life on the tracks last week was also shown. Manville's ambulance, which was immediately upon the scene of the accident, appears most prominently in the picture, as always ready for duty.

Numbers of Willoughby people, among whom are reported Fred Viall, Benj. Mosley, Mrs. Bert Wilson, Fredericka Jackman, the Crawfords, Carrie Granger, and little Frederick Morgan and others, contributed their talent to Willoughby's "Passing Show."

DR. PICKARD WRITES TO HIS FRIENDS IN WILLOUGHBY. EVERYONE WILL BE INTERESTED IN THIS MOST INTERESTING AND HUMOROUS RECOUNT OF LIFE IN ST. PETERSBURG.

Park House, St. Petersburg, Fla.

To our Willoughby Friends:

St. Petersburg is filled to overflowing with tourists. They constitute its main winter population. You can find folks from nearly anywhere in the United States and Canada. The streets, the stores, the cars, the parks, the cafes, are crowded with them. The churches are thronged even to the prayer meetings. If you wish a seat you must go at least 30 minutes before schedule time. Your habit of coming in after the "long prayer," (ten to thirty minutes late) gives you only the sad refrain, "Too late! Ye cannot enter now." This was true on a recent conference Sunday when the pulpit was supplied, not by Billy Sun-

LAKE COUNTY FOLKS AT FARMERS' WEEK

With a registration of over 4,000 persons the fifth annual farmers' week program held at the Ohio State University at Columbus last week broke all records in the United States for attendance at similar gatherings. The statement is made after careful investigation. Twenty-five states and Canada were represented exclusive of the 200 speakers from different parts of the country. Ages of those registered ranged from 5 to 90 years.

Lake county sent the following delegation of 24 persons.

G. H. Gardner, Unionville; T. B. West, Perry; W. B. Cole, Painesville; Carl Lascher, Willoughby; Carl Kimball, Madison; Chas. Curtis Willoughby; W. C. Metcalf, Willoughby, Albert Parks, Willoughby; Max Allen, Mentor; F. D. Hechathorn, Painesville; C. W. Searls, Madison; W. C. Hughes, Perry; H. C. W. C. T. U. MEETING

The regular meeting of the W. C. T. U. occurred at the home of Mrs. G. C. Merrill, Tuesday. As usual the program was interesting and inspiring. The paper prepared and read by Mrs. Myrta Wallace on "Proof of Prosperity in Dry Territory" was of unusual interest and contained enough plain facts to prove the economic value of prohibition, to convince anyone that temperance pays. An interesting paper prepared by Mrs. Sue Granger was read by Mrs. Armstrong.

At the close of the program dainty refreshments were served by the hostess.

LEGAL NOTICE

Daniel Kellog, and the unknown heirs, devisees and personal representatives of Daniel Kellog, deceased; Isaac L. Hewitt, and the unknown heirs, devisees and personal representatives of Isaac L. Hewitt, deceased; H. Zauner, first name unknown, and the unknown heirs, devisees and personal representatives of H. Zauner, first name unknown, deceased; German Insurance Company, a Corporation, and ——— Haas, first name unknown, wife or widow of Richard Haas, otherwise known as Jane Doe, real name unknown, wife or widow of Richard Haas, all of whose places of residence are unknown, and the names of the unknown heirs, devisees and personal representatives being unknown, will take notice that The Cleveland Trust Company, a corporation, as Plaintiff, has filed its petition against them and others in the Court of Common Pleas of Cuyahoga County, Ohio, alleging that it is a corporation, and that it is the owner in fee simple and in actual possession of the following described real estate, to-wit:

Situated in the City of Cleveland, County of Cuyahoga and State of Ohio, and known as being Sub Lots Nos. 1, 2, 3, 4 and 5 in [illegible] Original Two Acre Lots Nos. 31 and 32, as shown by the recorded plat of said Subdivision in Volume "Z" of Deeds, Page 721 of Cuyahoga County Records, and bounded and described as follows:

Beginning at the intersection of the Southerly line of Lakeside avenue, N. W. with the Westerly line of West 3rd Street (formerly Seneca Street); thence Westerly along the Southerly line of Lakeside Avenue, N. W., 199 feet 2 inches to its intersection with the Easterly line of West 4th Street (formerly Academy Street); thence Southerly along the Easterly line of West 4th Street, 126 feet 10 1-2 inches to the Northerly line of said Sub Lot No. 5 in said subdivision; thence easterly along the northerly line of said Sublot No. 5, 199 feet 2 inches to the Westerly line of West 3rd Street; thence northerly along the westerly line of West 3rd St., 126 ft. 10 1-2 inches to the place of beginning, as appears by said plat.

The petition alleges that the Defendants, Daniel Kellog, and the unknown heirs, devisees and personal representatives of Daniel Kellog, deceased, claim an estate or interest in said premises adverse to Plaintiff's rights, by virtue of a certain improperly cancelled mortgage, executed by James R. Stafford, then the owner of said premises, in favor of Daniel Kellog, which mortgage is dated November 11, 1839, and is recorded in Volume 27, Page 473 of Cuyahoga County Records; but that Plaintiff believes and alleges that said mortgage has been fully paid and satisfied;

That the defendants, Isaac L. Hewitt, and the unknown heirs, devisees, and personal representatives of Isaac L. Hewitt, deceased, claim an estate or interest in said premises adverse to Plaintiff's rights, by virtue of a certain improperly cancelled mortgage executed by Frederick A. Keppler, then the owner of said premises, in favor of Isaac L. Hewitt, which mortgage is dated April 24, 1851, and is recorded in Volume 52, Page 16, of Cuyahoga County Records; but that Plaintiff believes and alleges that said mortgage has been fully paid and satisfied, and also by virtue of an improperly cancelled mortgage, executed by Frederick A. Keppler, then the owner of said premises, in favor of Isaac L. Hewitt, which mortgage is dated June 3, 1851, and is recorded in Volume 52, Page 508 of Cuyahoga County Records; but that plaintiff believes and alleges that said mortgage has been fully paid and satisfied;

That the defendant, German Insurance Company claims an estate or interest in said premises adverse to Plaintiff's rights, by reason of an improperly cancelled mortgage executed by Adam Snider to the said German Insurance Company, which mortgage is dated May 25, 1870, and is recorded in Volume 180, page 40, of Cuyahoga County Records, but that Plaintiff believes and alleges that said mortgage has been fully paid and satisfied.

That the defendant, H. Zauner, first name unknown, and the unknown heirs, devisees and personal representatives of H. Zauner, first name unknown, deceased, claim some estate or interest in said premises adverse to plaintiff's rights by virtue of a certain mortgage executed by Barbara Schneider, then the owner of said premises, in favor of sa'd H. Zauner, dated July 24, 1893, and recorded in Volume 562, page 631 of Cuyahoga County Records, which mortgage was improperly assigned by the said H. Zauner to John Lendy, on July 24, 1893, and which assignment is recorded in Release Volume 11, Page 191, of Cuyahoga County Records, but that Plaintiff believes and alleges that the said mortgage has been fully paid and satisfied;

That the defendant, ——— Haas, first name unknown, wife or widow of Richard Haas, otherwise known as Jane Doe, real name unknown, wife or widow of Richard Haas, claims an estate or interest adverse to Plaintiff's rights, by reason of a certain deed from Richard Haas, then the owner of said premises, to Adam Haas, dated May 16, 1848, and recorded in Volume 44, Page 651 of Cuyahoga County Records, in which deed no wife joins with the Grantor nor is any statement made that the said Grantor was single: but the Plaintiff believes and therefore alleges that the said Richard Haas, at the time of the execution of said deed was unmarried.

The petition further says that none of said defendants has any interest whatever in said premises, and that any interest they or any or all of them may have had has long since been barred by lapse of time and the Statutes of Limitations: that none of said defendants has ever sought to convey or attempted to enforce or assert any interest in and to the said premises, and that as against the said defendants and each and all of them, Plaintiff and its predecessors in title have held and been in the actual, open, notorious, continuous and adverse possession of said premises for more than twenty-one years last preceding the filing of said petition.

The prayer of said petition is that said defendants and each and all of them may be compelled to show their said interest in said premises, if any: that the same may be adjudged to be null and void: that Plaintiff's title be quieted against said defendants and for relief.

Said petition is No. 154137, and each and all of the above named defendants are required to answer the same on or before the 17th day of March, A. D. 1917, or judgment will be taken in accordance with the prayer of the petition. J25 M1

GLADNESS

Gladness doesn't ask for much; just a cheerful heart,
Just the will to face the world and bravely play your part;
Just the wish to smile and sing,
Just the grit to do Whatever be your daily tasks, and joy will dwell with you.

Gladness doesn't ask a lot, doesn't bid you fare
Miles away in search of fame or golden treasure rare,
All it asks of you and me is that along the way
We'll take burdens we may meet and still find time to play.

SUCCESS

(Berton Braley in "Things as they Are," published by George H. Doran Co.)

If you want a thing bad enough
To go out and fight for it,
Work day and night for it,
Give up your time and your peace and your sleep for it,
If only desire of it
Makes you quite mad enough
Never to tire of it,
Makes you hold all things tawdry and cheap for it;
If life seems all empty and useless without it
And all that you scheme and you dream is about it,
If gladly you'll sweat for it,
Fret for it,
Plan for it,
Lose all your terror of God or of man for it,
If you'll simply go after that thing
that you want,
With all your capacity,
Strength and sagacity,
Faith, hope and confidence, stern pertinacity,
If neither cold poverty, famished and gaunt,
Nor sickness nor pain
Of body or brain
Can turn you away from the thing
that you want,
If dogged and grim you besiege and beset it,
You'll get it!

YOUR VALENTINE PARTY

"Olive," called Ruth, "get up and help me plan the party."

"Party," sighed Olive, punching the pillow and turning over for another nap. "There's no party until the fourteenth."

"No, but we must get the invitations and the table decorations ready ahead of time," said relentless Ruth. "You must get up and help me."

A sleepy little girl yawned herself out of bed and into her clothes, but by the time the breakfast was over, Olive was just as wide awake as her sister Ruth.

"Of course we must have lots of hearts and darts in the decorations," she said. "St. Valentine's wouldn't seem right without them."

"I have a splendid idea for the center of the table," said Ruth. "You see, flowers are pretty, but they cost so much, so I have decided to use this, if you like it." The girls had already reached the sewing room, where their treasures were kept, and Ruth had produced a sheet of red cardboard, some white shelf paper and a pretty picture.

"This is my idea," she declared. "We'll arrange the center of the table to represent an old fashioned valentine. I will cut out a big heart from the red cardboard, paste the pretty picture in the middle of it, and outline it with a ruffle of shelf paper to make the lace." It took but a minute to carry out the idea.

"What about favors?" said Olive. "Why don't you make heart-shaped boxes of heavy paper. The base of the box can be larger than the rest and made of red cardboard. Cut out a strip of paper, turn it in a quarter of an inch on the bottom and paste it to the cardboard, shaping it like a heart and joining the ends with paste. Then make a heart-shaped lid to the box, and fasten it on with a paper hinge."

"We're not finished yet," said Olive, said Ruth. "But what shall we put in the boxes, and how shall we make place cards?" The girls thought hard for a few minutes, then "I know how to make place cards," said Olive, and "Here's an idea for the boxes," said Ruth in the same breath. So they cut darts out of gilt paper, wrote the names of the guests on them, and [illegible] in the tops of the boxes, [illegible] the point of an arrow through each.

Next they slashed tissue paper, red or white, [illegible] with this, and hid a fortune written on a candy heart in the center of the stuffing. The hearts were bought with the mottoes already inscribed.

"We're not finished yet," said Olive. "We forgot the invitations. Let's go downstairs and talk to mother about it."

When they had decided upon the guests to be invited, the two little girls wrote this invitation on red paper hearts with white ink:

"St. Valentine is having a party on his own feast day, at [illegible]. Won't you be one of his guests?"

"Ruth and Olive Smith."

Then they waited until dark, and slipped the heart messages under the doors of the guests invited.

"We'll have to plan the games next week," said Ruth. —Detroit Free-Press

The Separate Skirt of Velvet

A new four-piece skirt featuring military pockets and a gathered back gore with a ruffle. The belt is caught in at the side seam and laps in back.

In the fall skirts, designs emphasizing pockets and clever belt arrangements are a feature. An attractive model is shown here trimmed with pockets of rather military style and having the back gore gathered at the top and finished with a ruffle. The belt is caught in at the side seam and laps at the back. In medium size the skirt requires 3¼ yards 44 inch material.

The design offers no complications whatever for the home dressmaker, especially if the construction guide is carefully followed. The first step toward its development is to turn under the front edge of front gore on slot perforations; lap right front gore on left, center-fronts even; stitch 1 inch from folded edge leaving edges free above single large "O" perforation and finish for closing. Close center-back seam. Gather upper edge of back gore between double "TT" perforations.

Next, arrange belt on back gore matching small "o" perforations near upper side edges and stitch side edges together. Lap belt as illustrated, center-backs even. Join gores as notched.

The front of the pocket is indicated by large "O" perforations. Form a tuck, creasing on slot perforations; stitch ¾ inch from folded edge; turn the tuck forward. Underface the strap extension to ½ inch beyond small "o" perforations; turn the strap back on small "o" perforations and fasten with a button. Adjust on front gore with upper edge of pocket at small "o" perforations.

Now gather lower edge of ruffle between double "TT" perforations, sew to upper edge of skirt, center-backs even bringing front end of ruffle to large "O" perforation at upper edge of front gore.

Adjust belting 2 inches wide to position underneath upper edge of skirt for a stay; stitch upper edges together.

Buttons of self-material trim the pockets and the belt where it laps at the back.

Pictorial Review Skirt No. 6967. Sizes, 24 to 34 inches waist. Price, 20 cents.

AN EXHORTATION

Study to show thyself approved unto God, a workman that needeth not be ashamed, rightly dividing the word of truth. II Timothy ii 15.

Listen To Charles M. Schwab

Charles M. Schwab after making many millions, has turned to authorship and in a little book, titled "Succeeding With What You Have," just issued by the Century Company, he says many pointed things that every young man and many old men ought to know. Here are some of them:

"Nothing is so plentiful in America as opportunity. There are more jobs for forceful men than there are forceful men to fill them."

"It's a mistake to think that all great American fortunes have already been made."

"Bethlehem's biggest asset is not its rolling plants, its gun shops, its armor works, its rail mills; it is the men who make up its enthusiastic organization."

"The man who has done his best has done everything. The man who has done less than his best has done nothing."

"Nothing is more fatal to success than taking one's job as a matter of course."

"The man who fails to give fair service during the hours for which he is paid is dishonest. The man who is not willing to give more than this is foolish."

"Captains of industry are not hunting money. America is heavy with it. They are seeking brains—specialized brains—and faithful, loyal service."

"The man who attracts attention is the man who is thinking all the time, and expressing himself in little ways. It is not the man who tries to dazzle his employer by doing the theatrical, the spectacular."

"There is no doubt that today industrial conditions favor the college man . . . But the college man who thinks that his greater learning gives him the privilege of working less hard than the man without such an education is going to end in disaster."

The recipes that appear upon this page are generally contributed by our good cook friends, and many of our readers are saving them all, reporting them excellent.

APPLE SAUCE CAKE

Cream one cup brown sugar, 1-2 cup butter, 1 nutmeg, 1-2 teaspoonful cloves, 1-2 teaspoonful cinnamon (allspice if desired) Add 1 cup apple sauce, 1 teaspoonful soda in sauce, 1 cup raisins, 2 cups flour. Bake in a slow oven.—From MRS. SWEET.

Grave Danger, Indeed.

A judge was questioning an Irishman. "He caught you by the throat and choked you, did he?" asked the judge. "He did, yer worship," said Pat. "He squeezed me throat till I thought he would be making cider of me Adam's apple, sure!"

Easy & Practical Home Dress Making Lessons

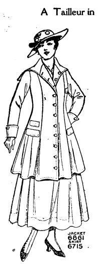
A Tailleur in Black Broadcloth



A jaunty tailor made in black broadcloth having a plain skirt and slight-fitted single-breasted jacket.

Women of fashion are wearing attractive tailored suits of highly finished broadcloth this season. They are severely made, as a rule, but exceedingly smart in cut. The distinguishing feature of this design is the jacket which is slightly fitted. It fastens in single-breasted effect. The square collar may be rolled high or low. In medium size the suit requires 5½ yards 54-inch broadcloth.

The home dressmaker has the advantage of a construction guide to save her from costly errors in attempting to make this jacket. First form dart in front at the upper edge of the jacket, creasing on line of slot perforations. In stitching the seam start it about ¼ inch wide, then graduate into nothing at lower perforation. Join front to side front and back to side back. Adjust underfacing to position and line pocket laps so that they can be adjusted to position on each side of the front.

Close underarm and shoulder seams, then face the collar and sew to the neck edge, notches and center-backs even. Roll collar and front as illustrated.

Now, close sleeve seams as notched, easing any fulness between notches at elbow and leaving extensions free. Turn hem at lower edge on small "o" perforations. Turn under extension on slot perforations, lap to small "o" perforations and tack. Close seam of cuff as notched to small "o" perforation and line. Bring the small "o" perforations near the pointed ends together and tack. Sew to sleeve bringing single large "O" perforation at lower edge of cuff, to corresponding perforation in sleeve, small "o" perforation at inside seam of sleeve. Sew sleeve in armhole as notched, small "o" perforation at shoulder seam easing in any fulness.

No smarter trimming could be selected than buttons of self material.

THE MIGRATING MILLIONAIRES

Southward the rich depart,
Leaving the snow behind,
Quitting the busy mart,
Dodging the ceaseless grind,
Cutting away from cares,
Taking their clubs along,
Migrating Millionaires,
Hear now my plaintive song.

I yearn for skies of blue,
I long for days of ease,
I long for sunshine, too,
I like the summer breeze
I feel the wintry blast,
I'd like to dodge the snow,
But I am stuck here fast
Only the rich birds go.

Only the plumaged-fine,
Only the feathered gay,
Nest in the southern pine,
Where gentle breezes play.
I'd like to migrate where
Laughter and song are heard,
I'd like to fly down there,
But I'm no wealthy bird.

But it's the snow for me,
Snow, slush, ice;
Southward I cannot flee,
I lack the price.
If, with you birds of pride,
I should migrate,
Bumpers I'd have to ride
Under some freight.

HOME MADE RUGS

Rag rugs are in demand again, and there are women who make the most wonderful rugs from rags with colors that produce a Persian effect. For the foundation burlap is used. Upon this, when cut to the desired size, the design is outlined with a soft blue pencil. Then with a steel buttonhook or large crochet needle pull a piece of cloth a quarter of an inch wide and an inch in length through the loosely woven burlap. Draw it out again as if you were taking an ordinary stitch in sewing. After the whole surface of the rug has been covered in this manner trim the uneven ends with large shears and the rug is finished. These rugs can be made from woolen or silk rags and pieces that would otherwise be wasted will be utilized. The pieces required do not have to be large in size.

Something About the Man and the Factory Where Goodyear Tires are Made

"WORKING TO SCALE"

I was out in Akron, Ohio, last week.

There is a business man in that town that I wish every other business man in America might know.

The name of him is Frank A. Seiberling.

He is president of the Goodyear Tire & Rubber Company.

In his office hangs an oil portrait of the original Goodyear, the first man who accomplished the impossible by making rubber manufacture a commercial fact. Mr. Seiberling is one man in the rubber business who recognizes the honor due the name of Goodyear; and he pays the tribute conscientiously.

The organization of the Goodyear institution is notable. Personal initiative and personal interest are included in the potential of "company assets."

My visit was in the gala forenoon and while I sat in the president's office the whistles blew. I stepped over to a window where I could see the men. There was something of elation in their bearing I thought. Grim smiles, and now and then a hearty slap on the back. No special agitation or excitement, but I fancied I detected the look of victory in their faces, that suppressed keenness of expression which is often the outward evidence of unusual gratification within.

I inquired about it later and learned the reason: The Goodyear plant had that day scored a new record; the goal of a campaign begun months before had been reached and passed. They had achieved a maximum production of 29,000 tires a day.

That was the glory. The thing had been done. It was accomplished. The men who did it shared in the triumph.

Mr. Frank Seiberling is an Akron boy. He believed that Akron was just as good as any other place. He stayed in Akron and helped make Akron the king-pin-town of northern Ohio.

Quiet, clear, contained, concise, and ready: that is Frank Seiberling.

He believes in the business doctrine of measuring up to the mark. We were talking about this and he said:

"A strong and exciting incentive to ... I try always to 'work to scale.' I try to keep the pace." To think big things helps do big things.

This is the Seiberling philosophy and those who know the man will underwrite that statement at par. His benefactions and hobbies are like his business, maintained on the Seiberling scale; he keeps the pace, he does not let up: and by the same token he does not let down.

Unlike some great business executives, Mr. Seiberling is more than the head of a great administration. He is more than a master manufacturer. He is the originator and inventor of numerous vital patents and devices of incalculable value.

"Big business," said Mr. Seiberling, "usually passes through three generations for development."

"Take rubber for instance: the first generation is the initiative, creative, inventive period. This is the Generation of Discovery.

The second generation is Finance. This is the fortifying period, the growing time when the money-muscles on the big bones of the business frame are filling out. At that stage business gathers the strength of its full manhood.

Then comes the third generation, when, the factory perfected, the finances firmly grounded—Salesmanship comes in.

This is the third epoch, the expansion period, when full grown, its stature attained, the institution steps forth at last a national and world figure."

"And now, too often at this point the original spring of invention begins to dry up. Too often great houses begin at this danger point to depend on their own momentum. Here is the crossing, for true salesmanship must have legitimate support, its enthusiasm must be fed and sustained from the fountain head."

The business genius of Seiberling lies in obedience to this law. He knows that when a thing no longer grows it has begun to die. The Seiberling mind accepts this fact and sees to it that the Goodyear Tire & Rubber Company continues to create and evolve original ideas, advance new principles and improve old ones, as Seiberling demands it must and shall grow.

The Seiberling "text" is clean; the sermon is logical; the doctrine is sound.

Yours faithfully,
JOE MITCHELL CHAPPLE.

TO TRIM PILLOW CASES

The most popular finish for pillow cases, at the present time, is crochet. The large filet initials are splendid to use with a crocheted edging. Filet crochet insertion can be used for this purpose, if a picot edging, or small scallop, is crocheted along the lower edge. The hem above can either be hemstitched, or have a plain hand made hem.

An extremely pretty way to ornament a pair of pillow slips with crochet is to first mark scallops along the edge and then machine stitch twice over the stamped line. Cut out, and double crochet over the edge. Into this edging make a line of filet chochet mesh, and then in every block, over the lower edge, make two double crochet, a picot and two double crochet. The result will be a filet crochet scallop that will look particularly well with an inset initial.

To insert an initial, baste it over the material, and then sew from the right side with very small stitches. Cut the material away from the under side and turn the rough edges into a tiny hem on the wrong side. The large letters look best when finished all around with a picot edge.

WANT 20,000 MEN FOR BIBLE CLASS

Churches throughout the city of Cleveland and Cuyahoga county to the number of 304 have enlisted in the great campaign to enroll 20,000 men in organized adult bible classes in six weeks starting April 1 and ending May 13.

Campaign headquarters have been established in the office of the Cuyahoga county Sunday School Association at room 1219 Schofield building. Preparations are being made to wage the undertaking with great force and all sorts of ginger and enthusiasm are being manifested by the workers among the men's classes of the county.

At the head of the organization which is in charge of the effort is F. W. Ramsey, vice president and general manager of the Cleveland Metal Products Company. He is the chairman of the central committee. Associated with him on this committee are Chairmen of four sub-committees and superintendents of 11 districts into which the city has been divided. Co-operating in an associate capacity with this committee are 14 township presidents, who are serving as district superintendents in their respective communities.

The task of this central committee is to obtain the appointment of a captain in each church. This captain is to organize the men of his church for the campaign. In order to reach the 20,000 goal it is necessary for every men's bible class to quadruple its last year's enrollment and average attendance. This is a mammoth undertaking and can be achieved only by the most effective organization.

Each church captain, through his aides, will obtain the names of as many men in his community who do not now attend Sunday school as possible, the minimum number being four times the present class enrollment. Then the next move will be to interest these men in the work of the bible schools.

As soon as all of the churches have selected their captains [illegible] will hold district meetings to plan for district and general rallies at which speakers of enthusiasm and experience in bible class work will be heard.

The sub-committees include the following: Promotion, Program, Exhibit and Finance. The program committee headed by H. F. Henderson, executive secretary of Central Y. M. C. A., is mapping out work for the classes to do when they are recruited and organized. The exhibit committee, with M. C. Yeagle of the Sunday School Supply Co., at its head, is to conduct an exhibit showing how men's classes are successfully operated and what they do. The promotion committee, with W. J. Austin of the Samuel Austin & Son Co. as chairman, is perfecting the organization and attending to publicity. The finance committee, with D. D. Kimmel of the Union Mortgage Company in charge, is raising funds to pay the campaign expenses.

The district superintendents in the city are: 1, Frank Bond, 3854 W. 38th street; 2, James Burt, 3795 East 71st street; 3, G. F. Tomlinson, 8003 Wade Park avenue; 4, Howard Geiger, 1369 West 91st street; 5, Chas. Gottichter, 1302 West 114th street; 6, F. E. Bruce, 2683 Leighton road; 7, H. M. Coyle, 2637 East 115th street; 8 and 9, W. H. Webber, 18020 Canterbury Road; 10, M. C. Yeagle, 318 Euclid avenue; 11, H. H. Riddle, 70 Sheldon avenue; 12, J. M. Kelsey, 1185 Marcy avenue.

The cooperating township presidents are: Bedford, Prof O. W. Kurtz, Brecksville, E. W. Rodgers; Chagrin Falls, Rev. W. H. Baker; Dover, J. D. Rumbaugh; Euclid and Nottingham, C. E. Coltrim; Mayfield and South Euclid, H. G. Knappenberger; Middleburg, Prof. J. C. Hertzler; Olmsted, W. H. Exley; Orange and Warrensville, Parma, R. H. Rosenau; Royalton, W. T. Fay; Solon, F. A. Kupfer; Strongsville, L. H. Clement; West [illegible], F. D. Wain.

MUSIC AT LAKE ERIE COLLEGE

The highest musical standards and a sincere interest in the best music of America are fostered at Lake Erie College, Painesville, O., and accordingly the apperance of David and Clara Mannes on Wednesday, February 7, was enthusiastically anticipated. These artists also gave a sonata recital with violin and piano on that date at 8:15 in Memorial hall.

This concert is the second of the winter's series of artists' recitals at Lake Erie College. The first was in October when Mrs. Edward MacDowell gave a concert of MacDowell music. Harold Bauer will give the third recital in the series in March, and Oscar Seagle a fourth in April. Through generous subscription in the college and in Painesville this concert on February 7 is open to the public without admission.

NO DOUBLING FOR MRS. VERNON CASTLE

Mrs. Vernon Castle, star of International's new photoplay serial "Patria," showing on Pathe's program at the Hiawatha theatre, expresses herself strongly against the practice frequently indulged in of employing substitutes for the difficult and dangerous feats film stars are frequently called upon to perform. In the third episode of "Patria," to be shown soon, Mrs. Castle in the title role, dives headlong from the deck of an ocean steamer, thirty feet, into the sea and swims to a drifting launch, in which she escapes her foes.

"Why employ one to do what one can do quite as well oneself?" Mrs. Castle asks. "In making moving pictures it is fatal to success. To have the heroine of the story arouse the interest and sympathy of the audience to an intense point and at the climax let them see, or even suspect, that another person has been substituted to perform the thrilling deed called for in the plot, instead of the one whose fortunes they have been following all along, causes a reaction of feeling which immediately destroys all the interest you have been trying throughout to create.

"The audience feels, and rightly so, that it has been cheated, robbed of its sympathy and affection perhaps for a heroine who fails to 'make good in a pinch.'"

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES

On Thursday, February 1, the W. H. S. girls played the Shore high girls an exciting game of basketball. They took the 6:30 regular and were accompanied by about ten people who went along to root for the orange and black. Later on about 20 more came and they certainly made a lot of noise. Sad to relate the W. H. S. team fell before the horrible onslaught of the Smith family. (Four of the six Shore high girls bore the name of Smith.) The Willoughby team played a very good game but because of the strange gym and the speed of the Shore high team they lost by a score of 18 to 12. Come up and watch our girls beat them on our own floor in the near future.

Friday night Painesville brought both of her teams down here and split even in a double header. Willoughby's second team defeated Painesville's second team by a score of 20 to 8. P. H. S. only got one basket during the whole first half of the conflict. The game was very exciting and the second team deserves a great deal of praise for the splendid work that they did. The Painesville team was much heavier than they, but Willoughby had the upper hand when it came to speed. The line-up:

C. Seitz, L. F., first half; E. Brott, R. F., C. Beck, R. G.; A. Phelps, L. G. V. Wilber, C., R. Fairley, L. F. Second half.

The varsity met a defeat that can hardly be called a defeat. The score was 21 to 19. The team was badly crippled because Howard Van Deusen had a sprained wrist and E. Sebring had a mashed finger. Howard is our star forward this year and he was badly needed. He very pluckily played the whole game except the first five minutes of the first half, when Fairley played in his place. He was only able to shoot one basket during the whole game.

In the second half Sebring was knocked out for a short time and was carried from the floor. In their anxiety the whole team left the floor. The official that Painesville brought down kindly awarded Painesville five free shots. Four were good. If it had not been for this Willoughby would have been victorious.

The line up:

hardly be even approximated [illegible] until the engineers have worked it out, which would necessarily take some time.

The state statute provides that in work of this character the Railway Company shall assume 65 per cent of the cost, the remaining 35 per cent to be taken care of by the county and village, or both.

There is every evidence that a concrete plan of cooperation is being outlined by the officials representing the people and the R. R. Company, and it is assured that all details in connection with the contemplated improvement will be carefully gone over and further report made public as to the same.

Past experience proves conclusively that this crossing is most dangerous. Accidents have resulted in several deaths, and numerous incidents, or near accidents which have never been reported, are of almost daily occurence.

No doubt the paving of Mill Hill from the bridge to the R. R. track, as a part of the paving in connection with River road now under consideration, will be held up until some definite decision is reached in the subway matter.

When the details of cost and the distribution of the same are finally considered, the entire matter will be presented to the public for their further consideration and suggestions as to the advisability of proceeding with the improvement.

fly," and "A Dream" was rendered by Mrs. Birkholz. Plans were discussed for the open meeting which will be held at the home of Mrs. J. A. Penfield the 19th. On that occasion Mrs. McCollister has promised to contribute a whistling number to the program, and a most pleasant time is anticipated.

The Conversational Club

The Conversational Club met at the home of Mrs. Edwards, Cedar and E. 89th street, Cleveland, Saturday the 3rd. While the weather was not favorable, members report that the enjoyment of the meeting compensated for the trip. A paper of delightful interest on the subject of "The Session of the House" was given by Mrs. Viall.

Fortnightly Club

The Fortnightly Club will hold its regular meeting Saturday the 10th, at the home of Miss Storm. "Your opinion of Silent Drama" will be the response to roll call.

The Woman's Club

The Woman's Club met at the home of Mrs. Rockafellow for its regular meeting. Mrs. Rockafellow opened the program with a piano solo. Papers upon Mexico were given and Mrs. Carmichael and Mrs. Rusk added much to the pleasure and interest of the occasion by a display of Mexican relics and arts and crafts work.

Wm. Vernon Backus of Cleveland will address the club at its next meeting, February 16th, at an evening gathering at the library. Mr. Backus was at one time president of the American Colonies in Mexico, and is also known by his connection with the subject of "Talosophy," or the "Art of Making Happiness Epidemic."

The Clear-Cut Issues Between Others and the Hudson Super-Six
Don't confuse them.
No other Six is like the Super-Six. The distinction lies in a Hudson invention. That invention—applied to a Six of the finest type—increased its efficiency 80 per cent.
So the difference is tremendous. No Eight or Twelve has anywhere near matched the Super-Six in performance. That's why those types have not been more adopted. The Supe-Six holds all the worth while records.
It has proved supremacy in every point that counts.
It is now the largest-selling fine car in the world.
Never before has a single maker brought out such a dominant feature. That is why so many rivals seek to cloud the issue.
They say you don't want a racing car. You don't need such vast reserve power. You are not going to drive across continents so those records do not count.
A Light, Simple Six
But note that the Super-Six is a light, simple Six. Other Sixes have a same-size motor. We have not added size or cylinders or complications to attain our end.
What we have done—and all we have done—is to eliminate most of the friction. In that way only we attained the speediest stock car in the world. And the most powerful stock motor, size for size, that was ever built.
Would you have less power, less speed, because of greater friction? Or would you have that friction ended, and use what power and speed you need?
The After-Cost
The question is not one of power or speed. It's the question of after cost.
Friction in the motor causes wear. Wear destroys the bearings and the parts. It reduces car life. It leads to noisy motors.
The Super-Six records were won by endurance. Its greatest supremacy showed in the 24-hour record—won by 52 per cent. And in the 7000-mile round trip from San Francisco to New York. There it twice broke all the transcontinental records.
Any argument against such showings is an argument against endurance.
The War of Types
In the war of types—between Sixes, Eights and Twelves—the Super-Six has won. Every record shows that. The ended trend toward V-types also shows it.
The light, simple Six—the ideal type—again holds ruling place. Not the type that used to rule, but the Super-Six.
It is evident today that the Super-Six is the only permanent type.
Today it comes in bodies of the most luxurious sort. And with a new gasoline saver—a radiator shutter—which means much added economy.
We urge you to prove these things before the season when demand will far exceed the output.
Phaeton, 7-passenger, $1,650; Roadster, 2-passenger, $1,650; Cabriolet, 3-passenger, $1,950; Touring Sedan, $2,175; Limousine, $2,925; Town Car, $2,950; Landaulet, $3,025; Limousine Landaulet, $3,025. (All Prices f. o. b. Detroit.)

TIPS FOR PLAY-GOERS

OPERA HOUSE

At the Euclid Avenue Opera House next Monday, February 12th, Messrs. Cohan and Harris will present "Hit-the-Trail-Holliday," an American comedy, written by George M. Cohan from an idea suggested by George Middleton and Guy Bolton, for one week, including Wednesday and Saturday matinees.

The play is in four acts and its presentation here will serve to reintroduce to the local stage Fred Niblo, one of America's best comedians who but recently returned from a three years 'engagement in Australia.

"Hit-the-Trail-Holliday" was originally produced at the Astor theatre, New York, a year ago last September and rounded out a year's engagement in New York. The amusing comedy is in the author's best vein and it is characteristic of him in that it reveals accurate knowledge of every phase of life in a New England rural district.

In this play Mr. Cohan's humor is bright and snappy. There is evidence of his keen sense of humor and many traces of his shrewd observation of types of character and his ability to put them on the stage. You see from his particular angle the town police chief, expressman, head barber, town minister, temperance advocates and a few of the small town characters. You have lost your sense of humor entirely if you do not laugh heartily at them.

The original New York cast headed by Fred Niblo will produce the play in Cleveland.

COLONIAL THEATRE

"The Girl Who Smiles," musical comedy by the composers of "Adele," "Alma, Where Do You Live," and "The Midnight Girl," plays the first three days of next week at the Colonial. It will be followed by a three-day engagement of Diaghileff's Ballet Russe.

MILES THEATER

Three special features will be offered at the Miles the coming week in conjunction with the regular program.

"Carter, the magician and illusionist, will head the bill with two acts, "The Lion's Bride" and the "Magical Divorce." Carter carries a half score of assistants and 15 tons of paraphernalia, including a live Nubian lion. During the presentation of "The Lion's Bride" the lion is used in a large steel arena, where it leaps upon the beautiful and defenseless bride, only to be instantly transformed into Carter himself, making the illusion the most remarkable metamorphosis ever accomplished. Hoyt's Temple of Minstrelsy, 7 men in an up-to-date one act minstrel show, will be the added attraction. Arline, the gypsy violiniste, Billsbury and Robinson, vocalists and character change artists, and Jerome and Carson, in a nifty vaudeville breeze, furnish the fun. Mrs. Vernon Castle as the star of "Patria" will offer "Double Crossed," the fourth chapter in the new aborbing preparedness story, by Louis Joseph Vance.

PROSPECT THEATER

The Prospect theatre will have for its attraction next week a real Irish comedy drama, with a real Irish born star—Walter Lawrence, in the rollicking scenic production "Come Back to Erin." Mr. Lawrence, aside from being a recognized actor of the very first order, also possesses a singing voice of rare beauty. Mr. Lawrence lends to the role of Dan Maguire all the charming attributes of the real Irishman, creating an atmosphere of the Emerald Isle throughout the play. Among the principal players supporting Mr. Lawrence are Phyllis Grey, who has made a decided hit in the role of Kathleen Donald, the sweetheart of Dan Maguire; H. Holland, Chas. W. King and Joseph Dunn.

ALHAMBRA AND MALL

Did you ever see a picture featuring Lionel Barrymore thatdidn't make you laugh, and at the same time tug at your heart-strings? Well, this is no exception. However, you will laugh more at this one because it is the story of the ups and downs of a "one-night" stock company that started on a tour but couldn't finish. It's great. Better than the last picture with Mr. Barrymore entitled "The Brand of Cowardice." The Mall and Alhambra will show it four days starting Sunday and in addition the seventh chapter of "The Great Secret." The last three days of the week the Mall and Alhambra will show "The Mysterious Mrs. M." which comes direct from the Rialto theatre New York, and stars Mary McLaren.

DUCHESS THEATRE

"When Fran Came Home," which will receive its Cleveland premiere Monday night at the Duchess, carries with it a decided lesson and throughout all the comedy and dramatic action of the play one great truth [illegible] the great lesson that [illegible] morally but materially, that to live for others, to forget self, [illegible] all the truest happiness.

In presenting "When Fran Came Home" to its first Cleveland audience, Vaughan Glaser, Miss Courtenay and the supporting company are giving to Cleveland a play which the Glaser company was chosen to present by the author, Charles T. Dazey, for its premiere, because of the "real people, the kind an author is glad to have create the characters he has conceived," that make up the Glaser company.

STAR THEATER

Fred Irwin's Big Show will be the Star's offering next week. Joe Burton and [illegible] are the principal comedians.

EMPIRE THEATER

"Grown-up Babies" is the Empire's show. It brings a new Hawaiian dance and a series of living pictures by a chorus of 20 girls.

STANDARD THEATER

All the glitter and fascination of the white lights is reflected in the "New York Peacock," in which Valeska Suratt displays more wonderful costumes than ever before.

Miss Suratt can always be counted upon for some novel effect in clothes, but she has several creations of her own design of which the greatest Parisian costumers might well be proud.

[illegible] and the unknown [illegible] devisees, legatees, executors [illegible] and the assigns of [illegible], deceased, William [illegible] the unknown heirs at law, devisees, legatees, executors, administrators and assigns of William [illegible], deceased, and the unknown [illegible] Ephraim Wilson, deceased, [illegible] residence are [illegible] the names of the unknown [illegible] devisees, legatees, executors, administrators and [illegible] Folsom, deceased, [illegible] of William L. Fitch, deceased and [illegible] the unknown widow of Ephraim Wilson, deceased, being unknown, will take notice that Jennie McEachren, John W. McEachren, Lorence F. McEachren, George S. McEachren, Alex. M. McEachren, Grace McEachren Sprague, Hugh McEachren, William McEachren and Margaret F. McEachren, as plaintiffs have filed a petition against them as defendants in the Court of Common Pleas of Cuyahoga County, Ohio, alleging that they have the legal title to and are the owners in fee simple and in the possession and occupancy of the following described real estate, to-wit:

Situated in the City of Cleveland, County of Cuyahoga and State of Ohio, and known as being Sub-lot No. 15 in Severance and Folsom's Sub-Division of part of original Brooklyn Township Lots Nos. 51, 52, 69, and 70, as shown by the recorded plat in Volume X of Deeds, Page 1 of Cuyahoga County Records, and being 36 feet front on the Southerly side of Jay Street (now known as Jay Avenue, N. W.) 107 feet 6 inches deep on the Westerly line, 107 feet 6 inches deep on the Easterly line, which is also the Westerly line of an Alley (now known as West 29th Place), and 36 feet on the rear line, which is also the Northerly line of an Alley (now known as Waco Court, N. W.), as appears by said plat, be the same more or less, but subject to all legal highways.

The petition alleges that the defendants, Ezekiel Folsom, and the unknown heirs at law, devisees, legatees, executors, administrators and assigns of Ezekiel Folsom, deceased, claim some right, title or interest in said premises for the reason that the records of Cuyahoga County, Ohio, do not disclose any deed of conveyance from the said Ezekiel Folsom, but that said defendants have no interest in said premises, for the reason that on December 29, 1840, said premises were sold for the nonpayment of taxes to N. C. Baldwin and the title thereto has never been redeemed:

That the defendants, William L. Fitch and the unknown heirs at law, devisees, legatees, executors, administrators and assigns of William L. Fitch, deceased, claim some estate or interest in said premises hostile and adverse to Plaintiff's rights by virtue of a certain contract made March 1, 1869, the nature and extent of said claim being unknown to Plaintiffs.

That Ephraim Wilson, at the time of the conveyance to Hugh B. McEachren, was unmarried and that the unknown widow of said Ephraim Wilson claims to have a right of dower in said premises.

The petition further alleges that none of said defendants have any right, title or interest in or to the above described premises, that their claims are unfounded and of no legal effect, whatsoever, but constitute clouds on Plaintiffs' title; that any claim they or any one of them ever had in said premises, has long since been barred by lapse of time and the Statutes of Limitations, and that as against said defendants, these Plaintiffs and their predecessors in title have held and been in the actual, open, notorious, continuous, exclusive, indisputable and adverse possession and occupancy of said premises for more than Twenty-one years last preceding the filing of the petition herein, under and by virtue of a deed for said premises and that from April 22, 1859, to the present date, none of said defendants, or any one of them or any one claiming through or under them, has ever claimed or sought to enforce any right, title to, or interest in said premises.

The prayer of said petition is that each and all of said defendants be required to answer and set up what rights, if any, they have in said premises, or be forever barred from asserting the same; that plaintiffs' title be quieted against the claims of said defendants and said defendants and for relief.

Said petition is No. 154216, and each and all of said defendants are required to answer said petition on or before the 24th day of March, A. D. 1917, or judgment will be taken against them as prayed for in said petition. F1-M8

E. C. OSTERLAND and CARL S. WALZ, Attorneys for Plffs.

James McNally, whose residence is unknown, will take notice that Ruth McNally filed a petition against him in the Court of Insolvency of Cuyahoga County, Ohio, praying for divorce, restoration of name and relief on the ground of habitual drunkenness for more than three years and gross neglect of duty. Said petition is No. 6581, and will be for hearing on and after March 16, 1917. F1-M8

HENRY NEWHAUSER, Atty for Plff

Louis Schwab, whose residence is at 280 Lemay Street, Detroit, Michigan, will take notice that Edith D. Schwab filed a petition against him in the Court of Common Pleas of Cuyahoga County, Ohio, praying for divorce, restoration of name and relief on the ground of willful absence for more than three years last and extreme cruelty. Said petition is No. 154171 and will be for hearing on and after March 16, 1917. F1-M8

WHEN YOU QUIT DRINKING—QUIT FOR GOOD!

Don't take a chance on falling off the wagon this year. Quit for good. You can do it without the least discomfort, without any danger or any terrific struggle against the gnawing pangs of the poison of alcohol that makes you "crave" more liquor. Thousands of Ohio and Pennsylvania men have made good on their resolves to quit drinking by taking the Neal Treatment. Three days of medical treatment (no hypodermic of any kind) and they hated the very sight or odor of alcohol. It makes them stronger and more virile men, quicker thinkers, better all-around men. You'll be surprised to find how easy it is to quit drink the Neal way. Come in any time, day or night and we'll gladly talk it over with you. CORN AND OATS FOR WORK HORSES

Contrary to popular opinion that horses fed oats have more life, keep in better condition and endure work better, especially during hot weather, than horses given a grain ration consisting largely or exclusively of corn, an experiment conducted for 48 weeks at the Ohio Experiment Station with work horses showed that oats are not superior in efficiency to corn. Economy in feeding is generally in favor of corn.

Three teams of mature geldings were used, one horse in each team being fed oats and the other an equal weight of ear corn in connection with clover and timothy hay. There was practically no difference in the changes in weight during the year between the two lots. No difference due to the feeds used was observed in the spirit and endurance of the horses.

The cost of feeding the corn-fed horses, with corn at 80 cents a bushel, oats at 60 cents and hay at $10 a ton, was $85.65 for the 48 weeks, as compared for a charge of $122.19 for the horses given oats. Animal husbandmen at the Experiment Station, considering the relative prices of these two grains over a long period of years, say that corn may be substituted for oats for work horses with a material saving, and therefore should be given a larger place in their rations whenever market conditions warrant its use.

NEWS FROM WAITE HILL

Waite Hill, Feb. 6th.

Oh yes, the weatherman has surely got us in his grip this time and is trying to freeze us. And according to the groundhog theory we'll have six weeks more of just such weather, but if we get off with even two months more of winter weather we'll be thankful.

* * *

Mrs. Cross, wife of the manager of the John Sherwin farm, left Tuesday for Vermont, her old home, having received word that her aged father was very ill. She took her youngest child with her and will be away an indefinite time.

* * *

Mrs. Wm. Raser, Mrs. Ernest Jennison and Mrs. Floyd Atwood of Cleveland were entertained one day recently at Mrs. Ward's, in Willoughby.

Mrs. G. W. Smith's 86th birthday anniversary occurred the 6th of February. We hope she may be spared to enjoy many more birthday anniversaries.

Mrs. Sarah Gill, grandmother of Mrs. Wm. Raser, is enjoying fine health at present, after being so poorly the fore part of the winter.

Miss Alma Stokes received a beautiful bunch of flowers from friends in California last week, although in some parts of the golden state it has been so cold that vegetation is killed. A clipping from a paper sent her by her brother George, who has been there about 15 years, states that the ground is frozen two inches deep, which is unusual for that country. It has been the coldest there that it has ever been, so guess we'll stick to the "Buckeye" state a while longer.

We understand by one who was there, that the "Old Maids' Convention" was very entertaining, which of course it would be, and drew a fair sized crowd, but if the weather had been more propitious they'd had a full house, as many that had planned to go got "cold feet" and remained at home. Better have it repeated. About $30 was realized.

* * *

Mr. George Stokes, who has been ill and confined to his bed most of the time for the past three months is seemingly on the gain. Dr. Kenning of Willoughby is attending him.

* * *

Mrs. Wm. Raser has been quite ill the past week came near having pneumonia. Dr. Tanner was called and broke it up. Her little son Chas. is also quite ill with a severe cold and croup, although they're both improving at this writing.

Miss Mattie Pratt, a teacher in the Kirtland schools for many years, was taken ill the first week of the fall term of school and has been at her aunt's, Mrs. Ed. Paget, in Willoughby, ill in bed all these months. She was able to be taken to her home in Chardon in an ambulance last week.

* * *

The old log blacksmith shop on the Horace Freer place is no more, it having recently been torn down, as it was getting shaky and was unsafe to go into, but it was the only pioneer log structure around here and was built nearly 100 years ago by the Buffington family of massive logs. We don't like to see the old landmarks go.

Another old landmark went up in flames Monday morning. The Henry Wells barn burned to the ground about 6 o'clock a. m., with all the contents: two horses, two cows, all their chickens, hay, grain and farm implements and everything, as after it was discovered it went so quickly they were unable to enter the barn at all. It was the old Jesse Tryon barn and probably was built over 100 years ago.

* * *

Mr. George Markell of Mentor passed away Thursday night last week. His funeral was held at the Methodist church, Mentor, at 2 o'clock p. m., Sunday. Mr. Markell spent nearly his whole life in Kirtland, only going to Mentor a few years ago to live with his oldest son, Bart. He had been in poor health for several years, and about a month ago he had a shock from which he never rallied. He had passed his three score and ten milestone. His first wife was Miss Carrie Sanborn. Of this union was born five sons, all of whom are living to mourn the death of a kind father. He was the youngest and last member of a family of eight children, four boys and four girls, of Mr. and Mrs. John Markell, Kirtland pioneers. A sister, Mrs. Laura Booth, and a brother, DeWitt Markell, died the past year. George Markell leaves a host of warm friends to mourn his loss.

A number of Kirtlandites left Monday for Columbus to attend the state horticultural meeting, among them being C. M. Curtis, Walter Metcalf, Albert Parks and Max Allen.

The high school boys have organized a base ball team and are planning to give a social on Saturday evening, February 10th.

The men's oyster supper last Thursday evening was a very enjoyable affair. A nice supper was had (what a nice thing it is that the men are learning to cook these days when there's so much woman suffrage going on) and some [illegible] by the Kirtland orchestra and Floyd Allen's splendid victrola, as he played some fine records.

Mr. Geo. R. Markell died at the home of his son, B. H. Markell, Friday morning. Mr. George Ranney Markell was born in Mentor, October 20, 1840. At the age of 7 years he moved with his parents to Kirtland, where he resided most of his life. On August 2, 1872, Mr. Markell was married to Miss Caroline Sanborn. Five sons were born, B. H., Louis B., Ed. A., Shirley and Ben. Mrs. Markell died March 21, 1890 and in 1899 Mr. Markell married Miss Anne Bates of Salamanca, N. Y. She died in 1905. Funeral services for Mr. Markell were held at the Methodist church on Sunday afternoon. A large number of friends were present from Mentor and out of town to show the high esteem in which Mr. Markell was held.

day, but by a stranger from the North. The city is filled with church-going tourists who have nothing else to do. Why should they not go to church?

The Board of Trade has now registered 15,000 guests, of which Ohio furnished 2,000, the largest number from any state. The state organizations meet once in two weeks for social purposes and a program.

The mildness of the climate in this part of Florida makes it a paradise for invalids and old men. The number of lame, halt, and crippled folk who seek rest and relaxation in this salubrious and sunny clime is a marked feature of the daily panorama. When there are many similarly afflicted the individual ceases to be conspicuous. An annex of one of the [illegible] is known as the Old Ladies' Home. The entire city reminds one of an outdoor sanitarium, for even the sidewalks of the main street are crowded with benches, which tourists occupy by hundreds from morning till night.

One of the unexpected characteristics of this tourists' resort is its democracy. This is the spirit and charm of the place. The common people easily make up nine-tenths of the population, resident and visiting. There is not a "swell hotel" in town.

"Rooms for light housekeeping" is a most frequent sign. The groceries, meat markets, milk dealers and delicatessen shops all cater to this trade, so that one can actually live cheaper here than at home. Creamery butter is sold in quarter pound cuts, wrapped in waxed paper. Fish is plentiful and cheap and if you are fond of angling, you can easily supply your table without expense. Every householder rents rooms. It is not uncommon for a family to move into their attic and rent out their house to strangers during the winter. Rooms and small apartments rent for $100 to $300 for the season, according to location, size and equipment. Electric lights, gas, hot water and heat are available.

The mocking birds are a source of continuous joy and thrilling delight, God be praised for them! for which no extra charge is made! And yet I heard a tourist complain because she had been awakened in the morning by their divine music. God pity deaf souls!

ANDREWS VESPER SERVICE RECEIVES FAVORABLE COMMENT

Many favorable expressions were passed upon the vesper service for the Andrews school, held at the Methodist church Sunday last. Particular comment was made upon the perfect time and impressive appearance of the girls in the processional and recessional. The 36 members of the Andrews Glee Club marched in from the vestibule of the church, and up the aisle, for the processional, followed by the graduates, one by one. The latter wore caps and gowns, in which they will graduate Saturday. Mrs. Allen Crowther acted as organist. Dr. W. O. Thompson, president of Ohio State University, delivered the address. S. D. Shankland of the Andrews school, introduced the speaker.

OSTEOPATHIC HEALTH

By M. A. Lane.

The present writer appreciates the difficulties that would confront any man in a study of this kind, for it is hard to separate Dr. Still's own theories and position from those of many of his followers, who have developed the art that he founded, and have made applications of that art in their own way, with their own modifications. We believe, however, that few osteopaths, who have remained osteopathic, and have not become infected with certain delusions that control the minds of many unscientific medical doctors, will disagree with our statements of fact. A fair review of Dr. Still's work will deal only with his main generalizations, neglecting his adventitious speculations on certain phases of physiology which later investigation has diverted widely from the thought that was current in his own day. To remain a pure osteopath was difficult even for the founder himself, but that does not justify the modern osteopath for departing one jot from the main pure osteopathic principles for which A. T. Still stood and which are entirely and altogether responsible for the magnificent success that is the fruit of osteopathy today. It is probable that had Dr. Still remained in active life long enough to have become acquainted with the results of recent scientific research, he had needed no interpreter such as the present writer, but would have been able to vindicate his own early theory and practice with his own pen, as he was fully able to do.

PASSING OF MENTOR RESIDENT

George R. Markell of Mentor passed away at the home of his son, B. H. Markell, Friday, the 2nd of February, after a short illness. Death was due to general weakness. Mr. Markell was born in Mentor in 1840. His entire life has been spent in Mentor and Kirtland. For the past 14 years he has made his home with his son. Five sons survive him.

The funeral services were held Sunday afternoon from the Methodist church in Mentor at 2 o'clock, Rev. P. B. Schaffner officiating.

KEEP STORAGE BATTERIES CHARGED

It is safe to leave the automobile storage battery in the car during the extremely cold weather if the battery is kept fully charged. The amount of the charge is best determined by testing the specific gravity of the cell with a hydrometer syringe. If the specific gravity is 1.120, the battery is empty and it will freeze at 20 degrees above zero. If the specific gravity is 1.160, the battery is three-fourths discharged and it will freeze at zero. If the specific gravity is 1.210, the battery is one-half discharged and it will freeze at 20 degrees below zero. If the specific gravity is 1.260 the battery is one-fourth discharged and it will freeze at 60 degrees below zero.

The cells should be tested twice each month and should be kept filled with distilled water.

Storage batteries should be cleaned and the acid should be adjusted at least once every other year.

ILLNESS IN YAXLEY FAMILY

Illness at the home of the Yaxley family on the Lake road, has included Miss Sophie Yaxley, who has been absent from her post at the Wilson store for about a week; and her mother, Mrs. Henry Yaxley, who has been confined to her bed with the grip. Miss Yaxley expected to be out again Wednesday of this week.

LOSSES CAUSED BY NEGLECT

"One of the most encouraging things about the Express' plan of stopping all papers at expiration of time paid for is that so many subscribers are enthusiastically for it," says the Express of Knoxville, Ia.

"When you come to think about it you like better a paper that stops at the time than one that runs on indefinitely and piles up a bill against you.

"With the new plan you know that no mistakes will arise and that your paper is always paid for. If you pay your subscription and do not receive the paper you know at once that something is wrong; it is looked into and corrected while all the circumstances are fresh in mind. Under the old plan if an advance paying subscriber's remittance was not credited it might run on for years and not be noticed; he would be paying, (according to the books) at the end instead of the beginning of the year, and finally he would feel that he had lost a year's subscription—and maybe he had.

"On the other hand, we have credited many a subscriber who honestly got it into his head that he had paid a year more than he really had. The new plan will be free from these disadvantages. Losses on subscription accounts are caused not so much by those who don't want to pay as by those who neglect it and overlook it."

PROGRESS OF FREE DELIVERY OF MAI

The following letter from Mayor Carmichael and the communication from the fourth assistant postmaster general, gives full information as to the present probabilities of free delivery of mail for Willoughby, as mentioned in article on first page:

Willoughby, Ohio, Feb. 3, 1917.

Editor of the Republican,
Willoughby, Ohio:

In connection with free mail delivery service for our village, we have the pleasure of reporting to our citizens the result of a long continued investigation covering the details of village delivery, which the postoffice department is authorized to inaugurate under certain conditions in towns having postoffices of the 3rd class or of the 2nd class not entitled to city delivery:

And covering the details of city delivery to which we will be entitled when the receipts of the post office have reached $10,000 during a fiscal year.

Our investigation fully satisfied us that it would be a loss of time to make any recommendation for village delivery, owing to the fact that the fiscal year of the postoffice department ends June 30, and we are assured that the receipts of the postoffice will considerably over run the $10,000 required, and will entitle us to first class city delivery.

We are indebted to our honored senators, Harding and Pomerene, and our congressman, Hon. Henry I. Emerson, for their co-opeation and help, and the Hon. Jas. S. Blaksley, 4th postmaster general, for his courteous consideration and advice.

The following letter from the postoffice department to Mr. Emerson clearly sets forth the final result of our investigation.

Very truly yours,
W. J. CARMICHAEL, Mayor.

POSTOFFICE DEPARTMENT
FOURTH ASSISTANT POSTMASTER GENERAL, WASHINGTON
January 31, 1917.

Hon. Henry I. Emerson,
House of Representatives.

My Dear Mr. Emerson.

The receipt is acknowledged your letter of the 29th instant, re questing that the free delivery mail be put into operation in Wi loughby, Ohio, and with referenc thereto I beg to state that a town not entitled to consideration for cit delivery until the receipts of the pos office have reached $10,000 during fiscal year.

The Department is authorized, how ever, to inaugurate village deliver service in towns having postoffices the third class, or of the second clas not entitled to city delivery.

Should steps be taken looking to ward the inauguration of village de livery in Willoughby, as a prelimin ary it would be necessary for an in vestigation to be made by a postof fice inspector, and if the repor should be favorable, further tim would be required in order to giv advance notice of the establishmen of the service. You will, therefore see that it might be considerable tim before village delivery could be pu into operation.

It appears that the receipts of th Willoughby postoffice are approach ing the rate of $10,000 a year, an this bureau has been assured that b the end of the current fiscal year which closes June 30, the receipt will considerably exceed that amount In this view it seems advisable there fore to let the matter rest until it ca be ascertained whether the town wil be entitled to consideration for cit delivery after June 30.

If it is apparent, however, towar the close of this fiscal year that th receipts of the postoffice will no reach $10,000, application may be re newed for the installation of villag delivery and the matter will be give prompt consideration.

Sincerely yours,
JAS. S. BLAKSLEY,
Fourth Assistant Postmaster Genera

"I have tried Toedtmann's 'Honeypepper' frequently for cough and cold; it has always helped me quickly. I have often recommended it to my friends. One of them, on East 120th street, had to stop work on account of coughing for four months. I induced him to take 'Honeypepper'; he took four bottles and is now back at work. He says 'Honeypepper did it.'" Geo. A. Reynolds, Supt. Garbage Collection, City of Cleveland. For sale at all leading drug stores. All wholesale houses or address Honeypepper, 838 E. 105th St.

WANT TO SHOOT QUAIL TO HELP WILD TURKEYS

Petitions calling for 200,000 signatures to get a short open season for quail hunting in Ohio have been issued by the League of Ohio Sportsmen and are being distributed throughout Cuyahoga county.

The League also wants a short season for grouse, pheasant and Hungarian partridge and also a closed season to propagate wild turkey.

The petitions will be forwarded to the legislature at Columbus.

At the last session the league hit a snag in the senate when quail hunting was prohibited after a vigorous protest against it by Senator White of Erie County.

Suits and Overcoats Reduced

$16.50 and $18.00 Values
$13.75

$20, $22.50, $25 and $28 Values
$17.75

OUR regular $16.50 and $18 suits and overcoats, guaranteed absolutely all wool—thoroughly dependable merchandise. Men and young men's styles in such a large variety of fabrics and styles that we can suit every man's fancy. It is important for you to understand that we are holding this sale in the face of higher prices for woolens. Furthermore—and equally important—our regular prices all during the season have been lower, for equal qualities than the lowest sale prices with which the papers are now filled. Formerly $16.50 and $18.00 garments are now $13.75

YET, even better than the price reductions, are the clothes themselves—the standard makes, such as Kirschbaum, Society Brand and other clothes of the finest makers. The reductions and the clothe in this sale improve on acquaintance. They look better the closer you look into them. The fabrics are the pick of the loom, and the making is of the kind that has establishel the character of The May Co.'s business. There is a tremendous assortment of suits and overcoats—all the good models of the seasson—all kinds of fabrics except plain blacks and blues—all reduced to $17.75. $17.75

For the man who wants a finer suit or overcoat, we are selling goods formerly priced as high as $35 for $24.75—and values up to$40 for $29.75

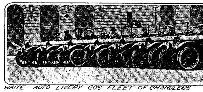
Waite Auto Livery Uses Chandlers



WAITE AUTO LIVERY CO'S FLEET OF CHANDLERS

No Chandler motor car is ever found wanting—it is always equal to any emergency or to any test it may be called upon to stand, and for those reasons A. F. Waite, proprietor of the Waite Auto Livery, 44 Public Square, Cleveland, has a fleet of these most dependable cars for the constant use of his legion of patrons, they knowing full well that when they start on a journey that they will arrive at their destination in good time.

Mr. Waite, after giving his first Chandler a hard "run" of 15,000 miles, practically without injury, concluded that the Chandler was the car for his business. "Yes, and I might say," said Mr. Waite, "that the car is in shape to do another 15,000 miles without repairs had I wished to again make so long a trip."

The Waite Auto Livery is so abundantly equipped with the never-failing Chandler that it is always in readiness to care for all demands made upon it, for either "short or long hauls."

Owing to the extraordinary low cost of upkeep and fuel economy of the Chandler cars the Waite Auto Livery is in a position to transport passengers at the extremely low rate of $2.50 an hour.

These cars are sumptuous in all of their appointments and as sturdy as the best of materials can make them, and that is why this auto livery is so popular with those who refuse to ride in machines but the very best.

TWENTIETH YEAR—NO. 5. WILLOUGHBY, OHIO, FEBRUARY 16, 1917. ONE DOLLAR A YEAR IN ADVANCE

EXHIBIT OF WORK AT ANDREWS SCHOOL

The opportunity to view the work of the Andrews School students, Friday last, was taken advantage of by numbers of people, despite the cold weather. The exhibit more than repaid the trip, from the finished gowns in the dressmaking department to the finished products which were offered in the way of delightful little cakes in the culinary departments.

There is something very beguiling about little cakes and afternoon tea, and the girls demonstrated their ability to perfection as hostesses, and the serving of these repasts in Cottage No. 2. A bob sled was at the service of all who wished to ride from the main building to this cottage.

Millinery, afternoon gowns, evening gowns and graduating dresses all served to exhibit the work of the girls. One can only wonder at the degree of perfection arrived at by each and

Washington's Birthday Selected for Boys' Convention

A boys' convention, representing the Lake County Y. M. C. A. will mark the occasion of Washington's birthday, the 22nd of February, here. Between 200 and 300 boys are expected to participate. The affair will be held either in the auditorium of the high school or the Methodist church. Sessions in the afternoon will be addressed by Coach Connor of Cleveland and Mr. Lanhan, state worker of the Y. M. C. A. A banquet will be served to the boys in the evening at

EDWARD THOMAS HAS A BIRTHDAY PARTY

Master Edward Thomas was surprised Saturday evening by the seventh grade in masquerade costumes. It was the occasion of his 12th birthday. The class presented him with a gold shirt set, and numerous other gifts.

Games and a happy time was indulged in. Supper was served to the little folks by the hostess. The guests included Robert and Billy Thomas, Norman Myers, Frederick Andrews, William Jackman, Stewart Holland, James Marble, James Billson, Grace Randall, Raynette Barnes, Mary Weider, Lillian Speares, Gladys Yaxley, Winifred Jackman and others.

ANDREWS SCHOOL ITEMS

Miss Della Woodruff and Miss Ollie Burnham are ill.

A new girl, Eleanor House, of Rome, Ashtabula county, arrived at the school Wednesday morning. She is a half-sister of Mildred House, who graduated three years ago.

The school will close Wednesday, February 21st, for the balance of the week.

LADIES ENTERTAINED AT ART GALLERY

Mrs. J. G. Hale entertained six ladies in Cleveland Friday last. Lunch was indulged in at the Cleveland Art Gallery, after which the guests enjoyed a trip through the gallery. The guests included Mrs. R. W. Atwood, Mrs. E. E. Brott, Mrs. H. F. Kennedy, Mrs. N. P. Crawford, Mrs. Geo. Collister and Mrs. W. C. Collister.

PAST MASTERS WILL SERVE

The O. E. S. will furnish supper for the Masons at their meeting February 22nd. The Past Masters will put on the work.

WASHINGTON'S BIRTHDAY PARTY

Mrs. H. F. Kennedy will entertain the Daughters' Circle Wednesday next with a Washington's Birthday gathering. Mrs. Blanchard will act as assistant hostess.

An innovation in the work of the Circle is that of sewing for the children who are being taken care of by the Humane Society of Cleveland.

VALENTINE TOUCH AT PARTY

Mrs. L. W. Penfield entertained with nine tables for "500" Thursday last. Hearts played at the opening at some tables gave a valentine touch to the games.

BOB-SLED PARTY

A bob-sled party of the senior class of the Woman's College, Cleveland, enjoyed a winter frolic Friday evening last. The gathering numbered about 30. Start was made in the bobs at Euclid. An appetizing supper was served the merry-makers by Mr. Pinkerton of the Willoughby Inn at 8:30. Miss Dorothy Stallings, a local student at the college, was among the group.

FIRE AT TUCKER HOME

A fire on the Ridge called the services of the Willoughby fire department Tuesday morning at 10 o'clock. A water tower at the home of S. W. Tucker burned to the ground. Neighbors did all in their power to render assistance in keeping the flames from spreading. The exact amount of the loss had not been estimated Tuesday.

CAPT. BELL WILL ADDRESS CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

The annual meeting of the Willoughby Chamber of Commerce will be held Tuesday evening, February 20th. Supper at 6:30. Reports of officers and election of a new board of directors.

Surgeon Captain W. J. Bell, at home on furlough from the allied European armies, will address the Chamber on his experiences at the front.

CAPT. ELLEN TO REPRESENT SON OF MRS. FULLER

Mr. Simeon F. Fuller, the youngest son of Mrs. Eliza Fuller, is at present in Buenos Aires, Brazil, as a representative of the Goodyear Tire & Rubber Company. Mr. J. S. Ellen cabled him Friday morning of the death of his mother, and received a prompt reply requesting Mr. Ellen to represent him in looking after all matters requiring attention.

Mr. Fuller, who speaks Spanish fluently, has for many years spent most of his time in Mexico and South America, representing various business interests from the states.

VISITOR FROM TOLEDO.

Mrs. James M. Hough came over from Toledo to attend the funeral of her aunt, Mrs. Eliza Fuller, on Sunday. She is remaining a few days as the guest of Mrs. Louis W. Penfield, and taking occasion to call on many of her old friends in Willoughby and vicinity.

NEWS HELD FOR LACK OF SPACE

Owing to lack of space obituary notices are necessarily held until next week. This also applies to Kirtland, School notes and other news.

LOCAL FOLKS MEET TO TALK OVER NEW BANK

A meeting of local people was scheduled to be held at the library at 7:30 Thursday night, to talk over the matter of the new bank. It was expected to elect a temporary board and officers at that time.

WILLIAM VERNON BACKUS TO ADDRESS WOMAN'S CLUB

William Vernon Backus will address the Woman's Club Friday night at 7:30. "The Real Truth About Mexico" is the subject of his address upon which he is well equipped to speak, having been president of the American colony in Mexico for several years. He is a most interesting speaker. The affair will be under the auspices of the Woman's Club, open to members and their guests.

FIRE ON SECOND STREET

A house owned by the DeJoie family, formerly belonging to E. J. Dickey, was practically destroyed by fire Saturday last at about 6 o'clock. The hose was badly frozen up, making it difficult to use, and delaying the work of extinguishing the blaze.

CARD PARTY IN CLEVELAND

Several ladies of the local chapter of the O. E. S. will attend a card party to be given by the Cleveland chapter at the Statler next Friday afternoon.

OLD RESIDENT ILL.

Robert Bales, who resides at Stop 142, the Shore Line, has been ill for some time. Mr. Bales was 91 years old Monday last, Lincoln's birthday, and the birthday of Mr. Bales' father also fell upon the Lincoln anniversary.

REED FAIRLEY HAS CHARACTER ANALYSIS

Wm. Judson [illegible] delivered an address at the high school Tuesday night under the auspices of the Andrews school and High school commercial classes.

His system of character analysis was explained by chart and lecture. Reed Fairley was selected as a subject, and received favorable comment at the hands of the character reader. He suggested that the boy was overenthusiastic, not usually a quality to be condemned, and gave an interesting analysis and talk in general.

VETERAN IS BURIED UPON LINCOLN'S BIRTHDAY

Rev. Bright conducted the funeral services for Absalom Bates, of Kinsman, at 11 Monday, the 12th. The deceased was a member of a former church where Rev. Bright has officiated. His wife passed on in 1912. Mr. Bates was a veteran of the Civil war, and spent some time in Libby prison. He was 70 years of age. Five children and a sister survive. A daughter, Grace Bates, lives at the home in Kinsman. The funeral occurred on Lincoln's birthday, a date that seemed fitting for this civil war veteran.

FLORIDA FEELS COLD ALSO

Sixteen degrees below, or weather reported as the coldest in this section for 47 years, seems almost unendurable in these parts, but Florida has also had a touch of low temperature, even more keenly felt in that warmer climate. Letters received in this vicinity from the section of Tampa, Fla., report that [illegible] cold weather has been recorded there. [illegible] plants, strawberries and other produce have suffered severely. The cabbage patch that should have yielded [illegible] dollars [illegible] to be practically worthless on account of the effects of the cold [illegible].

THE RENDERING OF "THE [illegible]"

[illegible] in reference to the rendering of "The [illegible]" Monday night. The [illegible] children exceeded all expectations and the soloists who are of a high order, were exceptionally fine. The balcony was filled, but the lower floor showed a smaller crowd. This was noted with regret as an unusual amount of energy and effort had been expended by teachers, pupils and all connected with the affair to make it a presentation of worth.

MAYOR TAKES TRIP

Mayor Carmichael has been taking a trip through the east and New York, Philadelphia and other points were included in the stops.

MARTIN WHITE, OF WICKLIFFE, SUCCUMBS

Martin White of Wickliffe, passed away at his home on the Ridge Monday night. The funeral occurred on Wednesday at 2 p. m., the Rev. Axtell officiating.

Mr. and Mrs. White had taken a trip to Florida in the hope of improving Mr. White's health, and had only returned about three weeks previous to his death.

He was born in Euclid and was 69 years of age. His wife was Helen Louis, of Glenville, and the couple had been married 36 years. One boy, Howard, was born of the union. This son lives upon the Ridge. A sister of Mr. White's, Mrs. George Merrill, lives in Wickliffe. A brother, C. White, resides at Euclid.

Mr. White was of a quiet and unassuming nature. He was a great friend to all and his good qualities were such as to endear him to a host of neighbors and friends. He will be greatly missed in a wide circle of the county and surrounding vicinity where his life was mainly spent.

EVANGELIST MacDONALD

Evangelistic meetings will begin at the Church of Christ Friday evening of this week, and continue every evening at 7:30 o'clock. Evangelist MacDonald is well and favorably known to the people of Willoughby. He comes to us from a meeting in West Virginia, where 92 confessed Christ, 27 being in the penitentiary. Plan to attend every night. Let our slogan be "Willoughby for Christ."

DR. BELL EXPECTED TO DELIVER AN ADDRESS SUNDAY

It is expected that Dr. Bell will reach home in time to deliver an address at the Methodist church on Sunday of this week, at 4 p. m. In the event that he makes the address, there will be no evening service at the Methodist church.

It is believed that Dr. Bell will undoubtedly arrive in time to make the talk, but is necessary to make the tentative announcement at this time.

MARCH WEATHER 12 YEARS AGO

Some of the residents who have despaired of the thermometer ever ascending, during the past few days, report that in the middle of March, just 12 years oga, the thermometer registered 80 above for two or three days. One considerate resident kindly passes this information on, as a hopeful indication that our climate is subject to sudden changes.

Commencement Exercises For Founders' Day

Tableaux of an unusual and interesting character, featuring "Woman in American History," were most entertainingly presented at the sixth annual commencement of the Andrews Institute for Girls Saturday night, concluding the two days' observance of Founder's Day. The progress that has been made and the results shown commencement night, would undoubtedly inspire much joy [illegible] the heart of the founder, whose [illegible] in Willoughby, February 10, [illegible] most fittingly observed. [illegible] orchestra supplied the music, and Olive H. [illegible] rendered the Prologue. A "standing room only" audience taxed the capacity of the auditorium.

The Indian village was a most fitting opening number, most effectively staged and presented.

The pageant represented the concerted work of every one at the school. Team work is the slogan and even the scene shifters were men workers from the Andrews school.

"Priscilla, the Puritan Maiden," was the second episode, and most appreciatively received. Each presentation showed careful thought.

Happily gay, and interspersed at the right moment was the graceful dances as introduced in "The Colonial Virginia" episode.

"The Story of the Flag," featuring Betsy Ross, struck a responsive chord in the audience, and a small girl on the Andrews side of the ribbon that divided the audience, when asked which set she deemed the best, replied without hesitation, "The Betsy Ro[illegible]." "Woman in the Civil War."

Andrews' Graduate Alumni Plan to Hold Annual Meetings in Willougby

The graduates of the Andrews school held a meeting Saturday last and organized an association to be known as the Andrews Alumni Association. Forty-three were present. Helen Burke was elected president; Mrs. Raymond Hill, vice president; secretary, Evaline Cleveland; treasurer, Mildred Spence. Mrs. Hill played the piano and response to roll call was made by each girl telling of what she is doing, and what she expects to do. It was decided to have an annual meeting, the date to be arranged as near to Founder's Day at Andrews as possible. It was also decided to entertain all the students each year with a picnic at the farm. After the meeting dinner was served at Mrs. Seelye's cottage, after which the girls attended the annual commencement.

Steps Towards A Red Cross Branch

Interest has been expressed in the establishment of a Red Cross branch in Willoughby. Tentative steps have been taken that the Daughters' Circle may organize one here, and in the event that they cannot, Mrs. H. F. Kennedy will probably arrange to take other steps in order to form a local organization. Possibly it might be arranged to work in conjunction with the Lake county movement, as mentioned in article on page six.

LEGAL NOTICE

Daniel Kellog, and the unknown heirs, devisees and personal representatives of Daniel Kellog, deceased; Isaac L. Hewitt, and the unknown heirs, devisees and personal representatives of Isaac L. Hewitt, deceased; H. Zauner, first name unknown, and the unknown heirs, devisees and personal representatives of H. Zauner, first name unknown, deceased; German Insurance Company, a Corporation, and ____ Haas, first name unknown, wife or widow of Richard Haas, otherwise known as Jane Doe, real name unknown, wife or widow of Richard Haas, all of whose places of residence are unknown, and the names of the unknown heirs, devisees and personal representatives being unknown, will take notice that The Cleveland Trust Company, a corporation, as Plaintiff, has filed its petition against them and others in the Court of Common Pleas of Cuyahoga County, Ohio, alleging that it is a corporation, and that it is the owner in fee simple and in actual possession of the following described real estate, to-wit:

Situated in the City of Cleveland, County of Cuyahoga and State of Ohio, and known as being Sub-Lots Nos. 1, 2, 3, 4, 14, 15 and 16 in Spencer Stafford's Subdivision of a part of Original Two Acre Lots Nos. 31 and 32, as shown by the recorded plat of said Subdivision in Volume "Z" of Deeds, Page 721 of Cuyahoga County Records, and bounded and described as follows:

Beginning at the intersection of the Southerly line of Lakeside avenue, N. W. with the Westerly line of West 3rd Street (formerly Seneca Street); thence Westerly along the Southerly line of Lakeside Avenue, N. W., 199 feet 2 inches to its intersection with the Easterly line of West 4th Street (formerly Academy Street); thence Southerly along the Easterly line of West 4th Street, 126 feet 10 1-2 inches to the Northerly line of said Sub Lot No. 5 in said subdivision: thence easterly along the northerly line of said Sublot No. 5, 199 feet 2 inches to the Westerly line of West 3rd Street; thence northerly along the westerly line of West 3rd St., 126 ft. 10 1-2 inches to the place of beginning, as appears by said plat.

The petition alleges that the Defendants, Daniel Kellog, and the unknown heirs, devisees and personal representatives of Daniel Kellog, deceased, claim an estate or interest in said premises adverse to Plaintiff's rights, by virtue of a certain improperly cancelled mortgage, executed by James R. Stafford, then the owner of said premises, in favor of Daniel Kellog, which mortgage is dated November 11, 1839, and is recorded in Volume 27, Page 473 of Cuyahoga County Records; but that Plaintiff believes and alleges that said mortgage has been fully paid and satisfied;

That the defendants, Isaac L. Hewitt, and the unknown heirs, devisees, and personal representatives of Isaac L. Hewitt, deceased, claim an estate or interest in said premises adverse to Plaintiff's rights, by virtue of a certain improperly cancelled mortgage executed by Frederick A. Keppler, then the owner of said premises, in favor of Isaac L. Hewitt, which mortgage is dated April 24, 1851, and is recorded in Volume 52, Page 16, of Cuyahoga County Records: but that Plaintiff believes and alleges that said mortgage has been fully paid and satisfied, and also by virtue of an improperly cancelled mortgage, executed by Frederick A. Keppler, then the owner of said premises, in favor of Isaac L. Hewitt, which mortgage is dated June 3, 1851, and is recorded in Volume 52, Page 508 of Cuyahoga County Records: but that plaintiff believes and alleges that said mortgage has been fully paid and satisfied;

That the defendant, German Insurance Company claims an estate or interest in said premises adverse to Plaintiff's rights, by reason of an improperly cancelled mortgage executed by Adam Shider to the said German Insurance Company, which mortgage is dated May 25, 1870, and is recorded in Volume 130, page 40, of Cuyahoga County Records, but that Plaintiff believes and alleges, that said mortgage has been fully paid and satisfied.

That the defendants, H. Zauner, first name unknown, and the unknown heirs, devisees and personal representatives of H. Zauner, first name unknown, deceased, claim some estate or interest in said premises adverse to plaintiff' rights by virtue of a certain mortgage executed by Barbara Schneider, then the owner of said premises, in favor of said H. Zauner, dated July 24, 1893, and recorded in Volume 562, page 651 of Cuyahoga County Records, which mortgage was improperly assigned by the said H. Zauner to John Lendy, on July 24, 1893, and which assignment is recorded in Release Volume 11, Page 191, of Cuyahoga County Records, but that Plaintiff believes and alleges that the said mortgage has been fully paid and satisfied;

That the defendant, ____ Haas, first name unknown, wife or widow of Richard Haas, otherwise known as Jane Doe, real name unknown, wife or widow of Richard Haas, claims an estate or interest adverse to Plaintiff's rights, by reason of a certain deed from Richard Haas, then the owner of said premises, to Adam Haas, dated May 16, 1848, and recorded in Volume 41, Page 651 of Cuyahoga County Records, in which deed no wife joins with the Grantor nor is any statement made that the said Grantor was single: but the Plaintiff believes and therefore alleges that the said Richard Haas, at the time of the execution of said deed was unmarried.

The petition further says that none of said defendants has any interest whatever in said premises, and that any interest they or any or all of them may have had has long since been barred by lapse of time and the Statutes of Limitations; that none of said defendants has ever sought to convey or attempted to enforce or assert any interest in and to the said premises, and that as against the said defendants and each and all of them, Plaintiff and its predecessors in title have held and been in the actual, open, notorious, continuous and adverse possession of said premises for more than twenty-one years last preceding the filing of said petition.

The prayer of said petition is that said defendants and each and all of them may be compelled to show their said interest in said premises, if any; that the same may be adjudged to be null and void; that Plaintiff's title be quieted against said defendants and for relief.

Said petition is No. 154137, and each and all of the above named defendants are required to answer the same on or before the 17th day of March, A. D. 1917, or judgment will be taken in accordance with the prayer of the petition. J25 M1

RESOLUTION NO. 1730.

By Mr. Hartshorn:

Declaring it necessary that both sewer and water curb connections shall be connected to each sublot or parcel of land abutting on both sides of

Shaker Road, from North Woodland Road to East Monmouth Road;
Rexwood Road, from Kensington Road to Cedar Road;
Queenston Road, from North Woodland Road to Scarborough Road;
Parkdale Road, from Noble Road to Cleveland Heights Blvd.;
Dellwood Road, from Lee Road to Taylor Road;
Ormond Road, from Lee Road to Taylor Road;
Washington Blvd., from Lee Road to Goodnor Road;
East Yorkshire Road, from Lee Road to Goodnor Road;
East Derbyshire Road, from Lee Road to Goodnor Road;
East Berkshire Road, from Lee Road to Goodnor Road;
Nela View Road, from Noble Road to Winsford Road;
Selwyn Road, from Greyton Road to Winsford Road;
Helendale Road, from Noble Road to Winsford Road;
Idlewood Road, from North Woodland Road to East Monmouth Road, in the Village of Cleveland Heights, Ohio, and providing for notice of same.

Section 1. Be it resolved by the Council of the Village of Cleveland Heights, Ohio, that it is deemed necessary, in view of the contemplated street paving, and also as a sanitary regulation, that both sewer and water connections be constructed to each sublot or parcel of land abutting on both sides of

Shaker Road, from North Woodland Road to East Monmouth Road;
Rexwood Road, from Kensington Road to Cedar Road;
Queenston Road, from North Woodland Road to Scarborough Road;
Parkdale Road, from Noble Road to Cleveland Heights Blvd.
Dellwood Road, from Lee Road to Taylor Road;
Ormond Road, from Lee Road to Taylor Road;
Washington Blvd., from Lee Road to Goodnor Road;
East Yorkshire Road, from Lee Road to Goodnor Road;
East Derbyshire Road, from Lee Road to Goodnor Road;
East Berkshire Road, from Lee Road to Goodnor Road;
Nela View Road, from Noble Road to Winsford Road;
Selwyn Road, from Greyton Road to Winsford Road;
Helensdale Road, from Noble Road to Winsford Road;
Idlewood Road, from North Woodland Road to East Monmouth Road, in accordance with the specifications thereof, for each of said sub-lots or parcels of land now on file in the office of the Engineer of said Village at the Town Hall therein.

Section 2. It is hereby ordered that written notice of this resolution and its passage shall be given to each of the owners of said sub-lot or parcels of land abutting upon the streets aforesaid, in the manner provided by law, for the service of summons in civil actions; provided, that if any of said owners be non-residents of the Corporation, or cannot be found, then such notice shall be given by publication twice in one or more newspapers of general circulation in said Village. Said notice shall also state the number and character of the connections required to each sublot or parcel of land abutting on said streets, as shown by the Engineer's specifications aforesaid. D. E. Beech is hereby appointed to serve said notices.

Section 3. It is hereby further ordered that the sewer and water curb connections to each sublot or parcel of land shall be constructed within twenty (20) days from the date of the service of said notices or the day of the first publication thereof, as the case may be, and unless said sewer and water connections are constructed by the owners respectively, of said sub-lots or parcels of land within twenty days of such notice or the day of the first publication thereof, the Village of Cleveland Heights will construct the same and will assess against the aforesaid sublots and parcels of land the cost thereof, together with interest charges, which said assessments shall be certified and collected as other assessments for street improvements.

Passed February 5th, 1917.

F. C. CAIN,
Mayor, President of Council.
Attest: H. H. CANFIELD, Clerk.

THE MAN WHO COULDN'T SAVE

Stanzas from a longer poem by Edgar H. Guest, from his recently published book of poems, "A Heap o' Livin'" from the press of Reilly and Britton Company, publishers, Chicago.

He spent what he made, or he gave it away.
Tried to save money, and would for a day.
Started a bank account time an' again,
Got a hundred or so for a nest egg, an' then
Some fellow that needed it more than he did,
Who was down on his luck, with a sick wife or kid,
Came along an' he wasted no time till he went,
An' drew out the coin that for saving was meant.

They say he died poor, and I guess that is so:
To pile up a fortune he hadn't a show;
He worked all the time and good money he made,
Was known as an excellent man at his trade,
But he saw too much, heard too much, felt too much here
To save anything by the end of the year.
An' the shabbiest wreck the Lord ever let live
Could get money from him if he had it to give.

Never stinted his family out of a thing:
They had everything that his money could bring;
Said he'd rather be broke and just know they were glad,
Than rich, with them pinin' an' wishing they had
Some of the pleasures his money would buy;
Said he never could look a bank book in the eye
If he knew it had grown on the pleasures and joys
That he'd robbed from his wife and his girls and his boys.

Queer sort of notion he had, I confess,
Yet many a rich man on earth is mourned less.
All who had known him came back to his side
To honor his name on the day that he died.
Didn't leave much in the bank, it is true,
But did leave a fortune in people who knew
The big heart of him, an' I'm willing to swear
That today he is one of the richest up there.

ABRAHAM LINCOLN

The speeding of time has again brought about the anniversary of the birth of Abraham Lincoln. Emerson has said that the true test of a country is not the crops or the census but the kind of a man the country turns out. Abraham Lincoln was the culmination of American manhood. In him the Republic gave birth to its best. It is doubtful whether his services to his country were the greater or whether his inspiration to future generations was the greater. Stanton said a wonderful truth when Lincoln died: "Now he belongs to the ages."

Every community which does not, in its schools and in its public assemblages, observe the birthday of Lincoln, sustains a loss to itself. While he belongs to all the country the members of the great political party which he helped to found have a special obligation resting on them to see that his memory is respected and his principles perpetuated.

BUSINESS IS BUSINESS

"Business is business," but men are men,
Loving and working, dreaming,
Toiling with pencil or spade or pen,
Roistering, planning, scheming.

"Business is Business," but he's a fool
Whose business has grown to smother
His faith in men and the golden rule,
His love for a friend and brother.

"Business is business"—but life is life
Though we're all in the game to win it,
Let's rest sometimes from the heat and strife
And try to be friends a minute.

Let's seek to be comrades now and then,
And slip from our golden tether;
"Business is business," but men are men
And we're all good pals together!

Easy & Practical Home Dress Making Lessons

Prepared Specially for This Newspaper

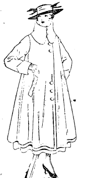
Smart in Cut and Material

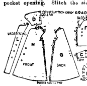


One of the newest coats for Winter wear, fashioned of dark blue velours. It may be trimmed with kolinsky if a charming bit of contrast is desired.

In every line and expression the newest coats emphasize the note of chic, though sometimes the utmost simplicity is observed in their development. This coat has a large collar that may be rolled high or low and one-piece sleeves finished with deep turn-back cuffs. Pockets may be omitted, if [illegible], but it is hard to think what the average woman would do without pockets [illegible] them so long. [illegible]

After [illegible] herself with the construction guide, the home dressmaker begins her work by taking up a dart in the front of the coat as perforated. Then slash along crossline of 4 small "o" perforations below waistline for pocket. Stitch 2 pocket sections together, to form a bag, corresponding edges even; leaving upper edge (indicated by small "o" perforation) free. Sew pocket to the slashed edges in front of coat. Large "O" perforations indicate front of pocket. Close under-arm and shoulder seams as notched; center-front indicated by large "O" perforations.

Next, face the pocket welt and sew the lower edge to the lower edge of pocket opening. Stitch the side edges of welt to position. Now, adjust the underfacing to position underneath the front, corresponding edges even.



If desired, the collar may be trimmed from lower edge to crossline of small "o" perforations with fur or velvet. Then sew to neck edge, notches and center-backs even, leaving collar free forward of small "o" perforation. Roll collar high or low, as fancy dictates.

Then close the sleeve seams as notched and line cuff. Sew cuff to sleeve as notched, seams even. Sew sleeve in armhole, small "o" perforation at shoulder seam casing in any fulness.

The modish kolinsky is a charming contrast in color as well as in texture to the material of the coat, if fur is used to trim the collar.

Pictorial Review Coat No. 6940. Sizes, 14 to 20 years. Price, 20 cents.

NAME YOUR PRICE IN YOUR ADVERTISING

New York Business Man Says Better Results are Obtained if Details, Including the Cost, Appear in Copy.

"Advertisers who are afraid to name the price of their product never get any of my money," said a New York business man. "And really it's amazing to note how many ads. omit this important item.

"In some cases it is excusable. If a firm is pushing a product in which many styles and models at various figures are included it is obviously impracticable to state prices. But in the majority of instances the advertiser is afraid that the price will frighten the prospect away, so he plays for inquiries, hoping that the additional data given in his follow up or by his salesmen will excuse the price.

"Now, the first question asked by every sane, living mortal, be he pauper or plutocrat, is, 'What's the price?'

"Answer that question, and if he's interested he'll write for further data or search out a dealer who handles your line. Fail to answer it and he thinks: 'Well, if I knew the price I might be interested. But it must be almighty steep or they'd have named it. I guess I won't do anything about it at present.'

"Omitting the price may increase the number of inquiries, but I'll bet you ten to one that it decreases the number of inquiries."

WINTER RELIEF COMMITTEE ISSUES APPEAL

The winter relief committee of the Cleveland Associated Charities has issued an appeal for funds to meet the unusual demands for assistance made at midwinter. "The chief causes of need are operating all the time—accident, death or desertion of the breadwinner and sickness. Now intense cold is added. Unfortunate families are heavily burdened by increased food prices, and sickness is prevalent at this season. There is great need in Cleveland and the financial resources of the Associated Charities are inadequate to meet it. The Associated Charities must have more money to help the stricken and the helpless. Heart-rending calls are many, and funds are necessary at once. Twenty-five thousand dollars at least must somehow be furnished in this extraordinary time."

Betsy Ross Didn't Make the Flag

Through all the long years that have passed since the Revolution the people of this great and happy land have been told that Betsy Ross made the first American flag, and pictures of the little house in which the flag was said to have been made are as familiar to school children as the portrait of Washington.

Now (and in Philadelphia!) it has just been discovered that the immortal Betsy did not make the first flag. On the contrary, if the revelations are correct, it was made by Hannah Rore, who was President McKinley's great grandmother. Here is the story as told by a correspondent of the Philadelphia Evening Ledger:

Andrew Rore was driven from England to Holland by religious persecution, then came to America and obtained land in Pennsylvania from the Indians by treaty, the same as Penn. This land was then got from the Indians by what was then known as a "walk-around"—as much land as a man could walk around from sun to sun or sunrise to sunrise again, the Indians receiving so much goods in barter for each "walk-around." In this way he became owner of hundreds of acres of ground, situated in Bucks county, the county seat, Doylestown, being situated on the old homestead.

Later Andrew Rore moved nearer Philadelphia, where he had fisheries, ferries, lumber mills and iron furnaces, all of which are named in his will, filed in Doylestown. Almost all the manufacturing part of Philadelphia is on his ground. Most impotant of all there were his furnaces. He was the first iron man in Pennsylvania and probably the first in America. All, or nearly all, the shot and shells of the Revolutionary war were manufactured in the Rore furnaces.

His wife was an English Quaker lady of a wealthy Philadelphia family. Her name was Hannah Chapman, relative of Doctor Chapman, who was considered the "Father of Medicine" in this country.

Hannah Chapman Rore made the flag for our country. I believe at this time Philadelphia was in a state of siege; at any rate materials were hard to be obtained. Nothing daunted, Hannah Rore said it should be truly an "American flag." All fabrics at that time were imported from England except homespun linen and woolens. So she used for the red a red flannel shirt and for the white a white flannel petticoat. This history has been handed down from one generation to another ever since the Revolutionary war. Unfortunately they failed to say where the blue in the flag came from. We think, Betsy Ross, being a flagmaker, must have been confused with Hannah Rore, for Betsy never made the flag. Thus erroneously she has been given the credit of it. Hannah Rore was considered a very refined, well educated, gentle lady.

After the war was over everything was exceedingly dull at Philadelphia, so Andrew Rore and his family emigrated to Center county, where he established more iron furnaces known until a late date as the Rore furnaces. Then our government gave him land in Mercer county for services rendered during the Revolutionary war. This is known in history as the "donation." This land was divided among his sons. He had a large family, among which were Jacob, James and Mary. These three were more closely connected together than the others in a way. James married Martha McKinley. Mary, or Polly Rore, as she was called, married David McKinley and was President William McKinley's grandmother, Jacob being grandfather of the writer of his article. These three families kept up a close intercourse during their lives. David McKinley, William's grandfather, learned his vocation as an iron manufacturer in the Rore furnaces.

When the family went to Mercer county it was a wilderness, with Indians, bears, deer, panthers and many snakes. This family, undaunted, established grammar schools, singing schools, spelling schools and the Presbyterian church. It has furnished Pennsylvania and Ohio, but particularly Pennsylvania, many prominent men—lawyers, judges, governors, and one President, William McKinley, all descendants of Hannah Chapman Rore, who made our flag.

KEEPING UP YOUR AMBITION

By Orison Swett Marden.

When we go through the orchards in early autumn we see the ground covered with windfalls, though it is not yet time for the fruit to ripen. [illegible] have fallen off prematurely, they could not hang on any longer because there was no more vitality in them. They had lost their [illegible]

One of the saddest things in life is to see men and women with a faded [illegible] men and women who started out with bright prospects, but who have allowed their ideals to become dim and blurred, their standards to drop, their ambition to sag, the fires of their energy to burn out and their enthusiasm to gradually cool down under the inexorable routine of the daily round.

A great many people are windfalls. Their blossoms and early fruit prospects are promising, they stop growing and fall out of the ranks practically useless.

The most unfortunate thing in life, except crime itself, is the death of ambition. There is a vast amount of splendid ability in men and women in the great failure army of today. But what can you do with a person after ambition has died in him, when he has no inclination to help himself; when he has lost all desire to better his condition?

While all human achievement has its root in man's climbing instinct there is no quality which requires more watching, guarding, cultivating, than ambition. It will not keep growing and live if it is not nourished; and the moment a man begins to disregard it he begins to go down hill. His energy wanes; he gradually deteriorates in his personal appearance, in his conduct, in his language. He becomes slovenly in his dress, slipshod in his manner and his work, until he finally loses all pride in himself and slides down rapidly to the bottom of the hill. He becomes a useless or a dangerous member of society, for, as someone has said: "A man without ambition is a derelict, dangerous to others and of no value to himself."

If you find that there is something the matter with your ambition, if it is spasmodic, if it tends to sag, especially under discouragement, you should build it up, strengthen it in every possible way. For instance, if you are in a line of work which you intend to follow for life, make up your mind to prepare yourself for a partnership in your employer's firm. This is a perfectly legitimate ambition which has been realized by many American boys who began at the bottom of the ladder. At all events, whatever happens the ambition, and the preparation for the partnership will be the best possible developer for you.—The Nautilus.

Grandmothers Were Not Always Grandmothers!

Have you a little grandmother in your home? And does she go on about "how different girls" were in her time?" Does she worry about the fewness of your petticoats and the shortness of your dresses, and the way you ruin your hair with curling irons? And has she really made you think that twentieth-century girls are the most silly, extravagant, flighty creatures that ever were? Bear this great truth in mind: grandmothers were not always grandmothers. The youngest crop, for instance, are none other than the giddy belles of the seventies, with their nineteen-inch waists and shocking dust-catcher skirts. And when one of them begins "In the good old days," answer quickly: "Yes, and what about the good old ribs and the good old germs?" Says a contemporary historian of the sixties: "The younger generation can never fully realize what extraordinary exhibitions their polite ancestresses made of themselves during that terrible reign of crinoline. Lady Neville, standing too near the fire, nearly burned to death in the presence of half a dozen other ladies, who could not assist her on account of their wide-spreading hoops. And thrifty young ladies of the fifties paid $200 for a bonnet without a murmur, according to "Every Week."

And the further back one goes the worse it gets. Grandmother talks and her mother talked of the "sweet naturalness" of the girls of yester-year. This wholesome tidbit of advice was given to young ladies of the forties by an influential journal of the time: "Let the skirt flow in long, full folds [illegible] to leave the sweet, tiny [illegible] the fairy feet.' And, [illegible] sport a shawl, let it always be falling off or being drawn on, thus producing pretty action.' At the same safe and sane period a poet felt constrained to remonstrate with our grandmothers thus:

Be wiser, ye maidens, nor seek admiration
By dressing for conquest and flirting with all.
You never, whatever your fortune or station,
Appear half so lovely at rout or at ball
As when with modest demeanor apart
You sit plying the needle with exquisite art.

And an English visitor in Washington at that time nearly had heart failure watching "those mad American girls (1830) skip over the snow to their sleighs, with their poor little toes pinched into miniature slippers far too low and thin to exclude so much as a drop of moisture."

So much for the grandmother myth of sense and thrift and never, never flirting. Only one thing can be said in behalf of the gay deceiveresses. Their grandmothes put the same fraud over on them. Great-great-grandmother told grandmother that "girls were different in her time," and so probably grandmother feels obliged to keep the fairy-tale going. Poor worried Lord Byron got so upset in 1820 about the thin dresses and fast customs that followed the introduction of the waltz, that dreadful new dance, that he wrote an impassioned poem about it. And a Paris gossip hoped "that the short sleeves originated by ladies with particularly beautiful arms will go, and that next winter will bring along with its rigors, that modesty which alone renders a female desirable."—Every Week.

BROWN FOULARD FROCKS

Take care of the back and the front will look out for itself, seems to be the dictum of this picturesque frock of brown foulard. By way of self care the back takes unto itself an embroidered motif and a string sash, the front of the waist being content with a vest of white chiffon and collar and revers of brown silk. A wide band of silk is repeated on the gathered tunic of the skirt. In medium size the design requires 6 3-4 yards 40-inch foulard. Pictorial Review costume No. 7027. Sizes 34 to 46-inch bust. Price 25c.

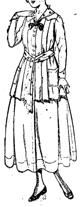
Effective in Tussor Silk.



A tailored costume that is comfortable as well as becoming is this model in tussor silk trimmed with polka dotted crepe de chine or ribbon. The jacket is a modified Norfolk effect.

Six yards of 40-inch tussor silk make the costume, but if the jacket is made separately, 3 yards will be sufficient. Wide ribbon may be used for the sash and collar in place of crepe de chine, for which 2 yards 6 inches wide are required.

The jacket is a Norfolk model with open neck, turn-down collar and a shoulder yoke that is square at the back, but pointed on either side of the front. Pointed cuffs finish the long one-piece sleeves while square pockets trim the fronts of the jacket.

Form the box plaits as the first step toward making the jacket and be careful to keep the edges straight. Stitch the plait at the center-front from upper to lower edges, and remaining plaits from upper edges to single small "o" perforations: (along lines of slot perforations); open plaits keeping seams in center and press. Take up dart under box-plait in front, as perforated. Turn under front edge of right front 1⅛ inch for a hem.

Center-front indicated by large "O" perforations in right front. Turn under front edge of left front 1½ inch for a hem. Close under-arm seam as notched.

Close the shoulder seam of the yoke and turn under lower edges, lap on front and back and stitch. Sew the collar to the neck next, then stitch on the pockets.

Now for the sleeve, first close the seam, casing in fulness. Close seam of wrist, cuff and sew to sleeve. Sew sleeve in armhole as notched.

Silk poplin is less expensive than tussor and makes quite as serviceable a suit. It is offered in all the popular sports colorings and many shades of them.

Although this model may be classed as a pretentious tailor made, it is really the embodiment of service. It is fashioned from tussor silk in natural color, with relief of polka dotted crepe de chine, ¾ yard 40 inches wide being needed for the belt and collar.

CONCERT AND DANCE IS TO BE GIVEN

By the amount of comment on the annual old time dance to be given at Bond hall next Tuesday evening, February 20, there will be one splendid time and frolic for everybody.

There will be old-time fiddlers that fiddle old-time melodies for the old time dances, and there will be an up-to-date orchestra for the modern dances; also an exhibition dance by experts of late dances. Arrangements have been made for a few songs by a grand quartet. A short concert by musicians of Painesville and Wickliffe will also be given.

The proceeds are to be used to finance the greatest musical celebration that Willoughby has ever known as it is expected to have at least 20 bands, numbering about 500 musicians next September. Now is the time to help boost for this grand celebration for September 3rd, 1917, Labor Day.

COACH ED. S. CONNER TO BE A SPEAKER AT THE COUNTY BOYS' CONFERENCE

The program committee of the Lake County Boys' Conference is to be congratulated on being able to secure Coach Ed. S. Conner of the Lincoln High school, Cleveland, to give his splendid address on Virility. Coach Conner is one of the leading men in his line in the state and his message to boys who are interested in any phase of athletics should not be missed by any boy of Lake county. It is expected that nearly 200 boys will attend this conference and the banquet in the evening.

featuring Clara Barton, was most effectively staged and carried out.

"The Women of Today" and "The Style Show" elicited a most interesting attitude from the audience. There was a relaxation from the sterner episodes. "The Style Show" served to express the ingenuity of the girls and the excellence and painstaking of their training, and the great promise of a school like the Andrews. This was apparent in the home making, applied arts, etc., quite as much as in the dress making and style show proper.

Actual bread dough was placed into the most up-to-date fireless cooker, which, 'tis said, is now claimed to be the best way to make bread.

The costumes in the dress making scene were all made by the students. A baby boy made the first appearance and a more rapid exit, demonstrating the infant's outfit. All the suits and costumes were interesting. Even the latest in an "organ pipe" skirt was shown and an evening gown of absolute charm closed the style show.

The caps and gowns worn by the graduates were made by themselves. They made a most impressive appearance as they passed down the aisle. Diplomas were presented by S. D. Shankland.

The graduates, faculty and all connected with the sixth annual commencement have occasion to be proud of the presentation and the excellent results which it indicates.

The Easiest Car for Women to Drive---the Apperson

Women drivers in Cleveland and elsewhere tell us—and we know from actual experience with all makes of cars—that Apperson cars are easiest for women to drive.

The responsiveness of the powerful, quiet Apperson motor and the unusual easy steering and control features make driving not only safe, but a pleasure, even in congested traffic.

Women especially will appreciate the piquancy of the unique Apperson body design. They can't help but admire its cosiness, comfort and the luxurious appointments, particularly in the Apperson Chummy roadster, which meets every social demand.

Added to this is the freedom from rattles and squeaks which is characteristic of Apperson construction, due to thoroughness and honesty of effort in building.

A telephone call brings a demonstrator to your door—for yourself and friends—at any hour suitable to your convenience.

Apperson prices range from $1,750 to $2,000 at the factory for six ana eight-cylinder models.

TIPS FOR PLAY-GOERS

B. F. KEITH'S HIPPODROME.

At the Hippodrome the Brightons, artistic rag pickers, will open the festival followed by Swor and Avery in a darktown jubilee performance, Hilda Thomas and Lou Hall in "She is a Traveling Man;" Councul the Great, the chimpanzee; Walter Shannon and Marie Annis; Margaret Green a Cleveland girl, in "The Sweetmeat Game;" Toney and Norman; the Avon Comedy Four, and Joe Quanton's athletes in "The Garden of Surprises."

OPERA HOUSE

Brimful of pretty girls, tuneful music, clever lines, and beautiful costumes, is "Betty," the new musical play in which Raymond Hitchcock is to make his bow to Cleveland at the Opera House next week. Mr. Hitchcock has always been a favorite in Cleveland and the announcement of his approaching visit is of especial interest at this time in view of the fact that in "Betty" he makes his first local appearance under the management of Charles Dillingham, who has provided him with a notable supporting company, which includes Joseph Santley, Ivy Sawyer, Eileen Dennes, George Moore, Ruth Randall, William Eville and the famous beauty chorus from the Globe theatre, New York.

The engagement includes special priced matinees on Wednesday and Thursday, (Washington's Birthday) and a regular one on Saturday.

COLONIAL THEATRE

Robert B. Mantell comes to the Colonial theatre for an engagement of one week, with the usual Thursday and Saturday matinees, starting next Monday evening. The repertoire selected for the engagement is as follows: Monday evening and Saturday matinee, "The Merchant of Venice;" Tuesday evening, "Hamlet;" Wednesday and Friday nights, "Macbeth;" Thursday matinee "Richelieu;" Thursday night, "King Lear;" Saturday evening, "Richard III."

MILES THEATER

The Miles [illegible] "The Right Man," [illegible] the [illegible] Le Clair and [illegible] cle of [illegible] will be offered [illegible] fifth [illegible] Mrs. Vernon Castle [illegible] leading role.

PROSPECT THEATER

The attraction [illegible] for the Prospect theatre next week is the sensational drama "The Girl Without a Chance," which is based on the infamous workings of the white slave traffic. Its heroine is a young foreign girl, who, arriving in this country, battles against the powers of evil which are ever on the alert for the decoying of the ignorant, friendless girl, whose own protection should have a knowledge of the fundamental facts of life. She is beset on every side and principally through the efforts of a police commissioner who is allied with the local white slave gang. How this police official is discovered to be the father of the girl, having betrayed the mother in Italy 26 years previous, is depicted in a series of heart gripping scenes of absorbing interest. While handled in such manner as not to offend, "The Girl Without a Chance" throws the searchlight of truth with startling reality into the all too often connecting alliance between the police and the wolves of society, branded under the title of white slavers. The traps and bait used are graphically shown to the end that apart from the entertaining quality of the performance, fathers, mothers and young girls may realize some of the methods successfully utilized to decoy those ignorant of such unspeakable vice and horror. As a relief to the more intense, somber phases of the play, the author has cleverly interwoven a vein of delicious comedy, wholesome, lovable characters, all interpreted by a company of excellent players. A splendid scenic equipment has been provided by the management.

DUCHESS THEATRE

Vaughan Glaser will become an Episcopal clergyman and Miss F[illegible] Courtenay a coquettish opera singer in "Romance," by Edward Sheldon, a play of the "daring" kind, to be produced for the first time in Cleveland at the Duchess next week.

In an epilog, three acts and a prolog, the love story of the young minister for the reigning queen of the opera is told. [illegible] New York [illegible] society of half century ago [illegible] iors of the old hotel and is following these as closely as the ingenuity of stage carpentry and artisanry make it possible.

Every member of the company is well cast in "Romance," and the play that ran three years in London and two in New York should be well received in Cleveland.

STAR THEATER

A large chorus of pretty dancing girls, a capable cast with Florence Bennett and a large production with 16 kaleidoscopic changes is Fred Irwin's offering. Among the principals are Frank De Mont, Doc. Dell and Lyle de Pine.

EMPIRE THEATER

"The Lid Lifters" are at the Empire next week. In the cast are Harry (Whistling) Lae, who has the support of Dolly Sweet; Frank (Bud) Williamson, Russell Hill, Harry Asa and Robb and Robertson and a large chorus of girls. The principal feature of the vaudeville part of the entertainment is [illegible].

STANDARD THEATER

Hawthorne's "Scarlet Letter" has been picturized by Wm. Fox. Mary Martin as Hester Prynne is an ideal character. Stuart Holmes as the Rev. Dimmesdale is a wonderful success.

Hester Prynne is the mother of a child whose father is unknown. She is sentenced to wear upon her breast the scarlet letter "A." As [illegible] on the pillory in old Puritan Boston her aged husband, Chillingworth (Dan Mason) enters. He vows to bring to earth her lover.

LIBERTY THEATER

An old-fashioned school-day act, with all its enjoyable features, is the headliner at the Liberty theatre for next week. Mrs. Frederick Allen and company present a playlet, "At Twilight." Ohters on the bill are Brott and Willer, the two Kuehns, Robert Warland and Knowles and Rockford. The usual Sunday vaudeville concert will be given.

NOW IS THE TIME TO BUY SILVER THREAD COLONIAL GLASSWARE

100 Pieces

These three patterns are especially interesting in design and more than ordinarily desirable, not only because of their style of decoration, but because of the quality of the ware for the price. We are also showing these patterns in open stock as well as sets.

The Holborn Pattern

This beautiful pattern is a wide border consisting of a blue lattice overlaid with pink roses and green leaves. There is a gold line on the edge of each piece and the handles are gold traced. Known as the new Peerless shape, it is surely among the most pleasing patternns that we have ever shown in modest priced ware.

The Litchfield Pattern

One of those dainty pink and green border designs, this pattern is sure to please many of our discerning customers.

The Normand Pattern

Both attractive and bold, this border pattern of large pink flowers on a yellow band with a black key border makes a very stylish appearance.

Each Set Contains

12 dinner plates, 12 salad or dessert plates, 12 pie plates, 12 bread and butter plates, 12 fruit saucers, 2 meat dishes, 1 covered butter dish, 1 gravy dish, 1 covered butter dish, 1 gravy boat, 1 pickle dish, 1 sugar bowl, 1 creamer and 1 bowl.

FARMERS' AND GARDENERS' CORNER

The cities may have their little mobs and riots, but the farmers will plow and sow and reap and feed their stock and go forth to their labors until the evening. The farmers have ever and always been the hope of the world.

CHRISTMAS TREES MAY BE GROWN AT HOME

Home grown Christmas trees will find a ready market because practically all the New England states are quarantined on account of gypsy and brown tail moth infestations, according to Edmund Secrest in the December Monthly Bulletin of the Ohio Experiment Station. Imported trees are frequently injured in shipping, and they lose many of their needles because they are cut far in advance of Christmas day.

Norway spruce and the balsaam and Fraser firs are recommended for planting. Waste places on the farm or young orchards may be utilized, the trees being ready for market in five to seven years after planting. Seedlings two to three years old can be bought from nurseries for about $5 or less a thousand, and then set in rows four feet apart to develop to Christmas-tree size. In general the trees need much the same culture as farm crops.

WINTER HEATING OF ORCHARDS IMPRACTICAL

Because of the difficulties in heating peach orchards in winter, horticulturists at the Ohio State Experiment Station advise growers to avoid such operations by planting hardy varieties and selecting favorable planting sites. The exact temperature required to save the blossom buds in extreme cold winter weather is not known, as varieties differ in hardiness and the same variety may show some variation in resistance to cold from year to year.

Without this knowledge orchardists in some cases may waste fuel, while at other times buds may be frozen because the fires do not keep the temperature high enough. Watching thermometers and keeping fires in zero weather is trying work. Spring orchard heating, however, has long been considered successful.

On suitable locations peach crops may be secured annually if hardy varieties are planted, these specialists say. Winter heating is therefore unnecessary in such cases.

PASSING OF ANOTHER VINE STREET RESIDENT

One of the pioneers in the laying out of the Church of the Immaculate Conception, on Vine St., passed away [illegible] death of John T. Chambers [illegible] Friday [illegible]. The funeral services were [illegible] Rev. [illegible] officiated.

[illegible] Vine Street for [illegible] years. [illegible] Six hundred cords at a time were cut up and work trains could come to Willoughby and load up for the use of the locomotives.

[illegible] hundred dollars, [illegible] foundation and to [illegible] for the [illegible] church of the Immaculate Conception [illegible] Mr. Chambers. He was an absolute total [illegible], an ardent advocate of temperance and never smoked. He was a staunch Democrat, true to the party regardless of candidate. In his business dealings as all others, Mr. Chambers commanded the highest regard of the community. It is reported that on one occasion, upon the death of a man upon whose property Mr. Chambers held a mortgage, Mr. Chambers called upon the sister of the deceased and presented her with the mortgage and then destroyed it. He was known to be extremely liberal, thoughtful and conscientious in all matters of that kind. Generosity, honesty and kindness were attributes that endeared him to his neighbors and friends.

Mr. Chambers' wife was Anna Wheeler, a Canadian girl, who passed on 18 years ago. The couple had a family of 10 children. Three are dead. The daughters include Mrs. Waterman of Second street, Mrs. Gilmore of Vine street, Mrs. Myers of Maple street and Mrs. Anna Spotton, whose home was with her father, and Mrs. Parker of Cleveland. The boys number William of Cleveland and Thomas of Vine street.

There are 11 grandchildren, and all were dear to the grandfather's heart.

"Nobody could say too much good of him," is the passing tribute paid to Mr. Chambers by a friend.

conclude that it can only be attributable to the painstaking work of the teachers.

A sport dress with a skirt made with the lower panels of glass toweling attested the ingenuity of the designers.

Designing, art work, home making and all sorts of edibles came in for a share of the admiration of the visitors. Little folks' garments were much admired, and the hand work of the girls pronounced exquisite.

The laundry is a department of particular interest. It is filled up with the most modern appliances, and the garments and flat work are beautifully laundered. It is really a treat to spend a little time in this department.

One feature of the Andrews School seems to stand out pre-eminent, and cannot but be noted. That is the attitude of the girls or students. There is a freedom of spirit, a co-operative sense of possession in their school an enthusiastic and really joyous desire to exhibit their work, or any department, room or endeavor. There is displayed a frank and unaffected pride. There appears to have been created an intangible atmosphere that inspires the girls with the feeling that each is a temporary hostess. Teachers, management or other form of supervision are slightly in evidence. It might be safe to assume that this is one of the most effective indications of the most excellent results: The girls feel that the Andrews School for Girls is THEIR school, something in which they may share in the naturally just pride of the community: and there is no limit to the vista of usefulness to which this modern school may attain.

OSTEOPATHIC HEALTH

By M. A. Lane.

You will ask, What do you mean by a pure osteopath? We [illegible] the term [illegible] osteopathic technique the tissues of the body, especially the tissues that constitute and support the back bone and the nerves that issue between the vertebrae. This manipulation, however, has no hard and fast system, it can and does vary from a simple movement to which "subluxations," great or small, or any other unusual stress, tension, or deflection may be removed, to a general treatment, in which the entire vertebral column and its anatomical clothes are thoroughly relaxed and readjusted. As long as the osteopath uses his hands in his therapy, he may be called a pure osteopath. The very moment he adopts any other procedure whatever he is no longer using osteopathy. We do not mean by this, as some of the unthinking and uninformed critics of osteopathy imagine, that an osteopath must be a stupendous fool, who would attempt to stop a hemmorhage from the ears in fracture of the skull by manipulating the back bone, or who would hold that insects do not transmit disease germs, or who would deny any other known and proved fact. To be an osteopath of any intelligence whatsoever implies that the man in practice is a normal, sane, human being.

COLLEGE BOYS TALK ON "THRIFT DAY"

Last Saturday was agreed upon throughout the United States as Thrift Day. The Governor of Ohio proclaimed it. The minds of millions were to be directed to the need of conserving one's financial resources. Extravagance was to be exposed, and the policy of saving was to be extolled.

How many U. S. fellows knew this and profited by it? Not many. Of course, this day was set aside to affect chiefly the great business and commercial men, but nevertheless U. S. fellows could have profited greatly [illegible] in their own little way. The [illegible] element is obvious [illegible] in the school. We can [illegible] to deny the fellows their [illegible] theatre, [illegible] twice or three [illegible] extra good [illegible] extravagant [illegible] practiced.

Have you ever been [illegible] with a crowd of fellows who receive about the same allowance as you do, and [illegible] the end of the month [illegible] balance is [illegible] rived from this experience [illegible] beyond that of just knowing you have the money alone. This satisfaction [illegible] carried through life at a cost of carefulness and common sense.

From the University School News.

PRACTICAL ADDRESS

A practical committeeman, in presenting diplomas last June to a graduating class spoke as follows: "Girls, in presenting you these diplomas, if, by their significance you are led to allow your mother to do all the work, bake all the bread, sweep all the floors because you can read Latin or demonstrate a theorem in geometry, then has your school been a most unfortunate course, and in all the teachings you have ever received at my hands, I trust there has been no lesson that has weaned you from the dish pan. Boys, if from this graduation you go out into the world too nice to carry wood and swill the hogs, if need be, then has our school failed in its purpose and sown the wrong seed."

THE HOME NEWSPAPER

No paper can be published without home patronage, and every man is interested in keeping up a home paper. If a railroad or factory is wanted, the newspaper is expected to work for it. If a public meeting is wanted for any purpose, the newspaper is called upon for a free notice. If any of the societies have a reception or supper of any kind, the newspaper is expected to give the necessary notice. The newspaper must puff the schools and everything else to advance the interests of the business men of the place, and then give them a handsome notice when they pass away. And yet some of them do nothing to keep a home newspaper.

ON ADVERTISING

If it were not true, generally speaking, that the advertiser in a newspeper gets value—and good value—for the money he spends, no amount of argument or personal persuasion of solicitors could avail to keep newspaper advertising from dying out.—Editor and Publisher.

American Red Cross Gathering at Painesvill

Judge Reynolds of Painesville is active in the movement to increase interest in the American Red Cross in Lake county. A meeting was scheduled to be held in the city hall at Painesville Sunday, the 11th. Invitations were extended Lake county folks to become identified with movement in order to make it a b ner chapter.

S. S. Wilson, who is a membe the National Red Cross Society, expected to make a brief address the meeting.

EARLY HATCHING BRINGS WINTER EGGS.

A Simple Way for Poultry Owners to Profit from High Prices in Fall and Winter.

Washington, D. C. Early hatching is the secret of winter egg production, say specialists in the U. S. Department of Agriculture. The pullet that is hatched early matures early and is ready to lay eggs in the fall when the supply is scarce and prices high. Chickens that are expected to be revenue producers for their owners later in the year should be out of their shells by April 30 at the latest. If they are properly cared for then they will begin to lay eggs at the very time that eggs are most wanted.

[illegible] poultrymen of the country have overlooked this simple fact. For one thing, birds hatched later in the spring or summer are not inclined to become broody until late the following season and thus an unprofitable circle is formed. Such year pullets mature too late to produce in the fall and winter, and they hatch it too late for their offspring to do any better. The poultryman who wishes to get really good returns from his flock must break this circle.

The growing use of incubators has made this comparatively easier. There is no reason why incubators should not be filled in March and early April and the hatching over before May 1. If no incubator is available it may be possible to secure broody hens in the neighborhood. That they will repay the trouble and expense necessary to obtain them is indicated by results at the government poultry farm in Maryland. There it is not unusual to get a daily average of one egg for every five hens throughout the fall and winter, and in some pens the average has been as high as one egg for three birds. If anything like this percentage could be obtained on farms the ordinary poultry farmer would derive real benefit from the high prices which eggs invariably bring for a period of several months.

AN OLD PAPER

The Cadiz Republican, now in its 102nd year, first appeared in September, 1815, as the Ohio Luminary. In 1820 it was called the Harrison Telegraph; and in the late '30s the Harrison Republican. The present name was adopted in 1842. The Republican gives promise of easily attaining its 200th birthday. That it is popular is evidenced by the fact that in the first two weeks of January of this year there were 64 new names placed on the subscription list.

WE'RE ALL LIKE HER

Terence V. Powderly was talking in his Washington office about compulsory arbitration.

"The trouble with the world in general," he said, "is that we all know just what the other fellow ought to do but we take little account of what we ought to do ourselves.

"I found a blooming young bride one day bending with a stern and severe air over a dry-looking volume.

"'What are you reading?' I asked.

"'An excellent work,' she replied, 'called "Happiness in Marriage."'

"'What advice,' I said, does it give to wives?'

"'I don't know,' she answered, 'I'm reading the advice to husbands.'"

EDWARD WILLIAM MOORE, JR

An Appreciation

The passing on of one of our yo friends always saddens us especia There is, we feel, so much for th to live for and yet they have youth, of which Longfellow spe so truly:

"How beautiful is youth! how bri it gleams
With its illusions, aspirations, drea
Book of Beginnings, Story with Each Maid a heroine, and e man a friend!

All possibilities are in its hands,
No danger daunts it, and no foe w stands;
In its sublime audacity of faith,
"Be thou removed!" it to the mo saith,
And with ambitious feet, secure proud, Ascends the ladder leaning the cloud!"

Edward Moore had been a mem of University School since 1909 had endeared himself to every in his class and in the school was a member and much interes in the work of the Sunday Morn Society, being on the Hiram Ho Committee.

He was a member of the Cadm Debating Society and participated one of the most interesting of t recent debates on Compulsory M tary Training. He was also a poral in the Military Company, was also a member of the football swimming teams and interested branches of sport.

In his quiet, unselfish way he m such a place for himself as a rarely makes and his loss seems reparable.

To the school, the lesson seems be that he had so lived that he meet death unafraid, and that world and his associates were be for his life. And for him here its his friends this other thought Longfellow's:

"There is no death! What seems is transition;
This life of mortal breath
Is but a suburb of the life Elysia
Whose portal we call death.

Don't Miss Your Chance

THE broken lines we have added make this the buying opportunity of the year. It involves practically our entire stock of men's and young men's suits and overcoats in fancy weaves—all kinds of fabrics except plain blacks and blues. Every garment is guaranteed to be absolutely all wool—thoroughly dependable merchandise. Also it is important for you to understand that our regular prices were very low, and that the sale prices represent an important economy. Two important lots:

$16.50 and $18 Suits and Overcoats
$13.75

$20, $22.50 to $28 Suits and Overcoats
$17.75

AT no time in many years has the necessity for farsighted economy made a clothing sale look so attractive. The increasing cost of woolens makes this a real opportunity to buy at reduced prices for future use. We're sure of our qualities and styles; we guarantee satisfaction, or money cheerfully refunded, before or after the test of wear. There's a tremendous assortment of suits and overcoats—all the good models of the season—plenty of sizes to fit every man. They're remarkable clothes and remarkable values at $13.75 and $17.75.

Mr. Mackey has just returned from the state tournament at Toledo, and will attend the state tournament at Grand Rapids a week from Saturday. A special car from Cleveland will accommodate the bowlers attending from this section. Mr. Mackey, it is reported, is looking forward with much anticipation to the games at Grand Rapids, expecting to win out over all comers, and the friends of this Willoughby bowler feel that they will not be disappointed in their anticipations for him.

PRELIMINARY RED CROSS MEETING

A meeting will be held Saturday afternoon, February 24th, at 2:30 o'clock at the library to establish a branch of the Red Cross Society in Willoughby. Two ladies from Painesville who are interested in the work will address the meeting. To every loyal patriotic woman an urgent appeal is made to attend and learn of the nature of the work—the small demand upon you and the great amount of good you can do in all cases of suffering.

The country needs your co-operation.

E. A. LEE MEETS WITH ACCIDENT

An automobile accident at Stop 38 on the main line Sunday at 3 p. m. demolished E. A. Lee's machine and caused injury to his hip, fortunately not serious. A lad about 16, driving a Ford, ran into Mr. Lee, who was accompanied by his son Robert. A younger boy in the Ford car was thrown over the windshield but not injured. The cars were taken to the Crowther garage.

SETTLEMENT REACHED IN ALFRED SNOW CASE

H. L. Forman, claim adjuster for the N. Y. Central R. R., visited the Plains Monday of this week and made an amicable settlement with Clarence Snow, whose son, Alfred, met with such a tragic death January 3. The family received an amount in settlement of $2,600.

PRESIDING MINISTER AT GRACE CHURCH ANNOUNCES ENGAGEMENT

Charles T. Hall of the Grace Episcopal church announced his engagement at the church party Tuesday night to Miss Lois Margaret Clark of Louisville, Ky. It is anticipated that the wedding will occur in September and if Mr. Hall remains as pastor of the church here, they will make their home in Willoughby.

THE BOYS' CONVENTION

Extreme interest has been manifested in the Y. M. C. A. Boys' Convention here this week. The ladies of all the churches have been working hard to make the banquet a success. Mrs. Carmichael took care of the dining room, Mrs. Will Seelye the kitchen and Miss Lottie Smith had charge of the serving room.

"THE BATTLE CRY OF PEACE"

The Hiawatha theatre has announced the coming of "The Battle Cry of Peace" as its offering for the week of March 5th. This is an expensive production, and, as is well known, is a plea for preparedness. It will be necessary to charge 25c admission during the showing of this film.

The Vitagraph has been secured for each Monday. Mr. McMahon is making special effort to make the Hiawatha one of much attractiveness and his success is attested by the large audiences at each performance at this comfortable little theatre.

J. W. Sigsbey is engaged in papering 30 rooms in the Cleveland Trust block.

WILLOUGHBY MUSICAL CLUB HAS GUEST DAY

A very delightful gathering at the home of Mrs. J. A. Penfield on River street, Monday, the 19th, marked the observance of guest day for the Club.

The guests enjoyed the program prepared, to the fullest extent. "Music as a Language" was interestingly presented in a paper by Mrs. Vrill. She also took occasion to commend James McMahon for his excellent work in the teaching of music in the school and to say how fortunate Willoughby should be considered in having a man of his ability in inspiring the children, at the head of this department. Regret was also expressed that more interest had not been shown in the splendid rendering recently of "The Messiah."

The program was varied and charming. One was reminded of Charles Kellar, "the Birdman," in the delightful whistling solos introduced by Mrs. McCollister. "The Minuet" by Beethoven and the "Birds and the Brook" by Stults were rendered in a manner that gave genuine pleasure. Mrs. McMahon played "the Introduction et Valse Lente", a very happy and enjoyable number. "An Open Secret" and "In the Deep o' the Daisies" were delightful selections sung by Mrs. Otis. Mrs. Nelson and Mrs. Etzensperger gave a vocal duet, "Beyond the Meadow Dean," Mrs. Penfield played a selection from Victor Straub, and these, followed by the "Jewel Song" by Miss Wasson, all contributed special pleasure.

A part song, "Lullaby from Jocelyn," in which Mrs. Birkholz, Mrs. Reichard, Mrs. Kenning, Mrs. Bryant, Mrs. Gillette and Mrs. Crowther participated as accompanist, closed the program.

The most beguiling white and brown bread sandwiches and other refreshments were served and a pleasant visiting time was indulged in, before good-byes were said to the hostess.

DAUGHTERS' CIRCLE HAVE DELIGHTFUL PARTY

Invitations, favors and decorations of original and patriotic character lent a festive and enjoyable atmosphere to the Washington's birthday party given at the home of Mrs. Kennedy for the Daughters' Circle Wednesday afternoon.

Mrs. H. F. Kennedy and Mrs. Blanchard were hostesses. There were about 30 guests, who enjoyed to the utmost the games and amusements provided. A most artistic cherry tree, done by Mrs. Blanchard, at the close of the afternoon, was decorated with cherries by guests previously blindfolded. The cherry tree was presented to Mrs. Leonard Parks, she having placed her cherry in what was decided by the judges, Mrs. A. K. Carel and Mrs. Rockafellow, upon the most probable place for a cherry to grow.

Mrs. Crawford of Kirtland received the award of merit for the afternoon in the form of a picture of George Washington.

Everyone voted the affair one of unusual pleasure.

MRS. CARMICHAEL ATTENDS THE D. A. R. BANQUET

Mrs. Carmichael attended the D. A. R. banquet given in the Hollenden assembly rooms, Monday. The patriotic [illegible] and speeches and the general sociability and [illegible] afforded an instructional and delightful affair.

PARTY GIVEN FOR GRACE CHURCH

An enjoyable party was given at the home of Mr. Robison of River street by the Woman's Guild, Tuesday night. About 25 guests enjoyed the music, games and refreshments provided. Edith Deane entertained with fancy dancing. Antoinette Pratt, student at Andrews school and soloist at Grace Church, sang several songs, accompanied by Reginald Merrill.

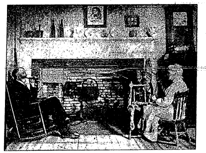
EVANGELISTIC MEETINGS

Evangelistic meetings are in progress at the Church of Christ. Evangelist C. A. MacDonald is speaking with the same force and power that was characteristic of his work a year ago. The Harrison's are delighting everyone with their music. Miss Rife, a sister of Mrs. Harbison, is a most pleasing personal worker. The attendance has been good, with several additions. Meetings will continue every evening at 7:30. The Sunday program will be as follows:

Sunday school, 9:30 a. m.
Preaching, 10:30 a. m.
Special Men's Meeting at 2:30.
Special Women's Meeting addressed by Mrs. C. A. MacDonald at the Presbyterian church at 2:30.
Evening service at 7:00

A cordial invitation is extended to all to attend these meetings.

DELIGHTFUL PICTURE SHOWS INTERIOR OF OLD HOME AND SPINNER AND SPINNING WHEEL



There is a real charm about this picture, which shows the inside of the old Page homestead, now belonging to the Andrews Institute for Girls. There is an air of comfort and peace about the smoker, while Mrs. Page is shown spinning flax with a wheel which has been used in this house for a great many years. On September 10th, 1916, this spinning wheel, which has been in the Page family for about 100 years, was presented to the Andrews school. The furnishings in the picture are worthy of note. The old mantel and fireplace are originals and are also nearly 100 years old. In the upper left hand corner of the fire place is an old fashioned tin oven, used for the baking of bread and pastry. The kettle in the center is suspended on the original crane, used for baking bread as well as the cooking of vegetables. The objects on the mantel are all very old. Note the clock and the candle stick to the right of the grate. The next to the last object on the left is a mortar and pestle. All the furniture is very old and hand made.

Mrs. Page has taken a great interest in the school and gladly welcomes any of the girls calling upon her.

BE CONSISTENT

If you can't boost don't knock, at least until you are convinced knocking will accomplish some good purpose. Don't arrive at too hasty opinions. Probably those who are fostering community efforts have given the matter more serious study and thought than you have. You may be in sympathy with a certain movement. Things may not be conducted according to your ideals. In such cases throwing a monkey wrench in the machinery will only destroy the constructive efforts of some well meaning coworker. Would not the better way be to get in close touch with that effort? Give it the benefit of your experience and advice. Don't wait until others have outlined a plan of action and then inaugurate a campaign of insidious opposition.

Consecutive efforts are sure to produce something. Destructive efforts get you nowhere and only make it harder for those who are doing the best they can, even if it is not done just as you would do it. Be a booster, not a knocker.—Bulletin of Chamber of Commerce, Massillon, O.

LITTLE NEWS NOTES

Fitch, deceased and the name of the unknown widow of Ephraim Wilson, deceased, being unknown, will take notice that Jennie J. McEachren, John W. McEachren, Florence E. McEachren, George S. McEachren, Alex. M. McEachren, Grace McEachren Sprague, Hugh McEachren, William McEachren and Margaret F. McEachren, as plaintiffs have filed a petition against them as defendants in the Court of Common Pleas of Cuyahoga County, Ohio, alleging that they have the legal title to and are the owners in fee simple and in the possession and occupancy of the following described real estate, to-wit:

Situated in the City of Cleveland, County of Cuyahoga and State of Ohio and known as being Sub lot No. 45 in Severance and Folsom's Sub-Division of part of original Brooklyn Township Lots Nos. 51, 52, 69, and 70, as shown by the recorded plat in Volume X of Deeds, Page 1 of Cuyahoga County Records, and being 36 feet front on the Southerly side of Jay Street (now known as Jay Avenue, N. W.) 107 feet 6 inches deep on the Westerly line, 107 feet 6 inches deep on the Easterly line, which is also the Westerly line of an Alley (now known as West 29th Place), and 36 feet on the rear line, which is also the Northerly line of an Alley (now known as Waco Court, N. W.), as appears by said plat, be the same more or less, but subject to all legal highways.

The petition alleges that the defendants, Ezekiel Folsom, and the unknown heirs at law, devisees, legatees, executors, administrators and assigns of Ezekiel Folsom, deceased, claim some right, title or interest in said premises for the reason that the records of Cuyahoga County, Ohio, do not disclose any deed of conveyance from the said Ezekiel Folsom, but that said defendants have no interest in said premises, for the reason that on December 29, 1840, said premises were sold for the nonpayment of taxes to N. C. Baldwin and the title thereto has never been redeemed:

That the defendants, William L. Fitch and the unknown heirs at law, devisees, legatees, executors, administrators and assigns of William L. Fitch, deceased, claim some estate or interest in said premises hostile and adverse to Plaintiff's rights by virtue of a certain contract made March 1, 1860, the nature and extent of said claim being unknown to Plaintiffs.

That Ephraim Wilson, at the time of his conveyance to Hugh B. McEachren, was unmarried and that the unknown widow of said Ephraim Wilson claims to have a right of dower in said premises.

The petition further alleges that none of said defendants have any right, title or interest in the aforesaid described premises, that their claims are unfounded and of no legal effect, whatsoever, but constitute clouds on Plaintiffs' title: that any claim they or any one of them ever had in said premises, has long since been barred by lapse of time and the Statutes of Limitations, and that as against said defendants, these Plaintiffs and their predecessors in title have held, and been in the actual, open, notorious, continuous, exclusive, indisputable and adverse possession and occupancy of said premises for more than Twenty-one years last preceding the filing of the petition herein, under and by virtue of a deed for said premises: and that from April 22, 1859, to the present date, none of said defendants, or any one of them or any one claiming through or under them, has ever claimed or sought to enforce any right, title to, or interest in said premises.

The prayer of said petition is that each and all of said defendants be required to answer and set up what rights, if any, they have in said premises, or be forever barred from asserting the same; that plaintiffs' title be quieted against the claims of said defendants and said defendants and for relief.

Said petition is No. 154216, and each and all of said defendants are re-

[illegible] before the 24th day of March, A. D. 1917, or judgment will be taken against them as prayed for in said petition. F1-M8

LEGAL NOTICE

Notice is hereby given that The First Disciple Christian Church of Glenville has filed a petition in the Court of Common Pleas of Cuyahoga County, Ohio, alleging that it is the owner in fee simple by purchase of the following described real estate, to-wit:

Situated in the Village of Glenville, County of Cuyahoga and State of Ohio, and known as being all of Lot No. 336, and 20 feet off of the southerly side of Lot No. 337 in The Cleveland Realty Company's Allotment of a part of original 100 acre lots Nos. 362 and 370 as shown by the recorded plat in Volume 24 of Maps, page 17 of Cuyahoga County records, and being 60 feet front on the easterly side of Doan street and extending back of [illegible] therefrom a strip of land 8 feet in width from the westerly end of said sub-lots reserved for the purpose of widening Doan Street, be the same more or less but subject to all legal highways, and that said real estate is not used or occupied as a burial place for the dead.

The prayer of said petition is for authority to borrow the sum of Thirty Two Hundred ($3,200.00) Dollars for the purpose of purchasing a lot of land immediately adjoining the above described premises, and to secure said loan by a mortgage upon the above described premises.

Said petition is No. 154234 and any person, church, corporation or congregation having or claiming to have any objection to the granting of said prayer may appear and defend on the 2nd day of March, A. D. 1917, at which date said petition will be for hearing or as soon thereafter as the Court will hear the same. F1-22

WEEKS of WAITING for a HUDSON SUPER-SIX
A Situation You Can Now Avoid

Last spring we faced this condition:
Thousands of men waited weeks for delivery. Thousands turned discouraged to a second choice.
Last year we built 25,000 Hudson Super-Sixes. This year's output will be 30,000—not a great advance.
Early last year the Super-Six was unknown. It was a new invention—an enigma. Some said an experiment.
It has since won all the worth while records. Its praises are sounded by more than 25,000 owners. It holds today undisputed world supremacy.
New York Show sales broke all records. In every section the demand is unprecedented for this time of year. Another over demand seems inevitable—and near. Last year the Super-Six outsold any other fine car. This year's demand seems likely to be doubled.
So we urge that fine-car buyers decide the question now.

The first thing, and the chief thing, to consider is the motor. And its chief virtue is absence of vibration. Vibration causes friction. In the average type it wastes half the the motor's power. It restricts performance, it causes wear, it prohibits endurance.
The Super-Six invention—a Hudson patent—almost eliminates friction. So nearly that it added 80 per cent. to the six-type efficiency, and made this type supreme.
It has proved that by winning all worth-while records. That is, all stock car records for speed, for hill-climbing, for long-distance endurance, and for quick acceleration.
It excels in all sorts of performance. And it probably doubles the life of a motor, due to this minimized friction.

First In All Ways
All the the latest Hudson bodies were designed for this top-place car. Every item of beauty and luxury shows their leadership.
In engineering, the Hudson staff has held first place for years. Everyone concedes the the leadership of Hudson engineers.
This year, a new gasoline saver gives another important distinction. A shutter controls the heat and regulates the combustion efficiency of the motor.
So the fine-car buyer who buys on merit is bound to choose the Hudson. And this is to urge that you find it out in time to get prompt delivery.

CHARITY OF MIND

How many of us know that it is much easier to be charitable with money than with mind? Mental charity is a hard lesson to learn, hard because it is not the natural bent to overlook the offense and to look away beyond it to the divine spark of humanity behind the offense, yet this is the first principle of charity.

Organizations of men and women banded together and pledged to deeds of fraternity and helpfulness can and do extend their financial charity to thousands during the year. Members of local lodges, reviews, or under whatever name they meet, give unstintedly often of their substance to help those in distress. Most of them have an organized plan for this purpose and the burden falls heavily on no one member. Would these same members extend in the same measure the same beautiful charity of their forgiveness and love to those who have offended them?

Charity begins at home in your own mind first. It involves the sacrifice, if such it can be called, of putting one's keen-edged fellings away where they will hurt nobody. Quick to give alms in money, and quick to condemn an error in judgement, are puzzling opposites in individual character.

CITYGRAMS

When a club has no vision it ceases to progress.

Every argument has two sides unless, of course, you are one of them.

Some men relieve the Creator and their parents of a big burden by admitting they're self-made.

Truth is stranger than fiction because folks are not so well acquainted with it.

Lots of really great men, only a few miles away, are never heard of.

Speak well of the living—the dead don't need it.

It's easy for a man to "stand pat" when he's too frightened to move.

The reformer always keeps the last task for himself.

Lots of folks who do not speak in public should be applauded.

The stronger the language, the less intelligent and strong the man.

One must get ahead of a hustler before one can get in his way.

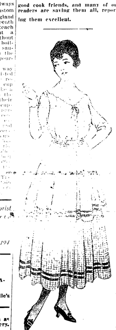
AFTERNOON TEA

Next time mother gives you a tea party, tell her that the teacup from which you drink was not always made that way. When the custom was first introduced into England from China, during the seventeenth century, the orientals tried to teach their method, which was to put a pinch of tea into a large cup without a handle. On this they poured boiling water, and put the inverted saucer over it. After five minutes the saucer was removed and the tea poured into another cup.

The English could not see this way of taking their tea. They insisted upon making the tea in a large receptacle, then pouring it into a cup which rested upon the saucer, like a small flower pot. At first, when the English began to manufacture their own tea service, they made the cups wide and [illegible] and the saucers [illegible] now. Then, in the nineteenth century, they went to the opposite extreme, making cups only an inch and a half across, with five-inch saucers.

It was [illegible] were introduced into England before handles were added. People of the Mediterranean [illegible] principally [illegible] upon their earthenware [illegible], but when coffee drinking [illegible], cups were needed to hold and handle [illegible]. The idea finally [illegible] at Great Britain and [illegible] drinking [illegible] in the kingdom.

The recipes that appear upon this page are generally contributed by our good cook friends, and many of our readers are saving them all, reporting them excellent.



A frock suggestion for the woman who likes simple effects is offered here. It may be expressed through the medium of a checked voile, silk or challis trimmed with narrow bands of ribbon or braid. The skirt has two deep gathered flounces and is attached to the bodice under a narrow girdle. Dainty linen with scalloped edges is used for the collar and cuffs. In medium size the dress requires 6 3-4 yards 36-inch material with 3-4 yard linen for collar. Pictorial Review costume No. 6778. Sizes 34 to 42 inches bust. Price 15c.

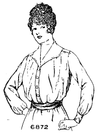
A Substantial Blouse Design



Tub silk of Japanese or Chinese weave may be used for this substantial waist with front gathered at the shoulders and trimmed with a pointed collar that can be worn high or turned back.

When it comes to separate waists of the more substantial order tub silk is the most practical material to use because it is dressy and serviceable at the same time. The familiar Chinese and Japanese weaves and some new weaves in wash silk crepes will continue to be used for Autumn designs. All of these are offered in wonderful lines of plain color as well as in stripes and other fancy effects.

A lining is, of course, unnecessary for this waist, the front of which is gathered at the shoulders. Finishing the neck is a pointed collar that may be buttoned high at the throat or rolled back. The sleeves are gathered to deep band cuffs trimmed with turn back cuffs. In medium size the design requires 2⅛ yards 36 inch material.

The sections of the blouse which are made without seams are placed on a lengthwise fold of the silk, as shown in the cutting guide. Note especially how the back, collar and facing and arranged, directly on the lengthwise fold. The front has its straight edge resting on the selvage edge of the silk, with the shoulder piece to the right. Both of these are on a lengthwise thread of material. The sleeve is laid on a lengthwise thread of material, to the right of the cuff which rests along the selvage.

Many of the bouses of white are trimmed with delicate one-tone colors, such as pale blue, pink or lavender, and there are delightful little models in linen as well as silk. La Jerz is a new striped tub silk, in a weave reminiscent of jersey, which has met with prompt success, and will undoubtedly be much worn for blouses of the plainly tailored sports type. It has a firmness that the silk jersey lacks, and the colors and stripe groupings are [illegible].

LET'S PRETEND

[illegible]

"Let's pretend we own a boat
That's the finest thing afloat;
I'll be engineer and you
Be the captain of the crew;
Let's go sailing pleasant seas,
Into any port we please,
If you want her fast or slow
Signal to me down below
An' I'll make her paddles do
Just the things you want 'em to."
"But," I say, "we have no boat,
Nor a sea where she could float."
And he answers then and there,
"We can use a rocking chair;
That's a dandy ship to send
On a sea that we pretend."

"Let's pretend!" What joy it brings,
Making of us mighty kings,
Soldiers bold and brave that fight
Always on the side of right,
Firemen answering hasty calls,
Dodging death from falling walls;
Engineers that brave the sea!
Anything we want to be
For the moment we become
And with joy we make things hum.
Laughter's always ringing clear,
Sunbeams always dancing near,
We've more ways than we can name,
Peace and happiness to claim.
All our cares and troubles end
Just because we can pretend.

FROM TREE TO NEWSPAPER

A trial was made in Austria to decide in how short a space of time living trees could be converted into newspapers. At Elsenthal, on April 17, at 7:35 in the morning, three trees were sawed down; at 9:35 the wood, having been stripped of bark, cut up and converted into pulp, became paper, and passed from the factory to the press, from whence the first printed and folded copy was issued at 10 o'clock. So that in 145 minutes the trees had become newspapers. The age of miracles is not passed.—Evening Wisconsin.

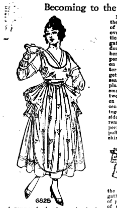
Becoming to the Debutante.



A summer frock whose sole aim is to be becoming, carried out in figured silk muslin and crepe Georgette.

This charming little frock has just one mission in life and that is to be becoming. It is made of figured silk muslin combined with crepe Georgette, the latter being used for the underbody and skirt foundation. The overblouse and draped tunic are of the muslin. In medium size the dress resuires 3½ yards 44-inch crepe Georgette and 4 yards 36-inch muslin.

The underbody is made first and this is started by facing the neck edges to form a yoke. Close the seams as notched and turn a hem in the right back at notches. Plait lower edge of underbody placing "T" on corresponding small "o" perforations. Sew collar to neck edge as notched. Adjust 2 inch belting to position underneath lower edge of underbody for a stay.

Close sleeve seam as notched Gather along small "o" perforations; draw gathers to the required size and stitch straight bands of material or ribbon 1 inch wide over gathers. Gather sleeve between double "TT" perforations. Sew in armsole of underbody as notched, small "o" perforation at shoulder seam.

Next join the foundation gores of the skirt and close center back seams of foundation gathered skirt and overskirt, from large "O" perforations to lower edges; gather edges of gathered and overskirt between double "TT" perforations. Turn hem in gathered skirt on small "o" perforations. Arrange gathered skirt on foundation, center-fronts and center-backs even; stitch upper edges together, small "o" perforation at side seam. Plait over-skirt at extensions placing single "T" on corresponding small "o" perforations; gather between the plaits. Arrange over-skirt on gathered skirt, center-fronts and center-backs even; stitch upper edges together, small "o" perforation at side seam of foundation. Stitch the remaining gathers along small "o" perforation in foundation to form a puff; regulate the fulness in gathered skirt underneath the puff. Now, fold the ruffle on slot perforations and gather. Stitch to the gathered edge of puff bringing front and back edges of ruffle to large "O" perforations. Tack the lower front and back ends of ruffle at the small "o" perforations in over-skirt and tack to the puff about 2 inches above the gathered edge. Adjust skirt to position stitch over upper row of gathers in waist, center-frons and center-backs even.

To make the overblouse, gather lower edge in back and adjust stay. Stitch gathers to position along lower edge of stay, and stitch the side edges to position Gather along shoulder on small "o" perforations, and make a row of gathers each side of small "o" perforations ⅜ inch apart; stitch a piece of tape 2 inches long under gathers. Turn under the edge of extension in front on slot perforations, gather ⅜ inch from folded edge. Lap front over the back and stitch gathers in front along the back edge, over the stay; stitch lower edges together. Bring the 2 single large "O" perforations together and tack, forming an armhole. Adjust over the surplice waist, center-fronts even. Bring the single large "O" perforation to corresponding perforation at shoulder in underbody back, and bring single small "o" perforations to corresponding small "o" perforations in underbody front and back and tack.

This dress is also pretty in two shades of one color.

Pictorial Review Costume No. 6825. Sizes, 16 to 20 years. Price, 15 cents.

BRING YOUR RELICS TO CITY CLUB HOME

By Karl Lemmerman

"The happiest folks on earth are those who are doing most for others."

The City Club of Cleveland is on the right path when its whole conduct borders on the American idea.

We hear people, daily, tell about "the good old days" gone by. It's our opinion however, that to-day is sometime going to be one of the good old days because it looks to us as though we are going to keep on with a neck-breaking pace, without any [illegible] for ages to come.

Our City Club occupies a wonderful niche where men may gather and soon remember that real life doesn't consist in chasing the dollar alone.

[illegible]

As you know, we have a wide-awake [illegible] house committee, with C. D. McCormick at the head. [illegible] him "Mac," because there's usually a pretty close bunch of fellows [illegible].

"Mac" and his committee have already begun to make our club rooms totally different from any other one. And they should be. The man or club that doesn't make a serious attempt to be different from others, should be sympathized with.

Speaking now of the days gone by.

Who is there who doesn't look with awe upon the tools, pictures, documents, or articles that were in the possession of our forefathers?

Who among our lage membership hasn't one or more of these treasures at home?

Now we'll get down to brass tacks.

Have you seen those framed sheepskin documents on our club-room walls, signed by former Presidents, several more than one hundred years old? The House Committee rightfully believes that the Club, as a whole, would be greatly benefited if those of us who have documents, maps, prints, or the like, would be kind enough to give them to the Club, or loan them for a period.

Lots of men are unselfishly giving their time to City Club work, because they want to bring it upon a still higher plane and make it of more value to you.

The Chairman of the House Committee is one of these.

Won't you please to send to the [illegible] and let [illegible] enjoy your treasures?

Telephone the secretary at Main [illegible] and he will [illegible] immediately for [illegible] to place in the Club Home.

BEGINNING OF ADVERTISING

Would you believe that in the time of the early Romans, yes, even back in the palmy days of Egypt, such a thing as advertising was well known? Yet such is the fact. Of course, they didn't have the electric signs blazing across the sky, they didn't know that [illegible] the best color for advertising [illegible] the second and black [illegible], but they did understand the [illegible] principles and applied them in daily life.

[illegible] that perhaps the first [illegible] of advertising copy was the "lost, strayed or stolen" advertisement written by an Egyptian on a slip of papyrus, when his favorite slave was [illegible] according to the Detroit Free Press.

The Greeks have even greater proof. They have advertised their concerts, musical affairs, plays and contests. They gave us the idea of using bands to attract a crowd, for they sent around their cities a town crier, accompanied by a musician playing a harp or a lyre. He praised, extravagantly, in the best of Greek, the thing he was advertising. Later the people began to advertise privately, on the walls of their homes, giving information about the standing of the family occupying the house, the number of unmarried daughters, the state of their finances.

The Romans went them one better. They named their streets, advertised shows, sales and exhibitions in their public bath notified, the public of sales of estates, posted lists of articles lost and found and houses to sale or rent.

When the Huns swept down upon Rome, the advertisements disappeared with the Roman power and did not return until the town crier of the middle ages began advertising again. He not only cried superior wares, but [illegible], such as sales, weddings, deaths, war news, etc.

Gradually, as shops grew many and large, the keepers used signs for the people to remember them by, just as the people used coats of arms. You have often heard inns called by such names as "The Blue Anchor," the "Three Tuns," and "The Red Lion." By such names it was much easier for the people to remember them and recommend them to their friends.

When the printing press was finally invented and set up, in 1471, by William Caxton, advertising made a great step and when two centuries later a newspaper was printed, it was the beginning of our modern system.

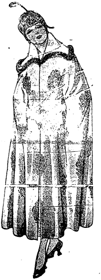
EVENING WRAP



Conscious of her fashionable attire and the pretty picture she makes, milady disports herself in an evening wrap of metal brocade. The large collar is edged with marabout and is of plain corded silk. The cape is lined with old rose satin. In medium size the design requires 5 3-4 yards 40-inch silk. Pictorial Review Cape No. 5976. Sizes 32 to 44 inches bust. Price 20 cents.

FOUR RULES OF LIFE

First. If possible, be well and have a good appetite. If these conditions are yours, the battle is already half won. Many soul and heart troubles arise really in the stomach, though it may seem strange to you. If you don't know how to cure yourself use common sense and the best medical advice you can get.

Second. Be busy. Fill the hours so full of useful and interesting work that there shall be no time for dwelling on your trouble, that the day shall dawn full of expectation, the night fall full of repose.

Third. Forget yourself; you never will be happy if your thoughts constantly dwell upon yourself, your own perfection, your shortcomings, what people think of you, and so on.

Four. Trust in God. Believe that God is, that He really knows what is best for you. Believe this truly, and the bitterness is gone from life.—"The Arrow."

SOME JANITORS GROW WEALTHY

Charlton Bates Strayer says in Leslie's Weekly: While denouncing big food distributors, manipulators and [illegible] the high cost of living, [illegible] disclosure is [illegible] the part of [illegible] prices. One [illegible] $30,000 to [illegible] of doing [illegible] and fee rights [illegible] sold before [illegible] at prices from [illegible]. The Wicks legislative committee discovered a janitor to be one who receives his rent, ice, milk, bread, rolls and newspapers free, besides getting a cash bonus from dealers in various products for his influence in gaining [illegible] testified [illegible] per cent off on [illegible] raw [illegible] milk. A large [illegible] was found which for 15 years had been furnishing lists of prospective occupants of its properties for which it received about $100 a month from a big milk concern. Petty graft amounting in the aggregate to tens of thousands of dollars is one of many things that is forcing up the cost of living in every city. Does any one hear about any prosecutions of these grafters by the trust busters?

High School Notes

On Monday, February 12, a short patriotic program was given in the auditorium. Hugh Bell read "The American Flag" by Drake and Rev. L. P. McCulloch gave a short talk on Lincoln. It was a splendid talk and everyone enjoyed it. The stage was decorated with flags and old rifles.

Friday night, February 16, the Wadsworth team played our girls here. The game was exciting but rather one-sided. The W. H. S. team was crippled rather badly. Leone Ellsworth could not be at her regular post as guard, and Julia Dayton had been ill for several days so she could not play forward. If it had not been for this W. H. S. might never have known that it had two splendid players. Edna Numan, a sophomore, was put in at guard and did some brilliant playing. Martha Wicker, another sophomore, surprised the whole school with her remarkable work at forward. If you call to mind the fact that Wadsworth defeated W. H. INTERESTING MOCK TRIAL

On Monday there were the regular chapel exercises from 8:30 until 9:00.

Tuesday, the 20th, the Salonian Literary Society gave a very interesting program. It was as follows:

"Not His Job," recitation by Grace Woodworth; "High Cost of Living," essay by Anna Seeley; "Certain Phases of the Life of Abraham Lincoln," declamation by Harold Covert; "Ocean Life," essay by Bertha Chrestinson; "Aunt Tabatha," recitation by Agnes Imm.

After this there was a mock trial. A law suit was brought against Alex. Phelps by the Junior class because he refused to pay for his class pin. He thereby held the pins at the express office for 30 days, because they had been sent there C. O. D. This had injured the dignity and honor of the Juniors so they were suing him for $5.00. The price of the pin was only $2.50. The participants were: judge, Vern Wilber; clerk, Leone Ellsworth; bailiff, Arthur Briggs; plaintiff, Junior class; attorneys for plaintiff, Geo. Richards and Melvin Beebe; defendant, Alex Phelps; attorneys for defendant, Charles Delsontro and Hershel Hern; jury, Lowell Walt, Harold Covert, Leigh Ierland, Herbert Morrow, Agnes Imm, Grace Woodworth; Rube who wandered into court with his hat on, Glen Babcock; witnesses, Anna Seeley, Lawrence Wells, Clarence Beck and Glen Babcock. After the court had been called to order by the bailiff, and the jury sworn in, John Claire took the oath and proceeded to the witness chair. Attorney Delsontro fired about 640 questions at him, most of which he answered very quickly. He was followed by the first witness, Anna Seeley.

Attorney Hern asked her several questions and she was excused. Alex. Phelps took the chair next and told his side of the story. He was followed by the other three witnesses, Lawrence Wells, Glen Babcock and Clarence Beck. They were asked many questions by all the attorneys. After Attorney Richards made his speech in behalf of the plaintiff the case was turned over to the jury for decision by the jury. After a short deliberation the foreman, Agnes Imm, gave the decision. It was that Mr. Phelps should pay only $2.50 for the pin. Judge Wilbe rordered that it should be paid within two weeks. The attorneys for the defendant requested a new trial. It was granted. The audience was very interested throughout the whole trial and strained forward in their seats to catch every word that was said. The trial was no put up job. The attorneys had never practiced so neither side knew what questions were to be asked. It certainly was splendid.

Wednesday at 3 o'clock school closed until the following Monday. School was held last Saturday so that we could have Friday of this week off.

Wednesday evening the W. H. S. girls played the Parkwood church girls, but the score could not be given in this issue of the Republican.

Saturday night the boys play both of the Painesville teams at Painesville. All those who can, go down for the game. It will be a splendid one because Painesville defeated us on our floor by just two points a couple of weeks ago. Our team was severely crippled at the time so we hope to beat them on their own floor. Come along and help the boys bring back the bacon.

Friday, February 9, W. H. S. varsity boys defeated the Reserve freshmen by one point. The game was extremely exciting, and at no time was the final result evident. At the end of the first half the score was 15 to 11 in favor of W. H. S. Once during the second half the varsity was [illegible] behind the Reserve team. [illegible] outweighed they [illegible] for it on speed. We are sorry that the crowd that came to see the game was so small. [illegible] Wells, [illegible] for line-up: Harold Van Deusen and Elm Gregory, forwards; [illegible] Wells, center; Harold Van Deusen and Earl Sebring, guards. [illegible] Whitaker, forwards; [illegible] center; [illegible]

A preliminary the Second team played a Sigma Chi team and were defeated. The Second [illegible] was a team of men. They (the seconds) played a mighty fast game and worked hard clear to the last. The line-up: Fairley and Brott, forwards; Wilber, center; Beck and Phelps, guards. Sigma Chi, Starkey, Meredith, Canfield, Sweeney, forwards; Avison and Sweeney, center; Beals, Canfield and Whitehead, guards.

Friday, February 16, the Varsity boys are to play Shore high. Since there are only 13 boys in the whole Shore high it is expected that the second team will be used for the greater part of the game. The same night the girls play Wadsworth, O., on our floor. The girls all have blood in their eyes because Wadsworth defeated them at Wadsworth. You may rest assured that the game will be a speedy one and that the Athletic Association will appreciate your contribution of 15 cents. It is their first interscholastic game at home. COME AND HELP THEM WIN.

Saturday, February 17, the Varsity boys will play Madison on our floor. We defeated them 98 to 0 in football last fall, so come up and see what will happen to them on the basketball floor. The admission will be 15 cents as usual.

On Monday, February 12, the High school chorus presented the "Messiah" under the direction of Mr. Jas. McMahon. They were assisted by the eighth grade and several town people. The soloists were Miss Florence Wasson, soprano; Mrs. Alice Shaw, contralto; Mr. Allen McQuhae, tenor; Mr. J. O. Samuels, bass. The accompanists were Mrs. J. A. McMahon and Mrs. Allen Crowther. It was greatly enjoyed by everyone who heard it, and much enthusiastic praise was heard.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter McGregor entertained Sunday Mr. and Mrs. John Mulhauser, Mr. and Mrs. Lee Dodge of Cleveland, Mr. and Mrs. Will Pres[illegible]

Mark Fergerson and granddaughter are visiting relatives in West Chardon and Mayfield.

Don't fail to hear the evangelist and singers, who again are to be heard this winter, on February 18, beginning a two weeks' revival meeting at the Disciple church in Willoughby. They bring sunshine into one's life and leave many happy thoughts to dwell upon for months to come. Go and hear them.

Every time our winter comes like this, cold snap after cold snap and snow banks everywhere, we know that the sugar camps will be very busy this spring and the first good "sasser" of warm sugar and hot biscuits we can come close enough to devour we will forget all about our cold feet and "rheumatiz" and rejoice that spring is so near.

Our old "thermom" must be out of business—can hardly crawl above the zero mark nowadays.

Mrs. John Brooks is spending some time with her son and family in Cleveland.

The "Little Old Peddler" of the Aid Society went out with her pack and sold $11 worth of goods in two days. Now she wants the ladies to buy her a little red wagon.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Freshley were in the city Friday on business.

Mrs. J. B. Barton is again in the school room, after her serious illness.

Miss Stella Heath of Cleveland is home for a visit and her brother Frank was home from Akron over Sunday.

George Deitz was out from Chardon to move some of his household goods the last of tthe week.

Miss Helen Grilly has returned from a two weeks' visit with her sisters in Cleveland.

Misfortune seems to follow the family of Mr. and Mrs. Newton Heath. Mr. Heath is slowly recovering since his return from the hospital. Now their little son Charles is quite ill with grip. Dr. Tanner was called Saturday. A few days ago the wind blew the barn door open and their only horse, a splendid animal, was so chilled it died a few hours after with lung fever. May the old saying that "Every cloud has a silvery lining" come true, and may they soon see the silver lining.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Dan Sanborn have been sick, but are now feeling some better.

The play given by the ladies here was well attended, though the night was very cold. $32.22 was taken in at the door. On account of the weather many have requested that it be given again, and it may in connection with a social a little later.

John Parks, Jay Kingsley, Orange Chapman, Elmer Sperry, Clinton Brooks, Sidney Heckin and Lionel Heath have all ordered a new Ford. Looks as if "Henry's" little car was readily marching on.

A card received from Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Sanborn, now in Eustis, Fla., states that the grape fruit and oranges are frozen on the trees, and only the fruit but many fruit trees as well.

SECOND MORTGAGES BARRED

Farmers cannot borrow on second mortgages under the new farm loan system. To correct an impression that has become wide-spread to the effect that second mortgages would be accepted a statement has been issued by Herbert Quick, a member of the board.

"Under the law," he said, "no mortgages can be accepted except first mortgages. It is the opinion, however, of many bankers and real estate men over the country that where first mortgages are given with low interest rate and long time provisions the second mortgage in the hands of private investors will become a very much more attractive form of security than under the present system.

"The opinion is quite general that the second mortgage for part of the purchase price, under the system, will enable very many tenants to become land owners on the basis of making it comparatively easy to get homes of their own. It is hoped by the board that the system in this way will constantly reduce farm tenancy."—National Tribune.

The annual election of officers was made, George Rockafellow being chosen as president. Mr. Rockafellow made an effort to decline the honor, but was over-ruled. Other officers and directors elected included L. B. Stockwell, first vice president; L. R. Adams, second vice president; E. S. Fairley, treasurer, Ernest Birkholz, secretary, and the directors, in addition to names mentioned, A. J. Fickes, J. Jordan, H. F. Kennedy, Rev. L. P. McCulloch, J. Edw. Welt, J. D. Nelson and W. C. Collister.

A vote of thanks was tendered the retiring president, J. Edw. Welt, for his efficient occupancy of the post during the past year, and the members of the Chamber expressed their appreciation, individually and collectively, of Mr. Welt by rising to their feet, in a body.

TIPS FOR PLAY-GOERS

OPERA HOUSE

At the Opera house next Monday Mrs. Fiske and her supporting company, under the management of Madison Corey and Joseph Riter, will present for the first time in this city, Marian de Forest's comedy entitled "Erstwhile Susan," which was one of the distinct successes of the last dramatic season in New York.

Unde her new management of Madison Corey and Joseph Riter, Mrs. Fiske's traditions in regard to the excellence of her supporting company and the artistic mounting of the play are maintained. Harrison Grey Fiske personally staged the play, and among the well-known members of the supporting company are Walter Wilson, Henry Mortimer, Robert Stowe Gill, John Daly Murphy, Hugh Chilvers, Rikel Kent, Sol. Aiken, Madeline Delmar, Anita Clarendon, Virginia Chauvenet, Anna Reader and Eleanor McMurtrie.

Matinees Wednesday and Saturday.

PROSPECT THEATER

Mr. Halton Powell's big-spectacular dramatic offering, "Broadway After Dark," will be the attraction at the Prospect all next week with the usual Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday matinees.

The story tells of the unequal battle of the sexes. It teaches the everlasting moral: "As ye sow, so shall ye reap," and it depicts clearly and strongly the final triumph of virtue over evil. In this busy every-day life of ours there are thousands of just such characters as Violet Le Clair. It is only a mirrored reflection of life's story in a large city. The play is given an elaborate scenic production and is presented by an unusual strong cast.

STAR THEATER

Burlesque with Mollie Williams in her own show. It is described as a big show of the Columbia wheel.

MILES THEATER

Big vaudeville, with Resista, a mystery girl who defies you in every way, as the big attraction. Mr. Miles has arranged a splendid program to surround her.

DUCHESS THEATRE

Robert McLaughlin's play, "A House Without Children," will be given its premiere by Vaughan Glaser and the players associated with him. The play is best described briefly as a "Birth Control" play. Mr. McLaughlin has chosen a poor title for a good drama.

LIBERTY THEATER

Vaudeville is the program at the Liberty next week, with Hirshorn's Swiss songbirds as the headliner.

EMPIRE THEATER

The Frolics of 1917 is the attraction. There are two burlettas and a great deal of fun and chorus in the show.

STANDARD THEATER

The character that Miss Bara portrays in this super de luxe production, that of a Russian princess, who for the love of priceless jewels and money, lures her victims to dishonor and death, will go down in screen history. The story was written for Miss Bara.

The action of the play is international in scope, starting in Russia, thence to Monte Carlo and finally bringing the scene to New York. The princess Petrovitch (Theda Bara) is the wife of a Russian prince, whom she betrays to the Russian police. The settings are most gorgeous and the story will fascinate all.

MOTOR ACCESSORIES COMPANY REMOVES TO LARGER QUARTERS

The Motor Accesories Co. is now located in their new and larger salesroom at 6301-03 Euclid avenue. Mr. W. A. Harshaw, manager, opened a small accessory store in Euclid avenue, near his present location, five years ago, and the business has grown so that it was necessary to move to larger quarters. The company carries a full line of auto supplies, and are distributors in Cleveland for the famous Victor Springfield hand made tires and tubes, which by their good service in the way of giving big mileage returns have placed the Victor Springfield line on the map here in Cleveland.

The Motor Accessories Co. have a free air line service on the 63rd St. side of their store, and a man to look after all your small wants. They have in the rear of their store a garage where you can drive your car in out of the weather, to make any adjustments or repairs that may be needed, which is at your service. Ladies given special attention.

Their motto is: "The best of everything for everybody that drives a motor car." Probably by knowing each other better we would be mutually benefitted, at least we think so, and would value your patronage.

The store has added much to the corner where it is located and your patronage will make it more attractive and be appreciated.

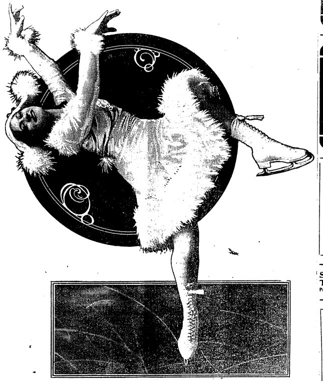
Huge New York Hippodrome Show Coming to Keiths' Hippodrome



Even those theatregoers who know much of the theatre's problems of staging and transportation have been confounded by the success with which Charles Dillingham has moved to a few cities his complete presentation of the enormous spectacle, "Hip, Hip Hooray," from the New York Hippodrome, the largest theatre in the world.

But it has been done, and Keith's Hippodrome, the only theatre in or near Cleveland in which "Hip, Hip Hooray" could be housed, is as sure to be filled twice a day for the week beginning Monday, March 5, as were the convention halls and auditoriums in Cincinnati, St. Louis, Kansas City, Chicago, Philadelphia and Boston, the only other cities of America possible to play in.

The New York Hippodrome and its wonderful attractions are more widely known than those of any other [illegible] there are given the "Biggest Shows in the World at the Lowest Prices" has never been denied. Its performances include nearly every style of entertainment; if it was to be called "Musical Comedy" it would be not one but in reality ten musical comedies, and all its leading features are widely known. Charles Dillingham has brought together more than 600 musicians, skaters, ballet and comedians into one attraction—the largest there has ever been known.

Sousa, the "March King," and his complete band of 65 soloists is there to stir the pulse of listeners to martial time; also Charlotte, the greatest ice skater the world has known, with a foreign trained ice ballet of 24, all from the noted Admiralpalast, and with 200 more to join in the spectacular ballet on real ice. Then there are Nat M. Wills, the "Happy Hobo," [illegible] Mallia and Bart, George Clifford, Marseilles and Larrabee, Benn Brothers, Chin Chin, the famous baby elephant, Toto, the impish chimpanzee, and many more, besides the chorus and ballet of 300 members.

To handle the big scenes 200 stage hands are required. Among the famous stage pictures are the "Ladder of Roses," "Poor Butterfly," the popular song hit of a generation with the special scenic effects belonging to it; "March of the States," "Kat Kabaret," "Tower of Jewels," "Biltmore Cascades," "Trip to Toyland," "My Land, My Flag" with the march of the Boy Scouts, and others.

Matinees will be given daily during the engagement, and with the exception of Saturday the price for the best seats at the matinees will be $1.50.

MANY MATTERS OF IMPORTANCE TAKEN UP AT THE CHAMBER OF COMMERCE MEETING

At the meeting of the Chamber of Commerce at the Methodist church Tuesday night, as mentioned on page one of this issue, the following report was read by J. Edward Weitt.

As is customary at our annual meeting, we present to you our report of activities for the fiscal year ending February 20th, 1917.

During the past year the board of directors has held 12 meetings, and the entire membership nine meetings. This number of meetings being made necessary through emergencies that had arisen.

MEMBERSHIP

A year ago we numbered 74. Our aim at that time was to reach a membership of 100. By efficient work on the part of our membership committee and the enthusiastic assistance of others, we now have not only reached this goal but have the pleasure of reporting a total membership of 106. This is approximately 5% of the total population of Willoughby, and we consider it a very creditable showing of community interest in this organization.

FIRE PREVENTION

Through our Public Safety committee, a thorough investigation was made of uniform apparatus for fire hose and fire plug connection, in order that we may have assistance from neighboring cities should a local conflagration make it necessary. This committee's report has been communicated to the village authorities and has met with their favor.

ROADS AND BRIDGES

Much has been done in regard to a high level bridge across the Chagrin Valley, but nothing definite accomplished as to its construction. Last May we ask the County Commissioners to prepare plans and estimates for two structures, one to be a strictly high level bridge from Mentor Ave. to Vine Street, or thereabouts, and the other to establish a grade at Glen Avenue and to run directly across, (practicaly parellel with the C. P. & E. bridge,) connecting with the Andrews Institute property, and crossing the car tracts either over or under, making a semi-high-level bridge.

At that time the County Commissioners and Surveyor did not feel that it was the proper time to agitate the subject. It was their intention to improve the old bridge and roadway. Our efforts were to prevent the expenditure of money to such an extent that it would [illegible] the high level bridge [illegible] successful, [illegible] money spent on the highway.

Later in the fall we tried again to agitate [illegible] responded [illegible] the County Commissioners and County Surveyor, but without any [illegible] was [illegible] discussion [illegible] the matter [illegible] the Chamber of Commerce [illegible] of [illegible] limit [illegible] reached, it was [illegible] bring the matter to the attention of the public.

Our [illegible] very [illegible] bridge matter [illegible] have been [illegible]. They have [illegible] ing the [illegible] road.

In December we received a resolution from the Plains Grange No. 169, in which they asked the Chamber to co-operate with them in abolishing the grade crossing of the New York Central at Erie street. The Chamber will lend its aid to this improvement, a committee having been appointed with instructions to include the abolishment of the Nickel Plate crossing also, with an effort to secure co-operation of the township and the county officials, thus lessening the burden to the village, as this improvement is one that will be of benefit to the entire county.

NATURAL GAS

Last spring a special committee consisting of Messrs. Penfield, Collister and Adams were appointed to secure natural gas for Willoughby if possible. While they were not successful in getting what they were after, we have the assurance of the East Ohio Gas Company that our request will be granted as soon as increased lines from the West Virginia fields are laid. This is a commodity that the village lacks and ought to have. If we cannot secure natural gas within a short period some efforts should be made to induce capital to install gas producing machinery so that we may enjoy the convenience of gas.

FREE MAIL DELIVERY

Early in April the subject of free mail delivery was presented to our directors and later a committee consisting of Messrs. Bates, Carmichael and Moseley were appointed to further agitate the subject. No definite report has yet come to the Chamber but from the local papers we learn that it is probable that at the close of the postoffice's fiscal year which ends in June, we may be entitled to this free service.

This committee has not been regularly provided for in our by-laws, and is operating under special resolution for its appointment. We would suggest that our by-laws be amended, making one of the standing committees an "Educational or School Committee." The one now in existence has done splendid work as you have learned through their report that was presented tonight. This is of such imporatnce that we should not lose sight of it, ever having in mind improved school facilities and modern methods, with sufficient funds to support them.

The future policies of this Chamber and village will in a few short years depend on not only the boys now being educated but the girls also. There is nothing tax payers should be more willing to subscribe to than for educational purposes. Our schools are inadequate to care for many more pupils than are now being housed. We need two grade schools, one in the west end and one in the north end of the town, so that the present high school building can be used exclusively for high school purposes.

FARMERS' INSTITUTE

Your Chamber has endorsed the invitation extended for farmers' institute to be held in Willoughby during the summer of 1917. The incoming president, his entertainment committee, and the county secretary of the Y. M. C. A. are to be the committee in charge. We mention this so that th new administration shall not overlook preparation for it.

Several requests have come to us during the year for manufacturing sites. All have received proper encouragement and attention, but with no successful result except that the Ben Hur Motor Company has located here, after having received our invitation, but unfortunately so quickly and without giving us any notice as to their intention of accepting our offer that it made it impossible for us to secure sufficient signers to the guarantee that had been offered to them.

FINANCIAL SURVEY

The financial survey of all departments of the village, including the schools, is now under way. This is not an audit of the books, but merely a separation of items of the village account so that any citizen can readily understand the cause of the present tax rate in the village, and why it is necessary to charge the present rate for water and light [illegible]. [illegible] report [illegible] completed [illegible].

IDEALS OF THE CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

[illegible] work [illegible] progress. What we do now must be done with thought of better things in the future. We must not be extravagant so that this village will be considered an undesirable location on account of a high tax rate, but necessities must be provided for wisely. With added territory as it is from time to time annexed, more buildings constructed, added fire protection and water lines will be needed with more sewers and eventually a sewage disposal plant.

To insure a more beautiful Willoughby, a planning commission would be of great assistance. Opening of new streets and allotments should be regulated by village ordinance, and if possible township authorities should regulate allotments and streets. The planting of trees and the location of buildings so as to build in harmony with landscape beauties should be carefully considered.

A Chamber of Commerce that is honest in its purpose, full of enthusiasm, not political or factional, can be of untold value to a community in counseling and advising with authorities in a friendly spirit on such matters as these.

This is what the Willoughby Chamber of Commerce stands for and why it exists. Every member must feel his responsibility fully, otherwise he is of little value to our organization or to the community.

Let us pull together for a bigger and better Willoughby, promoting everything that is good and have the courage to discountenance anything that does not stand for good citizenship and a moral community life that we may be proud of.

I consider it a great honor to have acted as your presiding officer the past year, and take this opportunity of expressing my appreciation and thankfulness to all that have so faithfully contributed to the welfare of this organization.

Respectfully submitted,
J. EDW. WEIT,
Retiring president of the Willoughby Chamber of Commerce.

COMMUNITY CENTER CHURCH MAY BE FOUND ON WILLOUGHBY RIDGE

The little rural church at Willoughby Ridge, with its membership and congregation, made up largely of people of all denominations, and its Sunday school of some 50 persons of all ages, is having a very encouraging and prosperous year. Besides the public worship and preaching hour at 10:30 in the forenoon, and the Sunday school at 11:30, a series of community sociables are held monthly in the neighborhood homes, with games, programs of music, vocal and instrumental, readings, recitations, and usually light refreshments at the close.

With the fine sleighing of this week an extra box social was held on Wednesday evening in the home of Mr. and Mrs. James A. Ringle, and a most enjoyable and profitable occasion it was, with some 75 persons present and proceeds above $20. Mrs. J. S. Page, a Baptist lady, made good as the box auctioneer. In closing, Mrs. Page presided at the piano and the company sang most heartily "God be with you till we meet again."

The subject of the sermon on Sunday morning, February 25th, will be "The Heart All Wrong, Made All Right," The Sunday school will study the international lesson, "Jesus at the Pool of Bethesda."

On the evening of February 12th, before the Memorial Post, G. A. R., and a large number of their friends, in the city hall, Cleveland, Dr. C. H. Stocking, pastor of the Willoughby Ridge church, who was a private soldier in Co. E., O. V. I., delivered the Lincoln memorial address.

On Thursday evening, February 22, at the banquet of the Men's Club in the Wickliffe Presbyterian church, Dr. Stocking will give "Reminiscences of the Civil War," and render two numbers in song, celebrating the 185th birthday anniversary of George Washington.

ANDREWS STUDENT MAKES PRACTICAL USE OF "EARNING MONEY AT HOME" ARTICLE

A rather interesting illustration of the practical turn of mind that is early acquired by the students of the Andrews school students at this time is shown by a little article written by one of the girls apropos of the use made of some windfall apples at the farm this fall. A small portion of the products of the apples was shown at the exhibit at the school commencement week.

The accompanying article, by Rose Gardner, student, was the explanation of the method:

"Magaznies containing articles on how different women had made money at home by doing little things were being read by the class. One of our ambitious classmates said: "I wonder if we could do something like that?" During our conversation the superintendent entered the room and at once becoming interested, said, "Take for instance the apples at the farm. There are plenty of windfalls over there to work with." We did some planning as to what we would do and decided to go at once to the manager to make arrangements for buying the apples.

Our suggestion being made he said, "Good! If you girls will gather your own apples you may have them for the getting."

It was too late that morning to do much but draw conclusions. The next morning we brought our apples home and began our work. We bought sugar, spices, cans and rubbers. We made three quarts of apple pickles, two dozen glasses of jelly and 12 quarts of apple butter. At a sale in the gymnasium we disposed of most of it, but for the rest we took orders. Our liabilities were about $2.60, while our resources were $7.60, making a profit of $5.00. This money is to be used for purchasing something for the homemaking rooms. A picture has been thought of. Our money is in good care with the Students' Bank."

WOMAN OF 96 PASSES ON

Mrs. Eliza Ferguson Fuller, who was born on the Ridge in 1826, passed away at the home of Mrs. Henchbach, of Wilson avenue, at the age of 91, last week. Funeral services were held Sunday, conducted by Rev. Bright. Mrs. Fuller was one of 11 children and is survived by two sisters, Mrs. Elsie [illegible], a sister, residing with Mrs. Gertrude Sieberling, wife of Frank Sieberling, in Akron, and she is now 89. Mrs. Martha Smith, another sister, is 93, and living in Warren, Ohio.

Since last June Mrs. Fuller has made her home with Mrs. Henchbach. She was mentally alert and interested in the topics of the day up until the time of her death, really [illegible] every [illegible] of the world up until the last. No one, it is reported, could excell her in remembering the [illegible] birthdays of numbers of people.

Mrs. Fuller was the wife of Dr. George Fuller of Willoughby, who was a brother of Mrs. David Law, and a grandson of Judge Fuller.

Holton, Mich., was the home of the couple during the larger part of their married life. Eight children were born of the union, two of whom are living, one, John Fuller of Milwaukee, and Simeon Fuller of Rio Janeiro. The latter is married to a daughter of Captain Ellen and they have been in South Americe since last July.

The body of Mrs. Fuller was placed in the vault and will be interred in the Willoughby cemetery in accordance with Mrs. Fuller's wish.

LIFE LONG CONGREGATIONALIST PASSES

With the passing of Uriah C. Bosworth of Kirtland, a devoted and life long Congregationalist passed on.

Rev. Bosworth was born in Gustavus, Ohio, July 31st, 1845. He died in Kirtland, February 12th, 1917. The funeral services were held Friday, the 16th. The Rev. J. G. Fraser of Cleveland, a life long friend of the deceased, officiated, assisted by the Rev. Floyd Randall of Willoughby.

Rev. Bosworth married Lucy A. Minor of Iowa. Four children, Earnest E., of Portland, Ore.; Mrs. Lena M. Sleeman, of San Bernadino, Cal., and the Rev. Theodore K. Bosworth, of Severy, Kansas, and Mrs. Irena Parks, wife of Arthur Parks, of Kirtland, were born of the union, and survive.

The last five years of Rev. Bosworth's life had been spent in invalidism, being confined to his chair.

He was well known in Congregational church circles. Rev. and Mrs. Bosworth returned to Kirtland from Kansas, in order to be with their younger daughter, in August of 1914. He has officiated as pastor in Iowa, California, and Home Missionary worker in Oregon. His last pastorate was at the Kirtland Congregational church, closing there in 1899 account of ill health. West Andover, Huntsburg, Chester and other towns were also scenes of his activities, and he has been very successful, large additions to the churches being gained during his pastorates.

Many who have known him have passed on, but many are left of his acquaintances and friends to share in these reflections and words of sympathy.

DEATH OF FORMER RESIDENT OF MENTOR

Word has just reached here that on Saturday, February 10th, there passed away of pneumonia Mary Evelyn Brooks Knox, wife of John Slater Knox, formerly of South Dummer, Ontario.

She was born in Mentor, Ohio, April 6th, 1853, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry M. Brooks.

In 1867 the family moved to Chicago, where they have since resided.

LAKE ERIE COLLEGE TO HAVE NOTED PIANIST

Harold Bauer will appear at Lake Erie college on March 2. The importance of this event can hardly be overestimated. Mr. Bauer is one of the greatest of living pianists, known throughout the world as "the Master Pianist." To have secured such an artist for a concert in Painesville is a great accomplishment and gives an unusual opportunity to the people of Painesville and this vicinity.

Harold Bauer's genius as an interpreter and as an artist with poetic insight is largely responsible for his fame as a pianist. Mr. Bauer is an Englishman of German descent who appeared in his boyhood as a violin prodigy, but later, upon the advice of Paderewski, he concentrated his attention upon the piano. He has toured England, Norway, Germany, Spain, France, The Netherlands, Austria, Sweden, and America, and has been everywhere phenomenally successful.

This is the third in the series of artists' recitals at the college this winter. Reservations for seats should be made as soon as possible by communicating with the college by mail or telephone before February 24. The admission will be one dollar for people outside Painesville.

WASHINGTON PROGRAM AT ANDREWS SCHOOL

A Washington program was interestingly rendered by eighth grade pupils in the Andrews gymnasium Tuesday noon. Events in the life of Washington and patriotic songs comprised the program.

The Young Peoples' Reading Club went for a sleigh ride to Kirtland last Tuesday evening, where they had a fine chicken dinner such as the people of Kirtland are noted for.

FARMERS INVITED

The Community Builders of Painesville have invited the Lake county farmers to a luncheon in that city February 26th. There is something less than 2,000 farmers in Lake Co. and it is not known how many will accept the invitation.

Willoughby Folks Listen To Talk On Mexico

William Vernon Backus, of Cleveland addressed an interested audience on the subject of Mexico in the gymnasium at Andrews school Friday evening last.

Mr. Backus has spent many years in Mexico and was well acquainted with many of its leading men. He discussed the Pearson and Standard Oil situation, from the point of view that much of the trouble in Mexico could be traced to the latter monopoly. He showed numerous views of the country and spoke of the necessity of a salesman being able to converse in Spanish and have plenty of time on his hands before he attempted to sell goods there. "Amisdad," or friendship, is a quality that is highly regarded in the conduct of Mexican business affairs. Mr. Backus' talk was received with much interest. The Woman's Club conducted the affair, and the gymnasium was entirely filled.

Mr. Backus was scheduled to speak in the east the present week and next, upon the subject of "Talosophy," or the "Art of Making Happiness Epidemic."

This subject, Mr. Backus states, is one he would much rather speak upon than the troubled affairs of Mexico.

THE APPEAL OF THE AMERICAN RED CROSS

Washington.—Asking for "the undivided support of patriotic Americans everywhere" Mr. Elliott Wadsworth, acting chairman of the American Red Cross, issued an appeal to the American public for the immediate enrollment of 1,000,000 new members to help the society in the present national crisis.

Mr. Wadsworth said: "At this time of national trial, when everyone is keyed to a spirit of particular sacrifice and desire to help, I cannot insist too strongly nor too often that the Red Cross is the only volunteer relief organization recognized by the United States government. Now is the time when we must unify our national effort, and guard above all against duplication of work in any vital field.

"Numbers of self-sacrificing people during the last two years have given all their time and enthusiasm to specialized relief. We have had to be neutral, to lessen suffering wherever we have found it. We could do nothing else if we were true to the spirit of our founders. Others have preferred through keen sympathy to work for special national relief funds, and to make special forms of dressings and bandages for the surgeons of this or that particular country. The work of these persons has been one of the sustaining inspirations of American life.

"But now the conditions are all changed. It is the United States itself that may need our organized assistance. We do not know at what minute the country may demand our uttermost resources. There is no possibility of divided sympathy. And our government has made it plain without the chance of a doubt, that where America is suffering or in danger of suffering, the American Red Cross must bear the burden of national relief and command the loyal and devoted help of the entire country.

We are ready now to provide personnel to care for the sick and wounded of an army of 1,000,000 men, and to bring instant relief to the dependent families of volunteers. Our surgical dressings we have standardized to meet the special needs of the United States army. In one year we have added to our rolls more than a quarter of a million members. Today we need a million new members at once. The time has come when we must ask and obtain the undivided support of patriotic Americans everywhere."

ORDINANCE NO. 1004

By Mr. Bishop.

An ordinance to vacate part of sublot No. 368 in the Frisbie Company's Windermere Subdivision No. 2, recorded in Volume 27 of Maps, Page 18 of Cuyahoga County Records, which was heretofore dedicated for public use for street purposes by plat recorded in Volume 41 of Maps, Page 22 of Cuyahoga County Records.

Whereas, on the 8th day of December, 1916, the Belt & Terminal Realty Company, the owner of property in the vicinity of the land hereinafter described, filed with the Director of Public Service a petition which was duly presented to the Council, praying that said land be vacated as provided by law.

Whereas, the Council upon hearing is satisfied that there is good cause for such vacation as prayed for, that it will not be detrimental to the general interest, and ought to be made, Now, Therefore,

Be it ordained by the Council of the City of East Cleveland, State of Ohio:

Section 1. That the following property be and the same is hereby vacated, which property is bounded and described as follows:

"Situated in the city of East Cleveland, County of Cuyahoga and State of Ohio, and known as being all that part of Sublot Number Three Hundrtd and Sixty-eight (368) in the Frisbie Company's Windermere Subdivision No. 2 of part of Original One Hundred Acre Lot No. 382, as shown by the recorded plat in Volume 27 of Maps, Page 18, of Cuyahoga County Records, that was dedicated to the public use for street purposes by plat recorded in Volume 41 of Maps, Page 22, of Cuyahoga County Records."

Section 2. That this ordinance shall be and remain in force from and after the earliest period allowed by law.

Passed December 20, 1916.
HENRY W. STONE, President of the Council.
Attest: E. L. HICKEY, Clerk of the Council. F15-22
Approved December 20, 1916.

SENDING APPLES BY PARCEL POST

After three years' trials in sending apples in corrugated strawboard cartons by parcel post, the Department of Horticulture of the Ohio Experiment Station has found that the fruit will carry to almost any distance with little or no injury. The use of parcel post, however, is not advised for shipments beyond the second zone because the postage is much greater than the express rate.

Half peck and peck boxes were sent to several different states, including Colorado, Texas and Florida. One box was sent to British Guiana. In practically all cases the apples reached their destination with no or only slight bruises. The one-piece slotted package was found the most satisfactory type for shipments.

ORDINANCE NO. 1007.

By Mr. Merrick.

An ordinance fixing the pay of laborers in the Water Works Department and in the Department of Public Service.

Whereas, the Director of Public Service has found it impossible to retain the services of employees in the Water Works Department and in the Public Service Department, classified as laborers, at the present rate of pay, Now, Therefore,

Be it ordained by the council of the city of East Cleveland, State of Ohio:

Section 1. That the Director of Public Service be and he is hereby authorized to pay all employees in the Water Works Department and in the Department of Public Service, classified as laborers, a sum not to exceed Forty (40) cents per hour for services rendered by said laborers.

Section 2. This ordinance is hereby declared to be an emergency measure, necessity therefor arising from the immediate need of retention of the services of laborers now in the employ of the city, whose services are continuously required for the preservation of public health and safety.

Passed December 20, 1916.

Zauner, first name unknown, deceased; German Insurance Company, a Corporation, and ——— Haas, first name unknown, wife or widow of Richard Haas, otherwise known as Jane Doe, real name unknown, wife or widow of Richard Haas, all of whose places of residence are unknown, and the names of the unknown heirs, devisees and personal representatives bein unknown, will take notice that The Cleveland Trust Company, a corporation, as Plaintiff, has filed its petition against them and others in the Court of Common Pleas of Cuyahoga County, Ohio, alleging that it is a corporation, and that it is the owner in fee simple and in actual possession of the following described real estate, to-wit:

Situated in the City of Cleveland, County of Cuyahoga and State of Ohio, and known as being Sub-Lots Nos. 1, 2, 3, 4, 14, 15 and 16 in Spencer Stafford's Subdivision of a part of Original Two Acre Lots Nos. 31 and 32, as shown by the recorded plat of said Subdivision in Volume "Z" of Deeds, Page 721 of Cuyahoga County Records, and bounded and described as follows:

Beginning at the intersection of the Southerly line of Lakeside avenue, N. W. with the Westerly line of West 3rd Street (formerly Seneca Street); thence Westerly along the Southerly line of Lakeside Avenue, N. W., 199 feet 2 inches to its intersection with the Easterly line of West 4th Street (formerly Academy Street); thence Southerly along the Easterly line of West 4th Street, 126 feet 10 1-2 inches to the Northerly line of said Sub Lot No. 5 in said subdivision; thence easterly along the northerly line of said Sublot No. 5, 199 feet 2 inches to the Westerly line of West 3rd Street; thence northerly along the westerly line of West 3rd St., 126 ft. 10 1-2 inches to the place of beginning, as appears by said plat.

The petition alleges that the Defendants, Daniel Kellog, and the unknown heirs, devisees and personal representatives of Daniel Kellog, deceased, claim an estate or interest in said premises adverse to Plaintiff's rights, by virtue of a certain improperly cancelled mortgage, executed by James R. Stafford, then the owner of said premises, in favor of Daniel Kellog, which mortgage is dated November 11, 1839, and is recorded in Volume 27, Page 473 of Cuyahoga County Records; but that Plaintiff believes and alleges that said mortgage has been fully paid and satisfied;

That the defendants, Isaac L. Hewitt, and the unknown heirs, devisees, and personal representatives of Isaac L. Hewitt, deceased, claim an estate or interest in said premises adverse to Plaintiff's rights, by virtue of a certain improperly cancelled mortgage executed by Frederick A. Keppler, then the owner of said premises, in favor of Isaac L. Hewitt, which mortgage is dated April 24, 1851, and is recorded in Volume 52, Page 16, of Cuyahoga County Records; but that Plaintiff believes and alleges that said mortgage has been fully paid and satisfied, and also by virtue of an improperly cancelled mortgage, executed by Frederick A. Keppler, then the owner of said premises, in favor of Isaac L. Hewitt, which mortgage is dated June 3, 1851, and is recorded in Volume 52, Page 508 of Cuyahoga County Records; but that plaintiff believes and alleges that said mortgage has been fully paid and satisfied;

That the defendant, German Insurance Company claims an estate or interest in said premises adverse to Plaintiff's rights, by reason of an improperly cancelled mortgage executed by Adam Snider to the said German Insurance Company, which mortgage is dated May 25, 1870, and is recorded in Volume 180, page 10, of Cuyahoga County Records, but that Plaintiff believes and alleges that said mortgage has been fully paid and satisfied.

That the defendants, H. Zauner, first name unknown, and the unknown heirs, devisees and personal representatives of H. Zauner, first name unknown, deceased, claim some estate or interest in said premises adverse to plaintiff's rights by virtue of a certain mortgage executed by Barbara Schneider, then the owner of said premises, in favor of said H. Zauner, dated July 24, 1893, and recorded in Volume 562, page 631 of Cuyahoga County Records, which mortgage was improperly assigned by the said H. Zauner to John Lendy, on July 24, 1893, and which assignment is recorded in Release Volume 11, Page 191, of Cuyahoga County Records, but that Plaintiff believes and alleges that the said mortgage has been fully paid and satisfied;

That the defendant, ——— Haas, first name unknown, wife or widow of Richard Haas, otherwise known as Jane Doe, real name unknown, wife or widow of Richard Haas, claims an estate or interest adverse to Plaintiff's rights, by reason of a certain deed from Richard Haas, then the owner of said premises, to Adam Haas, dated May 16, 1848, and recorded in Volume 44, Page 651 of Cuyahoga County Records, in which deed no wife joins with the Grantor nor is any statement made that the said Grantor was single: but the Plaintiff believes and therefore alleges that the said Richard Haas, at the time of the execution of said deed was unmarried.

The petition further says that none of said defendants has any interest whatever in said premises, and that any interest they or any or all of them may have had has long since been barred by lapse of time and the Statutes of Limitations: that none of said defendants has ever sought to convey or attempted to enforce or assert any interest in and to the said premises, and that as against the said defendants and each and all of them, Plaintiff and its predecessors in title have held and been in the actual, open, notorious, continuous and adverse possession of said premises for more than twenty-one years last preceding the filing of said petition.

The prayer of said petition is that said defendants and each and all of them may be compelled to show their said interest in said premises, if any: that the same may be adjudged to be null and void: that Plaintiff's title be quieted against said defendants and for relief.

Said petition is No. 154137, and each and all of the above named defendants are required to answer the same on or before the 17th day of March, A. D. 1917, or judgment will be taken in accordance with the prayer of the petition. J25 M1

MAY CO. MAKES A REAL COUP, AS IS USUAL WITH THEM

To take advantage of any condition that may arise is one of the attributes of The May Co.

Not less than a few days ago this big mercantile house saw a chance to buy at most enticing figures about 1,500 suits of blue serge. Not a minute was lost in obtaining the garments, for about the most scarce thing in Cleveland at present is a genuine blue serge suit of clothes for a full grown man.

Anyhow the May Co. has just put in a line of these goods that will be a revelation to those who are so lucky as to procure one for the number is limited.

These really stylish garments are woven from the best of Australian wool and moreover they are dyed with standard dyes.

Do you, Mr. Reader, know how scarce those two commodities are in America? The world-war has made it practically impossible to import Australian wool or European dyes. But the May Co's guarantee goes with this remarkably sensational offering of blue serge suits and that guarantee is equivalent to a bond signed by Uncle Sam.

And these suits are selling at $17.50

LEGAL NOTICE

For Dinner Tonight

There will be twelve of us.

We will have an economical dinner, recommended by Anne MacGregor Payne, director of the Department of Home Economics of The Ohio State Journal, Columbus, Ohio.

Broiled chops will be the piece de resistance and they will cost but 42 cents.

Cheese cabbage will cost us 22 cents and carrot souffle will cost 20 cents. We will have baking powder biscuits costing 11 cents—(if each of us eats but one)—and our tea will cost 5 cents.

Snow pudding is good so we will have some. It will cost 20 cents. Our custard will be 15 cents more, and pastry wafers will cost 25 cents. Our dinner for twelve, uncooked and unserved, will cost $1.60—a very reasonable price.

To be valuable it must be cooked. And it takes gas to make the tea, cook the chops, cabbage and custard and to bake the carrot souffle, biscuits and wafers. Besides we must heat water to wash the dishes.

This will cost, according to Anne MacGregor Payne's test, less than two cents.

After all, Gas Service is but a minor expense in your household, isn't it?

TWENTIETH YEAR—NO. 7. WILLOUGHBY, OHIO, MARCH 2, 1917. ONE DOLLAR A YEAR IN ADVANCE

INCREASE IN CAPITAL STOCK FOR BEN HUR AND ADDITIONAL BUILDINGS CONTEMPLATED

The matter of increasing the capital stock of The Ben Hur Automobile Co. to five million dollars will be brought up at the stockholders' meeting at the office of the company on March 5th.

The erection of another three story building, that building of bodies, painting and other work may be done here, is contemplated immediately thereafter, as it was not at first deemed advisable to do this portion of the work here in Willoughby. This change of plan would necessitate the employment of several hundred more men than originally planned for.

The company will not accept bodies that are not up to their standard in every particular, which is their reason for deciding to build their own, they report.

NEW BODY PLANT MAY LOCATE IN WILLOUGHBY

Owners of a plant for the manufacture of automobile bodies are now considering a site in this locality. Although the Ben Hur people are now anticipating the manufacture of their own bodies, for their car, as mentioned in another column, they are lending every effort to secure the location of this new plant in this vicinity. The Ben Hur people are, in fact, willing to put up any reasonable amount in the way of a donation, or be taxed for the purpose of lending assistance in getting the new plant for Willoughby. The officials of the Ben Hur are authority for the statement that they will stand their part in promoting the interests of any new enterprise desiring to locate here.

Later: Talking with Elmer Lang of the B. R. & L. Co. Thursday, the information was brought forth that if the body plant should be built, it would probably not be for a year. The company have located a plant in Cleveland for the present, it is reported.

MEN, WOMEN AND CHILDREN INVITED TO JOIN IN WILLOUGHBY RED CROSS MOVEMENT

Willoughby folks have shown considerable interest in the local Red Cross movement, as is evinced by the list of names of the first 25 members shown in another column secured in the last few days. Men, women and children are earnestly invited to cooperate and join the local circle at this time. The men especially are asked to contribute their support. The payment is only $1.00 and there are no obligations attached. Half of the money remains here for the purchase of supplies, and the other portion sent on to Washington for use in securing literature and other needed materials. Women and children are urged to become members. If you can contribute a day's work now and then, well and good; if not, a half day's work, or work may be taken home. The meetings will be held at the library at 1:30 every Monday and all are welcome to come and sew. Japan has over one million red cross members. Lake county now has 160. Washington, D. C., reports that Lake county should have 1,500. The work is not used alone for war relief. Calamities, railway accidents and suffering of any kind is constantly relieved by the Red Cross. Every effort is being made to increase the membership here at this time.

TOWNSPEOPLE DISCUSS PAVING. PARCEL OF LAND TO BE PURCHASED. OTHER MATTERS ARE TAKEN UP BY COUNCIL.

Residents gathered at the council meeting Monday last to discuss the matter of paving the side streets as previously reported. There appeared to be a sentiment in favor of the paving, and it was voted that 24 foot brick paving be laid, on a concrete base, although several objections to the paving were registered.

The streets to be so paved include River to Wilson, Barber from Euclid to Wood, Clark from Vine to Spalding, Spalding from Clark to Erie, Second from Clark to Erie.

It was decided that the matter of

A GREATER AND BROADER WILLOUGHBY

Ideals of the Chamber of Commerce

The retiring president of the Chamber of Commerce expressed the following sentiment:

A Chamber of Commerce that is honest in its purpose, full of enthusiasm, not political or factional, can be of untold value to a community in counseling and advising with authorities in a friendly spirit on such matters as these.

This is what the Willoughby Chamber of Commerce stands for and why it exists. Every member must feel his responsibility fully, otherwise he is of little value to our organization or to the community.

Let us pull together for a bigger and better Willoughby, promoting everything that is good and have the courage to discountenance anything that does not stand for good citizenship and a moral community life that we may be proud of.

J. EDW. WEIT.

* * * * *

EVERY MEMBER MUST FEEL HIS RESPONSIBILITL FULLY AND PULL TOGETHER.

That is the spirit that is expressed in Mr. Weit's message.

* * * * *

This is the expression of James McMahon: "Willoughby's prospects were never brighter. Our Chamber of Commerce is at last getting to be a real organization. It is now accomplishing what its organizers intended it should and what a real Chamber of Commerce exists for. But it is only through UNITED EFFORT that RESULTS ARE REALIZED. So let everyone put his shoulder to the wheel and push for a bigger, brighter Willoughby.

JAMES McMAHON.

* * * * *

The belief as expressed in each case is the same: united effort, concerted action on the worth while matters and tabooing of individual criticism. If there is criticism, let it be in UNITED form.

* * * * *

This is a word from Sidney S. Wilson:

Community life should be like a relay race; the runner hands the message to another. He spurts up until out of breath and then in turn passes it on to another fresh starter. The runners never trip each other up, don't stop to criticise the other fellow, nor tear down what has been done, but grabs the good work and carries it forward another lap. Willoughby would forge ahead faster if all joined the relay.

SIDNEY S. WILSON.

George Rockafellow, the incoming president, also expresses this same sentiment and space in The Republican will be reserved each week that these plans and expressions may be published and acted upon. Words may be used to prove very detrimental, and it will be agreed that many fair and splendid words are often not lived up to.

TO LIVE UP TO THE WORDS THAT ARE EXPRESSED IS TO SECURE A GREATER AND BROADER WILLOUGHBY in the belief of the new president, Mr. Rockafellow.

SOCIAL TOPICS

Mrs. L. W. Penfield left for Washington Tuesday, meeting Mrs. Nettie Reynolds at that point. From that place, Mrs. Penfield expected to journey to New York; visiting Dr. Moore's daughter, Mrs. Henry Myers, and making the acquaintance of Henry Myers, Jr.

WILLOUGHBY BOYS ATTEND TOURNAMENT AT DELAWARE

The all Ohio high school basket ball tournament was held at Delaware Ohio, March 2 and 3. The Willoughby high school varsity left Thursday at 11 a. m., going via Big Four. The following men went as members of the varsity:

Harold Van Deusen, R. G., Capt.; Howard Van Duesen, R. F., Lawrence Wells, C.; Earl Sebring, L. G.; Elmer Gregory, L. F.; Reed Fairley, Theodore Kaiser; Prof Jordan Cavan, Coach. Rev. H. E. Bright, Jack Girard and Don Van Deusen accompanied the boys as rooters. The tournament at Delaware is an annual event. It is expected that about 60 teams will compete. The Willoughby boys have made a splendid showing this year and will surely give a good account of themselves.

DIRECTORS OF CHAMBER OF COMMERCE HOLD MEETING

The Directors of the Chamber of Commerce held their meeting Monday night. Some business matters were taken up, and the first member under the new president, George Rockafellow, received. This was F. O. Reynolds of Mentor.

NOTICE OF STOCKHOLDERS' MEETING OF THE BEN HUR

The annual stockholders' meeting of the Ben Hur Automobile Co. will be held at the office of the company, Ben Hur avenue and Vine street, at 12 o'clock, noon, Monday, March 5th.

NINE HUNDRED MERCHANTS GATHER.

An eminent gathering of business men occurred in Columbus February 22nd, under the auspices of the Columbus Chamber of Commerce.

Approximately 900 men were in attendance. The mayor of Columbus and noted speakers throughout the state made addresses. Sidney S. Wilson of Willoughby was the leader of discussion speaking in the afternoon. He was followed by Governor Cox, who spoke on the subject of "Business and the State."

The gathering represented the first annual community conference of Ohio retail merchants.

E. A. BAUSE LEAVES CORRIGAN FARM

General changes at the Corrigan farm involved the removal of E. A. Bause. Mr. Bause left the farm Tuesday of this week.

FIVE MEMBERS OF THE BEN HUR CO. AFFILIATED WITH THE CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

Five of the members of the Ben Hur Co. have joined the local Chamber of Commerce. Mr. Bagby, vice president of the Company, announces that if there are any other individuals in the concern who can possibly be utilized as "Community Boosters" it is his intention to line them up and see them made loyal Chamber of Commerce members at once.

GOVERNOR ISSUES INVITATIONS TO THIS DINNER

WILLYS-OVERLAND SEEK SPACE AT BEN HUR PLANT

Owing to the freight embargo, shipping facilities from Willoughby are really better than from Cleveland. In response to request the Ben Hur people have offered the Willys-Overland such space as is available in their plant, for the use of storing and shipping of cars, as may be desired for temporary use.

O. E. S. LOCAL CHAPTER SERVE 106 AT MASON'S BANQUET

At the meeting of The Masonic order Monday, week ago, 106 men were served by 15 ladies of the O. E. S. It is reported that of this number, C. F. Bryant, Willoughby's new druggist attended his first meeting in 15 years.

As a reward of merit (something to do with dish washing, 'tis whispered) Mrs. H. F. Kennedy and Mrs. A. K. Carrel treated the 15 ladies to an evening at the Hiawatha Picture show after the supper.

C. P. & E. TO BUILD PAINT SHOP

Land in the rear of the Willoughby Inn was disposed of last April to the C. P. & E. The space has been occupied by W. A. Honge as a livery barn. He has been requested to vacate the premises as promptly as possible, as the C. P. & E. are contemplating early erection of a paint and machine shop upon the ground as soon as the weather will permit.

FIRST TWENTY-FIVE MEMBERS OF THE WILLOUGHBY RED CROSS CIRCLE

The following represent the first registration for the Willoughby Red Cross branch:

Mrs. J. H. Smart, Mrs. Emma Henderson, Mrs. W. J. Carmichael, Mrs. G. C. Merrell, Mrs. Laura Dingley, Mrs. C. E. Blanchard, Mr. C. E. Blanchard, Mrs. S. G. Hodgson, Mr. J. C. Wiard, Mrs. H. F. FIRST ROBIN REPORTED

Mr. Rentschler, manager of the J. H. R. Products Co., has the honor of reporting the first robin seen here this spring. The robin was happily in evidence at Stop 36, Euclid avenue, under date of February 26th, he reports.

COMMUNITY REST ROOM, AS ADVOCATED BY THE REPUBLICAN SOME TIME AGO, AND PUT UNDER WAY BY LOCAL STORE, NOW REQUESTED BY KIRTLAND SHOPPERS.

Some time ago The Republican advocated the establishment in Willoughby of a rest and convenience room for ladies. This is a greatly needed convenience, and the need was so apparent that The Republican devoted considerable space to the matter that the convenience might be secured. Women shopping from the country and near by suburban points, find a rest and convenience room a necessity on a day's shopping trip. This is true of all shoppers, parties on automobile trips, etc.

The Republican made the inquiry: "WHY NOT MAKE WILLOUGHBY THE MOST CONVENIENT PLACE IN WHICH TO SHOP?"

In response to these suggestions the S. S. Wilson Co. advised that a community rest room would be built in their store. Due notice of this fact was announced in The Republican; also of the fact that hitching posts for horses had been provided for. Copy was also made in The Republican of an article in "McCalls" of the experience of other towns of like population in securing community rest rooms.

Various causes since the holidays have delayed the building of the rest room, but arrangements are going forward and the rest room in the Wilson store will soon be established. The upper portion of the store overlooking the street will be converted into a comfortable room, with every convenience, and readily accessible to all.

This information was secured in talking to a representative of the Wilson Co. Tuesday.

At the meeting of the directors of The Chamber of Commerce Monday night a petition from the ladies of Kirtland in regard to a community rest room, was read. That the ladies of Kirtland concur with the sentiment expressed some time ago by The Republican is evidence that the rest

VISITOR FROM PHILADELPHIA

Leonard W. Coleman, superintendent of The Carson College for Orphan Girls, Philadelphia, visited at the Andrews Institute this week; also Cleveland schools. The school of which he is head, has been passing through experiences not unlike that of the Andrews. They have been occupying an old building, and about to emerge into a new. Mr. Coleman therefore found much to interest him in the present workings of the Andrews school.

SOUTHERN TRAVELLER

Mrs. S. S. Wilson left Sunday night for Florida. She will join the Flickinger family at Sea Breeze, and spend several weeks in the southern climate.

ELECTRIC EMBLEM PRESENTED TO MASONIC ORDER

On the occasion of their meeting recently, the present matrons and the past matron of the O. E. S. presented the local Masonic lodge with an electric emblematic letter "G." The electric work was done and donated by Mr. T. A. Carrel, a member of the local lodge. The meeting was a very delightful one in all respects. The banquet served by the ladies of the O. E. S. received much complimentary comment from the Masons. Miss Florence Wasson sang with usual charm, and Geo. Roneymus also contributed a vocal number.

MR. BARBER RESIGNS POST

Mr. Barber tendered his resignation to the village Monday last. The resignation was accepted, going into effect March 1st. Matter was referred to the safety committee. For the present, the work will be divided between Messrs. Lamus, Cothrell and Crobaugh.

FIRST RED CROSS CROSS MEETING FOR WORK

The first Red Cross meeting for work was held at the library Tuesday last. The ladies met with Mrs. Pease and Mrs. Smith and received instructions. Mrs. H. F. Kennedy was appointed member of the executive committee of the Lake county chapter. Mrs. Van Gorder, Mrs. Cliff Merrill and Mrs. Honeywell were appointed as work committee. Mrs. Repine of Willoughby, a graduate nurse, was made membership secretary.

All are invited to attend the weekly meetings at the library each Tuesday as outlined in another column.

ACCIDENT AT AMERICAN CLAY

John Moriarity, while assisting the cupola tender at the American Clay foundry on Monday, the 26th, suffered a painful injury by having his leg caught between a small car loaded with pig iron and one of the machines. The leg was badly bruised, and it was thought the smaller bones were fractured. He was taken to Eddy Road hospital in Cleveland for expert attention, Dr. Kenning believing an X-Ray examination necessary. He had only recently entered the employ of The American Clay Company.

OLD SOLDIER PASSES

A veteran of the Civil War, long and favorably known in Willoughby, passed away with the death of Emery E. Crawford, Monday.

Mr. Crawford had lived in Willoughby for more than 50 years and was 73 years of age. He was born in Vermont state, coming from that point to Mentor, where he lived for some time. He embarked in various enterprises, and was probably the oldest business man in Willoughby. He has been retired for about 15 years. His wife, Margaret Walker, of Mentor, passd away nine years ago next September. Two sons, Frank L., of Minnesota, and Bert, of Willoughby, and one daughter, Blanche Mitchell of Chicago, survive. Also five brothers and one sister, Albert of Willoughby, Alonzo of Michi-

LOCAL FOLKS ATTEND CONVENTION.

S. S. Wilson, S. D. Shankland and Mrs. Seelye, of the Andrews school, attended the convention of National Educators at Indianapolis last week. Several of the more prominent teachers stopped off en route at the Andrews school, as mentioned in last week's issue.

S. D. Shankland went on to Kansas City to attend the convention for superintendents of schools, and will return home the latter part of the week.

DR. BELL ADDRESSES LARGE AUDIENCE

A large audience listened to Dr. Bell at the Methodist church Tuesday night. Three automobile loads from Painesville were included. The wonderful religious faith of the men, pathetic incidents and life in the trenches were gone over. The newspapers exaggerate and color the reports, Dr. Bell said, causing much misrepresentation.

This is probably the last opportunity to hear Dr. Bell as it is expected that he will leave for his return trip Monday of next week.

JAMES McMAHON HAS CAUSE TO BE THANKFUL

Wednesday at the regular matinee of the educational film series that is being featured by the Andrews school for the students, at the Hiawatha, James McManon noticed that a word in the announcement for the Larkin Soap film, which was being shown, was mis-spelled. He therefore stated that the first girl reporting the error would receive [illegible] worth of tickets free. He anticipated that possibly none would discover it. However, about five seconds after the film appeared, an instantaneuos cry of the word went up. The sharp eyes of the girls discovered it at once. Mr. McMahon felt very happy that he had not suggested that he would present free tickets to all noticing the error, and the prize was awarded to Leone Kaiser, student making first report

ORDINANCE NO. 1022

By Mr. Sloan.

An ordinance to levy special assessments for the improvement of Pontiac Street, from the easterly line of the Cleveland Short Line Railway to a point 326.11 feet southeast of Hayden Avenue by grading, draining, curbing and paving the same with brick.

Be it ordained by the Council of the City of East Cleveland, State of Ohio, three-fourths of all the members elected thereto concurring:

Section 1. That to pay the cost and expense of the improvement of Pontiac street, from the easterly line of the Cleveland Short Line Railway to a point 326.11 feet southeast of Hayden Avenue, by grading, draining, curbing and paving the same with brick, as provided in Resolution No. 725 passed December 29, 1916, [illegible] and the cost of the [illegible] thereof not in excess of [illegible] of the special benefit conferred upon said property and each abutting foot thereof by [illegible] of said improvement, and is not in excess of 33 1-3 per cent of the actual value of the property [illegible]

Section 2. That the total assessment against each lot and parcel of land shall be paid in cash within thirty (30) days from the date of the final passage of this ordinance, or in five annual installments with interest at the rate of four and one half (4 1-2%) per annum upon deferred payments, at the option of the owner. All cash payments shall be made to the City Treasurer and all installments shall be certified by the Auditor of the City to the County Auditor on or before the second Monday in September, annually, to be by him placed upon the tax duplicate and collected as other taxes are collected.

Section 3. That bonds of the City of East Cleveland shall be issued in anticipation of the collection of [illegible] assessments by installments and in amount equal thereto.

Section 4. That immediately after the assessments hereinbefore authorized are levied to be collected as other taxes are collected, the Director of Public Service be and he is hereby authorized and directed to advertise for bids and to enter into contract for the construction of said improvement according to law.

Section 5. That the remainder of the entire cost of said improvement not specially assessed including all costs of damage, if any and the entire cost or expense arising from said improvement shall be paid out of the general fund and a tax levied therefore in the manner provided by law.

Section 6. This ordinance shall take effect and be in force from and after the earliest period allowed by law.

Ezekiel Folsom, and the unknown heirs at law, devisees, legatees, executors, administrators and the assigns of Ezekiel Folsom, deceased; William L. Fitch and the unknown heirs at law, devisees, legatees, executors, administrators and assigns of William L. Fitch, deceased, and the unknown widow of Ephraim Wilson, deceased, all of whose places of residence are unknown, and the names of the unknown heirs at law, devisees, legatees, executors, administrators and assigns of Ezekiel Folsom, deceased, and William L. Fitch, deceased and the name of the unknown widow of Ephraim Wilson, deceased, being unknown, will take notice that Jennie J. McEachren, John W. McEachren, Florence E. McEachren, George S. McEachren, Alex. M. McEachren, Grace McEachren Sprague, Hugh McEachren, William McEachren and Margaret F. McEachren, as plaintiffs have filed a petition against them as defendants in the Court of Common Pleas of Cuyahoga County, Ohio, alleging that they have the legal title to and are the owners in fee simple [illegible] of the following described real estate, [illegible]

Situated in the City of Cleveland, County of Cuyahoga and State of Ohio, and known as being Sublot No. [illegible] and Folsom's Sub-Division of part of original Brooklyn Township Lots Nos. 51, 52, 69, and 70, as shown by the recorded plat in Volume N of Deeds, Page 1 of Cuyahoga County Records, and being 36 feet front on the Southerly side of Jay Street (now known as Jay Avenue, N. W.) 107 feet 6 inches deep on the Westerly line, 107 feet 6 inches deep on the Easterly line, which is also the Westerly line of an Alley, (now known as West 29th Place), and 36 feet on the rear line, which is also the Northerly line of an Alley (now known as Waco Court, N. W.), as appears by said plat, be the same more or less, but subject to all legal highways.

The petition alleges that the defendants, Ezekiel Folsom, and the unknown heirs at law, devisees, legatees, executors, administrators and assigns of Ezekiel Folsom, deceased, claim some right, title or interest in said premises for the reason that the records of Cuyahoga County, Ohio, do not disclose any deed of conveyance from the said Ezekiel Folsom, but that said defendants have no interest in said premises, for the reason that on December 29, 1840, said premises were sold for the nonpayment of taxes to N. C. Baldwin and the title thereto has never been redeemed:

That the defendants, William L. Fitch and the unknown heirs at law, devisees, legatees, executors, administrators and assigns of William L. Fitch, deceased, claim some estate or interest in said premises hostile and adverse to Plaintiff's rights by virtue of a certain contract made March 1, 1860, the nature and extent of said claim being unknown to Plaintiffs.

That Ephraim Wilson, at the time of his conveyance to Hugh B. McEachren, was unmarried and that the unknown widow of said Ephraim Wilson claims to have a right of dower in said premises.

The petition further alleges that none of said defendants have any right, title or interest in the aforesaid described premises, that their claims are unfounded and of no legal effect, whatsoever, but constitute clouds on Plaintiffs' title: that any claim they or any one of them ever had in said premises, has long since been barred by lapse of time and the Statutes of Limitations, and that as against said defendants, these Plaintiffs and their predecessors in title have held and been in the actual, open, notorious, continuous, exclusive, indisputable and adverse possession and occupancy of said premises for more than Twenty-one years last preceding the filing of the petition herein, under and by virtue of a deed for said premises: and that from April 22, 1859, to the present date, none of said defendants, or any one of them or any one claiming through or under them, has ever claimed or sought to enforce any right, title to, or interest in said premises.

The prayer of said petition is that each and all of said defendants be required to answer and set up what rights, if any, they have in said premises, or be forever barred from asserting the same: that plaintiffs' title be quieted against the claims of said defendants and said defendants and for relief.

Said petition is No. 154218, and each and all of said defendants are required to answer said petition on or before the 24th day of March, A. D. 1917, or judgment will be taken against them as prayed for in said petition. F1-M8

The Motor Situation
As Viewed by the Hudson Company
Demand and Supply

Last spring's demand for the Hudson Super-Six was [illegible] supply. Thousands of buyers waited weeks for their cars. Thousands, after waiting long, turned to other cars. And thousands, when they saw our waiting list, were discouraged in advance.

We figure that 15,000 people were forced to take cars which they wanted less.

The Spring's Outlook

All winter long we have kept our factories running under pressure. Yet Hudson dealers have only small stocks ahead.

Our production will be only one-fifth more than last year. That is our factory limit.

Lack of freight cars is holding back shipments. There are frequent complete embargoes. No Hudson dealer, before the active spring demand, can get any large reserve stock.

Even at this writing, with deep snow on the ground, we deliver many cars by road. Today 31 cars start for Columbus, Ohio—191 miles away.

The War Situation

Many motor car plants, in event of war, are likely to be commandeered. So with steel plants, which furnish motor car materials. So with battery plants, electric plants, and others on whom we depend.

This is a contingency which none can now analyze, but which all of us must consider.

Buying Capacity

The general belief is that, whatever comes, this will be a year of unexampled prosperity. The farmers are getting high prices. The demand for their products is not likely to lessen. And the evidence is that most lines of industry are going to be taxed to the limit.

No previous year has at this season promised so wide a demand for cars.

The Hudson's Place

Last year the Hudson, despite our shortage, outsold any other front-rank car. In fact, it was the largest-selling car with a price above $1100.

This year it will certainly dominate in a larger way than ever.

The Super-Six motor, controlled by our patents, is still used in Hudson's only. It is still supreme. No other motor shows anywhere near [illegible] endurance.

[illegible] the Super-Six won all the worth-while records. In speed, hill-climbing, in long distance and endurance it out-performed every rival. In endurance tests it excelled [illegible] 52 per cent.

And now there are nearly 30,000 Hudson Super-Sixes in use. There are 30,000 enthusiastic owners. Last year at this time there were almost none, for the Super-Six was new.

Men Must Have It

This year, fine car buyers by the tens of thousands will demand the Super-Six. They know its supremacy. Our claims of a year ago have been proved in a hundred recorded tests.

Last year buyers forced to other cars did not know what they missed. This year they do know. Lesser cars will not content them. The demand for the Super-Six this year will be overwhelming.

New Hudson Features

This year's Hudson's have a shutter on the front—a wonderful gasoline saver. They have a motormeter, so the driver can regulate engine heat. They have a primer, which the driver operates from the dashboard.

They have plaited upholstery. They have bodies which were first molded in wax, then sculptured to perfection. Then built by famous craftsmen with every dainty touch.

And still this car—the greatest car in the world—undersells many rivals. In fact, no other front-rank car sells anywhere near so low.

Choose Your Car Now

Our advice to all who intend to buy fine cars is to select a car at once. Many of you have already decided on the Hudson Super-Six. More of you will choose it when you know.

At this moment, we think, you can get delivery at about any time you say. The precedents show that in a month or two you cannot.

We urge this to save disappointment. To avoid the ill-feeling that is caused by delay. The Hudson has lost much good-will in the past year by keeping thousands waiting. We shall not lose yours in that way if you'll act today.

GIVE HIM A HAMMER AND SAW

Don't buy him a sword and a gun,
Whose purpose on earth is to kill;
Don't teach him that murder is fun,
Or something the bosom to thrill.
Don't send him to valley or hill
To slaughter the dove or the daw,
A lesson in youth to instill,
Just give him a hammer and saw.

Just give him some lumber of pine,
Just give him a bundle of boards
And teach him to follow a line,
And teach him a builder's rewards.
Oh, better than rifles or swords,
Than stilling a song or a caw,
The thing that he fashions affords
The boy with a hammer and saw.

He'll work like a beaver, the boy,
He'll learn like the wisest again
The tree of the woods to employ.
He'll fashion a house for the wren,
He'll make you a trinket, and then
He'll figure and study and draw—
He'll learn all the lessons of men
If you give him a hammer and saw.

So teach him to work and to plan
The pleasure that laboring brings,
So make a builder, a man,
And not a destroyer of things,
For closer the artisan clings
To family, country and law
Than soldiers or swordsmen or kings—
So give him a hammer and saw.

ON LIVING AND ENJOYMENT

"Seems kind o' ridiculous, don't it, when the Lord made a world as good as this one, not to enjoy it some. I ust to think about folks that was hungry till my stummick clean caved in. I ust to eat my dinner like it was sawdust for fear I'd get a little comfort out of it, while somebody somewhere, was starvin', little children like enough. That was al'ays the hardest part of it, little children * * * then it came over me, all of a sudden, what a big job I'd tackled, and I jest turned it over to the Lord then and there. And all the next day I kep' kind o' thinking about it out here on the rocks how't he'd took a thousand years maybe 't was more; good long spell, they say to get rocks ready for folks to live on jest the rocks! And like enough he knew what he was plannin' to do and didn't expect me to finish it all up for him in fo' five years. Since then I've been leavin' it to him more takin' a hand when I could, but payin' more attention to livin.' I sort of reckon that's what he made us for to live."

Salute To The Flag

By Elbert Hubbard

Flag of our Great Republic—
Symbol of human liberty,
Inspirer in battle,
Guardian of our homes
Whose stripes and stars
Stand for courage, purity and union,
We salute thee!
We, the children of many lands,
Who find rest and safety
Under thy folds,
Give our hands, our heads
And our hearts to thee;
And sacred honor
We pledge our lives
To guard and revere thee
And our beloved country,
Forever.

Like Raisin Bread? Here's The Best Ever

Recipe Contributed by Mrs. H. G. Ferrell

2 cupfuls lukewarm water, 2 tablespoonfuls sugar, 1 yeast cake, 1 1-2 quarts sifted flour, 3 tablespoonful butter, 1-2 cupful sugar, 1 cupful raisins, 1 1-2 teaspoonful salt. Place yeast and 2 teaspoonful of sugar in the lukewarm water and when yeast is at the top, add 1 pint of flour and beat the mixture until a smooth batter. Cream the butter and sugar and add to the batter. Beat this hard for a few moments and set this sponge in a warm place for one hour or until it is light. Flour the raisins, add to the sponge with the salt and balance of the flour. Knead the dough until it is elastic, [illegible] it in a warm place to rise until it has doubled in bulk. Mold into loaves [illegible] bread pans half full. Set these in a warm place until light. Bake as ordinary bread.

THE HOUR OF SONG

Grandpa pitched the tuning fork,
many years ago,
And then he ran his shapenote scale of "Fa so la se do,"
Of "do ra me," and "Fa so la," and
"Fa so la se do."

His song book was the "Sacred Harp"
—it opened at the end—
And grandma sang the "tribble," for to make their voices blend
In "Do ra me," and "Fa so la," to make their voices blend.

"Amazin' Grace," and "Jordan's Banks," and "The Unclouded Day"
They sang without an organ, and they sang just that-a-way.
A "Do ra me," and a "Fa so la,"
they sang just that-a-way.

The old folks looked to heaven as a place of endless song
And hoped the angels use shapenotes, or else they might go wrong.
A "Do ra me," and "Fa so la," or else
they might go wrong.

"Children of the Heaven-ly King," journeyed they along;
They left their book and tuning fork,
but took to heaven their song
Of "Do ra me" and "Fa so la," they took to heaven their song.

THE CHAMBER OF COMMERCE AND HUMAN SERVICE

By Walter Miller, Vice-Pres. of Lakewood Chamber of Commerce

The rewards of life are for service. I think this idea has been expressed before, so I file no caveat in fear of possible pilferings.

Human service is the highest form of self-interest, for the folks who serve. To center on one's self and forget our relationship with society is to summon misery. And the sad thing about misery is that it is no terminus; it is only a sign post along the Way, whose nomenclature points to something worse ahead.

Lubricate the wheels of progress and the world will pay you its tribute of love as well as its coin. Those saved in the business and society will put skids under your prospects.

True progress is possible only when there is mutuality and co-operation.

The value of a man's service to society is in proportion to his ability to work with other men. It is not for us to set ourselves apart as a sect of Judgment Day. We must be willing to give and take, and trust to Nemesis to keep the law of compensation on the statute books.

Man's superiority is shown in the ability to meet and mix with those of different tastes and temperament, high and low, on a basis of equality.

The idea of mutual service is [illegible]. Helpful men are safe men!

The consciousness of the brotherhood of man is the highest achievement of modern thought. In a society so complex as ours, only co-operation and harmonious effort can produce great results.

Organization is civilization. It is a preparation for doing business, a scheme for taking care of details.

Mankind, says Elbert Hubbard, is God reduced to fraction. Each one is a segment of the primal circle.

And what is true of individual men is true likewise of groups of men such as this. The Chamber of Commerce is an American institution. Its chief [illegible] will find them carried inland some miles between the setting and the rising sun. [illegible] big enough [illegible] sure sign of [illegible] have got [illegible] lost it.

[illegible]

We are a [illegible] circle. [illegible] state [illegible] not [illegible] world [illegible] shall be [illegible] idea [illegible] of Europe [illegible] America [illegible] to its eyes [illegible] We know [illegible] both [illegible] must be [illegible] sacred [illegible] to reaffirm the [illegible] which was the heart of the man who [illegible] whose birth we celebrate tonight, and on the hearts of Lincoln [illegible] will [illegible] any [illegible] tranquillities, in Woodrow Wilson's time.

We are a peaceful people and we hope to be allowed to manifest our peaceful proclivities, proving to the world that we are, what we are, by following our regular occupations.

We prize peace, we love our homes, our families, our country. We realize that production, transportation, distribution and education spell civilization. We abhor destruction, we hate war. Productive skill and not destructive ability are the virtues we prize.

Some few, no doubt, mistaking the shadow for the substance, the Mirage of Ease, for the [illegible] of success, have left the beaten upward track and [illegible] slide down the toboggan of [illegible] where we [illegible] fitted to labor and co-operate with other men, you are out of place here.

[illegible]

Ours is an organization symphony, and no soloists are wanted.

The world is here, smiling and fertile; the sun shines, the water flows and the birds sing. Prosperity is not an iridescent dream nor is progress a barren ideality. We are working for a wider horizon, a greater hope and a [illegible] than the world ever seen. We are all [illegible] the way, and isn't it right [illegible] that we should [illegible] pull and [illegible]

Eventually time will come along and give [illegible] all the [illegible] and [illegible] Peace.

WALTER SCOTT TO DATE

[illegible]

"So light to the [illegible] the fair lady he swung
So light to the cushion beside her he sprung,"
His foot on the clutch and his hand on the gear
With such a brave knight there was nothing to fear.
The pedal he pushed and the lever he jerked
And they'd have been gone if the starter had worked.

But finally whirling the motor began
And the car leaped away and on over the span,
Until in the street at the corner it met
With a traffic cop there and the semaphore set,
To Ellen the seconds seemed ages of woe
Until the cop issued permission to "Go."

"They blame the Old Guard, of course," said Senator Penrose, in a philosophic discussion at the Philadelphia Club of the Hughes defeat. [illegible]

Everyone Will Be Interested in Reading About "Lawson and The Leak"—a Recent Interview by Joe Mitchell Chapple

I have just returned from Washington.

Lots of people do [illegible] it isn't such a [illegible] to return from Washington. But [illegible]

[illegible]

Tom Lawson [illegible] Wall Street and loves [illegible] He's a [illegible] too, and he walks and he walks. No Britisher extant can out-pedal Tom Lawson of Boston. A man who loves the out of doors, insists on fresh air and plenty of it, goes in strong for wholesome exercise, and loves flowers, that man is not altogether bad.

"What about this leak business?" I asked. "You fellows are making so much noise a man would imagine this was the first leak that ever leaked."

"Not on your kidney," replied Lawson, "Washington has always leaked, leaked at the spigot, dripped, you know, but this leak is the evidence of a busted bung-hole and you can't plug it with a spit-ball. You can't sop this up with a kitchen rag. It's big and it's bad, and in this case we're dealing with the destiny of the American People."

As he said this, he turned his gaze on me like a couple of headlights, his jaw set, his whole expression literally blazing. Lawson has the most extraordinary eyes in a human head—periscope eyes he can see "over"—no drooping lids with Tom. He believes in lifting lids, anyhow, and when he lifts his own he shows the white above the iris and rolls 'em at you. Some say that when he rolls 'em far enough he can see behind him without turning round.

All the while we talked we were apparently under the scrutiny of detectives and pseudo-detectives—that most conspicuous thing in Washington, the secret service. If there's anything Lawson loves to detect, it's a detective. He isolates the detective [illegible] sight.

"Here's one," said he, "there's a couple of 'em. See 'em?"—and then he turned his head and delivered himself of an earful for "Home Detective Consumption Only."

Yes, Lawson sees things. Lawson may be an Ishmaelite, but Lawson is as interesting an Ishmaelite as ever lived.

I was talking with an old conductor about him on the Boston & Albany coming up, and I ventured the suggestion that Lawson might be in pretty deep in this leak affair, and that the big guns might get him yet.

"Don't you ever believe it," said the old conductor, "don't you ever believe it. Tom Lawson is like John W. Gates who learned to play poker by the light of a jacklantern in the caboose of a way-freight on a rough road and they'll never git 'im—they'll never git 'im."

Spruce street family were arranging the Christmas presents in the drawing room on Christmas eve.

"Put Bill's [illegible] here!" said one.

"Put [illegible] there [illegible]"

"Put [illegible]"

"Put [illegible] on top of her gold mounted talking machine."

"But where is pa's present?"

"Yes, where's pa's Christmas card?"

"Oh, here it is! Betty! Put pa's Christmas card over there on the sofa between Bill's gold cigarette case and Jim's platinum wrist watch.'"

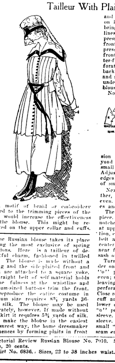
Tailleur With Plaited Blouse.

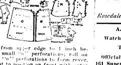


A motif of braid or embroidery added to the trimming pieces of the belt would increase the effectiveness of the blouse. This might be repeated on the upper collar and cuffs.

The Russian blouse takes its place among the most exclusive of spring fashions. Here is a tailleur of delightful charm, fashioned in twilled silk. The blouse is made without a lining and the side-plaited front and back are attached to a square yoke. A straight belt of self-material holds in the fulness at the waistline and medium-sized buttons trim the front. To reproduce the entire costume in medium size requires 8¾ yards 36-inch silk. The blouse may be used separately, however. If made without the skirt it requires 5¾ yards of silk.

To make the blouse in the easiest and surest way, the home dressmaker commences by forming plaits in front and each side of center back, creasing on lines of slot perforations. Next, bring folded edges to corresponding lines of small "o" perforations and press. Turn hem at front edge of front on small "o" perforations and press. Turn hem at front edge of front on small "o" perforations. Center-front indicated by large "O" perforations. Sew yokes to front and back, notches even. Close under-arm and shoulder seams as notched. Turn under 1⅜ inch at lower edge of blouse for a hem.

Now, underface the pocket extension from upper edge to 1 inch beyond small "o" perforations; roll on small "o" perforations to form rever. Adjust to position on front with outer edges of pocket along indicating line of small "o" perforations.



Next, arrange the 2 collars together, center-backs and neck edges even. Sew collars to neck edge, notches and center-backs even.

Then face the belt and trimming piece. Adjust trimming piece on belt, notches and small "o" perforations at upper edges even. Adjust to position, center-backs even; lower [illegible] of belt at small "o" perforation [illegible] center-back. Work a large [illegible] near front end of belt and insert a sash of ribbon or material.

Turn the slashed edge of sleeve under on slot perforations, lap to small "o" perforations, edges underneath even; stitch ⅜ inch from folded edge, leaving edges free below large "O" perforation and finish for closing. Close remaining seam as notched. Face cuff and sew to sleeve, notches at lower edges even, and bring small "o" perforation in cuff to seam of sleeve. Slip cuff under the plait in sleeve. Sew in armhole as notched, small "o" perforation at shoulder seam easing in any fulness.

Beware of Spring Dangers

"Spring will soon be here, but this does not mean that you should be less vigilant in guarding your health," says Commissioner of Health Bishop of Cleveland. The change from snow and zero weather to rain and rather sultry days and nights will have a tendency to aggravate lung and throat troubles, according to the commissioner.

The chief danger now is from overheating in home, office, store, workshop and factory, the bulletin points out. Comfortable clothing and work in a temperature that is not too warm are advocated.

Air warm enough to produce a feeling of oppression and to start perspiration is dangerous to those working indoors. Sudden exposure to a cold outside atmosphere after these conditions have been produced, rapidly robs the body of heat and is frequently followed by inflamation of important organs.

The importance of the diet in the spring is also emphasized. Early fruits and vegetables for which the appetite craves are not easily obtainable; besides they are usually too expensive to have on the daily bill of fare. For this reason too much meat and heavy foods are eaten and are frequently the cause of spring fever, and that tired feeling common to the first warm days. Fruits and vegetables are so essential to the health of the body that they cannot afford to be left out of the daily bill of fare.

DAILY LIFE AT THE HIGH SCHOOL

Wednesday, February 21, the W. H. S. Varsity Girls played the Parkwood girls of Parkwood church, Cleveland. It was an interesting game, although it was rather one-sided. The score was about 18 to 2 in favor of Willoughby. The Parkwood girls played hard but they did not know any too much about the rules of girls' basket ball.

* * *

There was no school Thursday or Friday and no activities at the school but Saturday night there was enough action to last for a week. Willoughby took both of her boys' basket ball teams down to Painesville. On our floor Painesville's first team defeated our varsity by just two points. The team was in bad shape at the time so they swore that they would beat P. H. S. on her own floor and beat her badly. Just to help them along a little about 50 Willoughby fans went along. The second team started things by defeating Painesville's seconds 38 to 12. The seconds completed their game before the two varsities clashed. Of course the Painesville fans were a bit off the ground and the Willoughby bunch was almost tickled to death. Verne Wilber deserves special mention for his splendid work and so does Reed Fairley. The whole team played for all that was in them and we certainly are glad to see them make such a splendid showings as they have this season.

The line-up: Fairley and Brott, F; Wilber, C.; Beck and Seitz, G. Sietz played for Beck the last few minutes of play.

When the two varsities came out and lined up there was a great deal of noise from all the fans. Don Van Deusen refereed the first half and called several fouls on Painesville. The Painesville fans went so far as to hiss his decisions, and call foul every time he blew the whistle. They certainly are lacking when it comes to sportsmanship. The 10 players played like mad men and the roughest game of the year was witnessed by quite a crowd. At the end of the first half the Painesville fans seemed to lose most of their pep. The reason was evident. The score was only 26 to 12 in favor of the W. H. S. Duff refereed the second half and he was as careless as Don was careful about calling fouls. But all but one of the fouls that he called were on Painesville. That shows that it wasn't any partiality on Don's part that made him call so many fouls on Painesville and so few on Willoughby. Our boys certainly are playing clean games this year. When the second half ended P. H. S. had the blues. Willoughby had defeated them on their own floor by a score of 33 to 24. Wiloughby has defeated P. H. S. in five out of six athletic contests that they have met in this school year. Some record!

OLD SOLDIER PASSES

gan, George of Willoughby, Charles of East Orange, N. Y., Omar C., of Cleveland, and Mrs. Prouty, of Mentor. The funeral took place Thursday at 2 p. m. Interment in Willoughby cemetery.

Mr. Crawford was a member of Co. F., 105th O. V. I. With him in that company were C. R. Brown of this village and Luman Grist, father of Mrs. Ethel Viall. Mr. Crawford was shot through the leg in the battle of Chickamauga. He used his cane as a crutch, and was picked up and taken as a wounded prisoner. He was at that time about 18 years old. Hosts of friends, old and young, will miss the familiar figure of Mr. Crawford.

His home ties were strong, and he seldom cared to get far away from Willoughby and his friends, who share at this time with the family in their loss.

[illegible] MEETINGS

Evangelistic meetings will continue the rest of the week at the Church of Christ under the direction of Evangelist MacDonald and the Harbisons. An increasing interest is shown in the increased attendance. Mr. MacDonald is stirring the hearts of all who hear him with his earnest gospel messages. Mr. Harbison is making a strong appeal to the hearts of men in his solos. Some eleven have made the good confession or united with the church upon statement of their membership with churches in other places. Soon the meetings will be over. If you have not attended, com out before it is too late. You do not want to miss the opportunity to hear this evangelistic party.

Mr. MacDonald and the Harbisons begin their next meeting at Geneva next Sunday. Mr. MacDonald held a great meeting at this place two years ago and is looking forward to a similarly successful meeting during the next three weeks. He will return here Sunday afternoon for his booze sermon. All those interested in temperance are urged to be present, and to bring with them all who are not so interested.

L. W. PENFIELD ATTENDS OPENING OF BIDS

L. W. Penfield recently attended the opening of bids in Washington, on some work, which will be of benefit to the American Clay, if the order is secured. The indications are favorable. The plants of the American Clay at Bucyrus and Willoughby have been offered to the government for use in making shells, should such an emergency arise.

room is a convenience greatly desired. That their wishes had been anticipated and will soon be fulfilled is a credit to the community. Following is the article which appeared in the Republican under date of November 24th.

"WILLOUGHBY TO HAVE A COMMUNITY REST ROOM—HITCHING PLACE FOR HORSES IS ALSO ARRANGED.

"A vacant lot in the rear of the S. S. Wilson Co. store has been obtained and set aside as a hitching place for horses. With the increasing number of automobiles, driving to town with a horse has raised the problem of what to do with the conveyances and the horses while in town.

"The lot mentioned will be equipped with sufficient hitching posts, so that all may drive in and leave their conveyances in safety.

"This convenience has been brought about in part by a suggestion of The Republican's correspondent at Waite Hill—and it is therefore hoped that all Waite Hill folks and other shoppers will arrange to do their buying in Willoughby.

"Remember the location when you do your next Saturday's shopping.

"ANOTHER CONVENIENCE

"A comunity rest room for ladies where they may rest, make appointments, and find all the conveniences required after driving, or traveling, or for any occasion when a meeting or resting place is desired, is the secon deonvenience Willoughby offers.

"This rest room for the public will be built in the S. S. Wilson Co. store, and if it is taken advantage of as freely as are those which are considered as the regular equipment of a store in the larger cities, it will surely prove to be an indispensible comfort and convenience. That the convenience and stocks of the larger city stores will, in due proportion, be found in the stores of the smaller communities, the suburban shopper has a right to expect. It is not the town or the vicinity, but WHAT IS OFFERED that attracts. Willoughby appreciates the trade of its neighbor [illegible] friends too greatly not to desire to offer every advantage."

LADIES BOWLING TEAM

work at the [illegible] won the game for Willoughby.

The Standard Tire was very [illegible] in winning this match with [illegible] the two star Morrison brothers of Ashtabula with them last week. It looks as though Willoughby has Painesville's number on the bowling game.

The Standard Tire team issued a challenge to the Painesville Bowling Club for a series of six games, three on the Painesville alleys and three on the Willoughby alleys.

The next match we hope to make is the Cleveland Standard Tire team of Cleveland vs. Ashtabula.

Next week will appear in the Willoughby Republican another one of the Willoughby stars.

Mr. Dickey is now forming a ladies' bowling team. All ladies wishing to join the team call Mr. Dickey at telephone No. 322. He expects to bowl the Star Baking Company of Cleveland just as soon as he is able to get the ladies in good practice.

"Bad Colds" and Drinking Men

Years of experience in treating thousands of men for the drink habit, varying each treatment according to the needs of the patient, have reduced the problem of dealing with alcoholism at the Neal Institute almost to the level of dealing with a bad cold. The skill of the medical specialists and the care of the trained attendants make it possible to clear the poison of alcohol from the system of the drinker, and so change "craving" for drink into positive loathing for anything alcoholic in three days. And the treatment is just as safe and easy as the treatment for a cold. The Neal Treatment makes better and healthier men. Come any time, day or night. Write for free booklet. CHARLOTTE

A group of stars and scenes from the New York Hippodrome show, the largest attraction in the world. B. F. Keith's Hippodrome beginning March 5th.

Next Sunday morning the largest theatrical organization that has ever been transported from one city to another in the world will arrive in Cleveland. It is the "Hip Hip Hooray" company from the New York Hippodrome and has over [illegible] on its pay roll. When Charles Dillingham announced his intention to send the last year's production of the Hippodrome on the road theatrical wiseacres [illegible] that he was attempting the impossible. Although there will be [illegible] behind him to experiment with.

But the tour has been carried out successfully both in point of the [illegible] formance and also financially. Because of the great stages and seating capacities necessary it has only been possible to present 'Hip, Hip, Hooray' in eight cities where there were exceptionally large theatres. Philadelphia, Boston, Cincinnati, St. Louis Kansas City, St. Paul, Chicago and Cleveland.

Fannie Kopolowitz, whose residence is in Sofalva, County of Marmoros, Hungary, will take notice that Sam Kopolowitz, also known as Sam Kaplo filed a petition against her in the Court of Common Pleas of Cyahoga County, Ohio, prayig for divorce, custody of child and relief on the ground of wilful absence for more than three years last past. Said petition is No. 154757 and will be for hearing on and after April 13, 1917. M1 A5
EMMA E. GROSS, Atty for Plff.

Robert Walter Hammond, whose residence is unknown, will take notice that Zara Stewort Hammond, filed an amended and supplemental petition against him in the Court of Common Pleas of Cuyahoga County, Ohio, in case No. 151031, praying for divorce and relief on the ground of gross neglect of duty. Said petition will be for hearing on and after April 13, 1917. M1 A5
J. PAUL THOMPSON AND FRANK C. SCOTT, Attys. for Plff.

OPERA HOUSE

Cleveland theatregoers will have the opportunity of witnessing a new Belasco production next week when "Seven Chances," the comedy hit of the season in New York, where it has just completed a six month's run at the Belasco and George M. Cohan Theatres, will be presented at the Opera House.

Hailed by the New York critics as the smartest play of the season, "Seven Chances," which is described as a comedy of courtship, by Roi Cooper Megrue, author of "Under Cover," "Under Fire" and "It pays to Advertise," deals with an unromantic and confirmed young bachelor named Jimmie Shannon, who, by his grandfather's sudden death, finds himself heir presumptuous to an estate of twelve millions, but on the stipulation that he shall be married by the time he is thirty.

The engagement includes a special priced matinee on Wednesday in addition to the regular one on Saturday.

PROSPECT THEATER

A brand new melodrama, with a story that is old but one which we are never tired of hearing, will be on view at the Prospect theatre beginning next Monday for one week's engagement with the usual matinees. It is called "The Millionaire's Son and the Shop Girl," and was written by W. C. Herman. The play is in four acts. Each one of them is full of thrills, laughs and tears and there is not a dull moment in the play from the rise of the first curtain until the fall of the last one. The characters of the play are extremely interesting people of every day life.

MILES THEATER

A good vaudeville bill is promised by the Miles for next week. A dramatic sketch given by Maurice Samuels and his company is the headliner. The sketch is called "The Miracle." Other acts include Dave Thursby, character artist; the Breen family, novelty performers; Canton & Leon, in an aerial act, and other vaudeville.

STANDARD THEATER

George Walsh in "Melting Millions" is a story of a man saved from himself. Jack Balentine (George Walsh) inherits a fortune from his father. He also inherits a fiancee. He sets out to spend his fortune and almost succeeds when Vera Morton (Velma Whitman) whom the will said Jack should marry, steps in. By a clever trick she gets his money away from him and keeps it till he settles down to earn a living.

Jack falls in love with Jane Billen (Anna Luther) and would wed her were it not for his inherited engagement to Vera. When he decides to ask Vera if she intends to marry him, he finds that she has run off and married Jane's father, a widower. Then Jack and Jane do likewise. As a wedding gift Vera returns to Jack his long lost fortune.

LIBERTY THEATER

The Liberty next week offers a good minstrel, a show that Manager Harry du Rocher personally put together. It is one of the good shows.

ALHAMBRA THEATRE THE NEW MALL

Olga Petrova is coming to the New Mall and the Alhambra theatres in a new picture, starting Sunday. It is called "The Secret of Eve."

Mme. Petrova, in this picture, takes the part of four characters, the story being of the everlasting quest of woman for Eve's secret.

Next Thursday "Skinner's Dress Suit" made from the popular story, as printed in the Saturday Evening Post, will be shown for a three day engagement.

STAR THEATER

The Star theatre offers burlesque next week in terms of the Harry Hastings Big show. Dan Coleman is the principal funmaker and the show has a host of burlesque favorites. It is announced as a big burlesque show.

EMPIRE THEATER

The Darlings of Paris is the Empire's show next week. The show has every appearance of being a good one in burlesque. Lew Reynolds is the star.

CORONA THEATRE

The New Corona theatre, 745 Prospect avenue, corner E. 8th St., Cleveland, will have a grand opening Saturday, March 3rd, on which date the doors will be thrown open to the public with an invitation to inspect this beautiful new photoplay theatre. The opening attraction will be Cleo Madison in Rex. Ingram's tragic drama, "Black Orchids."

Emma Hawkins, whose residence is unknown, will take notice that Wood B. Hawkins filed a petition against her in the Court of Common Pleas of Cuyahoga County, Ohio, praying for divorce on the ground of wilful absence for more than three years last past. Said petition is No. 154725 and will be for hearing on and after April 13, 1917. M1 A5
THOMAS W. FLEMING, Atty. for Plff.

Emma Owens, whose residence is unknown, will take notice that Logan Owens filed a petition against her in the Court of Common Pleas of Cuyahoga County, Ohio, praying for divorce on the ground of wilful absence for more than three years last past. Said petition is No. 154726 and will be for hearing on and after April 13, 1917. M1 A5
THOMAS W. FLEMING, Atty. for Plff.

George Webb, whose residence is in Gananoque, Ontario, will take notice that Doro Webb filed a petition against him in the Court of Common Pleas of Cuyahoga County, Ohio, praying for divorce and relief on the ground of fraudulent contract. FARMERS' AND GARDENERS' CORNER

The cities may have their little mobs and riots, but the farmers will plow and sow and reap and feed their stock and go forth to their labors until the evening. The farmers have ever and always been the hope of the world.

TREES MAY BE PRUNED DURING WINTER MONTHS

Pruning young apple trees during the dormant state has been affected at less expense in vitality of the trees than the removal of twigs and branches during the growing season, in the experimental orchard at the Ohio Experiment Station. This experiment, which has been conducted for the last two years with apple trees of several varieties, many of which have reached the age of fruit bearing for the variety, has also shown that the greatest total growth, both in length and in diameter of branches, is made by unpruned trees.

Summer pruning has resulted in a much greater modification of growth than the removal of a similar amount of wood in the dormant state. Contrary to what orchardists expect, summer pruning has not hastened fruit bearing under the conditions in the Experiment Station orchard, at Wooster. Trees that were pruned lightly in the dormant state stand on a plot adjoining the one having trees pruned heavily in the summer. Even at a distance the difference in growth in favor of the dormant pruning can be plainly seen.

Removing twigs and branches causes a temporary setback in the development of the trees. Any style of pruning modifies the natural growth in proportion to the importance of the parts removed. Even though unpruned trees make the greatest growth, pruning is recommended to insure a higher quality of fruit and to develop banalced trees that can be easily cared for and from which fruit may be easily picked.

The removal of a reasonable minimum rather than a maximum of growing parts, and at the same time training the tree in such a way that it will develop a form that facilitates necessary orchard operations, seems to be the best method of traing for fruit production, according to the results of these experiments.

THE "BATTLE CRY OF PEACE" TO BE SHOWN AT HIAWATHA THEATR

Monday, March 5th, will see the opening at the Hiawatha theatre of "The Battle Cry of Peace." Of this play and of the book the following has been written:

"Once in a generation or so a book finds its way into history. 'Uncle Tom's Cabin' was a book of this kind. By crystallizing the scattered elements of a great problem it moved a nation.

"Today there is another problem no less vital to our country's welfare than the one that inspired Harriet Beecher Stowe. Slavery threatened our unity; today our very existence is threatened by our defencelessness.

"The solution of the one involved us in war; the solution of the other will prevent war.

"To bring this great problem home to the millions of American people, J. Stuart Blackton conceived a great idea.

"To carry out this idea he produced a wonderful picture; from it he has written a wonderful book.

"He took the facts and statistics contained in Hudson Maxim's 'Defenceless America" and around them wove an absorbing story. With the unlimited resources of the Vitagraph Company of America at his command he translated this story into motion pictures. The result is 'The Battle Cry of Peace.'

"'The Battle Cry of Peace' is the first motion picture to be used to exploit an important, nation-wide propaganda. Its object is to bring to t notice of the greatest number people in the shortest possible tin the defencelessness of our countr not only to make the American peop realize our condition as a nation, b to show them also the consequenc to which this condition may lead, a finally to show them how to reme this condition.

"'The Battle Cry of Peace' is a ca to arms—not for war, but for Peac It will be shown in motion pictur theatres, schools, colleges an churches throughout the length an breadth of this country. It wi arouse in the heart of every Amer can citizen a realization of his stri accountability to his country in tim of need.

"Scores of prominent Americans— in army, navy and administrative ci cles of our government—have con tributed to this great production Notable among its sponsors and en dorsers are Dr. Lyman Abbott, th Honorable Lindley M. Garrison, Ma jor-General Leonard Wood and Ad miral George Dewey, representing th church, the state, the army and th navy."

The film will open at the Hiawath next Monday, March 5. Matinee an evening. Two evening performances at 6:30 and 8:45—25c. On accoun of the wonderful educational value o this film a matinee in the afternoo will be given for all school childre at 10c each.

Beginning at the intersection of the Southerly line of Lakeside avenue, N. W. with the Westerly line of West 3rd Street (formerly Seneca Street); thence Westerly along the Southerly line of Lakeside Avenue, N. W., 199 feet 2 inches to its intersection with the Easterly line of West 4th Street (formerly Academy Street), thence Southerly along the Easterly line of West 4th Street, 126 feet 10 1-2 inches to the Northerly line of said Sub Lot No. 5 in said subdivision, thence easterly along the northerly line of said Sublot No. 5, 199 feet 2 inches to the Westerly line of West 3rd Street; thence northerly along the westerly line of West 3rd St., 126 ft. 10 1-2 inches to the place of beginning, as appears by said plat.

The petition alleges that the Defendants, Daniel Kellog, and the unknown heirs, devisees and personal representatives of Daniel Kellog, deceased, claim an estate or interest in said premises adverse to Plaintiff's rights, by virtue of a certain improperly cancelled mortgage, executed by James R. Stafford, then the owner of said premises, in favor of Daniel Kellog, which mortgage is dated November 11, 1839, and is recorded in Volume 27, Page 473 of Cuyahoga County Records; but that Plaintiff believes and alleges that said mortgage has been fully paid and satisfied.

That the defendants, Isaac L. Hewitt, and the unknown heirs, devisees, and personal representatives of Isaac L. Hewitt, deceased, claim an estate or interest in said premises adverse to Plaintiff's rights, by virtue of a certain improperly cancelled mortgage executed by Frederick A. Keppler, then the owner of said premises, in favor of Isaac L. Hewitt, which mortgage is dated April 24, 1851, and is recorded in Volume 52, Page 16, of Cuyahoga County Records; but that Plaintiff believes and alleges that said mortgage has been fully paid and satisfied, and also by virtue of an improperly cancelled mortgage, executed by Frederick A. Keppler, then the owner of said premises, in favor of Isaac L. Hewitt, which mortgage is dated June 3, 1851, and is recorded in Volume 52, Page 508 of Cuyahoga County Records; but that plaintiff believes and alleges that said mortgage has been fully paid and satisfied;

That the defendant, German Insurance Company claims an estate or interest in said premises adverse to Plaintiff's rights, by reason of an improperly cancelled mortgage executed by Adam Snider to the said German Insurance Company, which mortgage is dated May 25, 1870, and is recorded in Volume 180, page 49, of Cuyahoga County Records, but that Plaintiff believes and alleges that said mortgage has been fully paid and satisfied.

That the defendants, H. Zauner, first name unknown, and the unknown heirs, devisees and personal representatives of H. Zauner, first name unknown, deceased, claim some estate or interest in said premises adverse to plaintiff's rights by virtue of a certain mortgage executed by Barbara Schneider, then the owner of said premises, in favor of said H. Zauner, dated July 24, 1893, and recorded in Volume 562, page 631 of Cuyahoga County Records, which mortgage was improperly assigned by the said H. Zauner to John Lendy, on July 24, 1893, and which assignment is recorded in Release Volume 11, Page 191, of Cuyahoga County Records, but that Plaintiff believes and alleges that the said mortgage has been fully paid and satisfied;

That the defendant, ——— Haas, first name unknown, wife or widow of Richard Haas, otherwise known as Jane Doe, real name unknown, wife or widow of Richard Haas, claims an estate or interest adverse to Plaintiff's rights, by reason of a certain deed from Richard Haas, then the owner of said premises, to Adam Haas, dated May 16, 1848, and recorded in Volume 44, Page 651 of Cuyahoga County Records, in which deed no wife joins with the Grantor nor is any statement made that the said Grantor was single: but the Plaintiff believes and therefore alleges that the said Richard Haas, at the time of the execution of said deed was unmarried.

The petition further says that none of said defendants has any interest whatever in said premises, and that any interest they or any or all of them may have had has long since been barred by lapse of time and the Statutes of Limitations: that none of said defendants has ever sought to convey or attempted to enforce or assert any interest in and to the said premises, and that as against the said defendants and each and all of them, Plaintiff and its predecessors in title have held and been in the actual, open, notorious, continuous and adverse possession of said premises for more than twenty-one years last preceding the filing of said petition.

The prayer of said petition is that said defendants and each and all of them may be compelled to show their said interest in said premises, if any: that the same may be adjudged to be null and void: that Plaintiff's title be quieted against said defendants and for relief.

Said petition is No. 154137, and each and all of the above named defendants are required to answer the same on or before the 17th day of March, A. D. 1917, or judgment will be taken in accordance with the prayer of the petition. J25 M1

HERE'S WHERE TO BUY THE BEST OF 5-10c WALL PAPER

The Prospect Wall Paper Company issues a timely warning to all housewives who anticipate papering their parlor or dining room this spring that now is the time to buy paper.

The high cost of necessaries in all lines has made folks stop, look and listen. And so it is with wall paper, too, is soaring skyward in prices. The Prospect Wall Paper Company, which has the largest store of its kind in Cleveland, still adheres to its established five and ten cent prices.

This store buys direct from the mills, eliminating the middleman and thus giving the purchaser the benefit of his profit. All paper patterns are displayed on swinging screens giving them their natural effect. Mrs. Housewife, there is a special designer there at all times to offer suggestions to make the home as pretty and attractive as possible. The Prospect Wall Paper Company also carry a special twenty cent line of wonderful value in wall paper. The store is located at 809 Prospect avenue, N. E. Cleveland, and carries a line of wall paper that cannot be duplicated in northern Ohio.

If women want to save money they can do so by patronizing this big store. For a very little money homes can be made as sweet, sanitary and pretty as can be, if Mrs. Housekeeper will visit the Prospect avenue establishment and there choose her wall paper, for every variety is in the stock.

LEGAL NOTICE

Notice is hereby given that the undersigned has been appointed and duly qualified as Assignee in Trust for the benefit of the creditors of Clyde A. Wise. WHEN THE CALL COMES THE RED CROSS WILL BE READY

You know what the Red Cross is, how it ministers to the wounded on the field of battle, cares for the injured in time of calamity and does the humanitarian work following any disaster. It is to be hoped the Red Cross will not be called upon to follow United States troops to a battlefront, but, if the call does come, CLEVELAND'S RED CROSS MUST BE PREPARED.

A fully equipped hospital unit of 500 beds, with nurses, doctors, surgeons, ambulances and other equipment, will be Cleveland's answer to a call to arms if it comes.

THIS COUNTRY FACES A CRISIS NOW—NONE DOUBT THIS. The Red Cross needs more members. You should be one. You incur no obligation for call to service, all you do by becoming a member is to show your patriotism in a substtantial way.

Please fill out this membership blank and mail it to ALEXANDER C. BROWN, Treasurer, 201 Chamber of Commerce.

It was a Scotch-Irish program, with decorations and luncheon scheme appropriate thereto. Louise Graham of the Leader, read a paper prepared for "The Bookman" on the books of Chas. Moore. Mrs. O'Hare gave several poems and interesting recounts of life in Ireland. Mrs. A. J. Penfield and her sister, Mrs. McCollister, entertained with whistling solos and piano accompaniment.

One table was necessary to accommodate the Willoughby guests, seated at which were included Mrs. Fred Storm and daughter Bessie, Mrs. H. F. Kennedy, Miss Florence Wasson, Mrs. A. J. Penfield, Mrs. McCollister, Mrs. F. M. Gray, Miss Ethel D. Bryant, and the hostess of the occasion, Mrs. Cora Gaines Carrel.

RESOLUTIONS ON THE DEMISE OF EDWARD BAKER

Whereas in the wisdom of the Divine Master, he has seen best to remove from earthly life our beloved brother, Edward Baker, it is with great sorrow that we mourn the loss of one who was ever ready to give and lend a helping hand. A man of splendid character.

By his cheerful disposition he won many friends. He was generous to a fault; Therefore be it resolved that we ever remember our brother with loyalty, and that we extend the sorrowing family our sympathy, and that the charter be draped for thirty days, and that a copy of these resolutions be spread in our minute book, one sent to the local papers for publication, and one sent to the bereaved family.

"Sleep on dear friend; such lives as thine:
Have not been lived in vain;
But shed an influence rare divine,
On lives that here remain."

MAYOR SUGGESTS PATRIOTIC MASS MEETING

Mayor Carmichael has addressed the following communications to the Chamber of Commerce for their consideration:

George W. Rockafellow,
President Chamber of Commerce,
Willoughby, Ohio.

Dear Sir:—In anticipation of military training through the public schools, and for the purpose of pledging the loyalty of Willoughby Township and Village to President Wilson, would it not be a good plan for the Willoughby Chamber of Commerce to arrange for a patriotic mass meeting, for the purpose of pledging this loyalty and having outlined by a regular army officer the new course of military training?

These are stirring times, and it should be the duty of every citizen to pledge his loyalty to the Flag, and keep himself in close touch with all movements tending to the safety and peace of our Great Nation.

Very sincerely yours,
W. J. Carmichael, Mayor.

VISITORS IN TOWN

A GREATER AND BROADER WILLOUGHBY

Matters of Individual Interest to the Community Discussed in Letter and Editorial Form by Members of The Chamber of Commerce and Others:

Under this heading it is aimed to present matters of interest in regard to the schools, music, entertainments, beautifying of surroundings and community progress. Back of all these, and the foundation that helps to create them, is the industrial projects. That these concerns take the extreme and personal interest that they do, augers well for their connection and influence in Willoughby's progress. We therefore take pleasure in presenting communications addressed to the Chamber of Commerce by Mr. B. P. Bagby, vice president of The Ben Hur Automobile Co.; Mr. Mark J. Gillen, president and general manager of The Standard Tire and Rubber Co., and from Mr. M. J. Rentschler, manager of Willoughby's newest enterprise, The J. H. R. Products Co.:

Willoughby, Ohio, March 6, 1917.

Mr. George Rockafellow, Pres.
Willoughby Chamber of Commerce, Willoughby, Ohio.
Dear Sir:

I wish to confirm our telephone conversation of this morning, during which I advised you that the Ben-Hur Motor Company is now a part of Willoughby and wish to place ourselves at the disposal of your Chamber in the matter of attracting new enterprises to Willoughby.

And as stated in that conversation WE ARE NOT ONLY READY TO LEND OUR PERSONAL ATTENTION, BUT SUCH FINANCIAL ASSISTANCE AS IS CONSISTENT OR NECESSARY FOR SUCH MOVEMENTS.

WE FIRMLY BELIEVE THAT IF TWO OR THREE ADDITIONAL ENTERPRISES CAN BE ATTRACTED TO WILLOUGHBY IT WILL THEN BECOME ONE OF THE LIVELIEST LITTLE COMMUNITIES IN NORTHERN OHIO, AND NOTHING COULD PLEASE US GREATER.

You perhaps are aware of the fact that this Company now have under way a project which will materially increase the size of our establishment, and more than treble the number of men required to operate it. This expansion is expected to take place within the next four to six weeks and with the above in mind we wish to call your attention to the HOUSING FACILITIES in this community, and suggest that some CONCENTRATED effort be put forth at once to improve that condition and earnestly request that you call upon US FOR ANY ASSISTANCE REQUIRED TO push this matter.

Again assuring you of our loyal support, I am,

Yours very Truly,
THE BEN-HUR MOTOR CO.,
B. P. Bagby, Vice Pres.

Cleveland, Ohio, March 5, 1917

Mr. George W. Rockafellow, care Kennedy & Rockafellow:
Willoughby, Ohio.
Dear Mr. Rockafellow

As per your request I am enclosing herein my application for membership in the Willoughby Chamber of Commerce.

I a mpleased to learn of your election to the presidency of this organization and wish to confirm my assurances given to you verbally that you can expect and shall have my hearty support.

I know you appreciate that THERE ARE MANY THINGS WHICH THIS ORGANIZATION COULD DO FOR THE BENEFIT OF THE COMMUNITY and under your able leadership I am looking forward to the accomplishment of many things.

Very truly yours,
M. J. GILLEN.

Willoughby, Ohio, March 6, 1917.

Mr. George W. Rockafellow, Willoughby, Ohio.
My Dear Sir:

It is with a great deal of satisfaction that I have noticed your election to the presidency of the Willoughby Chamber of Commerce. You possess unusual qualifications for this position and I rejoice in your acceptance for I feel confident that under your able leadership the Chamber will inaugurate only those changes which make for a bigger, better and more prosperous Willoughby Village.

AS A NEWCOMER I FEEL THAT UNLESS THE CHAMBER OF COMMERCE IS IN A POSITION TO ASSURE MANUFACTURING CONCERNS OF A SAFE WATER SUPPLY, FIRE PROTECTION AND PROPER DRAINAGE FACILITIES, THERE IS BUT LITTLE INDUCEMENT FOR INDUSTRY TO LOCATE HERE.

With expressions of esteem and assurances of my hearty support to anything which spells true progress, I am, my dear sir,

Yours very Truly,
M. J. RENTSCHLER,

BEN HUR MEETING ADJOURNED

About 35 to 40 stock holders of the Ben Hur Co. met at the plant Monday noon. Mr. Bagby spoke on the matter of reorganization and increased capitalization, and the visitors were shown through the plant.

No definite action was taken, and meeting was adjourned until April 16th.

ICE AND COAL COMPANY CHANGES HANDS

Sam Low has disposed of his Ice and Coal business to J. H. Smith.

The latter resided on Waite Hill for about eight years, and was employed by A. G. Tryon. Later he engaged in the ice and coal business in Mentor, and has been associated there for the past eleven years. The first of March he took over the coal and ice business of Sam Low.

The coal situation appears to be improving he reports. Every wish is extended for his success.

DEATH OF DR. WALL COMES CLOSE TO WILLOUGHBY

Sympathy is being extended to the relatives here of Dr. W. R. Wall, who lost his life in an auto accident in Edgewater park Friday last. Dr. Wall's mother and brother Charles and wife reside on Euclid Ave. and the latter had only just returned from Florida. They left Florida on Friday, previous to recieving any word, the accident occuring that same night. They arrived home on Monday, when they received their first knowledge of the accident, the funeral taking place Tuesday.

Mrs. Sarah Wall, the mother, has lived in Willoughby for about 30 years. Dr. W. R. Wall, the father, was a practicing physician in Willoughby for about 20 years. The son, who has just met his death, was born in Glenville and had practiced medicine in Cleveland for about 25 years.

The funeral occured under the auspices of the Masons, Elks and Eagles, at the Phythian Temple, East 55th St. Cleveland. A wealth of flowers testified to the great esteem in which Dr. Wall was held. Interment was made in the East Cleveland Cemetary.

BANK MEETING

The meeting of the new bank officials of last Thursday was adjourned, and it was anticipated that another meeting would be held Friday night of this week.

DEATH OF OLIVER O. HONEYWELL

The death of Oliver O. Honeywell, came as a severe shock to his relatives and friends, he having been ill only a day or two. He passed away Thursday morning last. He was 70 years of age and had lived with his son in Wickliffe for the past 16 months.

The funeral occurred at Marlboro, O., the old home of the deceased.

Mr. Honeywell was born in Randolph, Ohio, and lived in New Baltimore for about 40 years.

Two sons and two daughters survive, the one son residing in Wickliffe, the other Charles, and one sister in Cleveland. Mrs. Miller the married daughter, resides in New Baltimore. The sympathy of friends and the community is extended.

If Ohio Goes Dry How Will It Affect My Taxes? One of the Questions Asked the W. C. T. U. Workers

"If Ohio goes dry, how will it affect my taxes?" This is one of the questions that is asked of the W. C. T. U. workers, according to the report given by Mrs. Sherman in her very interesting talk at the meeting of the order at the home of Mrs. Dayton, Tuesday. Another question asked, is, what is to become of the large buildings which are now used as distilleries? The reply to the latter in one instance is made by reference to an ice refrigerating plant which is now occupying a former distillery and employing five times the men that the distillery did.

The women of the W. C. T. U. are preparing to answer all questions, economic, scientific and otherwise. More publicity for the good work that they are doing was also discussed.

Forty-two thousand workers are now enrolled in the W. C. T. U., and they are gradually working out a most effective campaign. The next regular meeting will take place at the home of Mrs. Taylor.

An all day executive meeting will occur in Painsville Wednesday, at the home of Mrs. House.

Said elevations being above the datum or base of levels heretofore adopted by the Council of the city of Cleveland by ordinance passed May 3, 1854, which grade is shown on the plans now on file in the office of the Clerk of said Village, which is hereby approved and adopted.

That the elevation of the curb shall be the grade of the center line of said Bell Avenue, which elevations are hereby approved and adopted.

That the plans, specifications, estimates and profiles of said improvement, showing the proposed grade of the street after completion, with reference to the property abutting thereon, be and the same are hereby approved and adopted.

That the cost of improving street intersections, and 2 per centum of the entire cost, exclusive of street intersections, shall be paid by said Village; that the remainder of the entire cost of said improvement shall be assessed in proportion to the special benefits which will result from said improvement upon the following described lots and lands, to-wit: all the lots and lands bounding and abutting upon said Bell Avenue between the southerly line of Euclid Avenue and the northerly line of Ridge Road.

That the assessments so to be levied shall be paid in ten annual installments with interest on deferred payments at not to exceed six per centum per annum, provided, that the owner of the property assessed may, at his option, pay such assessment in cash within thirty days from and after the passage and legal publication of the assessing ordinance.

That the bonds of said Village of Wickliffe shall be issued in anticipation of the collection of assessments by installments and in an amount equal thereto.

That the remainder of the entire cost of said improvement not specially assessed, including the cost of intersections, shall be paid out of the water fund.

That the Village Clerk is hereby directed to cause this resolution to be published according to law, and to serve or cause to be served, notice of the passage of this resolution as required by law.

That this resolution shall take effect and be in force from and after its passage and legal publication.

Adopted December 19, 1916.

LEGAL NOTICE

To the owners of property bounding and abutting on Taylor Road, from the southerly line of Euclid Avenue to the northerly line of Ridge Road.

You are hereby notified that the following resolution was duly adopted by the Council of the Village of Wickliffe, State of Ohio, on the 19th day of December, 1916:

RESOLUTION NO. 13.

By Mr. Kellogg.

Declaring it necessary to improve Taylor Road from the southerly line of Euclid Avenue to the northerly line of Ridge Road, by constructing a 6-inch water main therein.

Be it resolved by the Council of the Village of Wickliffe, State of Ohio:

That it is necessary to improve Taylor Road, from the southerly line of Euclid Avenue to the northerly line of Ridge Road, by constructing a 6-inch water main therein.

That the grade of said water pipe be six feet below the grade herein established on said Taylor Road.

That the grade of the center line of said Taylor Road be as follows:

Said elevations being above the datum or base of levels heretofore adopted by the Council of the City of Cleveland by Ordinance passed May 3rd, 1854, which grade is shown on the plans now on file in the office of the Clerk of said Village, which is hereby approved and adopted.

That the elevation of the curb shall be the grade of the center line of said Taylor Road, which elevations are hereby approved and adopted.

That the plans, specifications, estimates and profiles of said proposed improvement, showing the proposed grade of the street after completion, with reference to the property abutting thereon, be and the same are hereby approved and adopted.

That the cost of improving street intersections, and 2 per centum of the entire cost, exclusive of street intersections, shall be paid by said Village; that the remainder of the entire cost of said improvement shall be assessed in proportion to the special benefits which will result from said improvement upon the following described lots and lands, to-wit: all the lots and lands bounding and abutting upon said Taylor Road between the southerly line of Euclid Avenue and the northerly line of Ridge Road.

That the assessments so to be levied shall be paid in ten annual installments with interest on deferred payments at not to exceed six per centum per annum, provided, that the owner of the property assessed may, at his option, pay such assessment in cash within thirty days from and after the passage and legal publication of the assessing ordinance.

That the bonds of the Village of Wickliffe shall be issued in anticipation of the collection of assessments by installments and in an amount equal thereto.

That the remainder of the entire cost of said improvement not specially assessed, including the cost of intersections, shall be paid out of the water fund.

That the Village Clerk is hereby directed to cause this resolution to be published according to law, and to serve or cause to be served, notice of the passage of this resolution as required by law.

That this resolution shall take effect and be in force from and after its passage and legal publication.

ANNOUNCEMENT

Behind European battle lines are thousands of field hospitals. Sick and injured soldiers are treated in them. Pneumonia, asthma and kindred diseases are those most dreaded; to prevent these ailments, to treat those afflicted and to keep fighting men in trim is the most important function of the field hospital. The treatment adopted and used by the German government for breathing organ ailments was discovered just at the outbreak of the war.

It has met with wonderful success in treatment of catarrh, pneumonia, asthma, hay fever, etc. The French government has just recently adopted a similar system. The German treatment has already been introduced in this country, and thousands have secured relief from breathing organ ailments for the first time in years. This is the treatment:

Inhalant medicines and healing oils are placed in casseroles about a room. The medicines and oils are combined in such a volatile form that they constantly throw off an absolutely dry gas. This gas is a perfect germicide (clinical laboratory report on file.) A germ cannot live in the same room with it. The gas is breathed into the innermost depths of the breathing organs—there to seek out germs of catarrh, asthma, hay fever, bronchitis, etc.

An inhalatorium has been opened in Suite 503 Erie Bldg. Persons afflicted visit the inhalatorium and while resting, reading or writing in the comfortably furnished rooms, they breathe the gas-laden air.

If you are a sufferer from any breathing organ ailment—EXCEPT TUBERCULOSIS—you are earnestly and cordially urged to make an investigation. You cannot afford to stay away! Come, take a trial treatment, read the testimonials, and talk to those benefited. Open from 9 a. m. until 5 p. m.

WHERE JUSTICE IS DISPENSED WITH

By Leigh Mitchell Hodges in The North American

Always it is an encouragement to think of the late William DeMorgan who, in his 66th year wrote his first novel, and won enduring fame as a novelist in the ten years that intervened between that debut and his death recently.

Nothing is more conducive to renewed effort than the knowledge that men of our own times have defied years and won out.

It was as if a voice came along saying, "You, too, can win out!"

And THAT is true!

Well, in one of his latest books—"When Ghost Meets Ghost"—"Mr. Jerry" says to "Mo," a fine old exprize fighter, "You can't do more than keep your word, Mo."

"Yes, you can, Jerry" replies Mo. "You can keep your meanin'. And you can do more than that. You can keep to what the other party thought you meant, when you know. I know this time. I ain't in a court o' justice, Jerry, dodgin' about, and I know when I'm square, by the feel."

* * *

"You can keep your meanin'!"

You CAN, but DO you?

That's the real question, and it's one you might put to yourself right now, without delay and without trying to dodge the answer, as if you were in a court of justice.

For, unfortunately, one of the purposes of courts of justice is to help you find loopholes through which you may escape from the meaning you had in mind, or the one someone else has in mind!

Quite a number of people do NOT keep their meaning. In the first place they so word their promises or pledges as to mist up the meaning. And then they take refuge in the mist and you don't know where to find them.

You know what I mean! Maybe you've done it yourself on an occasion or two!

But though it may have gained you or the other fellow who tried it, some measure of profit or apparent advantage it really cost you more than it ever could again.

For nothing is so valuable as honor, and when we compromise even a little of our store we suffer a great loss.

* * *

"You can keep to what the other party thought you meant—when you know."

A finer definition of the highest form of honor would be hard to find.

And it is not such a difficult standard to achieve, either. For it's not hard to find out what the other party thinks we mean, at the time of our expression of meaning.

Sometimes some folk don't want to find out. They'd rather have a little mist convenient. But the man who wants to keep on good terms with himself—and that's a most desirable condition!—will be careful first to ascertain the other fellow's thought and then so phrase or write his promise as to make it clear that he knows what the other party thinks he means.

The wording of such a situation may seem a bit complex, at first sight. But the satisfaction to be got and given under such circumstances will more than repay any person for the time employed in getting at Mo's exact meaning.

MUSEUM DECIDES TO BROADEN WORK

Natural History Institution in New York Will Establish Branches

New York, March 7. The trustees of the American Museum of Natural History announced after their meeting at the residence of Henry C. Frick, that in view of the European war the institution would greatly broaden its country-wide mission of aiding the industrial, civic and artistic life of the United States.

American arts and industries have been obliged to proceed largely on independent lines since the cutting off of many supplies from Europe. It is therefore the policy of the museum to place its resources and researches at the disposal of the nation, according to the Detroit Free Press.

The preparedness exhibition now being held at the museum under its auspices and those of the American Chemical society and other associations has been attended so far by 50,000 persons. It was installed for demonstrating how this country is utilizing its own resources in the production of chemical products.

An important contribution to military hygiene is the enlarged exhibition in the museum's hall of health. From its laboratories the institution is now sending cultures of germs to 114 American medical colleges. The object lessons in the care of soldiers in camp and field afforded by the models in this exhibit, have already been of great value both to educators and officials.

The difficulty of obtaining new patterns for dress fabrics and other textiles from abroad has caused designers from all parts of the United States to avail themselves of the museum's stores of American primitive and Indian art. Hundreds of professional designers as well as the students of eight art schools are already making much use of the collections.

Manufacturers of pottery and various other wares are now sending their experts to the museum for ideas.

Through the investigations of the museum's department of anthropology the long lost secret was discovered anew by which the Indians once raised corn in portions of the southwest, where the American farmers were unable to get results. This important research added millions of dollars of wealth to the resources of the country.

The institution in pursuance of a policy adopted at its last annual meeting has extended its educational mission to all parts of the United States. In so doing it is working in harmony with similar institutions in Washington, Boston, Chicago and other American cities. Its new class of associate members composed of those who live 50 miles of more beyond the metropolitan limits attest its increasing activities. Of the 496 members added to the musium in 1916, 308 are of the associate class. The total membership shown in the annual report presented last evening to the trustees showed a total enrollment of 4,116 members.

The educational work of the museum has been greatly extended. It is now working in co-operation with 950 teaching institutions throughout the country. Besides those mentioned it is supplying material to 51 private schools, 8 parochial schools, 440 public schools, 148 high and normal schools and 167 colleges and universities. At the lectures of the museum and its lecture centers, 64,000 children have attended. The museum's department of public education, which in 1915 sent out 12,000 lantern slides for the use of schools, last year issued 39,000.

"Many Successful Men Were Failures Before They Were Geared Up To Capacity,"

General Goethals of The Panama Canal Says, So He Makes a Study of Both. A Talk About the Building of The Canal---With Joe Mitchell Chapple

In the stuffy smoking room of a speeding train I met General George W. Goethals, for the first time since I was with him in Panama. Above the roar of the train, he gave me a new angle in executive management that was impressive. I realized I was talking to an executive expert. Geo. W. Goethals is the last man on earth to talk much about himself. He talked more to me that day on the train than he ever did in his life. Perhaps because I didn't have pencil and paper he thought I couldn't remember what he said.

Somehow he reminded me of my idea of Grant—the silent commnader—the alst great hero of the army. The navy has its spectacular setting, but the army man must deal with terra firma and trenches, and win his laurels by digging. General Goethals be it said, is some digger.

Never sa whim looking better. The stubby gray mustache which he used to bite in perplexity, is beginning to grow again. Hale and hearty, with the gleaming eye of a man who has done things, he smiled quizzically when I asked him how it felt to be relieved of the load.

"Load? There never was a load on me—it was my business to load! About the canal I now feel like a business man who has retired while his work goes on. He feels that he has 'loaded' the work to go on."

How's that for a rifle shot?

Goethals completed the Panama canal. Did what was considered impossible by getting men to follow him. The way he met troublesome problems on the Isthmus impressed me then—more so now. Decisions were based on a knowledge of "hand-picked" facts. He got up in the morning and used his eyes and ears. Didn't depend too much on neat rule-adorned reports.

The General's yellow automobile, known as the "Hornet," was a regular cavalry charger up and down the Isthmus lines, under the hot sun of the tropics. Movements of the laborers caught his eye. A big bucketful of dirt sailing over Culebra Cut too slowly brought the grim remark:

"Must stop that baloon-work and move dirt."

In a little book which he carried in his pocket was written in red ink all the troubles ahead. They remained in red until settled in full and he forgot them like a paid account.

"In that work" referring to the Canal "my first text book was the calendar. Yes, just a common, every-day calendar. Few realize the importance of definite dates," declared General Goethals. "Dates never slip into each other. February 1 is the first and twenty-four hours afterward it is February 2. It is amazing to see what men can accomplish when given definite task, specific order and time limit."

The thought of the many "When you get around to it" orders all too common.

Of course we discussed many topics of general interest and speaking of preparedness:

"Do you know," said the General, looking steadily at me, "preparedness means more to the people than mere preparation for war. It stimulates a spirit of preparedness in business and other functions of life. Whether it is a nation or individual, there is nothing like fortifications that fortify. Was anything ever accomplished without preparation?

"A good many things that an executive complains about among his men are caused by his lack of preparation and definite instructions.

"Preparedness is more than a word—it is a phrase, an idea. It is not a new expression, but its general use is new. In 42 B. C. Publius Syrus told his followers: 'We should provide in time of peace what we need in war.' On the same principle, we should prepare before hand for the work we have to do.

It was General Goethals who had red hot fights with visiting congressmen seeking jobs for relatives on the Isthmus. He sent all the relatives home if they did not measure up to his requirements for the triple D degree—Date, Diligence, Do.

With old Dr. Johnson, General Goethals holds that "Few things are impossible to diligence."

Rubbing his chin reflectively, he continued:

"As a soldier, I have always considered 'Do' an essential element of duty. Duty is a word hammered into the boys at West Point. In analyzing men for detail duty on the Canal, I found that the man with military training had an advantage in knowing how to obey. Service is nothing more than obedience in the broad sense. If you escape duty, you avoid action. Stern duties do not require harsh commands. Knowledge of our duties is the most essential part of the philosophy of life."

Years ago when the little blue-eyed Dutch boy from Brooklyn applied to Sunset Cox for an appointment to West Point, when all others had failed, he said, "I can do it." Executive genius never falters in self-confidence. George W. Goethals said, "I can do it," when assigned the task of building the Panama Canal, and he DID it!

It's worth the price of an entire lecture course to hear the man who built the Panama Canal tell about it.

The General is now taking up his work as consulting engineer, and discussing problems of municipal management. His experience in governing the Zone, as well as directing the work on the Canal, gave his an idea of what faces every city in the United States, and every business that of selecting people to do certain work, with the appreciation that only time may not be discounted.

"A task is either done or not done today" he insisted, "and what is done tomorrow is the natural result of what was done today. As old Zeno so truly said: 'Man seems to be deficient in nothing so much as his comprehension of time.'

"We talk about stopping the leaks, and waste of materials, but the first things I studied in building the Panama Canal were the time books."

"I have observed that many men of mediocre attainments, using their time profitably, are able to accomplish more, much more, than those of naturally brilliant ability."

The General puffed a while and continued.

"How many business men do you think ever made an inventory of their employes? Do they give as much attention to values of the human equation as they do to machinery?

"Depreciation" warming up to his subject and emphasizing every word with a quick nod of his head "depreciation is of infinitely more importance in a study of payrolls than a survey of machinery. And" whimsically "the mere experience of years may bring depreciation rather than appreciation.

"I frequently think that 'efficiency' is a much overstrained word—sounds like nuts and screws—obnoxious when hammered out to employes with the lubricant of recognition of individual effort.

"Remembrance of appreciation, and a just consideration of work has helped many an executive to meet perplexing emergencies."

On the Isthmus, General Goethals used to hold court on Sunday mornings to hear complaints—foreign and domestic. Decisions were quick and snappy. When Finnegan claimed that Flannagan carried only twenty-nine loads, while he, Finnegan, carried thirty-one for the same pay, he was told, "All right, Finnegan, I'll see that Flannagan hauls thirty-one hereafter."

General Goethal's experiences were varied and composite on the Isthmus. He had to know all kinds of business in the commissary department, had to know how to govern, had to know about materials in the construction department. His executive ability was put to a supreme test.

"Didn't all these details almost overwhelm you?" I asked him.

"You know," he said quietly, "I just let them go through my brain one at a time. Checked them up as I would an invoice. Too many people spend time in contemplating a task that should be spent in completing it. Begin the work, and in its accomplishment problems will often solve themselves."

General Goethals impressed his ideas upon his helpers, by acts as well as instruction. He made a study of those who failed as well as those who succeeded. Many successful men were failures before they were geared-up to proper capacity.

"So many men came to me at Panama," he jocosely remarked, "living on reputation that they might have made."

Which made me think how much more this modest man possesses in real reputation and fame than men who have millions for themselves. He achieved a Herculean and heroic task for his country, unaccompanied by the blare of bugle and trumpet and his tangible reward is that of a soldier and patriot, which one friend remarked is "a cipher with the rim off" but George Washington Goethals' reward will increase with the centuries.

"Imitation kills initiative and initiative is individuality," says General Goethals.

And there you are! The individuality of George W. Goethals is indissolubly associated with the building of the Panama Canal, the greatest epic of the times—an executive triumph unparalleled!

HOW MUCH OUGHT WE TO WEIGH?

A simple way to ascertain one's ideal weight was told recently by Dr. Harvey G. Beck, of the University of Maryland, in an address before the Los Angeles County Medical association at Los Angeles, Cal.

First, put down 110. Then multiply by 5 1-2 the number of inches by which one's height exceeds five feet. Add the result of the multiplication to the original 110 and the sum is one's "ideal weight."—Popular Science Monthly.

CORN PONE WITH APPLES

Two cups finely cut tart apples, 3 cups corn meal, 1-1-2 cups milk, 1 teaspoon salt, 1 teaspoon butter, 1 1-2 cups boiling water. Scald the corn meal, add the salt, remove from stove and cover for 1-2 hour. Then add the milk and mix well. Add the apples, brush two pie tins with the butter and pour the mixture in. Cover and bake 1 1-3 hours in moderate oven, or put in mold and steam two hours. Serve with brown sugar.

Cleveland Folks Receive Magazine Publicity

Nine or ten years ago, two brothers, unassuming chaps in their twenties, O. P. and M. J. Van Sweringen by name—strolled into an open stretch of country at the edge of Cleveland, Ohio, and saw a vision.

All that the eye could see was a thinly woyoded expanse of vacant land once occupied by a colony of Shakers, and lying well out of the line of transportation development. But these young Van Sweringens beheld there the future fashionable residence section of the city.

The Van Sweringens set about trying to make their vision come true. What they needed was money, and so they conferred with financiers. They were assured that the land was too far from the city and reminded that there was no street car line, or even a road for automobiles. When they answered that they would build these, it was pointed out that no city person would want to live out so far.

"My idea," explained one of the young men, "is to build a few high priced homes and offer them so much less than cost to the people of the right sort that they will be irresistible. In that way we'll get the place pioneered. Once it is started the rest will not be difficult. We'll provide big automobile vans to take the children of our settlers to the nearest school and deliver them back home again each noon and evening."

The Van Sweringens imagination won the day. In an astonishingly short period, these mere boys had laid out more than four thousand acres, or the breater part of two townships, in a high grade residence allotment; built and endowed several street car lines; given to the city several hundred acres of public parks; built miles of winding boulevards; made millions of dollars' worth of homes spring from vacant lands.

Within three or four years after they had glimsed their vision in the stretch of uninhabited land, that land had become the fashionable residence locality of their city.

Some time ago the Van Sweringens arranged for a private right of way from their allotment down into the heart of Cleveland. This would cut to one third the time required to reach their property, making it just as acceptable as the nearest allotments to the down-town, and at the same time as clean and free from down-town turmoil as those farthest away. When they sought to acquire the costly down-town property necessary for this project, it occured to them that they might save time and much money by arranging with one of the railroads for the use of its right of way into the city. The one they particularly wanted was the Nickel Plate. But the Nickel Plate management would not make terms for the use of its right of way. So what did the Van Sweringens do? They and some associates simply bought the entire Nickel Plate Railroad. The size of an undertaking never awes these boys. I submit that buying a transcontinental railroad in order to assist in the development of a piece of suburban real estate is a bit out of the ordinary, a trifle beyond the imagination of the average real estate operator. It's typical of the Van Sweringen way of going ahead.

They are building at the present time a big interurban passenger station, freight terminal and hotel, on one of the costliest down-town sites in Cleveland. And here is the reason they are building the freight terminal, which is to be one of the most efficient in the whole country. "Because," said these real estate geniuses, "Clevelad will never realy come into its own until it has better freight facilities. And everything that helps Cleveland as a great commercial center increases the purchasing power of the persons to whom we hope to sell high grade residence lots."

In other words, these young men decided that it would help their own business to make over Cleveland into a bigger and better city. Some enterprise, that!

In laying out boulevards and car lines, one of the Van Sweringens prepared for the day when traffic would be so thick that there would be a demand for overhead crossings. People laughed and said he was looking ahead about a thousand years. But he had had enough vision to see what the automobile would do, and already one overhead crossing in his big allotment has become a reality. The boulevards are arranged so that when it becomes essential to have an overhead crossing it can be done with the least possible expense and trouble. Van Sweringen worked out this little detail of the general scheme and attached no particular importance to it. One day he learned that the idea had been copied in Germany.

Instead of streets laid out to form blocks in the ordinary fashion, all are in curves, and they cross the car tracks in bunches—thus making the fewest possible number of car stops. These stops are one third of a mile apart, which means an obvious quickening of service as compared to starting and slowing down again every time the car runs the length of an ordinary city block.

O. P. Van Sweringen has worked out every fact possible with definite figures. When he and his brother got ready to build their first street car line he made a searching inquiry to learn how much money the average man spends on car riding. He found that where the car fare is five cents each man living near a car line will pay an average of about thirty-one dollars in fare a year. Then he figured out the number of families averaging probably five persons each, who would eventualy live near his line, and so estimated its future earnings.

When the Van Sweringens began working out their plans for a rapid transit line they spent in the neighborhood of a hundred thousand dollars for facts, figures, and surveys before breaking ground.

"The place to do your experimenting," they say, "is on paper. There is no use paying construction costs until you know you're exactly right."

One of the human things that the Van Sweringens have discovered is that most people buy a home site in a given neighborhood because some friend has done so. They found, also, that for every man to whom hey sold a lot in a new and sparsely settled location, they could count on selling to three and one-half more men, on the average, within a year.

When disposing of lots wholesale the Van Sweringens sell to a company rather than to an individual, and they insist that there must be not fewer than ten persons in the company. A number of lots owned by ten men, each having a circle of acquaintances, will sell much more rapidly than one tenth the number owned by one man. The first few persons who buy in a new allotment are entitled to concessions from a real estate company, for their presence there is almost worth their weight in gold. After them, come their friends, and then their friends' friends. The rest is comparatively easy.

Entered at Willoughby, Ohio, Postoffice as second class matter.

The twelve recalcitrant, unpatriotic United States Senators who defeated President Wilson's plan to arm American shipping against the German U-war may not be Benedict Arnolds, but they verge very closely to that manner of traitors.

The Bryans, the La Follettes, and others of the "immoral" dozens are being hissed and hooted from every corner of the country.

But wait until these pro-German "statesmen" again come before their constituents for re-nomination—if they dare do that—then they will be in a position to know just what the people of their respective states think of their shameless action at Washington last Sunday.

"Burned in effigy" has been the fate of some of them. We cannot forbear quoting the telegram Alton B. Parker, once candidate for president, sent from New York City to William Jennings Bryan at Miami, Fla:

> "If you and your friends, Senator La Follette, and your joint followers and sympathizers had gone to heaven three years ago Germany would not have attempted to drive the United States from the seas, or to conspire with other nations to make war upon her, for we should by now have been well prepared to defend ourselves, nor would you have occasion to sneak out of Washington uopn discovery of the German plot.
> "While you can never undo the mischief you have planned, yet if you act quickly, you may be able to persuade those now ambitious to become Benedict Arnolds of Congress to end the shameful scene now being enacted."

THE INFLUENCE OF PERSONALITY

"One great strong soul in every community," Elbert Hubbard remarked, "would actually redeem the world." Writing along this line, a writer in Cottrell's Magazine says:

It is wonderful, the influence of one strong personality in a community.

There is more floral culture in the homes of Dayton, Ohio, than perhaps any town in the world. Go along a street occupied by the homes of people of very moderate means, there will be at least one flower bed in every yard and some of them will be a whole flower garden. Even along the down town streets there are window boxes filled with bright colored flowers and green along the upper stories of the old and dingy buildings so common and unadorned in most cities. There are more little conservatories in the homes of Dayton than in any city.

All this spirit had its beginning 20 years ago when John H. Patterson, the principal manufacturer of Dayton, encouraged child gardening by furnishing the seed, the instructors, and in some instances the land, and offering prizes for the most attractive results.

Today these children are the grown-ups of Dayton with a knowledge and love of flowers instilled into them in their childhood.

MUCH INTEREST IN MACDONALD MEETINGS

The Harbison-McDonald Evangelistic meetings which have been in progress for the past two weeks at the Church of Christ, closed Sunday afternoon. The meetings have resulted in much good to the congregation. There were twenty-two who came forward to make confession of their faith, or to unite with the church upon statement of their membeship with a church in some other place. While the attendance was not up to that of the meetings of last year, yet there were good audiences each night. The interest seemed to increase each evening up to the close. The stirring sermons of Mr. MacDonald and the inspiring solos of Mr. Harbison were much to increase the interest and enthusiasm for religious work.

WILLOUGHBY FOLKS LIKE ELDERBERRY PIE, 'TIS SAID

According to Mrs. Pinkerton, who looks after the welfare of those who lunch at the Willoughby Inn, Willoughby folks are very fond of elderberry pie. In Marietta, the previous residence of the Pinkertons, she reports that elderberry pie was practically unknown. Only after her arrival at Willoughby did she learn of the very likeable qualities of elderberry pie. "Pie," according to Governor Willis, "is more important than poetry," but here, poetry, pie and other things share equally.

LEGAL NOTICE

Notice is hereby given that Henry Modroo, H. J. Ling and John Miller, the duly appointed, qualified and acting trustees of The Methodist Protestant Church of Orange, Cuyahoga County, Ohio, an unincorporated religious society, have filed their petition in the Court of Common Pleas of said County, being No. 154777, alleging that they are the owners and in the actual possession as such trustees for the use and benefit of said church of the following described premises:

Situated in the Township of Orange, County of Cuyahoga and State of Ohio and known as being part of Original Lot No. 8 in Tract No. 2 in said Township, and bounded and described as follows:

Beginning in the center of the highway at the Northeast corner of a parcel of land conveyed to John Lewis and others, Trustees, by deed recorded in Volume 306, Page 372, of Cuyahoga County Records; thence Southerly along the Easterly line of said along the Southerly line of said parcel 66 feet; thence Northerly parallel with the first described line 165 feet to the center line of the highway; thence Easterly along the center line of the highway 66 feet to the place of beginning.

The substance of said petition is that said premises is an unused part of the parsonage lot; that it is not used for a burial place for the dead, and that it is the desire of the membership of said society to sell the premises to pay the debts of said church contracted by reason of the erection of a new church building.

The petitioners pray that they may be authorized to sell the same on such terms and for such amount as the Court may deem proper and that the proceeds thereof may be applied to the payment of the debts of said society as aforesaid.

Said petition will be for hearing before said Court on and after the 30th day of March, 1917. M1-22

B. F. KEITH'S HIPPODROME.

There's going to be a bushel of fun all next week—day and night—at B. F. Keith's Hippodrome, Cleveland, for the fact that the management has engaged a bunch of vaudeville artists that will have the right of way as fun-makers.

If one would happily while away an afternoon it can be done at the Hip. for a 2-bit piece and that price means a side-splitting time in a most comfortable chair.

OPERA HOUSE

Next week the Opera House will offer "Ben Hur."

"Ben Hur" can hardly be given with a cast of any former performance, because the play is an old one and the casts have changed. It is a revival and a very successful one.

COLONIAL THEATRE

The Colonial theatre will offer "Very Good Eddie" next week. "Very Good Eddie" is given with practically the same cast that played it in the former engagement this season. Anna Orr, George Mack, Ada Lewis and all of them are in he company. The play we know and like.

PROSPECT THEATER

Beginning Monday, Mutt and Jeff in "Mutt and Jeff's Wedding, will play a return engagement for one week at the prospect theatre. Mutt and Jeff need no introduction to the patrons of this popular theatre and it is by request that the play was brought back. Bud Fisher has made these two characters famous all over the English speaking world and they have become even more popular in animated cartoons in the "movies".

The piece was entirely rewritten, everything is new, and Mr. Hill, the producer, promises it to be better than ever before. The scenery, electrical effects, costumes and dialogue are bright and the song hits are the latest in musical comedy. It is reported that the piece compares very favorably with the higher priced attractions. A company of more than forty are in the cast. There is also a chorus, mostly girls, that can sing and dance

The regular matinees will be given, Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday.

MILES THEATER

Resista, the girl of mystery, who was to have played the Miles two weeks ago, but who could not fill her engagement because of sickness, will be the headline attraction of the theatre next week. The surrounding show will consis of the Pederson brothers, aerial artists; Jarvis and Harrison, comedians in a new sketch entitled "Shooting the Chutes," Jimmy Lyons, comedian and songster; a dramatic sketch entitled "The Man in the Dark;" Warren and Templeton, in comedy situations, and two other features.

STAR THEATER

"The Roseland Girls" begins an engagement at the Star Monday. Unlike most musical comedy productions that achieve success during their previous visits, the producer has constantly added fresh material until now "The Roseland Girls" is an entirely new edition from that of last season. During the action of the two-act burlesque many interesting scenes are presented, showing "The Garden of Roses" in Roseland, famous "Streets" in New York, the "Busy" corner, Fort "Bang," and many new surprises in burlesque.

EMPIRE THEATER

"Burlesque De Luxe" will be at the Empire theatre next week when "The Tempters" will play that theatre. Among the principals are Max Field, Sidney Rogers, Harry Keeler, George Betts, Dave Peyser, Brad Boston, George Harrington, Roderick MacDonald, Walter Breaves, Ruth Everett, Anna Fink, Marie Elmer, Laura Branger, Nonie Reynolds, Nat Hoffman, Charlotte Turner and chorus.

CORONA THEATRE

Wedgewood Nowell, who has been leading man in all the Rex Ingram's Bluebird productions will be advanced to screen stardom at the new Corona theatre, Prospect and E. 8th St., Saturday, March 10th, when Mr. Ingram's latest production, "The Reward of the Faithless," will be shown, Betty Schade will be his leading lady. The play deals with the treacherous conduct of a man and woman who betray their best friend and untimely reap an abundant harvest of retribution.

Wednesday, March 14th, a Red Feather five act, two play, dramatic innovation featuring Cleo Madison, Roberta Wilson and Molly Malone in "The Girl Who Lost" and Neal Hart, with the daring Arizona rangers in "Border Wolves," will be shown at the Corona theatre.

Other features are Monday, King Baggot, in "The Man of Mystery," also "The Fourth Witness," Tuesday, "Mary From America," with Ruth Clifford, and "The Folly of Fanchette;" Thursday, "Where Glory Waits" also "That Doggone Dog," and Friday "The Man Who Saved the Day," also "The Hash House Mystery, with Harry Myers.

STANDARD THEATER

At the Standard Theatre the week of March 11th, Joan Sawyer and Stuart Holmes in "Loves Law" will be the feature. This beautiful photoplay is taken from a gypsy theme as the lure of the wild overcomes the girl and makes her give up certain success in the city for happiness and peace among the forests.

Miss Sawyer who is one of Wm. Foxes latest stars was one of the worlds greatest dancers before joining the movies, and portrays her ability in this play to the satisfaction of everyone who will see her. Mutt and Jeff comedies and an educational film will also be shown and a good program assured.

LIBERTY THEATER

At the Liberty theatre next week Hill's trained animals is the chief attraction. All the animals perform several startling tricks. A Cleveland boy, Howard Martelle, a ventriloquist has a reputation as being able to make anything talk. Bob and Peggy Valentine offer a comedy singing and talking act entitled "The Census Taker," Bassett and Bailey are a pair of hand balancing acrobats, Ray Lawrence and company do novelty singing and comedy act.

ALHAMBRA AND MALL

This week Friday and Saturday that popular story from the Saturday Evening Post, "Skinner's Dress Suit," will be shown at the Alhambra and the Mall.

Starting Sunday dainty Mabel Taliaferro in "The Barricade" will be the attraction. This is a strong play of business and social life giving the star a wonderful opportunity to display her talents.

The latter part of next week, starting Thursday, March 15, Viola Dana will appear in her latest success, "The Mortal Sin." This play is one of the most remarkable produced this year, dealing with a very vital subject of domestic life.

Announcement has been made that both of these theatres will have the first showing in Cleveland the week of March 18 of the latest Clara Kimball Young picture, "The Price She Paid."

THE NEW LYCEUM THEATRE

Demand for down town stock yesterday caused Vaughan Glaser to announce the removal of his company from the Duchess theatre to the New Lyceum, East 9th street, near Prospect avenue, where he will open on Monday night with "Tess O' the Storm Country." Miss Courtney and the rest of the Glaser company, which has been at the Duchess for several weeks, will be seen down town.

In making the change Glaser said yesterday that he was catering to "all the people of Cleveland" and that a great many requests had come to him from the West Side and centrally located people who found it too much of a trip to go to the East End theatre. Glaser has leased the New Lyceum and is planning a downtown season that will prove one of the best stock engagements ever offered in Cleveland.

"Tess O' the Storm Country" is a story with a wide appeal. It depicts the life of a wild little girl of the woods, her uncouth life, and retells the old, old story that a woman's heart always can be touched by another woman in trouble and that self-sacrifice is one of the traits that woman cannot hide.

Besides the Thursday and Saturday matinees which have been the rule at the Duchess an extra matinee will be added Tuesday for the Lyceum run.

Mrs. George Yaxley attended the funeral of her grandfather, Mr. Robert Bales, on Monday at 2 p. m., in Willoughby, on the Shore Line. Mr. Bales passed away Saturday morning. He was in his 91st year. It will be remembered that his wife was killed by the street car about 17 years ago. He had been living with a son since his wife died. A granddaughter, Lucy Roberts, who had been helping to care for him, had the misfortune to fall and fracture several ribs the day the grandfather died, so that she'll have to keep her bed for several days.

Floyd Lilley was home over Sunday.

Mrs. J. Lilley's birthday anniversary occurred on March 6th. She received a number of nice presents.

Sugar makers are feeling a little doubtful about there being a good sugar season this year. There ought to be, as there has been two poor ones, and as other sugar has got to be so high and scarce. Only just think of it, to be limited to only five pounds at a time. Why people will get awfully "soured" if this state of things continues much longer.

Miss Sylvia Lilley took a severe cold during the Washington's birthday vacation and remained out of school nearly a week.

The writer saw three robins on February 21st.

Only think of it, this is the 6th of March and the thermometer down to zero. The month came in so lovely I thought we'd catch it later on.

There are two bad places south of the Chardon and Kirtland road, on the river, which, if they are not repaired as soon as the frost goes out, Lake county may have a damage suit to see to. One other bad place just south of the Chardon and Kirtland road is on the Leslie Grilly farm. There is almost no road there now. This is in Geauga county. An auto will surely slide into the river in both places.

An Invitation of 1853 Retained by Old Resident, With Recollections of Alfred Utley

An invitation to a New Year's dance, where they danced the "monie-musk" and truly did not go home until morning" is among the old-time treasures preserved by C. P. Lilley, of Vine street. The invitation reads as follows:

HAPPY NEW YEAR!

Your company is respectfully solicited at Watson's National Hall, Painesville, on Friday, December 30, 1853, at 3 o'clock p. m.

Of the room managers and committee as mentioned, C. P. Lilley is probably the only one now living. The names mentioned include: N. Collister and F. Barnes, room managers; committee, R. S. Wood, N. E. Strong G. A. Collister, C. Randall, O. Pelton, G. Garrett, B. Thomas, C P. Lilley, S. Ford, E. Hodge, F. Spencer, F. Hodges, O. Griswold, M. Hazen, G. Nixon, J. Root, E. Heriman, A. Foster, W. Smith, W. Pomeroy, N. Hoose, H. Rose, M. Jennings.

The assembly gathered at 3 p. m. and stayed to breakfast the next morning!

Quadrilles, opera reel and the monie-musk were danced. The tickets, which included an oyster supper, and the taking care of the horse and teams, were $2.50 each.

Music was furnished by West & Utley's cotillion band; and in 1916 W. R. Rose devoted a most interesting column in the Plain Dealer to this same Alfred Utley. Mr. Rose said in part:

"One of the important factors in every pioneer community was the fiddler. He was as necessary to the success of the early day gatherings as puncheon floors and tallow dips and apple-jack. There have been celebrations designed to honor the memory of leaders in various fields of pioneer activity, fighting men, statesmen, law makers, teachers. Why should the social up-builders be passed by? Why not recognize the entertainment-givers, the tavern keepers, the fiddlers? The centennial of Alfred Utley's arrival on the Western Reserve is close at hand. Who was Alfred Utley? He was a fiddler par excellence. For more than 50 years he was the most famous wielder of the bow in all the countryside. Alfred Utley was more than a fiddler, he was an institution. Thousands of Ohioans have tripped the mazy measures to the music of his fiddle, and scores of people, scattered over the Reserve, still recall the days when he was in his prime and his name a household word. Utley was not a trained performer. When he wanted to memorize the latest tunes, he visited the home of a niece in Chardon, and she would play for him on the piano, the newest productions. When he played at old Chardon house parties, the old square would be filled with teams. Some one who knew him well has said of him:

"'A man who could for half a century amuse thousands, did not live in vain, and it may be said of him as was said by Gen. John Coburn of another old musician, 'He has gone where the good fiddlers go.'"

Mr. Lilley's invitation is slightly yellowed, but bears no other marks of age.

WILLOUGHBY BOY COMPLETES COURSE AT OHIO STATE

Having completed the eight-weeks' course in agriculture at the College of Agriculture, Ohio State University, Columbus, Earl Child Golding, Perry; and Carl Luscher, Willoughby, have returned home.

The total registration in the winter courses at the University was more than 200, practically all being farm boys and men ranging in age from 17 to 53 years. Besides selecting studies from 31 different courses given during the winter months, the students were provided with special lectures each day at 4 p. m., and trips about Columbus on Saturday. It is believed hat the popularity of the short agricultural courses will lead many Lake county men and boys to enter next year.

Courses in dairying, live stock judging, animal husbandry, farm crops, and soil fertility were the most popular this year.

STATE WANTS GAME WARDENS

Now that the state is going to give better protection to quail and other game it is but natural that more game wardens are needed by the fish and game division of the board of agriculture. A request has been made for a list of eligibles for appointment and the state civil service commission has called an examination of applicants for appointment, to be held in various cities of the state on March 21.

Expert accountants and payroll auditors are wanted by the state of Ohio, and in the current issue of its official bulletin the state civil service commission calls examinations for these positions which carry salaries ranging from $1,200 to $3,000 per annum. The state also wants examiners for the state insurance department, plumbing and apiary inspectors, nurses for state and county institutions, a secretary for the entrance board at Ohio State University, and a number of other experts and tradesmen in various departments. The bulletin which contains full information regarding all examinations, together with the date and place of such examinations and the subjects included, will be mailed free to any who request the same. Address The State Civil Service Commission, Columbus, Ohio.

Ezekiel Folsom, and the unknown heirs at law, devisees, legatees, executors, administrators and the assigns of Ezekiel Folsom, deceased; William L. Fitch and the unknown heirs at law, devisees, legatees, executors, administrators and assigns of William L. Fitch, deceased, and the unknown widow of Ephraim Wilson, deceased, all of whose places of residence are unknown, and the names of the unknown heirs at law, devisees, legatees, executors, administrators and assigns of Ezekiel Folsom, deceased, and William L. Fitch, deceased and the name of the unknown widow of Ephraim Wilson, deceased, being unknown, will take notice that Jennie J. McEachren, John W. McEachren, Florence E. McEachren, George S. McEachren, Alex. M. McEachren, Grace McEachren Sprague, Hugh McEachren, William McEachren and Margaret F. McEachren, as plaintiffs have filed a petition against them as defendants in the Court of Common Pleas of Cuyahoga County, Ohio, alleging that they have the legal title to and are the owners in fee simple and in the possession and occupancy of the following described real estate, to-wit:

Situated in the City of Cleveland, County of Cuyahoga and State of Ohio, and known as being Sub-lot No. 45 in Severance and Folsom's Sub-Division of part of original Brooklyn Township Lots Nos. 51, 52, 69, and 70, as shown by the recorded plat in Volume X of Deeds, Page 1 of Cuyahoga County Records, and being 36 feet front on the Southerly side of Jay Street (now known as Jay Avenue, N. W.) 107 feet 6 inches deep on the Westerly line, 107 feet 6 inches deep on the Easterly line, which is also the Westerly line of an Alley (now known as West 29th Place), and 36 feet on the rear line, which is also the Northerly line of an Alley (now known as Waco Court, N. W.), as appears by said plat, be the same more or less, but subject to all legal highways.

The petition alleges that the defendants, Ezekiel Folsom, and the unknown heirs at law, devisees, legatees, executors, administrators and assigns of Ezekiel Folsom, deceased, claim some right, title or interest in said premises for the reason that the records of Cuyahoga County, Ohio, do not disclose any deed of conveyance from the said Ezekiel Folsom, but that said defendants have no interest in said premises, for the reason that on December 29, 1840, said premises were sold for the nonpayment of taxes to N. C. Baldwin and the title thereto has never been redeemed:

That the defendants, William L. Fitch and the unknown heirs at law, devisees, legatees, executors, administrators and assigns of William L. Fitch, deceased, claim some estate or interest in said premises hostile and adverse to Plaintiff's rights by virtue of a certain contract made March 1, 1860, the nature and extent of said claim being unknown to Plaintiffs.

That Ephraim Wilson, at the time of his conveyance to Hugh B. McEachren, was unmarried and that the unknown widow of said Ephraim Wilson claims to have a right of dower in said premises.

The petition further alleges that none of said defendants have any right, title or interest in the aforesaid described premises, that their claims are unfounded and of no legal effect, whatsoever, but constitute clouds on Plaintiffs' title: that any claim they or any one of them ever had in said premises, has long since been barred by lapse of time and the Statutes of Limitations, and that as against said defendants, these Plaintiffs and their predecessors in title have held and been in the actual, open, notorious, continuous, exclusive, indisputable and adverse possession and occupancy of said premises for more than Twenty-one years last preceding the filing of the petition herein, under and by virtue of a deed for said premises, and that from April 22, 1859, to the present date, none of said defendants, or any one of them or any one claiming through or under them, has ever claimed or sought to enforce any right, title to, or interest in said premises.

The prayer of said petition is that each and all of said defendants be required to answer and set up what rights, if any, they have in said premises, or be forever barred from asserting the same: that plaintiffs' title be quieted against the claims of said defendants and said defendants and for relief.

Said petition is No. 151216, and each and all of said defendants are required to answer said petition on or before the 24th day of March, A. D. 1917, or judgment will be taken against them as prayed for in said petition. F1-M8

LEGAL NOTICE

To the owners of property bounding and abutting on Depot Street, from the northerly line of Euclid Avenue to the south line of The New York, Chicago & St. Louis Railroad Company's Right of Way.

You are hereby notified that the following resolution was duly adopted by the Council of the Village of Wickliffe, State of Ohio, on the 19th day of December, 1916.

RESOLUTION NO. 11.

By Mr. Provo.

Declaring it necessary to improve Depot Street, from the northerly line of Euclid Avenue to the south line of The New York, Chicago & St. Louis Railroad Company's Right of Way, by constructing a 6-inch water main therein.

Be it resolved by the Council of the Village of Wickliffe, State of Ohio:

That it is necessary to improve Depot Street, from the northerly line of Euclid Avenue to the south line of The New York, Chicago & St. Louis Railroad Company's Right of Way, by constructing a 6-inch water main therein.

That the grade of said water pipe be six feet below the grade herein established on said Depot Street.

That the grade of the center line of said Depot Street be as follows:

Station		Elevation
0 + 30	Being the northerly line of Euclid Avenue	121.17
4 + 50	....	94.29
5 + 0	....	91.37
5 + 50	....	88.99
6 + 0	....	87.17
6 + 50	....	85.89
8 + 50	....	81.89
9 + 0	....	80.95
9 + 50	....	80.15
10 + 0	....	79.48
10 + 50	....	78.94
11 + 0	....	78.53
11 + 50	....	78.26
18 + 10	Being the south line of The New York, Chicago & St. Louis Railroad Company's Right of Way	75.53

Said elevations being above the datum or base of levels heretofore adopted by the Council of the City of Cleveland by Ordinance passed May 3rd, 1854, which grade is shown on the plans now on file in the office of the Clerk of said Village, which is hereby approved and adopted.

That the elevation of the curb shall be the grade of the center line of said Depot Street, which elevations are hereby approved and adopted.

That the plans, specifications, estimates and profiles of said proposed improvement, showing the proposed grade of the street after completion with reference to the property abutting thereon, be and the same are hereby approved and adopted.

That the cost of improving street intersections, and 2 per centum of the entire cost, exclusive of street intersections, shall be paid by said Village; that the remainder of the entire cost of said improvement shall be assessed in proportion to the special benefits which will result from said improvement upon the following described lots and lands, to-wit: all the lots and lands bounding and abutting upon said Depot Street between the northerly line of Euclid Avenue and the south line of The New York, Chicago & St. Louis Railroad Company's Right of Way.

That the assessments so to be levied shall be paid in ten annual installments, with interest on deferred payments at not to exceed six per centum per annum, provided, that the owner of the property assessed may, at his option, pay such assessment in cash within thirty days from and after the passage and legal publication of the assessing ordinance.

That the bonds of the Village of Wickliffe shall be issued in anticipation of the collection of assessments by installments and in an amount equal thereto.

That the remainder of the entire cost of said improvement not specially assessed, including the cost of intersections, shall be paid out of the water fund.

That the Village Clerk is hereby directed to cause this resolution to be published according to law, and to serve or cause to be served, notice of the passage of this resolution as required by law.

That this resolution shall take effect and be in force from and after its passage and legal publication.

Adopted December 19, 1916.

Tomorrow's Breakfast

Let's see!
For breakfast tomorrow there'll be company.
Six of us will sit at the table.
First, we shall have well-cooked oatmeal and pure cream.
Next there will be poached eggs on well-buttered hot toast.
Sliced oranges and coffee will round out a nice company meal.
It is a good breakfast and the food will cost only 13 1-2 cents per person—or 80 1-2 cents for the six of us.
A very economical breakfast under the circumstances, isn't it?
Of course to make the breakfast nourishing and good, the coffee must be boiled, the toast must be browned, the oatmeal properly cooked in a double boiler, and the eggs poached just so. Besides, water will have to be heated for washing the dishes

To do this it will take gas.
But let's not worry!
It will take less than one-half cent's worth of gas to prepare the entire meal for six persons.
Of course other fuels COULD be substituted for Gas Service—but they would not be as convenient, clean and economical.
Come to think of it, Gas Service is about the least expensive commodity we use—if we use it properly.
Isn't it?

TWENTIETH YEAR—NO. 9. WILLOUGHBY, OHIO, MARCH 16, 1917. ONE DOLLAR A YEAR IN ADVANCE

ORGANIZATION PERFECTED TO BRING FARMERS' INSTITUTE TO WILLOUGHBY

At a meeting Saturday last an organization was perfected to look after the bringing of the farmers' institute to Willoughby. This local committee will take immediate charge of the matter. Charles Brichford of Maple Grove was appointed president; Sam Brown of the Plains, secretary and treasurer. Application has been made to Columbus, and there is every indication that the farmers' institute next winter will be held in Willoughby.

STARS WILL SHINE IN DARK SECRECY IN MENTOR'S MINSTREL SHOW

Anticipation and secrecy are in the air in Mentor, for Mentor is to have a minstrel show, not an ordinary minstrel show, but one where local talent will outshine Primrose on any of the well known black faced comedians. Fifteen or twenty of Mentor's well known girls from the Methodist church will take part, but no names will appear upon the program. Black faced, and in black and white costume, the friends in front can only guess as to who's who. Mrs. Samuel Lytle is director. Miss Francis Cleveland is in charge of the music.

The committee in charge includes Mrs. Henry Sandburg, Mrs. Morris Markell, and Mrs. Claude Bean. It is safe to assume that no one will have any other engagement for Tuesday night when this minstrel show will be staged at the Village Hall.

TRAVELERS SOUTH

Upon his return from New York Thursday, S. S. Wilson and Mr. and Mrs. S. S. Clark will leave for a trip to Florida, joining Mrs. Wilson at that point.

BROTHER OF JAMES McMAHON DIES

Michael McMahon, brother of James McMahon passed away at the home of his sister, Mrs. Bert Squires, in Ashtabula, Wednesday last. He was born in Mentor and was 39 years of age. Since 1880, and up until a year and a half ago, he made his home in Willoughby.

He enlisted in the Spanish war, and was a member of Co. M.

Funeral services were held in Ashtabula Saturday at 8:30. The Moose lodge of that city, of which Mr. McMahon was a member, attended.

The body was brought to Willoughby and placed in the vault and will later be placed in the family lot at Mentor.

MRS. O'HARE TO ADDRESS WOMAN'S CLUB

The Woman's Club will be entertained at the home of Mrs. Cora Gaines Carrel Friday. On that occasion, Mrs. O'Hare of Cleveland will entertain with a talk on Ireland "In Story and Song." Mr. McMahon it is hoped, may contribute some songs. The affair will be in the nature of St. Patrick's day party.

NANCY LEE DAVIS IMPROVING

Nancy Lee Davis, who has been ill for several days, was reported greatly improved Wednesday.

PAINESVILLE EQUAL SUFFRAGE LEAGUE INTERESTED IN FAIRY PLAY

Under the auspices of the Painsville Equal Suffrage League, Lake County folks will have opportunity to see Marguerite Clark in "Snow White". The League is anticipating that it will have the patronage of all who are interested in the better class of films, and which are at the same time, entertaining and delightful.

The film will be shown Monday at the Utopia, Painsville.

ALVA HANSCOM DIES

Alva Hanscom, of Stop 44, Mentor Ave., well known resident of this section passed away at his home at 10:30 Wednesday morning. He was taken ill with pneumonia Sunday night and was unconscious the greater part of the time until his death. He had been an invalid for a long time, and at the time of his last birthday had attained the age of 94. His daughter, Miss Alice Hanscom, survives. Arrangements were being made Wednesday for a private funeral.

This will occur at the home on Mentor road, Friday afternoon, March 16th.

DANIEL LILLEY SUCCUMBS

Daniel Lilley, of Francis Corners, aged 79, died at the home of his son, J. J. Lilley, Sunday night. The funeral services were held Wednesday, at one o'clock. Burial in Waite Hill Cemetery.

C. P. Lilley, of Vine Street, Willoughby, is a brother of the deceased.

A GREATER AND BROADER WILLOUGHBY

Matters of Individual Interest to the Community Discussed in Letter and Editorial Form by Members of The Chamber of Commerce and Others:

THE HIGH LEVEL BRIDGE AND ITS CONNECTION WITH THE PROPOSED BOULEVARD AND PARK SYSTEM

Among the many things possible for the Chamber of Commerce to take up for the direct benefit of Willoughby there is the plan outlined by W. A. Stinchcomb, Cuyahoga County Engineer.

Many good articles have appeared in the Cleveland papers outlining the plans of a wonderful park system for Cuyahoga county, which extends out through Lake county and takes in Willoughby as its eastern boundary.

We have clipped a few sentences from this plan bearing upon the subject as it relates to the WELFARE AND BEAUTY OF WILLOUGHBY. We earnestly suggest that this matter be taken up by the Chamber in connection with the HIGH LEVEL BRIDGE ACROSS THE CHAGRIN RIVER.

"For many years it has been recognized by the progressive citizens of Cleveland that there existed in the natural valleys following the creeks and the two principal and small rivers which traverse the outlying sections of Cuyahoga and Lake counties, a form of natural resource of an ever increasing value to the people of this entire community, and that steps having in mind THE PRESERVATION OF THESE NATURAL BEAUTY SPOTS FOR THE ENTIRE PUBLIC, RATHER THAN PERMIT THEIR DESPOILATION BY THE VARIOUS KINDS OF ENTERPRISES, OR THEIR ACQUISITION AS PRIVATE PARKS FOR WEALTHY INDIVIDUALS, WAS AN OBJECT GREATLY TO BE DESIRED."

A complete survey and plans have been made by the County Surveyor and within the past year there has been prepared a complete general plan of a parkway system embracing all the areas outside of the city of Cleveland and conseving the natural beauty spots of Cuyahoga and the western part of Lake counties.

These general plans were submitted to the National Conference on City Planning recently held in this city, and were pronounced by the delegates at that conference as being very comprehensive and in line with the most advanced ideas on this subject, comparing very favorably with the plans of the larger metropolitan park districts which have been created around two or three of the large eastern cities in this country."

The system as outlined embraces the following parkways with public reservations set aside adjacent to many of them:

Beginning at the lake on the west it contemplates a drive through the Rocky River Valley from Lake Erie to the Cedar

FLAG NOW FLOATS IN WICKLIFFE IN RESPONSE TO OLD SOLDIER'S REQUEST

Frank Hardaker, a captain in the Civil War, and now in the seventies, addressed the following communication to the council of Wickliffe:

March 3, 1917.

To the Honorable Council of Wickliffe Village:

I would respectfully ask your honorable body to purchase a flag to be displayed on the flagstaff over the council chamber, also to have the flag float as long as the present crisis continues. "If any man attempts to tear down the stars and stripes, shoot him on the spot." (John A. Dix).

Signed: FRANK HARDAKER

In response to this request the council purchased the flag and it now floats as requested by the veteran.

BASE BALL SEASON STARTS IN WICKLIFFE

With a meeting this week Thursday and another one next week the baseball season in Wickliffe will have its opening. All interested parties are invited to call at the rooms of the Wickliffe Athletic Club.

NEWCOMER IN TOWN

Mr. C. M. Shipman of Bloomfield, N. J., arrived in town Monday, and will have charge of a department at the J. H. R. Products Co. He will make purchase of a home and reside in Willoughby.

"BACK TO THE FARM"

Mrs. H. F. Kennedy remarks that since the advent of the hitching posts she feels a touch of the "back to the farm" movement, as so many various kinds and colors of horses have been hitched at the new hitching posts in the rear of the Wilson store, and which appear prominently within her view.

SENIOR "Y" ELECT OFFICERS

W. H. S. HAS THRILLING GAME; INTERESTING DEBATES HELD

The game with Al. Allen's team on Friday, March 9, was the most thrilling one that has been played this year. Willoughby outplayed the Ashland team from the start. The varsity had made 13 points before Ashland made her first point. The score at the end of the first half was 18 to 6. At the end of the second half 48 to 12. When Willoughby went down to Ashland they were defeated 59 to 31. The Athletic Association wishes to thank the people of the village for the splendid way they turned out for the game. The receipts were the largest they have ever been.

The Second team played the Delta Upsilon team of Cleveland and were defeated. They won the first half of the game but lost the last half. The final score was 26 to 16. They did splendid work, though.

Tuesday there was another contest between the two literary societies of the school. The Thespian's won 9 to 2. The program was as follows:

First contest, essay: "Pushing Production and Lowering Cost," Abel Nash, Senior, Salonian. "The Most Beautiful Language," Ruth Jackman, senior, Thespian. Won by Abel Nash.

Second contest, Story: "Bounding the U. S." Carlyle Curtiss, sophomore, Thespian. Clarence Beck, the Salonian contestant, was absent, so the contest went to the Thespian's by default.

Third contest, Recitation: "The Vision of Sir Launfal," Margaret Clarke, senior, Salonian. "The Legion of Honor," Marion Randall, junior, Thespian. Won by Miss Randall.

Fourth Contest, Essay: "Twilight Terrors," Hazel Miller, freshman, Thespian; "Mackinac," Reed Fairley, sophomore, Salonian. Won by Hazel Miller.

Fifth Contest, Story: "Phyrrimus and Thisbe," Julia Dayton, sophomore, Salonian; "The Champion Snorer," Mildred Ladien, freshman, Thespian. Won by J. Dayton.

Sixth Contest, Recitation, "Deaconess Jones' Grievance," Martha Wicker, sophomore, Thespian; "Trials of a School Mistress," Eleanor Tan-

LAKE COUNTY BAR PAYS TRIBUTE TO THE MEMORY OF THE LATE JUDGE CLARK

On Saturday forenoon last, the members of the Lake county bar, held a meeting at the court house, in the court of common pleas room, in respect to the memory of the late Judge C. D. Clark. Mr. Homer Harper presided. A memorial which included a sketch of Judge Clark's life, was read by Hon. G. N. Tuttle, who was chairman of a committee composed of Judge George H Shepherd, Judge Clark H. Nye and himself, appointed by Judge A. G Reynolds. Appropriate resolutions on the life, professional work, and public services of Judge Clark were presented and adopted, and ordered inserted on the journal of the court.

Brief addresses were made by Judge Reynolds, Attorneys G. W. Alvord, L. G. Tuttle, H. T. Nolan, R. L. Ostrander, H. E. Hammar, Homer Harper, M. A. Tuttle, B. C. Shepherd, Judge Nye, Prosecutor von Beseler, Attorneys Amidon, Giblin, Pierson and others.

All testified to the high character of Judge Clark as a citizen and man, his uprightness, ability and integrity as a lawyer and his fairness and high sense of justice as judge, as well as his unimpeachable course in all the relations of life.

The meeting was largely attended and shows the high esteem in which Judge Clark was held, both by the legal profession and the community at large.

Editor's Note: The sketch of Judge Clark's life, by the Hon. G. N. Tuttle, will be found upon page three of this issue.

Said elevations being above the datum or base of levels heretofore adopted by the Council of the City of Cleveland by Ordinance passed May 3rd, 1854, which grade is shown on the plans now on file in the office of the Clerk of said Village, which is hereby approved and adopted.

That the elevation of the curb shall be the grade of the center line of said Taylor Road, which elevations are hereby approved and adopted.

That the plans, specifications, estimates and profiles of said proposed improvement, showing the proposed grade of the street after completion, with reference to the property abutting thereon, be and the same are hereby approved and adopted.

That the cost of improving street intersections, and 2 per centum of the entire cost, exclusive of street intersections, shall be paid by said Village; that the remainder of the entire cost of said improvement shall be assessed in proportion to the special benefits which will result from said improvement upon the following described lots and lands, to-wit: all the lots and lands bounding and abutting upon said Taylor Road between the southerly line of Euclid Avenue and the northerly line of Ridge Road.

That the assessments so to be levied shall be paid in ten annual installments with interest on deferred payments at not to exceed six per centum per annum, provided, that the owner of the property assessed may, at his option, pay such assessment in cash within thirty days from and after the passage and legal publication of the assessing ordinance.

That the bonds of the Village of Wickliffe shall be issued in anticipation of the collection of assessments by installments and in an amount equal thereto.

That the remainder of the entire cost of said improvement not specially assessed, including the cost of intersections, shall be paid out of the water fund.

That the Village Clerk is hereby directed to cause this resolution to be published according to law, and to serve or cause to be served, notice of the passage of this resolution as required by law.

That this resolution shall take effect and be in force from and after its passage and legal publication.

ANNOUNCEMENT

Behind European battle lines are thousands of field hospitals. Sick and injured soldiers are treated in them. Pneumonia, asthma and kindred diseases are those most dreaded; to prevent these ailments, to treat those afflicted and to keep fighting men in trim is the most important function of the field hospital. The treatment adopted and used by the German government for breathing organ ailments was discovered just at the outbreak of the war.

It has met with wonderful success in treatment of catarrh, pneumonia, asthma, hay fever, etc. The French government has just recently adopted a similar system. The German treatment has already been introduced in this country, and thousands have secured relief from breathing organ ailments for the first time in years. This is the treatment:

Inhalant medicines and healing oils are placed in casseroles about a room. The medicines and oils are combined in such a volatile form that they constantly throw off an absolutely dry gas. This gas is a perfect germicide (clinical laboratory report on file.) A germ cannot live in the same room with it. The gas is breathed into the innermost depths of the breathing organs—there to seek out germs of catarrh, asthma, hay fever, bronchitis, etc.

An inhalatorium has been opened in Suite 503 Erie Bldg. Persons afflicted visit the inhalatorium and while resting, reading or writing in the comfortably furnished rooms, they breathe the gas-laden air.

If you are a sufferer from any breathing organ ailment—EXCEPT TUBERCULOSIS—you are earnestly and cordially urged to make an investigation. You cannot afford to stay away! Come, take a trial treatment, read the testimonials, and talk to those benefited. Open from 9 a. m. until 5 p. m.

THE TASK

It isn't the task that you find to do
That shall count for much; it is only you;
The job may be humble or really great,
But you are the one that its worth shall state;
The task brings naught in the wake of it
For it cannot be more than you make of it.
You can tackle the humblest of duties here
And leave it still as a drudgery drear,
Or lift it out of the common store
With a splendor it never has known before;
And the sum of joy you shall take of it
Is what you have chosen to make of it.
It isn't the task that shall make or mar
Your chance in life; it is what you are.
Whatever the job that you find to do
It is only a chance for the best of you;
Don't pick out your work for the sake of it,
For it cannot be more than you'll make of it.

Interesting Reflections Upon the Life, Character and Beliefs of Late Judge Clark

By Judge Tuttle. Memoriam From the Lake County Bar.

The memorial article here presented contains some data that was given at the time of Judge Clark's passing, but much more is included in the tribute of his long-time friend, Judge Tuttle, making it of much interest.

At the annual meeting of the Bar Association of this county, held on the 28th day of February, 1917, the undersigned were appointed a committee to prepare and at this time present a memorial on the life, character and public service of Hon. Clinton D. Clark, a member of this association from its beginning and a member of the bar for about 50 years.

Clinton D. Clark was born on his father's farm, a rough, rocky portion of real estate at the southwest corner of Chardon township, Geauga county, Ohio, locally called Clark's Mountain. He was the youngest of the eight children of Jason and Mary Clark, who removed from Massachusetts many years previous to the birth of the subject of this memorial. His birth took place on the 26th day of June, 1840. Seven months after his birth, his mother died and he was left to the care of his sister, Mrs. Kingsley, who resided on a part of the farm which had been conveyed to her by her father. A few years later, Jason also died, leaving this son a full orphan in his childhood, and dependant wholly for a home upon Mr. and Mrs. Kingsley.

Judge Clark's early education was obtained in the local district schools of the township, the schoolhouse where he first attended being in a joint district composed partly of territory in Chardon and partly in Kirtland, the schoolhouse being located in Kirtland.

He labored upon the farm, which was rugged and difficult of cultivation, and spent the early part of his life after he was able to labor, in such service.

From the local district schools, he passed to a term or more of schooling in the Western Reserve Teachers Seminary at Kirtland, which was then located near the Mormon Temple. While yet a young man, he began to teach in the district schools of Chardon and Kirtland, and by that method acquired means from which he was enabled to enter The Willoughby Collegiate Institute, where he continued his studies, assisting himself a part of the time to means, by teaching, until he finally graduated from that institution.

He had a desire for the study of medicine and finally entered the Medical department of the University of Michigan, making the trip from Willoughby to Ann Arbor with a friend, on foot. After about a year spent in the medical department of the Michigan University, not relishing so much as he seemed to have originally supposed he would, certain things which seemed essential to prepare himself for the practice of that profession, he entered the law department of the same institution and continued his studies there until his graduation.

In order to make a trip occasionally to his former residence, he and his friend walked from Ann Arbor to Detroit to take the boat for Cleveland, and walked from Cleveland to Willoughby.

After his graduation from the Michigan college, he entered for some brief period of time, into the business of selling nursery stock, and in pursuit of that business spent some time in Illinois and Missouri.

Not liking the business of selling nursery stock he returned to Willoughby and from time to time, continued teaching in public schools.

On September 1, 1866, he was married to Laura Malvina Tompkins, a daughter of Dr. Tompkins of Appleton, Wisconsin, an educated and accomplished lady. For two years after their marriage, they lived in the city of Cleveland and he taught in one of the schools of the city, proving an efficient and successful teacher and rendering service satisfactory to the patrons of the school.

I am not able to state at this time precisely the date at which he was admitted to the practice of law, but it was not far distant from the time of his marriage. For a number of years he was justice of the peace in the township and village of Willoughby and took a very active and efficient part in the administration of the affairs of the village and township.

In 1879 he was elected prosecuting attorney of the county of Lake, which office he held for three successive terms and in which he proved a most careful, efficient and diligent public prosecutor.

In 1897 he was elected probate judge of the county and held that office for two terms.

Judge Clark was always greatly interested in the village of Willoughby, in which he lived continuously after he finished his teaching at Cleveland.

He rendered valuable services as village solicitor and legal advisor, especially in connection with the suppressing of the traffic in intoxicating liquors and in maintaining the good order of the village and community. He also served as member of the village board of education for ten years.

He was a fair, honorable and efficient practitioner as an attorney and ranked well in comparison with the ablest and best attorneys in this part of the state. It was his practice always to encourage the settlement or adjustment of controversies that came for his consideration, if that seemed to be practicable, and never encouraged people into litigation, if it could reasonably be avoided. The question of whether he would receive a greater or less compensation by a case being settled or litigated, did not enter into his consideration in urging his clients to settle.

He was a man of kind and generous sympathies, and was always ready to espouse the cause of the unfortunate when their claim was just or reasonable, and never sought employ- [illegible] clients of wealth and great ability to pay. His integrity was so well known that no candid person would question it.

His moral sentiment was of the highest type. He never indulged in vulgar or indecent conversation under any circumstances, and if in his presence, others entered upon the use of language unbecoming a gentleman, he often expressed his disapproval and entered a request to have it discontinued.

As a public prosecutor he looked as carefully into the rights of the poor and the unfortunate and labored as diligently to protect them as he did to protect the rights of the rich and powerful.

A single circumstance in his life may illustrate his firm convictions of right and duty. At one time during the Civil War, in a draft upon his township, he was drawn for military service. From his early life he had grown up with a strong feeling against war and any violence exercised against a human being, but he went into camp with the rest of the men from the township who were drafted, and was selected by them as the one that they desired for captain of the company that should be formed. He was then a poor man and had just money enough, and no more, than to pay his commutation, if he should decline to go into the military service. A man then holding prominent position in the States and who was anxious to secure as large an enlistment of the men who had been drafted as possible, said, "If you will volunteer, all the other men drafted from your township will also volunteer and I am anxious to get as large a number as possible, so if you will do that I will immediately procure from the governor a commission for you as captain and when the time comes to leave for the front, you can resign and save your commutation money." He replied this would be dishonorable. "I would not do it under any consideration. I shall pay my commutation in full and return home," which he did.

Judge Clark was, in the true sense of the word, a man of strong religious tendency and sentiments, but investigated for himself all questions of that nature and gave much study to the subject, often entered into long conversation with different clergymen who were sufficiently agreeable and who were willing to talk freely with him and they found him a very interesting man with whom to converse upon such subjects, some of them coming to visit him at his home after they had removed from their location in his village. He had made a very careful and diligent study of psychic questions and read the proceedings of psychic societies with great interest and spent much time in trying to determine the difference between genuine and fraudulent phenomena. He finally became thoroughly convinced that the principles of modern spiritualism are true; that this life is not extinguished even temporarily, at death, but that we pass on in life to an endless one beyond. That he could and did receive direct communications from his friends who had passed from this life and sometimes said to his friends, "I am as sure that the communications which I have received from my departed son, is genuine as the one I receive from my [illegible] state and writes me letters there from." The fact that people spoke slightingly of the subject did not disturb him or render him ill-natured toward them, ever recognizing their rights to their opinion as fully as he claimed his right to his own. He was not inclined to impose his thoughts upon this subject on others, but was free to converse with those who were in an inquiring frame of mind upon the subject and who would treat the subject with candor and fairness. Some time, a person who had long been established in different religious thought from his would become somewhat interested in the subject and would inquire whether he would advise them to abandon their present views and study further the views that he entertained. In such instances he would say "No, the study is so great that you would probably never be as fully satisfied as you are with your present opinions and you will probably be happier to continue in your present faith rather than to seek any change. "But this did not mean that there was any doubt in his mind with reference to the correctness of the views that he maintained.

He regarded goodness not as consisting of any special form of belief, but in the life he led and the manner in which he treated his fellowmen, all of whom he assumed had the same right to form an opinion on the subject of the future that he himself claimed.

He was a great lover of home life, in fact his wife and children were to him the center of his life and he disliked very much even to have business separate him from his home for any considerable length of time.

His dwelling was plain and simple, but convenient and attractive, located on a bluff of Chagrin River, overlooking that pleasant valley. He enjoyed embellishing it and surrounding it with attractive shrubs and flowers so that it was really an ideal place to live.

To him and his wife were born seven children. Of these, but two have survived him. The loss of his children was a great grief and he often said that he would not be able to live himself if it were not for his undoubting belief in immortality and that he could communicate with them in the next world to which they had gone.

Judge Clark was a great lover of books and of the best and most solid literature. He always provided himself with the most substantial and attractive literature and spent a very large part of his spare hours in reading, often consuming a large part of the night in that pursuit. He possessed an excellent memory and read for the purpose of reaching the point and idea of the author and could always converse intelligently upon literary and historic questions.

All in all, Judge Clark was a man to be loved by those who best knew him and in his company and conversation there was always an opportunity for [illegible].

In politics, he grew up at the formative period of the Republican party and always firmly adhered to the party except occasionally when a man was nominated for office that he did not feel he could conscientiously support, he exercised his right to vote for some other, instead of simply following the ticket of his party.

On any subject, whether political, religious or moral, he was ever outspoken and candid in his expression of his opinions and never shrunk from their declaration because his own popularity might thereby be affected.

Dr. Bishop, Cleveland Commissioner of Health, Gives Methods to Reduce H. C. of L.

Knowledge of food values and care in the planning and preparation of meals are of big aid to the housewife in efforts to solve the high cost of living, Commissioner of Health Bishop declares in a bulletin on food prices.

Business methods in the household will go quite a ways toward solving the problem, according to Dr. Bishop, who says that the cost of living is affected in a large measure by the skill or carelessness of hoousewives. He urges housewives to plan meals ahead, make up their minds what they want before going to market and buy all that is needed for the day. He says that cheese, beans, peas and nuts furnish as much nutriment as meat for less money, but that the cheaper and tougher cuts of meat are just as nutritious as the expensive ones and can be made tender and palatable by proper cooking. Use of leftovers is suggested and the bulletin says that a meal can be made of leftover meat, combined with some fresh vegetable.

Peeling potatoes before cooking results in a large waste, the bulletin declares. Not only is there a waste in the peelings but nitrogenous and saline matter are lost by extrations into the water when potatoes are peeled and boiled in the ordinary way. This does not occur when potatoes are boiled in the skins or baked, the report points out.

County Y. M. C. A.
PERRY

The Lake county Y. M. C. A. is the only institution in the county that is interested in the all round development of the boys of the county. It is a county wide movement. Eleven groups in different parts of the county meet each week under the direction of a local leader who gives his time to the work. The county committee that directs the work is composed of 18 men from every township and town in the county. Mr. E. F. Birkholz and J. Edw. Weit are the Willoughby members of this committee. The Y. M. C. A. work in Willoughby is under the direction of a local board of directors who co-operate with the county committee and the county secretary.

The county officers are: C. W. Searls, Madison, chairman; T. B. West, Perry, vice chairman; John R. Williams, clerk; W. E. Salkeld, Perry, treasurer; Ralph L. Donnan, county secretary.

HOW TO MAKE A XYLOPHONE

"Some rainy day when you have 'nothing to do,' make a xylophone.

"Secure any number of glass tumblers or bottles of similar shape. Set them in a row on the table. Get a pitcher full of water and fill several of the glasses or bottles to various depths. You will note that when you lightly strike these glasses with a spoon or pencil each one gives out a different tone or note. The more water in the glass the lower the note.

"With this information it will be easy for you so to fill each glass that the entire set will represent the musical scale. At least one octave, or eight notes, should be so provided. Of course, if desired, you may so fill glasses as to give sharps and flats, thus requiring 13 glasses to the octave.

"With a little practice you can play simple tunes on this arrangement. Indeed, if good bottles are used, the tone will be very pretty." St. Nicholas for January.

BREAD A LUXURY

In the time of King Charles the Second of England bread was so little used, in comparison with other articles of food, that it was really a luxury. The price of wheat was then so high that the average consumption of bread for each member of the family is said to have been about four and a half ounces each day; that means only one slice of bread, and not too thick a slice at that. Instead of wheaten bread housewives provided oat cake in great quantity.

HIGH LEVEL BRIDGE

Point Road, proceeding up the east branch of this river via Berea to the Wooster Pike, a distance in all from the lake of about 15 1-2 miles. From Wooster Road the parkway extends into the Cuyahoga River valley, following generally the line of Royalton Road through the Brecksville Glens and the Chippewa Creek valley, a distance of 12 miles, affording some of the most magnificent views within the county. It is then contemplated to proceed north down the Cuyahoga River valley to Tinkers Creek and up the Tinkers Creek via Bedford to Glenwillow. From Glenwillow the route traverses through the Chagrin River valley to South Woodland Road. From this point the system will ultimately continue north along the Chagrin River valley to the Cuyahoga county line, at which point it will meet with A SIMILAR PARK SYSTEM WITHIN LAKE COUNTY, WHICH WILL CARRY THIS DRIVE THROUGH TO THE SHORES OF THE LAKE NORTH OF WILLOUGHBY. THIS COMPLETES THE CIRCUIT AROUND THE COUNTY FROM THE LAKE ON THE WEST AT ROCKY RIVER TO THE SHORES OF THE LAKE AT CHAGRIN RIVER, AND PROVIDES A DRIVE THROUGH THE MOST BEAUTIFUL NATURAL PARKWAYS WITHIN THE COUNTRY.

In connection with the outlying scheme and as feeders to it, a branch is proposed through the Chardon Creek to the intersection of the Chardon Road and Richmond Road, providing a close connection with the proposed parkway in Lake county within the Chagrin River valley.

TO MAKE THE CONNECTION WITH THIS WONDERFUL SYSTEM, LAKE COUNTY NEEDS THE HIGH LEVEL BRIDGE OVER THE CHAGRIN RIVER AT WILLOUGHBY. THE INCREASED TRAFFIC WILL NATURALLY SPREAD OUT THROUGH LAKE COUNTY, SOME TO BUY, SOME TO SETTLE, BUT ALL TO BRING GREATER PROSPERITY TO LAKE COUNTY, AND ESPECIALLY EAST OF CHAGRIN RIVER.

The recent commercial analysis and survey of the Cleveland Telephone Co. shows that within the next ten years the 250 square miles of territory from Willoughby on the east to Avon on the west will be so thickly populated that the city service will extend to those limits.

"The improvements contemplated within this vast system do not have in mind the planting of flower beds and the embellishment of these areas as would be considered appropriate for the ordinary city park, but THE INTENTION IS TO PROVIDE ADEQUATE DRIVEWAYS USABLE DURING THE GREATER PORTION OF THE YEAR AND THE PRESERVATION OF THE NATURAL FOREST AND VEGETATION, TRIMMING UP THE SAME WHERE NECESSARY, PLANTING ADDITIONAL WHERE REQUIRED IN ORDER THAT THE PRESENT NATURAL BEAUTIES OF THESE AREAS MAY BE PRESERVED.

"The thought in mind is to enhance the beauties of nature, that these parks and parkways may not be known as such in the minds of the public, but that rather they be considered as public reservations set aside in the midst of a growing urban community where the people and their children in the years to come may find the handiwork of nature unspoiled by the works of man."

Between 20 and 30 passengers on the 1:35 west bound C. P. & E. limited Saturday escaped death by about one minute when the big car broke a front axle and turned over on its side at the Kirtland road crossing, one-half mile from Willoughby.

When the axle broke and the car turned over the passengers had to escape through the windows, all of which were broken. It is a remarkable fact that although there probably was not a passenger on the car but would admit of fright, not a single outcry was heard when the crash came. Another remarkable thing is that while everyone was bruised and shaken up and some were cut by flying glass, none was seriously hurt. The disaster, which would have resulted had the axle borne the weight of the car for one minute longer is too terrible to contemplate. We are apt to consider a minute of no consequence, but that little unit of time assumes vast proportions when we stop to think one minute more would have carried that car and its passengers out on the high level bridge over the Chagrin river. Had the car left the bridge it would have plunged to the bottom of the gorge, 100 feet below, and there is not one chance in ten thousand that a single person would have been extricated from the wreckage with a spark of life left in them.

Tips For Play-Goers

B. F. KEITH'S HIPPODROME.

B. F. Keith's Hippodrome will offer as a headliner next week the California Boys' Band, 40 members strong and one of the greatest boys' organizations in a most thrilling musical demonstration of the possibilities for training "Young America" in "preparedness." Other than this remarkable treat there will be "a big three-ring circus of all star vaudeville hits."

Next week's bill from start to finish is one that affords more pleasure for an hour or two than can be seen in no other high-class vaudeville house this side of Gay Gotham. Think of these other footlight stars, all to be seen in the same performance:

Stone & Kalisz, in "Mamzelle Caprice;" Honor Thy Children, a satirical comedy, featuring Wm. Lawrence & Co.; Walter Brower, clever comedian; Bicknell, International modeler; Elsius, Fay & Elsius, singing entertainers; Fenton & Green, a comedy hit, "Magic Pills."

OPERA HOUSE

To those who have followed the enormously active and successful career of Leo Ditrichstein as an author and player the announcement of his coming to this theatre next week in his latest and most successful romantic comedy, "The Great Lover," assumes an especially potent significance, for it gives the assurance of a histronic treat that has delighted playgoers in New York for over one year, Chicago for three months, and Boston for two months, and will be presented here in its absolute metropolitan entirity.

The engagement includes a special priced Wednesday matinee in addition to the regular one on Saturday.

PROSPECT THEATER

The engagement of Rose Melville in her splendid characterization of "Sis Hopkins" in that world famous comedy is announced for the Prospect commencing Monday night, with the usual matinees Tuesdayy, Thursday and Saturday, and promises to be one of the pleasurable events of the year. The advance of sale of seats presages a business of great magnitude, a precedent not out of the ordinary on Miss Melville's engagements in this town.

Although all of Rose Melville's work, as the public know her, has been on the idividual type "Sis Hopkins", her ease and naturalness in the part have placed her so far beyond her imitators, that all who attempt the role fail, and it remained for this clever actress not only to create the character but also to make of it a household word. Miss Melville, in playing the part more than five thousand times has in reality made it a part of herself and lives it on the stage.

To add to the attractiveness of the production, Miss Melville has selected a cast said to be superior to any seen with her in previous seasons, and a scenic equipment entirely new.

MILES THEATER

"The Mimic World," vaudeville's most pretentious offering, presenting 10 principals and a cast of 30 chorus girls, will be the headline attraction at the Miles theatre next week.

In an effort to outdo all other attempts to compress a comic opera of three acts into one hour of entertainment, Mr. C. H. Miles succeeded in having put together this offering of exceptional merit presenting some of the best known single and double entertainers in vaudeville.

An original score is used by the Mimic World, which includes six song hits that have had an unusual sale throughout the country this season.

STAR THEATER

George P. Murphy, Gertrude Hayes and Chester Nelson head the large company of merrymakers which comes to the Star next Monday and all week. The verdict last season was that Barney Gerard's Follies of the Day is as near perfection as a burlesque show can be.

"What Does the Public Want?" is the name of the two-act burletta which is crowded with fun. Miss Hayes, with her dancing and irresistible manner, does much to send Murphy and Nelson over the road of merriment.

There have been many rube characters enacted at the Star, but none can compare with the good natured farmer as characterized by Mr. Nelson.

EMPIRE THEATER

Headed by such well known stars as Billy Spencer (original Grogan), Clifford and Gallagher, Sye Ali, McCoy and Horton, Doris Claire, Mae Wagner, Sam Wright and several others of lesser repute, Watson's U. S. Beauties will show at the Empire next week.

Billy Spencer, assisted by a large supporting company, inncluding the "baby doll" chorus of little girls, will be seen in two mirth-provoking comedies entitled "Two Old Fools" and "At the Costumer."

The featured number will be the diving exhibition as staged by Earle's Six Diving Nymphs. Special diving contests open to all will be a part of the program every evening, the winners of each contest competing in a grand contest Friday evening for expensive prizes.

CORONA THEATRE

The attraction to be presented at the Corona theatre, 745 Prospect avenue, will be the Bluebird photoplay, "The Honor of Mary Blake," in which Violet Mersereau will be seen in the leading role. Fair haired Violet Mersereau is fitted by nature to impersonate the ingenious and coyly attractive actress who enters the life of a sturdy young farmer. It is a story of the stage—a vital epoch in the life of a young actress left sick and destitute among strangers. There is always great public appeal in incidents of the stage and narratives founded on theatrical life. It is consequently to be accepted that "The Honor of Mary Blake" will be popularly accepted by the "fans," because of the nature of the plot. See it at the Corona theatre Saturday, March 17th.

Good features all through the week. A complete change of program daily.

STANDARD THEATER

"The Blue Steak", a vigourous and compelling screen drama with a most picturesque hero, William Nigh, author, director and star of the film will be shown as the feature for the week of March the 18th, at the Standard Theatre.

Violet Palmer plays opposite Mr. Nigh in his initial production. Larry McLean, the famous National League baseball player, also appears in this picture. The story tells of the reformation of a millionaire's son, who later developes such consistent speed on the "draw" and on a horse that it wins him the title of "The Blue Streak".

Driven from home, the Streak changes his mode of living entirely. He lands in a town beyond the Rockies where he has lots of adventures, meeting the girl that finally starts him back on the right road. He mounts his horse, lifts her behind him, and dashes off to begin life anew in his old home.

LIBERTY THEATER

Another musical and scenic production is scheduled for the Liberty theatre for the whole of next week. Harry DuRocher is presenting his "Garden Party." It is a presentation with a cast of 30 singing, dancing and comedy stars. It will feature the illuminated promenade over the audience upon which the members of the cast advance to render their musical and singing selections. Several novelty numbers are in evidence, the most prominent one being the candy number, in which the audience is presented with wholesome goodies thrown from the stage and runway.

THE NEW LYCEUM THEATRE

Cleveland will have an opportunity next week to see "The Song of Songs" from the pen of Edward Sheldon, author of "Romance," considered by many the strongest of the Vaughan Glaser productions this season.

This Sheldon piece, like "Romance," will have its first Cleveland stock production under Mr. Glaser's direction when it opens for a week's run at the New Lyceum, E. 9th St., near Prospect avenue, Monday night. The author convinces his audience that in every woman there is a spark of womanliness that, if kindled, will outweigh desire for pleasure, for pleasure's sake, and right the ship of morals.

Will Corbett, William F. Powell, Miss Anne Hamilton, Don Burroughs and the other members of the Glaser-Courtney combination all are well cast in next week's play.

World's Largest Medical Staff For Drink or Drug Users

More physicians, specialists in the treating of drink and drug cases, more patients treated, more institutions where drink and drug treatments are given—this is the record that tells more forcibly than volumes, the good work that has been done by the modern Neal Treatment for drink and drugs.

Sixty Neal Institutes in principal cities of the world, tens of thousands of cases successfuly treated, hundreds of physicians devoting their skill and study to the drink and drug problems tell the story of why physicians, lawyers, judges, clergymen, business men and public workers endorse and use the Neal three day's teatment for the drink habit. Write for free booklet, giving full information, or better, call any time, day or night. Neal Institute, 3920 Euclid avenue, Cleveland, Ohio. A STORE OPENS WITH SOMETHING NEW

In the opening of Twelve Seventy-six, Euclid avenue, the interest of music lovers is centered

As we evolve we see one thing after another perfected, through some body's receptive brain, and although "There is nothing new under the sun" There are recreations, improvements and different ideas given to the world in the form of a new technic; a nearer perfect detail; a finer conception, which means more true to nature.

This is the case with the Vitaphone, the machine which is now causing so much discussion

A phonograph is not a new conception, but the Vitaphone is! The Vitaphone is not "Just another phonograph" it is something new; an entirely different phonograph which marks a new epoch in phonographic constuction. It is the only phonograph which has a solid wood tone arm.

This patented feature is constructed of the same wood as the violin, made centuries old by a special chemical process.

The solid wood tone arm is the secret of the Vitaphone, life, tone for wood, not metal, contains the resonant tone quality so essential for true musical reproduction.

In the Vitaphone, sound waves ascend, instead of being forced downward. There is no wavering in tone because the patented stationary sound box of the Vitaphone does not sway with the wave of the record.

A very important and pleasing feature of the Vitaphone is the fact that it plays, and plays exceptionally well, all makes of disc records.

The Vitaphone is an instrument the inventor has reason to be proud of. Its excellence of tone is unchallenged, and this combined with beauty and convenience puts the Vitaphone in a class by itself. H. W. Curtiss has opened this store at 1276 Euclid ave. for the wholesale and retail distribution of the Vitaphone in Cleveland and the state of Ohio.

If you are at all interested in phonographs, with or without one of your own, Mr. Curtiss invites you to visit the Vitaphone store and hear this life-tone phonograph.

Time Believed Ripe For Prohibition; County Executive Meeting W. C. T. U.

The county executive meeting of the W. C. T. U.—20 white ribboners—representing the local unions—more than 300 members—met for an all-day executive meeting at the home of Mrs. Della Hoose, in Painesville, on Wednesday, March 7th. The devotions were in charge of Mrs. Sherman, who laid emphasis on this part of all W. C. T. U. meetings, and wished that this prayer chain might reach out to include all Christian women. Hour of prayer and the noon tide occurred, and reports were then given from all the unions. These were most encouraging. Perry reported that many young mothers are coming into their ranks.

The meeting of the dry committee which met in the city hall to organize recently, was discussed. This committee included Attorney Blakely, as president; Harry Nolan, vice president; Will Harrison, treasurer, and Martin Tuttle, secretary. Some of the W. C. T. U. representatives were present at the meeting to learn in what way the womens' organization could be of most help.

It was reported that many men who backed down in the work two years ago were fully awake now and believe the time now is ripe for prohibition. Several institutes throughout the county were talked of, Perry asking for the county institute. Some state workers will be in attendance at these meetings. It was urged that more of the members take the temperance papers; also place them in homes where the voters are doubtful in order that they may become well informed in the economic side of temperance. The women were also urged to be very womanly, though well instructed in the temperance work throughout the dry states. After treasurer's report meeting adjourned with prayer and benediction.

STORY TOLD BY OLD ROCKING CHAIR

This interesting poem by Mrs. Minnie Carrell was read by her in connection with her paper on "House Cleaning" at The W. C. T. U. meeting at the home of Mrs. Dayton, Tuesday afternoon:

As I rummaged thru the attic
On one May house-cleaning day,
I discovered in the corner
And old rocker stored away.

And I drew the old chair forward
Saying, "You've had a good long rest;
"Can't you once again be useful?
Dear old chair, you'll do your best."

And the answer came, "Just try me
"I've been lonely all these years,
"You might fix me up a little
"I don't look well it appears."

"You all seem to have forgotten
All the good I have done
How I rocked each tender off-spring
I was kept a going some."

"Just as one get fairly started
And to interesting be
I was called up in a hurry,
And a new one I could see."

"And I tell you in those old times
I was certainly alive,
Ere I'd chance to rest a season
I had lullabied for five."

"Then I went away to Grandma's
Dear old lady she liked me,
She would sit for hours contented
By the light where she could see."

"Reading o'er some quaint old story
Or sadly thinking of the past,
These for me were quiet days,
And I knew they could not last."

"So one night she rocked more slowly
Than she'd ever done before,
Days and months passed sadly o'er me
But I sam Grandma no more."

"I was scornfully examined
And pronounced to be no good,
It was there within the attic,
I was doomed to solitude."

Then the chair had told its story
I slowly turned to walk away,
Backwards still my thoughts were turning
I'm sure I heard the rocker say.

"Take me with you down the stairway
Do you think I'm past repair?
I have been so long forgotten
I almost thought you did not care."

"Let me see the bright sun shining
As I did when I was new,
Let me rock you childrens' children
When they come to visit you."

OLD RESIDENT HAS COPY OF FIRST NEWSPAPER

C. P. Lilley of Vine street has a reprint copy of the first newspaper issued in America. Thet reprint in his possession was copyrighted in 1868 by the Antique Publishing Co. As is known, the first newspaper publisshed in America was the Boston News-Letter [illegible] seems extremely appropriate. "It carries a lead line to the effect that the publication covered a period from "Monday, April 17th to Monday, April 24th, 1704. Sold by Nicholas Boone at his shop near the old meeting house. It carried an advertisement for the paper announcing its policy in the following words:

ADVERTISEMENT

This News-Letter is to be continued weekly; and all persons who have any houses, lands, tenements, farms, ships vessels, goods, wares or merchandise, etc., to be sold or let, or servants runaway, or goods sold or lost, may have the same inserted at a reasonable rate, from twelve pence to five shillings, and not to exceed who may agree with John Campbel, postmaster of Boston.

All persons in town and country may have this News-Letter every week, yearly, upon reasonable terms, agreeing with John Cambel, postmaster.

The newspaper was regularly published for 72 years. The only original copies in existance are in the possession of the Massachusetts Historical Society, Boston; American Antiquarian Society, Worcester, Mass.; and the N. Y. Historical Society, New York City.

The first issues of the paper, previous to the printed copy, were written by hand.

IN THE INTEREST OF BEAUTY IN WILLOUGHBY

At the end of the roadway across the bridge, on the edge of the bank, where numerous automobiles and other traffic pass daily to and fro, there appears a suggestion in the way of a sign that no dump be unloaded there. There is already, however, a most unsightly pile, so much in evidence that it has been suggested it is there for the purpose of preventing possible accident by way of automobiles detouring into the river. It would appear that some more effective and more sightly protection than this could be arranged and that this disfiguring pile of ashes and refuse might be disposed of in the interest of the encouragement of beautifying and cleaning up of all possible sections and spots.

DEATH OF GEORGE WRIGHT

George Wright died in the State hospital Saturday last. He was taken there 18 months ago.

The funeral took place Monday at the home in Maple Grove. Interment in Maple Grove Semitary.

[illegible] Often Used By Billy Sunday

One of the hymns used most frequently by Billy Sunday in his work, it is reported, is one by the Rev. H. E. Bright. It is the one very familiar to attendants at the Methodist church entitled "Saved." The compiler of the hymn book "Songs for Service," Homer Rodeheaver, thought so well of Rev. Bright's hymn that he had it copyrighted and placed in the book. Thus does Rev. Bright's work extend out and bring benefit to countless people through the country who are reached by Billy Sunday.

City vs. Country Newspapers

It is easier to produce a metropolitan paper than it is to print a little weekly, if the later is well done. In the larger field there is a large corps of assistants and the paper as it issues is not the work of one man or a dozen men, but the product of hundreds and thousands. The news is gathered from all parts of the world, not by the editor nor by any one man, but by the Associated and other press agencies, who in turn depend upon hundreds and thousands of reporters and correspondents to garner the events that have a human interest. The political pages are made up of the doings of politicians in all parts of the country, and they in turn are followed, interviewed and their stories or opinions written for the daily press. The daily newspaper is essentially current history made and told as made, or even in advance of its making. The city departments of the metropolitan press are covered by a corps of efficient and experienced reporters, who are capable and knowing, and seldom run in anything that will have to be closely scrutinized by the managing editor or city editor. The business end of the publication is in the hands of a tried and tested manager, who can be relied upon to take care that all the desirable advertising has been culled for his paper, and that the needed funds to pay running expenses flow steadily into coffers. The editorial writer can say about anything he chooses, from a lengthy essay on "Joy" to some flippant remark about Jones' calf. He can be serious or funny, as he wills, and if his brain is not working just right he can put on a sub and go fishing or golfing, for a day or a week. The less he writes the more it pleases the business manager in many cases. Some times the public knows who is responsible for the heavy editoials that appear in the metropolitan press, but more often the average reader could not tell you the name of the man who is even suspected of being the edior of any one of our great dailies. This is not the case with the country paper. The editor is IT, and must put his time, talent and very life into his sheet. Therefore, the country paper stands closer to the people and has more influence with them than the metropolitan paper.—From Buckeye Country Printer.

COMING BACK

UNITED DOCTORS SPECIALIST WILL AGAIN BE AT CHAGRIN FALLS, O., FRIDAY, MARCH 30th, 1917, HOTEL CHAGRIN, PARLOR SUITE, ONE DAY ONLY. Hours 9 a. m. to 8 p. m. Remarkable Success of Talented Physician in the treatment of chronic diseases.

STAY YOUNG LIVE LONG

Offer Service Free of Charge.

The United Doctors Specialist licensed by the State of Ohio for the teatment of all diseases including deformities, nervous and chronic diseases of men, women and children, offer to all who call on this trip, consultation, examination, advice free, making no charge whatever, except the actual cost of treatment. All that is asked in return for these valuable services is that every person treated will state the result obtained to their friends and thus prove to the sick and afflicted in every city and locality, that at last treatments have been discovered that are reasonably sure and certain in their effect.

EAT HEARTILY

The United Doctors are experts in the treatment of chronic diseases and so great and wonderful have been their results that in many cases it is hard to find the dividing line between skill and miracle.

SLEEP SOUNDLY

Diseases of the stomach, intestines, liver, blood, skin, nerves, heart, spleen, rheumatism, sciatica, tapeworm, leg ulcer, weak lungs and those afflicted with long-standing, deep-seated, chronic diseases, that have baffled the skill of the family physicians, should not fail to call. Deafness often has been cured in sixty days. Enjoy robust health and rosy cheeks and sparkling eyes.

According to their system no more operations for appendicitis, gall stones, tumors, goiter, piles, etc., as all cases accepted will be treated without operation or hypodermic injection, as they were among the first in America to earn the name of "Bloodless Surgeons," by doing away with the knife, with blood and with all pain in the successful treatment of these dangerous diseases.

No matter what your ailment may be, no matter what others may have told you, no matter what experience you may have had with other physicians, it will be to your advantage to see them at once. Have it forever settled in your mind. If your case is incurable they will give you such advice as may relieve and stay the disease. Do not put off this duty you owe yourself or friends or relatives who are suffering because of your sickness, as a visit at this time may help you.

Worn-out and run-down men or women, no matter what your ailment may be, call, it costs you nothing.

Remember, this free offer is for this visit only.

Married ladies come with their husbands and minors with their parents.

TWENTIETH YEAR—NO. 10.   WILLOUGHBY, OHIO, MARCH 23, 1917.   ONE DOLLAR A YEAR IN ADVANCE

Willoughby Retail Merchants Board Formed. Support of Rural Community to Be Solicited.

A meeting of the Chamber of Commerce in the interest of Willoughby merchants and business men was held Wednesday evening, March 21, at the Public library. About ten merchants were present and the Merchants Retail Board of the Chamber of Commerce was formed for the general co-operation of all concerned in Willoughby welfare and for better business conditions. E. F. Birkholz, Ralph Atwood and Wm. Jackman were appointed a committee on publicity. The next meeting for organization will be held next Thursday evening. A fine spirit of co-operation was manifest throughout the meeting and many helpful suggestions were made on future plans to be followed out, especially the campaign for better acquaintance of our trade and getting the hearty support of the rural community.

DID THEY SHINE? THEY DID. WHO? THE MENTOR MINSTREL STARS

A capacity audience turned out to see the Mentor minstrel stars Tuesday night, and all were amply repaid. A splendid show was given by the girls. Miss Francis Cleveland presided most capably as pianist. Mrs. Edward Markel as Miss Columbia, made a charming interlocturer. Dr. Lowe, in Florida, and other well known local folks came in for clever comment by the minstrels. Over $80 was taken in from the project.

Much credit is due Mrs. Samuel Lytle for the careful and conscientious training given, and each and every one of the performers deserve special mention if space permitted. The jigs and dancing features were particularly enjoyable.

MRS. KETCHUM RECEIVES INSURANCE FROM THE WOODMEN OF THE WORLD

The Woodmen of the World have announced the payment to Mrs. Ketchum of the thousand dollar policy held on the life of her husband, U. D. Ketchum.

GIRL BOWLERS

The girls played their first bowling game Tuesday night, last. Miss Florence Waite, it is reported was the star bowler. Games will be played each Wednesday night.

MR. AND MRS. FRANK SHANKLAND INITIATED

At the regular meeting of the O. E. S. Monday night, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Shankland were initiated. Different ones responded with brief after dinner remarks. Mr. Shankland spoke of the privileges received from being a Mason. He said that he might have been happy had he confined himself entirely to the birds and outdoor life, but friendship and the shake of a brother's hand was, when all summed up, worth more than anything else.

NORTHERN TREND OF TRAVELERS

Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Ward returned from Stuart, Fla., Saturday last. R. M. Case of Mentor is expected April 1st.

S. S. Wilson, who went to Sea Breeze a few days since, will accompany Mrs. Wilson home, probably arriving Monday. The Flickinger and Clark families will return to their respective homes at the same time.

SPRING VACATION AT ANDREWS

The Andrews school will be closed from March 23rd to April 2nd for the annual spring vacation. B. C. Shepherd of Painesville spoke at the school this week on the Belgium Relief Work.

CIVIC LEAGUE MEETING

At the meeting of the Civic League Saturday last Mrs. James H. Smart was elected president; Mrs. J. B. Chesbro, vice president; Mrs. Geo. Roneymus, secretary, and Mrs. L. B. Stockwell, treasurer. Vacant lot gardening, waste paper boxes for the village and general civic improvements were discussed. Another meeting was scheduled to occur Thursday of this week.

MRS. CARMICHAEL TO GIVE PAPER ON PORTO RICO

In entertaining the Home Missionary Society at her home next Wednesday Mrs. Carmichael will give a paper on Porto Rico, the "Island of Enchantment" Illustrated views will be shown. This is one of the possessions of the United States that teems with interest, and Mrs. Carmichael will undoubtedly present it most entertainingly.

F. M. WOOD TO SPEAK

Fred Wood will give a talk on "Pompeii," with slides, for the senior and junior "Y" groups next Monday evening.

SHOWER FOR BRIDE

Several showers and other entertaining have been given for Mrs. Roy Searls Mead, formerly Miss Ethel French of Rosemont road. A kitchen shower was given Wednesday at her home in the Heights. The young couple have apartments over the Crowther garage. Mr. Mead is connected with the Ben Hur Automobile Co. as electrician.

A GREATER AND BROADER WILLOUGHBY

Community Matters of Individual Interest

The new Secretary of the Chamber of Commerce expresses the following sentiment:

"CO-OPERATION, it seems to me, SEEMS TO BE THE GREATEST NECESSITY OF WILLOUGHBY. What has been done in other communities can be done in Willoughby. Fenton, Mo., extended its borders from one and one-half miles to 20 miles, by a hustling Chamber of Commerce, getting the CO-OPERATION of EVERY CITIZEN within the 20 mile radius. Willoughby can extend its borders, and in many other ways THE CHAMBER OF COMMERCE CAN BE OF SERVICE TO THE PEOPLE.

Let us have "PEP, PUSH and PUNCH."

E. F. BIRKHOLZ.

SUNDAY SUMMER TRAFIC IN MENTOR VILLAGE

The automobile travel in Mentor during the summer, of a Sunday, is such as to really require the services of a traffic policeman. Seven hundred machines in an hour, it is reported, have passed through on occasion.

CARD PARTIES IN MENTOR

Mrs. C. A. Norton and her daughter, Mrs. H. Norton, will entertain at a Maccabee card party next Thursday.

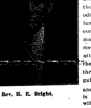
* * *

Mrs. Linda Baker entertained the 15th at the Maccabee hall. Mrs. H. Norton won the first prize; Mrs. Hazel Allen the second, while Mrs. Show was consoled.

BABY BOY DIES

Donald Kidd of Vine street, son of Leo and Helen Inm Kidd, passed away Saturday morning, aged one month and five days. Burial occurred at The Immaculate Conception.

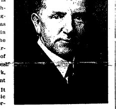
CAPABLE CONDUCTORS OF EVANGELISTIC SERVICES



Rev. H. E. Bright.

No introduction is needed to the Rev. H. E. Bright, here shown. His services and good work in the community are too well known.

The Rev. Thomas Hughes, who will assist in the evangelistic service, is the pastor of the Rocky River Methodist church. He came from England about 12 years ago, and has conducted succesful meetings in many parts of this country. The meetings will undoubtedly be inspirational ones under the guidance of these two able men. Rev. Hughes throws his entire soul into his work, guided by the spirit of the moment and working in harmony with it. It is expected that the entire public will take advantage of this opportunity to attend these meetings.



Rev. Thomas Hughes.

FORTNIGHTLY CLUB

Daffodils and green decorations, delightful refreshments and progressive games made the occasion of the party given by the Fortnightly Club at the K. of P. hall Saturday last, one of much enjoyment. Forty-eight guests were present.

The next meeting will occur at the home of Mrs. Howard Taylor, of Shaker Heights, Thursday.

OBITUARY NOTICE FOR MRS. ELIZABETH LEUTY

An obituary notice and reflections on the life of Mrs. Elizabeth Leuty will appear in the Republican next week. It is unavoidably omitted from this issue.

PROPERTIES SOLD

C. M. Shipman of Bloomfield, N. J. has purchased the Dan Walker place on River street, now occupied by R. H. Cotton. Mr. Shipman and his wife and son are now in town and expect to take possession of their new home shortly. W. C. Collister negotiated the sale.

* * *

Another sale just consummated is that of the home of Mr. Spear on Wood street. Ira Tracy, a railroad mail agent of Cleveland, made purchase of this property.

STORES CLOSE AS MARK OF RESPECT

The majority of the stores in Willoughby closed one hour, upon the occasion of the funeral of the late Alva Hanscom, Friday last, as a tribute of respect to him as a man and former mayor, and citizen.

GASOLINE SALES IN MENTOR

During the year of 1916 the West Mentor Hardware store made sale of 41,786 gallons of gasoline. This year automobile drivers will find two gasoline pumps, free air and three lubricating pumps for their convenience in front of the West Mentor Hardware Store.

EVANGELISTIC SERVICES AT THE METHODIST CHURCH

The Rev. Thomas Hughes, pastor of the Methodist church at Rocky River, Cleveland district, will assist the Rev. H. E. Bright in a series of Evangelistic Services beginning next Sunday, March 25, and ending with Easter Sunday, April 8.

The services will convene promptly each evening except Saturday at 7:30 o'clock.

On Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday the regular service will be preceded by a half hour of intercession in the Sunday school room, led by Rev. Hughes. All who believe in the power of prayer are urged to attend these meetings.

The first week of the meeting will be known as "Win My Chum" week, in which the Epworth League will stress personal work.

Palm Sunday, April 1st, will be decision day in the Sunday school.

Thursday, April 5th, the sacrament of the Lord's supper will be administered.

A cordial invitation is extended to the public to attend these Lenten services. Good music by large chorus choir led by Rev. Hughes. The pastor will be assisted by other ministers during the meeting. Watch for announcements.

DEATH OF MRS. JOSEPH GROVER

Mrs. Joseph Grover, nee Hansford, died at her home at Stop 31, Euclid avenue, Saturday last.

Mrs. Grover was born in England in 1864, coming to America in 1870. Her marriage to Joseph Grover occurred in 1902. One son, Harold, was born of the union, and survives with his father. An aged mother of 82, and two sisters also survive and were in attendance at the funeral, which occurred Wednesday at 2:30

Mrs. Grover was highly regarded in her neighborhood as a kind and beautiful character and a good neighbor, and much sympathy is extended account of the loss.

DR. BELL SAILS

Dr. Bell left Willoughby for New York Monday night. It was expected that he would sail Saturday of this week.

DR. WALL'S HOME RENTED

The Dr. Wall home on Euclid avenue has been rented to the Birdsell family. Mrs. Wall will make her home with her son Charles and wife. The Rentschler family have moved into the house formerly occupied by the Birdsell family, which they have purchased, as reported last week.

CONGRATULATIONS EXTENDED ON 94th BIRTHDAY

Jonathan Ward of Dugway Hill attained his 94th birthday last Thursday. He is one of the oldest men in the township, Mr. Cleveland being a few months older.

CARD OF THANKS

Mrs. Geo. Wright wishes to express her thanks to those neighbors and friends who so kindly gave assistance in the recent burial of her husband and also to the employes of Sleepy Hollow farm for the beautiful flowers.

CARD OF THANKS

We sincerely wish to thank all neighbors and friends for their help and offers of help, also Rev. Bright for his words of sympathy and Mrs. Birkholz for the beautiful hymns. We wish also to thank all those sending the beautiful floral pieces at the time of the death of our dear mother, Elizabeth A. Leuty.

MACCABEES CHOOSE SIDES IN CONTEST FOR SUBSCRIBERS TO THE WILLOUGHBY REPUBLICAN—LOSING SIDE FORFEITS DINNER

The Maccabees of Mentor, who are working for 300 subscribers to The Republican, have chosen sides, and some very efficient work is to be done by each, as the losing side is to treat the other to a dinner. It will surely be an exciting contest, as neither side has any intention of letting the other side win!

The boys of the Wickliffe Athletic Club, who are working up Wickliffe way, have considerable start over the Maccabee workers, and its going to be interesting to see whether the women or the boys come out ahead. With a piano and a dinner to be won, who can say that there will not be some interesting stories to tell at that dinner as to how the winners did the work. And the piano will be there for them to demonstrate upon! It has been said that when the feminine persuasion start on a project, they always, like Mr. Brittling, "see it through." Here's success to the Maccabees and the Athletic Club boys.

SPIRIT OF IMPROVEMENT SHOWN IN WEST MENTOR

During the last two years 15,000 feet of sidewalks have been laid in Mentor. About nine thousand feet were laid last year, and about six thousand the year before. A piece of property for a gravel pit has recently been purchased at a cost of $2,400. This will be used for graveling the roads. A new and pleasant waiting station is in evidence opposite the town hall, and much civic pride is evidenced.

LEGAL NOTICE

Aldridge Sutherland, whose address is unknown, and the unknown heirs, devisees, legatees, assigns and legal representatives of Aldridge Sutherland, deceased, all of whose names and places of residence are unknown, are hereby notified that Edwards T. Buhl filed his petition in the Court of Common Pleas, Cuyahoga County, in Ohio, being case No. 155124, against them and others alleging that he is the owner in fee simple, and in actual possession of the following described premises, to-wit:

Situated in the Township of Independence, County of Cuyahoga and State of Ohio, and known as being the westerly part of Lot No. 48 in Tract No. 2, West of the Cuyahoga River in said Township, and bounded as follows:

Northerly by the Northerly line of said Lot, said Northerly line being also the Southerly line of land owned by Christian Lauder, Easterly by the Westerly line of 30 Acres of land, formerly owned by George Hesel; Southerly by the Southerly line of said Lot, said Southerly line being also the southerly line of said Tract, and Westerly by the center line of the road, said center line being also the Westerly line of said Township and containing 34 Acres of Land.

Above premises are subject to all legal highways.

It is alleged in the petition that the plaintiff and his predecessors in title have had and held open, actual, notorious, adverse, continuous and exclusive possession of the above described premises for more than twenty-one (21) years, but that the defendants above named claim some interest in the premises, adverse to plaintiff's rights, by reason of a mortgage securing the payment of a note for $75.00, executed by Elias C. Connelley and wife to Aldridge Sutherland, dated March 16th, 1848. Plaintiff alleges that said note has long since been paid and that said claims are without foundation either in law or equity.

The prayer of petitioner is that the defendants may be compelled to show what interest, if any, they have in said premises; that the same be adjudged to be null and void and plaintiff's title quieted against the same and for such other relief as is proper. The above named defendants are required to answer said petition on or before the 5th day of May, 1917, or judgment will be rendered in accordance with the prayer of the petition. M15 A19

No. 9 for $559.60, payable March 15, 1926.
No. 10 for $559.60, payable March 15, 1927.

Said last described bonds, together with interest coupons attached, are issued in anticipation of the collection of special assessments heretofore levied against the lots and lands bounding and abutting on Williams Avenue, between Riverside Drive and Barthelman Avenue, to provide for the cost and expense of improving said Williams Avenue between said points, by constructing a storm water and sanitary sewer therein, and are issued under authority of the laws of the State of Ohio, particularly of Section 3914 of the General Code of Ohio, and under and in accordance with a certain ordinance of said Village entitled "An Ordinance to issue and sell bonds in the sum of Five Thousand Five Hundred and Ninety Six Dollars ($5,596.00) in anticipation of the collection of special assessments heretofore levied against the lots and lands bounding and abutting on Williams Avenue, for the improvement thereof between Riverside Drive and Barthelman Avenue by the construction of a storm water and sanitary sewer therein; passed on the 6th day of February, 1917.

All of said last described bonds to draw interest from the date thereof at the rate of five per cent (5%) per annum, payable semi-annually.

Said bonds will be sold to the highest and best bidder for not less than their par value and accrued interest.

Bidders for more than one issue of the foregoing described bonds are required to separately state the amount bid for each issue.

All bids must state the number of bonds bid for and the gross amount of bid and accrued interest to date of delivery.

All bids must be accompanied with a certified check on some bank other than the one making the bid, payable to the Treasurer of said Village, for five per centum (5%) of the amount of bonds bid for, upon conditions that if the bid is accepted the bidder will receive and pay for such bonds as may be issued as above set forth, within fifteen days from the time of the award, said check to be retained by the Village if said condition is not fulfilled.

The Village of West Park reserves the right to reject any and all bids.

Bids should be sealed and endorsed "Bid for Sewer Bonds"; "Bid for Waterworks Bonds"; "Bid for Sewer Assessment Bonds".

CHARACTER AND REPUTATION

There is a broad distinction between character and reputation, for one may be destroyed by slander, while the other can never be harmed save by its possessor. Reputation is in no man's keeping. You and I cannot determine what other men shall think and say about us. We can only determine what they ought to think of us and say about us, and we can only do this by acting squarely up to our own convictions.—Holland.

WHAT I DO

What others do to me
I little care.
Whatever rue may be
I well can bear,
Since what another does
Is not my heed,
And what it is, or was,
I need not heed
As long as I play fair,
And square, and true,
And watch with proper care

Men band themselves together for the sake of association, no doubt, but also for something greater and deeper than that—because they are conscious of common interests lying outside their busines occupations, because they are members of the same community and in frequent intercourse find mutual stimulations and a real maximum of vitality and power—Woodrow Wilson.

TO ONE CHOSING A KITTEN

A black-nosed kitten will slumber all the day;
A white-nosed kitten is ever glad to play;
A yellow-nosed kitten will answer to your call;
And a gray-nosed kitten I wouldn't have at all.

GOOD BOOKS

The importance of reading, not slight stuff to get through the time, but the best that has been written, forces itself upon me more and more every year I live; it is living in good company, the best company, and people are generally quite keen enough, or too keen, about doing that, yet they will not do it in the simplest and best manner, by reading.—Matthew Arnold.

A Motion Picture Party

This is an exceedingly novel entertainment as full of clever interest as it is of fun. As far as possible, the whole affair should be carried out in pantomime; in fact let that be the keynote of your moving picture party.

Invitations, issued two weeks in advance, should request the presence of each guest, at the appointed time and place, in fancy costume. In each case a popular moving-picture star may be designated, and the particular masquerade asked to be kept a secret frol the other guests. If one is skillful with pen or brush, the invitation cards ma ybe decortaed with a moving picture beauty in some characteristic pose, or little pictures cut out of magazines might be used. Let the invitation also carry the warning: "Speak upon arrival, and you must pay the penalty!"

On the appointed evening the hostess—also dressed as a screen favorite—greets her guests in pantomime only. When all have assembled, they are led to a dimly lighted dining-room, where a delightfully decorated table and a good dinner, which is to proceed in pantomime, awaits them. Clever place cards, representing popular stars, contain the accompanying menu.

The warning that he who talks forfeits whatever course he may be enjoying is clearly printed across the bottom of each card. After dinner a prize should be awarded to the guest who has most successfully controlled his speech throughout the entire dinner, and a half-hour recess—when tongues may wag as fast and hard as one pleases—follows.

A moving picture guessing contest, or tableaux, during which pantomime again takes the place of speech, makes a fitting close to what can be a very original and highly entertaining evening. For the guessing game, 25 to 50 pictures—cut from magazines—of famous moving picture characters and scenes, are mounted on cards, and hung up around the room. The guest who writes down the greatest number of correct names or titles, without speaking, receives a prize.

If one decides to have tableaux, and these give promise of unusual merit, neighbors and friends not present at the dinner party may be asked for this part of the entertainment. The tableaux should be unannounced, and the scene of picture named, after presentation, by the audience. Here again, the guest naming the greatest number correctly receives a prize. A moving picture evening such as this might even be turned into a philanthropic affair, for some particular public benefit, by charging a small admission fee to the evening tableaux.

ROLLED ROAST BEEF

It is possible to have a very delicious rolled roast of beef, and one which will in no way suggest its inexpensiveness, by having a piece from the round, brisket or rump put through the chopper. Use some of the suet also. Four pounds will make a chunky roast, while two pounds will cook more like a thick steak. Form gently into a roll or roast. Place in a well greased baking-pan. Dredge well with flour. Add about half a cupful of boiling water and lay two or three strips of salt pork or bacon across the top. In one corner of the pan put salt and pepper, allowing one level teaspoonful of salt and one eigth teaspoonful of pepper to each pound. Set in a very hot oven to brown quickly. Reduce the heat a trifle, and bake, allowing fifteen minutes to the pound. Baste frequently. Remove to a hot platter, make gravy by adding flour to the pan, browning a rich brown, then adding gradually boiling water until of the desired thickess. Stir constantly and cook five minutes. Serve with baked potatoes and hot biscuits or rolls.

Another excellent and attractive way ot serve any inexpensive or tough meat—beef, pork, mutton or anything you may wish to get, is to make it into mock-chops.

MOCK-CHOPS

Have the meat put through the grinder. Form it into portions to represent mutton, lamb or pork chops. Then wrap a round the outside a thinly sliced long strip of bacon, to represent the fat always found on the outside of a chop. Fasten the bacon on with toothpicks. Place on a rack in the broiler under the flame, or boil over the hot coals. Turn frequently and cook quickly. Just before removing from the broiler, sprinkle with salt and pepper. Remove to a hot platter, seasoned side down and sprinkle the other side with salt and pepper. Pour over any juice there may be in the pan and put a piece of butter on each. Garnish attractively and it will be a meat-dish suitable for even a company-meal.

FAVORITE CAKE

Put into your sifter one and one-half cups of flour, three-fourths cup of sugar, one half teaspoonful of baking-powder and one half teaspoonful each of ginger and cinnamon, sift into your mixing-bowl twice. I first sift on a paper, then put back into the sifter. Fill a measuring-cup one fourth full of molasses, add one egg, and fill the cup with sweet milk or strong coffee. Pour the liquid into the dry ingredients, add two tablespoonfuls of molasses, beat hard, and let stand while preparing the tin. Bake in a moderate oven. One can add ½ cup of chopped raisins, if liked, and will find this a pleasant change or improvement. I sometimes sift a little sugar over the top just before taking from the pan.

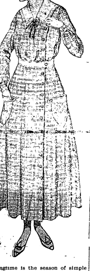
FRENCH GINGHAM DRESS WITH NEW POCKETS



Springtime is the season of simple frocks and this season the number of fascinating models is larger than ever. Here is pictured a likable frock of check French gingham with side adjustment and trimmings of plain gingham. The collar may be white lawn, with lace edge, if preferred. The design is smart enough for development in more expensive materials, medium size requiring 7 yards, 36 inches wide. Pictorial Review Costume No. 7098. Sizes 34 to 48 inches bust. Price 25 cents.

Optimistic Thought.

What you learn to your cost you remember.

SPANISH STEAK

In some localities the flank is an inexpensive cut. When purchasing the flank, have the butcher score it, and include a piece of suet. Cut the suet into small bits and put into a skillet; when enough fat has been rendered, remove the bits and brown the flank well on both sides. Remove the steak to a roaster, and into the skillet put one medium-sized onion minced and one minced green pepper from which the seeds have been removed. Cook until the onion begins to brown. Then add a cupful of tomato puree and let come to a boil. Season with salt and pepper to taste. Add a lump of butter the size of a large walnut, and when melted, pour this sauce over the flank steak. Cov[illegible] half, basting frequently. The gravy will probably be of about the right consistency, but if not, remove the steak to a hot platter and thicken or dilute the gravy, as necessary.

ESSAY CONTEST FOR BOY SCOUTS

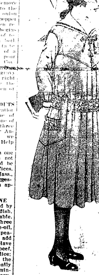
The American Humane Education Society offers three prizes, one of fifty dollars, one of thirty, and one of twenty, to the Boy Scouts for the three best essays on the subject, "Our Animals—Their Sufferings—What we Owe Them—How we May Help Them."

All essays should be written on one side of the paper only, contain not over fifteen hundred words, and be mailed to reach the Society's offices, 180 Longwood Avenue, Boston Mass., by May 1, 1917. Helpful and suggestive literature will be sent upon application.

MEXICAN CHILE CON CARNE

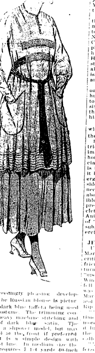
This receipt was given a friend by a chef who is famous fo the dish, and is a great favorite at our table. Mince three onions, and add to three or four tablespoonfuls of olive-oil, smoking hot in a spider (I use peanut oil in place of olive oil), also add three red peppers cut in bits. Have about one and one-half of lean beef, bottom of round is good, cut in dice; when the onions turn yellow add the meat gradually, stirring occasionally so as to sear it. In five or ten minutes add a cup of hot water and cover. Let simmer about two hours. In a seperate kettle heat one or two cans of kidney beans, mix a tablespoonful of flour with water for thickening, and before adding pour a large tablespoonful of table-sauce over the meat. Be sure to keep enough water over the latter to prevent burning. Cook ten minutes, drain the beans and add, and serve very hot. It should be very "peppery." I hope all who are fond of this dish will try this receipt for makin git.

PRETTY LITTLE FROCK FOR GIRL



The school miss who is conscious of her appearance and capricious in her tastes will not fail to like this one-piece frock of union linen. In blue, natural color, green or dark rose, it is effective. The belt and pocket are braided, while the deep shoulder yoke is finished with a white linen collar. Average size requires 4 3-4 yards 36-inch material, with 3-4 yard white linen. Pictorial Review Girls' Dress No. 6871. Sizes 6 to 12 years, price 20 cents.

CHARMING SPRING DRESS



An exceedingly pleasing development of the Russian blouse is pictured here, dark blue taffeta being used for the costume. The trimming consists of heavy machine stitching and a sash of dark blue satin. The blouse is a slipover model, but may be opened at the front if preferred. The skirt is a simple design with high waist line. In medium size the costume requires 7 1-4 yards 40-inch taffeta. Pictorial Review Blouse No. 7010, sizes 34 to 44 inches bust. Price 20 cents. Skirt No. 6976, sizes 24 to 34 inches waist line. Price 20 cents.

EVEN THE HORSE HAS AN ELECTRIC HEATING PAD

Even the horse enjoys the luxuries of the electrical current today, says [illegible] we are indebted for this account.

If Dobbin is sick, or has a pain in his, perhaps her, abdominal region, the twentieth century owner of horseflesh calls not the old-time doctor with his hot-cloth panacea, but an up-to-date electric V. D., who applies instead, an electric heating pad, which fits over or around any part of the animal's body.

Sick horses are cared for in the electrical way at the Angell Memorial Animal hospital at Boston, Mass., and the horse is treated by the use of a specially designed heating pad. The pad is four feet long, and three feet wide; it has three heats and a maximum energy consumption of 600 watts. One side is rubber covered and it is connected to any convenient receptacle about the premises by a 25-foot flexible cord. Dr. Francis H. Rowley, president of the Massachusetts Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, first used the pad in cases of "blackwater," a disease horses are subject to when overfed and under-exercised.

How to Write For a Newpaper

When you begin to write for a newspaper, forget what you learned at college. Your English professor taught you to save the best for the last. Your copy-reader teaches you to put the best at the first.

The young reporter must remember that an essential requirement of the modern newspaper is that it be easy to read, says Grant Milnor Hyde in Newspaper Editing (D. Appleton & Company). He must throw his explanations into the middle and drag his emphatic phrases to the front. He must forget to write the kind of style that is most effective when read aloud and learn to write the kind that is most effective when read silently and rapidly.

"Coming to the office with a thorough training in the writing of two-hundred-word themes, he must learn to write for a column two and one sixth inches wide. This means that the narrowness of the column makes his paragraphs look twice as long. As nothing is so uninviting to a newspaper reader as a long, heavy paragraph, he must learn to use short, compact ones.

"He must write concisely: to do this he must think concisely. He must question the value of every word. He must try to make one sentence do the work of two.

"He must use specific instead of general terms. Instead of saying, 'Many persons rushed to his aid,' he will interest the reader and be more likely to be believed if he states just how many.

"Interest demands more vivid expression," says the author. "How many verbs there are in English to express a man's manner of walking; and yet, how many reporters are satisfied with 'he crossed the street.' For almost every action in the world English has a verb, and the more of them a story contains the more interesting it will be."
